LETTER TO THE CHILDREN.

NEW YORK, October 21, 1889. Dear Children:

missionary meeting for children in Holy Trinity church on Saturday afternoon, October 12th. It was a great success. in this respect, a grave abuse, and a sad impeach-There was an immense crowd of children ment of our sincerity in claiming to follow present, who were addressed by Bishop Hare and others. Their singing was most inspiring. The children's Lenten offerings were reported to have amounted to $46,000; and the children's missionary God upon our inconsistency. I say, then, very offering in all reached the great sum of solemnly and carnestly, let the weekly Eucharist D, H, BALDWIN & CO., $55,000. Surely, dear children, this is a grand work, and a grand part of the missionary work of the Church. About to those who may be disposed to join him in this 190,000 centennial certificates were issued act of practical obedience. With all my heart Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Decker Brothto the children of the Church in the United I exhort you to this obedience; with all that I States. I am glad, dear children, that so can do or say as a Bishop, I will support my many of our own children in Indiana were participants in this good work. The may be rendered useless by rude remedies or illchildren are doing a great deal for the considered movements. Do nothing prema-Church, and its extension. They have turely. Instruct first by scriptural exposition, done a great deal for the mission funds of and do not drive, but lead. Be wise and pruour own Diocese. They have purchased the lot for the orphanage, and we feel that sentimental, but trust in God, do your duty, and CARPETS, CURTAINS & WALL PAPER, they will go on and erect the building He will not leave you nor forsake you. Where upon it. I do hope that all the children two or three are gathered for this service, there will bear this good work in their hearts.

With love, your Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

FREQUENT COMMUNION. Bishop Coxe, of Western New York, thus counsels the clergy of his Diocese:

The New Testament tells us clearly to hallow There was a very large and enthusiastic the Lord's Day by the Lord's Supper. This is our law and our rubric; and to this reformation I call you all, in God's name. I consider our neglect of Scripture and of the primitive example, Scripture and the Primitive Church. The Prayer Book itself is against us, we are all wrong in our practice, however orthodox in theory, therefor heresies (concerning the Lord's Supper) are permitted, and they are the lash of be restored as soon as possible, in all the churches and chapels of this Diocese. * * * It will be a blessing to the pastor himself and a blessing brethern in it. Who will gainsay? I counsel nothing hasty or inconsiderate. Even reforms dent; be tender and sympathizing; avoid "the appearance of evil," and indulge in nothing He is especially present by His Spirit; and surely there are two or three in every parish who, as often as the day of the Lord returns, will rise early to commemorate Christ's resurrection, FRENCH CHINA & CROCKERY, and, after the example of the Apostles and their immediate deciples, to join in that breaking of bread which he has commanded to be done for a perpetual memorial.

THE deaf mute communicants of the mid-western Dioceses have given their pastor, the Rev. A. W. Mann, a beautiful solid silver communion service for use in his missionary field.

THE winter meeting of the Central Convocation will be held at Richmond. Ind., Tuesday and Wednesday, February 11 and 12. The programme will appear in the February WORKER.

THE Diocese of Springfield, is the name of a new paper published in the interests of the Diocese of Springfield, the first issue of which is received. We rejoice at this evidence of growth and missionary zeal in our sister Diocese, and Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, $100,000 to payment of past dues. We have asked welcome this new visitor to our exchange list. The editor is the Ven. F. W. Tay- for Seabury. or, of Springfield, Ill.

MR. WILLIAM KEYSER, of Maryland. is to give two acres of land to All Saints' parish, Reistertown, and build a stone Keyser.

THE BISHOP expresses his desire that every parish in the Diocese make an offering for the General Board, and that if it has not been done in the Advent season it be during Epiphany. That is unless some other time is definitely fixed for it, or some systematic way be adopted for making collections through the Woman's Auxiliary, or by subscriptions.

THE Diocesan Treasurer has sent out to all the parishes a statement of their indebtedness on account of the annual assesment. He is greatly in need of the money Indeed he has been obliged to borrow money to meet the obligations of the Diocese. It will greatly facilitate matters if at the beginning of the new year every parish will forward to him the amount due to that

THE February number of the WORKER closes its sixth volume. We have received many kind words in appreciation of the good for the Diocese its publication has accomplished. It has made known to every Church family in the Diocese what the Church is doing, and DURING the past month two good men created an interest which otherwise could not have been awakened. We hope to be able to continue it another year. A large number of our Church families to berger has been one of the most liberal whom it has been regularly sent have givers in the Church. THE BISHOP'S JOURNAL.

Saturday, November 23, went to Marion. Dined at Soldiers' Home with General Deveraux and daughter. Entertained over Sunday by Dr. and Mrs. Starrett.

Sunday before Advent, November 24; 10:30 A. M. preached in the chapel of the mission and celebrated Holy Communion; 3 P. M. catechised the Sunday-school; 7:30 P. M., after evening prayer said by the rector, gave an address on General Convention.

Monday, November 25, spent morning in making calls. Afternoon went to Goshen. Spent the night at the rectory with Rev. J. B. Meade the new rector. Was glad of the opportunity to make his acquaintance. He feels encouraged about his work.

Tuesday, November, 26, went to Lima, the guest of the Howe Grammar School, Afternoon drove out with Mr. Robinson to view the improvements at Bishopthorpe Park.

Wednesday, November 27, spent in attending exercises of the school.

Thursday, Thanksgiving day; 10 A. M. preached in St. Mark's church and celebrated Holy Communion, the school vested choir rendering the service. About forty received Holy Communion. A good attendance at the service. Dined at the school with the boys. In the evening the school had a pleasant social entertainment. Was glad to find Mr. Spalding in good health and the school moving along nicely, the boys happy and contented and improving their advantages. There is room for more boys and after the Christmas vacation will be a good opportunity to enter.

Friday, November 29, started for South Bend, detained three hours and a half at Kendallville by a delayed train, reaching South Bend at 6 P. Was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Russell. Met at tea the rector and Mr. Robert Graham. Attended the mission Mr. Graham was holding under the auspices of the Reform Club at their hall, and made a brief temperance address. Was glad to find much interest awakened by Mr. Graham's visit, and all the ministers heartily engaged in it. Mr. Graham gave an excellent address on the Home, the School

Saturday, November 30; II A. M., in St. James's church, South Bend, held baptismal service and baptized child of the rector; 12 noon, left for Frankfort, arrived there at 4:30 P. M. The guest of Mrs. Kramer.

First Sunday in Advent, December 1; 10:30 A. M., in St. Luke's church. After morning prayer said by rector, preached, confirmed ten persons, addressed them and celebrated Holy Communion. Among those confirmed was a deaf mute who had been baptized and instructed by Mr. Mann; 3 P. M., catechised and addressed the Sunday-school, received eight to the roll of honor. After Sunday-school drove out into the outskirts of the town to confirm a sick person in private. Evening, after service said by Mr. McGlone, baptized two children, one a son of the rector, and preached. Large congregations present morning and evening and a good interest was manifested in all the services. The church has been much improved by putting in a furnace and gas, and the Young People's As- well. Mr. Foulston will hold a mission the sociation have provided a new carpet. This beginning of the new year. Rev. J. E. Cathell, mission has now 55 communicants and the of Richmond, has kindly consented to spend prospect for continued growth is good.

Monday, December 2, returned home, ceived notice from Ecclesiastical Authority of Southern Ohio of the acceptance of transfer of Rev. F. J. Mallett, Arranged for Dr. Kemp to take charge of Emannuel Mission, Garrett.

Tuesday, December 3, evening, entertained principals, teachers and pupils of Indianapolis Institute at the Episcopal residence.

Wednesday, December 4; 10 A. M. made an Advent address to pupils of Institute. Received notice from Presiding Bishop of appointment as one of the consecrators of Rev. A. R. Graves as Missionary Bishop of the Platte, in Gethermane church, Minneapolis, and signified my acceptance. Evening, attended a delightful musical and literary entertainment given by the ladies of Holy Innocents church in Odd Fellow's hall for the benefit of church funds. The results proved quite satisfactory, netting $135, Thursday, December 5, evening, attended an organ recital and sacred concert at Grace cathedral. The attendance was good, and the capacity and sweetness of the organ well exhibited. The entertainment netted $75.

Friday, December 6, 10 A. M.; Meeting of committee of Trustees of the Diocese at Episcopal residence.

Saturday, December 7, gave consent to the organization of the parish of Gethsemane at Marion. Went to Lafayette. Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Second Sunday in Advent, December 8; 10 A. M., catechised and addressed the Sundayschool of St. John's, Lafayette; received from their monthly offering for orphanage $13.15; dressed them. 10:30 took the service in St. John's church, preached and celebrated Holy Communion in the absence of the rector. A good congregation present and the music rendered by the vested choir of men and boys. The good behavior of the choir and their good singing made it a delightful service; 7:30 P. M., said evening prayer and preached. Morning offering for Diocesan Missions, evening for Diocesan Church Building Fund. Was glad to hear the great satisfaction expressed with their rector, Rev. Mr. White. This parish must soon have a new organ to keep pace with the growth and development of their parish. The parishioners have provided a generous wedding present for their rector on his return with his bride, and are prepared to stock the rectory with substantial supplies to begin house-keeping with.

Third Sunday in Advent, December 15; visited St. Paul's Church, Richmond; preached, confirmed 16, addressed them and celebrated Holy Communion.

Monday, December 15; visited Connersville; evening in Trinity Church; preached and made an address; a large congregation present. Tuesday, December 17; evening, attended entertainment of Knickerbacker Literary Society of the Indianapolis Institute.

Wednesday, December 18; went to New Castle; 7 P. M.; after evening prayer, by the rector, preached and made an address to a crowded church. The new missionary, Rev. HENRY PILCHER'S SONS, Mr. Foulston, has been kindly received and has made a good impression. The Sunday-school, with Mr. Pence as Superintendent, is doing

January 13, 14 and 15 in aiding the missionary with special services

Friday, December 20, went to Plainfield, accompanied by Dr. Jenckes. Entertained at tea by Mr. and Mrs. Morgan; 6 P. M. service in Methodist church, good congregation present: Dr. Jenckes said evening prayer and baptized an infant, and I preached. The Doctor holds mission services here as often as practicable, and our hope is to secure a lot and erect a chapel in time.

Fourth Sunday in Advent, December 22: made a visitation to St. Paul's parish, Indianapolis; morning prayer was said by the rector. Dr. Jenckes, the Bishop taking communion service and consecrating, preaching, confirmed 5 and addressed them; 31 received the Holy Communion; offerings for Diocesan missions; on the Sunday before the collection had been for Diocesan missions, and reached the liberal sum of $80. The quota of the parish for missions will be promptly met. 2:30 P. M.: visited St. Paul's Sunday-school and catechised the children; they showed great proficiency in the Church catechism, and answered promptly, 3:30; visited Christ Church Sunday-school. addressed the children, received three to the roll of honor. 4 P. M,; at Christ Church with the Rev. Mr. Mann. About 50 mutes present. Mr. Mann conducted the service and presented two candidates for confirmation, one of the teachers at the Institute and his wife. DIOCESAN ITEMS.

COLUMBUS, St. PAUL'S .- The number confirmed in November in this parish was three instead of one, as given in last WORKER. The rector's family has been made happy, and enabled to begin housekeeping, by the gift of a cook stove and fixtures, extension table and chairs from the ladies of the congregation. Few parishes have a more devoted band of lady workers than St. Paul's.

GARRETT, EMMANUEL .- The Rev. Dr. Kemp has taken charge of this mission and the adjoining stations, where he will find a large field for work, and with his energy and experience good results may be expected.

HUNTINGTON, CHRIST CHURCH MISSION,-A missionary. The Bishop will visit the mission on December 19th. the latter part of January.

INDIANAPOLIS .- St. George's mission is contemplating organization early in the new year. Mr. Bamford is greatly encouraged by the at-

Holy Innocent's church has received from the parish at Wood's Holl, Massachusetts, five handsome sets of lecturn and altar hangings. This parish has reason to be and does feel thankful to the brethren of Wood's Holl for the interest manifest in their welfare. The ladies held a very successful fair and musical entertainment on the evening of December 4, netting about KENNARD, St. PHILIP's .- The report of the year's Sunday school work of this mission shows steady and encouraging progress. Beginning with an attendance of twenty, the number reached as high as sixty-seven, with an average for the year of thirty-seven. This is an evidence of what faithful work in a small place, where there were no Church people to begin with, can achieve. Mr. A. I. Daniels is the superintendent. Would that every mission had as faithful and zealous a worker.

LOGANSPORT, TRINITY CHURCH,-The ladies ordered a rector's chair from Lamb, of New York, to correspond with the Bishop's chair purchased last year. The children of the Sunday school are to send a missionary box at Christmas to colored children at Cedar Keys, Florida, Attendance at morning service continues good. A monthly offering is made for dioscesan missions, by which it is hoped the full quota will furniture of the chancel more complete and be raised. Endowment coupons have been col- appropriate. lected and sent to the treasurer.

LAFAYETTE, St. John's-Monday evening December 2 the ladies gave an entertainment at the guild house, aided by Miss Emily Bingham, of Indianapolis. It was well attended and quite profitable, netting $75.

Madison, Christ Church,-The Madison Courier tells of an elegant reception given at the rectory the last of November by the Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Heermans to the congregation of Christ church, the occasion being the twelfth anniversary of their marriage. It was made a delightful entertainment for all present.

MARION.-Gethsemane mission made application for permission to organize into a parish. Consent was given, and at a duly called meeting the following wardens and vestrymen were elected: Senior Warden, Jason Wilson; Junior; Warden, L. J. Starrett; Vestrymen, Fred W. Wilson, Luther Banons, Charles E. Webster, C. W. Hanlon, T. H. Armstrong, completing the organization. It is hoped this is preliminary to pushing the work of the new church in the MICHIGAN CITY, TRINITY, -A boys' choir is in training to take their places in the new church when it is ready for occupancy in January. The choir sang on Thanksgiving day and on Christmas day and did very well. The new Christian year opened with a large attendance in the church hall, and a good number received the Holy Communion.

New Castle, St. James's-The missionary, Mr. Foulston, entered upon his services Novembor 17, and has been cordially and kindly reclass for confirmation is being prepared by the ceived. The Bishop held an interesting service

> MUNCIE, GRACE .- The rector recently made a visit to Montpelier, holding services in a private house, Mrs. Tewksbury's, preaching and baptizing. He also visited Poneto, and made several calls, and found a Church of England family had moved in. A delightful Harvest Home festival was held on Thanksgiving day.

> PLYMOUTH, ST. THOMAS'S .- Dean Faude visited the parish December 2d, to officiate at the funeral of F. J. Patterson. While there he baptized four adults and three children, relatives of the deceased.

SHELBYVILLE .- The Rev. Mr. Ranger, of Indianapolis, visited this place in December, and called upon the Church people, and gave Hely Communion to Dr. Jennings. Dr. Jennings is an invalid clergyman of the church, a scholarly and learned man, laid aside by paralysis.

ROCKVILLE.—The Rev. Mr. Stanley, of Terre Haute, visited this mission in December. The mission is slowly yet steadily gaining ground.

VINCENNES, ST. JAMES'S .-- Everything is progressing satisfactorily and smoothly. The congregations are keeping up and increasing. A Ten of the King's Daughters are working for the orphanage. A Chapter of the Iron Cross has been started in St. John's mission, North Vincennes. There is every prospect that it will prove a great success and bring to the church a class who could not be reached in any other way,

WORTHINGTON, St. MATTHEW'S .- The ladies have procured the means to add two new chairs to the chancel, also a prayer desk, making the VISITATIONS OF THE BISHOP. CONNERSVILLE.

Monday, December 17, the Bishop visited Connersville. He found Mr. George greatly encouraged by the cordial welcome he had received from the little band of Church people and their generous response for the support of the services. A large congregation was present at the evening service, when after evening prayer by the Missionary the Bishop preached and made an address. A new sidewalk in front of the church has been ordered by the City Council, which will involve an expense of $75. The church needs a new roof and the tower needs painting. The ladies are making arrangements to hold a sale in the early spring to raise means to make these improvements. Their zealous labors, no doubt, will receive liberal encouragement from the whole community. The Bishop called on several of the parishioners during the afternoon and evening.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY COLUMN.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

Among the matters of interest discussed at the meeting of Diocesan Officers in New York was the formation of children's missionary sociéties, that the children of the Church may be trained to work and give for missions. At the meeting on October 2, the subject was discussed and a committee appointed to consider it and report at an adjourned meeting on the fifth. OR The committee met and prepared the following report which was presented and PIANOS! adopted at the later meeting:

"The committee appointed on Wednesday, October 2nd, to discuss the subject of children's organized missionary work, respectfully suggest, that all existing children's missionary societies under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary-general, diocesan and parochialshall be banded together as the 'Junior Department of the Woman's Auxiliary;' and that a general effort be made to form new societies throughout the diocese.

"And they also suggest that these societies be left entirely free as to organization and methods, according to the wisdom of their respective directors; and that the work of these societies be reported annually to the Secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary, that a complete record of children's missionary work may be kept.

"Further, that they make the Young Christian Soldier the medium of communication among the societies.

(Signed):

"FANNY E. ADAMS, Michigan,

"HELEN M. HALSEY, Western New York, "EDITH BEACH, Connecticut.

"MARY V. S. WINTHROP, New York.

THE CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. Dear Children:

Your Bishop wishes you a happy New Year. He is glad to learn what a happy Christmas you have had, and what a nice time at your Christmas-trees. He does hope that the present year will be one full of all blessing to the children of his Diocese. He hopes to have the privilege of welcoming at least two hundred and fifty to the Roll of Honor and to confirm many of the older children of our Sunday Schools at his visitations.

a large addition to our Orphanage and Cot Fund, the children's special care, To stimulate your exertions in its behalf, he has a proposition to make. To every child in the Diocese who will secure one dollar or more for the Orphanage or Cot Fund he proposes giving a picture of himself that can be framed in your homes, and be a reminder of his love for you, lest coming suddenly, he find you sleeping, and or a beautiful, bright medal of the Good what I say unto you I say unto all, watch. Shepherd, that can be worn as a reminder that you are children of the Good Shepherd, Christ our Lord. EDITORIAL.

FROM the Church News, the Diocesan organ of Missouri, we learn that Indiana now has one communicant to every 356 of its population; that our communicants contributed last year on an average $13.58 per communicant. Indiana stands nine from being the lowest in the number of its communicants to the population, or number fifty-three. It numbers fifty-one in the proportion of its giving, out of sixty Dioceses, or tenth from the lowest. Indianapolis has one communicant to every sixtyseven of its population. These statements should stimulate the Diocese to greater liberality. It should be the pride of Churchmen of Indiana to stand among the foremost Dioceses in the land.

THE attention of the clergy of the Southern Convocation is especially called to the Easter meeting in Holy Innocents' Church, Evansville, commencing on Friday evening, April 11th, and continuing over Sunday. The Dean hopes for a full attendance.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

Not nearly all our parishes have sent in a half year's quota of their apportionment for Diocesan Missions. On the 1st of April a quarter's stipend of the missionaries falls due. THE BISHOP'S JOURNAL.

Saturday, January 25, afternoon went to Plymouth. Met at station by the Warden, Mr. John Blaine, and entertained at his house.

St. Thomas's church, Plymouth; 10:30 said morning prayer, preached and celebrated Holy Communion, about fifty receiving. A good attendance. After morning service opened Sunday-school, about seventy-five present. Catechised the school, they repeating the catechism very well, indeed. 7 P. M. said evening prayer and preached. Offering, morning for Diocesan Missions, evening for Diocesan Church Building Fund. After service conferred with the members of the vestry present in regard to calling a rector.

Wednesday, January 29, went to Knightstown with Mr. Engle. At the residence of Mrs. Caseley held a cottage service, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. After service returned home.

Thursday, January 30, went to Wilkinson via Knightstown, Mr. George Bradford kindly driving me over a distance of eight miles in good time for service. A good congregation filled the little church and gave hearty responses in the services. Said evening prayer and preached. An interest is being manifested here that must result in accessions to the Church. Mr. Engle has patiently held on to the work amid many discouragements.

Friday, January 31, went to Connersville on a painful duty of investigating the Rev. T. J. George, who grossly imposed upon me by forged letters of ordination.

Saturday February 1, revoked the license of T. J. George to officiate in Diocese, gave notice to Warden and parishioners of Trinity, Connersville, of said action. I P. M. started to Bloomington.

Septuagesima Sunday, February 2, morning, consecrated Trinity church, Bloomington, celebrated Holy Communion. Evening preached and confirmed one person.

Monday, February 3, went with a party of friends to Ellettsville to dine with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morley, Baptized a child, Afternoon accompanied by Mr. Cole went to Bedford where we were cordially received by Mr. and Mrs. Foote and Mr. and Mrs. Parker, who had made all arrangements for the service at the Presbyterian church. At 7 P. M. a large congregation was present. Mr. Cole took the service and made an address, the Bishop preaching. A young Churchman made himself known. Mr. George Geiger, of Indianapolis, a Churchman, was also present. The town is growing and its immense stone business developing rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Foote entertained both Bishop and Presbyter most hospitably. Mrs. Foote and Mrs. Parker were brought up in the Church at Newtown, Conn., and though they have resided thirty years in Bedford without the Church they have not lost their love for it.

Tuesday, February 4, accompanied Mr. Cole to Greencastle. The guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold. 7. P. M. after evening prayer by Mr. Cole preached, confirmed two and addressed them. Also addressed the congregation. Amid many discouragements Mr. Cole has stood faithfully at his post and has won the respect and confidence of the community.

Wednesday, February 5, received notice from the Standing Committee of the Diocese that Mr. De Lou Burke had been recommended as a candidate for Priest's orders. Renewed Third Sunday after Epiphamy, January 26, in license of Edwin R. Fletcher as lay reader to assist Rev. L. F. Cole.

> Saturday, February 8, went to Madison for annual visitation. Was met at station by rector and taken to Dr. and Mrs. Davidson's, whose guest I was over Sunday.

Sexagesima Sunday, February 9, 7 A. M. in Christ church celebrated Holy Commuion, assisted by the rector. 10:30 took part in the service and preached, the rector baptizing an adult. 2:30 P. M. visited the Sunday-school and catechised the children. Was glad to learn that eight of the scholars were to be confirmed. Sixty-two children present. 7:30 P. M., after evening prayer said by the rector, preached. The rector had the pleasure of presenting eighteen for confirmation, whom the Bishop addressed. This parish is in a healthful, growing state. The rector and his people working together harmoniously and cordially. The congregations were large all day. Offerings, morning for Diocesan Church Building Fund, evening for Diocesan Missions.

Tuesday, February 11, went to Fort Wayne for benediction services. Took midnight train for Chicago. Arrived at Milwaukee Wednesday noon for meeting of Trustees of Nashotah. In session all afternoon at the residence of the Bishop of Milwaukee.

Thursday, February 13, morning attended session of Trustees of Racine College, evening visited St. Paul's Mission, Hammond. After evening prayer by Mr. Wall in the hall of the mission received eighteen children to the roll of honor, preached and confirmed one person who had been baptized after the second lesson, and made an address. After the service conferred with the mission with reference to building a neat church. Appointed a committee to canvass for pledges to the building fund. At 10:27 P. M. took train for Indianapolis. The choir at Hammond is aided by ten girls wearing white capes and caps who go in processional and recessional.

Friday, February 14, conferred with committee of Trustees in regard to plans and contracts for buildings to be erected by them.

Quinquagesima Sunday, February 16, 10:30 A. M. preached in Grace Cathedral and celebrated Holy Communion. Received three children to the roll of honor. 7:30 P. M. in Christ church preached to young men. The rector has issued Lenten cards and an excellent pastoral address.

Monday, February 17, went to Worthington. 7:30 evening prayers said by rector Rev. Mr. Birch, after second lesson baptized infant son of the rector, preached, confirmed one person. After service met the parishioners at the rectory. Entertained at the rectory over night. The rector proposes having daily service during Tuesday, February 18, went to Logansport. On the way spent several hours in Terre Haute with the Diocesan Treasurer and Mr. Stanley. Arrived at Logansport 9 P. M. Met by the rector at the station and taken to the rectory.

Ash Wednesday, February 29, in Trinity church, after service said by the rector, preached. Confirmed two persons and addressed them. Good congregation present. Offering for Bible and Prayer Book Society. The ladies of this parish are having the basement room finished up to be used as a Chapel, Sunday-school room and for Guild meetings. The parish has suffered great bereavement in the death of two of its most devoted communicants, Mrs. Sarah C. Murphey and Mrs. Maggie Strong. Mrs. Murphey was a teacher in the High School, and was formerly a parishioner of the Bishop's in Gethsemane, Minneapolis. The rector hopes to arrange for a parochial mission at an early day. Afternoon accompanied by Mr. Miller went to Delphi where we were kindly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wasson. Evening 7:30, after evening prayer by Mr. Miller, baptized an infant, preached and made an address.

Saturday, February 22, left Indianapolis at 7:15 A. M. for Elkhart. Took dinner and spent two or three hours at the rectory, Laporte, with Rev. Walter Scott. Reached Elkhart at 6:10 P. M., Mr. Adams meeting me and taking me to the rectory for entertainment.

First Sunday in Lent, February 23, preached in St. John's church and celebrated Holy Communion. After morning service catechised and addressed the Sunday-school. The church has been improved since my last visit by the addition of a furnace and a chancel carpet, and the vestry room painted and carpeted. Afternoon drove over to Bristol, nine miles, was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Turner at the rectory. Found the rectory had been greatly improved by being painted inside and out since my last visit, and the parish had received an elegant altar cloth and lecturn frontal, the work upon it being done by Mrs. Spalding of San Francisco, the daughter of a former rector. New communion linen has also been received from Lynn, Mass. In the evening at 7 the church was crowded, the Bishop preached, confirmed a class of nine and addressed them. Mr. Turner is doing a good work at Bristol. The people have been very kind in co-operating with him. He has a Chapter of Brotherhood of St. Andrew with twenty members, and Miss Turner has a branch of the Ministering Children's League of thirty members greatly interested. It is a comfort to visit a parish where the work is so encouraging and where there are so few com-

Anderson .- During the four Sundays before and including Quinquagesima services were held in the Opera House, by Mr. McGlone, with encouraging attendance. A mission has been organized, called Trinity. J. F. Miller has been appointed Warden, and Messrs, Brelsford, Hicks, Gregory, Kropp, Poch and Lovett Vestrymen. It is proposed to secure the exclusive services of a clergyman, and to rent the Opera House for a year, and to organize a Sunday-school.

BRIGHTWOOD, ALL SAINTS' .- Rev. W. D. Engle has resigned the charge of this mission, and Mr. Hunter, of Holy Innocents', has been placed in charge by the Bishop. He will give an afternoon service every Sunday.

Indianapolis, Christ Church .- The making of the seats free has given a new impulse to the work, and already a large increase of contributions for the year are pledged. The Women's Auxiliary held a delightful meeting on Monday, February 17th, at Mrs. Col. Lilly's, Mrs. Ranger read an interesting paper on missionary work among emigrants. The Wednesday and Friday morning services are having an increased attendance. The attendance on Ash Wednesday was large, and over one hundred received Holy Communion. The evening of Quinquagesima the Bishop preached to young men, and a meeting is to be held soon to re-organize the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and inspire it with new life and zeal.

INDIANAPOLIS, ST. PAUL'S .- The ladies of the fourth section of the Parish Aid Society gave a pleasant social at the residence of Mr. J. J. Bingham, on Friday evening, February 8th, which brought in some $25 to their fund for the church debt. The Women's Auxiliary held the February meeting with Mrs. McBeth, on West New York street. These meetings are well attended, and much interest in missions shown. Attendance at the Ash Wednesday service was most excellent.

INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL .- Wednesday evening, February 5th, the King's Daughters had a delightful social gathering at Miss Carlton's. This organization is active and devoted. It is composed of young girls of the Sunday-school, under the leadership of Mrs. J. O. Cooper. They placed $15 in the offertory on Quinquagesima Sunday for the Orphanage. Let all King's Daughters strive to do as well.

INDIANAPOLIS, HOLY INNOCENTS',-The Rector's Aid Society held a very pleasant sociable Monday evening, February 17th, realizing about $11, with which to purchase alms basins for the church. The Lenten services are being well attended. A Bible reading class meets Wednesday evenings after evening prayer. The Sunday school has been changed to the morning, meeting at o o'clock.

LAFAYETTE, St. John's .- An entertainment "The Deestrict School," was given by the ladies Tuesday evening, February 11th, in aid of the organ fund, with considerable profit to the fund and a great deal of amusement. The organ fund is developing strongly, and it is not unlikely that a $4,000 organ will be placed in the church at an early day.

LOGANSPORT, TRINITY .- The King's Daughters gave a delightful entertainment of a musical character, with recitations, not long since, which netted a goodly sum ($15) for the Orphanage fund. Mrs. Magee is President.

MUNCIE, GRACE .- Rev. Mr. Henry has recovered from his three weeks' sickness, and is once more able to discharge his duties. During his sickness, Mr. Edward Olcott, lay reader, read FRANKFORT, St. LUKE's-Since the resignation of Mr. McGlone, Mr. Henry Kramer, lay reader, has a Sunday morning service, and superintends the Sunday-school.

Many of our parishes, especially those where there are organized branches of the Woman's Auxiliary now, at the beginning of Lent, are considering Easter boxes where to send and what to send, and there are also individuals, we doubt not, who if they knew what would be of use to our Missionarles for their families or wish would be glad to do something. So our American Colleges for Women, or a complete column this month will contain some practical suggestions for their help.

man especially, an Easter gift of an article of clothing is much appreciated. For the girls aprons, for the boys shirts of stout material. The teachers will in many places be glad to receive patchwork cut and basted, Easter cards of past years can be made useful, pin cushions, needle boxes, work bags with thread, needles and thimbles for girls, marble bags with a few marbles in them for boys, handkerchiefs. For the old people (these mission schools have many such) plain dresses, sacques and skirts, plain underclothing, quilts and comforts for their homes. Pictures, too, to brighten the walls of schoolroom or home, especially of Scripture subjects or illuminated texts. Children can give a little time and make scrap picture books. These for the schools, then for our Missionaries themselves, clothing for themselves and families, a new book, a pretty tidy or stand cover or table mat, for our missionaries1 wives have the same tastes as we and appreciate little adornments for the home, which they have neither time to make or means to buy. Our two special objects demand gifts of money. The Orphanage, only three bands of King's Daughters have been heard from, two of these have added $15 each to the Treasury the past week, and then our own representative, Dr. Marie Haslep, faithfully, patiently working in China. The General Secretary urges that we do all in our power towards her salary. She is in Wuchang in charge of the Woman's Hospital, giving a Chinese woman, Miss Wong, medical training and receiving in return instructions in the Chinese language. There is no more potent key to unlock the hearts of the heathen than medical care and skill in suffering and disease, and the medical missionary is thus doubly useful. The Diocesan Secretary will be glad to give address and destination for any gifts offered.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

For acknowledgments of subscriptions this month see eighth page.

We have been endeavoring to get the mailing list fully corrected for Vol. VII of the WORKER, but have been unable to complete it, through the delay in getting corrected lists from the parishes. Quite a number of the brethren have responded to the Bishop's call for such lists, but others have as yet not attended to it. Can we not look for immediate attention thereto, that we may be able to complete the list before the April number.

In giving credit for subscriptions the initials and surnames only will appear, unless otherwise specially requested. If postage stamps are sent on subscriptions, send only 1's or 2's, we can not use the larger denominations.

Request is sometimes made to know how much is owing for subscriptions. Information will be given gladly, but the information can be obtained by looking at the number preceding the address on the paper. If the number is 6 or 8, it means that nothing has been paid since the year 1886 or 1888. If there is no number, it means that nothing has ever been paid. Let every one examine their paper upon reading this notice.

THE Bishop would ask from all our Diocesan Missionaries a full report of their work be sent to him by the middle of March. Stipends will not be sent until these reports have been made.

BENEDICTION SERVICES.

On Tuesday afternoon, February 11th, the Bishop had the pleasure of blessing the new parish house and elegant rectory, erected the past year by Trinity Church, Fort Wayne. The services took place at 5 P. M., the Bishop being assisted by the rector, Rev. A. W. Seabrease, and the rooms being filled by members of the congregation. After the services a reception he execution of such work. was held through the evening in the rectory. A solicited. J. & R. LAMB, 59 Carmine St., N. Y.

large number of parishioners called to pay their respects to the rector and family and to the Bishop. Refreshments were served during the evening in the Parish House. Both the Parish House and rectory are of hammered stone, to correspond with the church. The rectory has Official Organ of Bishop Knickerbacker, cost $7,500, and the Parish House $3,500. The rectory is nicely planned, containing twelve

It is furnished with chairs, and will accommodate the Sunday school, serve as a chapel, and answer for parish gatherings and guilds. All has been accomplished under the special supervision of the rector, aided by a committee of the vestry. The fire mantels and stained glass of the rectory add much to its beauty. Trinity parish has now one of the finest Church properities of the Diocese, and is well equipped for doing effective work. The city is growing, and Church families are moving in, and every one in the parish feels encouraged and hopeful of its future.

MEETING OF THE CONVOCATION OF THE CENTRAL DEANERY AT RICH-MOND, FEBRUARY 11 AND 12.

A very delightful Convocation was held in St. Paul's, the good weather and hearty hospitality of the good people of St. Paul's making it especially successful in attendance and interest. Sickness prevented a number of the brethren from attending. Those present were the Dean and rector, Rev. Messrs. J. H. Ranger, ORGANS L. F. Cole, W. H. Bamford, W. D. Engle. and Miss Upfold, Diocesan Secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary. The Dean preached the opening sermon on Tuesday evening, and celebrated Holy Communion Wednesday morning, Rev. Mr. Ranger preached an excellent sermon to the clergy. In the afternoon Mr. Bamford read an excellent and helpful paper on the spiritual and devotional life of the clergy, and Mr. Ranger an able paper on sermonizing in its personal applications. At 4 P. M., there was a large attendance of the women of the congregation, who were interested by Miss Upfold in one of her missionary talks. In the evening missionary addresses were made by Mr. Cole, Mr. Bamford and the Dean.

The offerings of the day were for the furnace, and amounted to $50. The church with lot and memorial gifts cost $2,500. The windows are of stained glass. Mrs. Morley, of Ellettsville, placed one in memory of her father, a relative of Jefferson Davis. The altar and hangings are the gift of Holy Innocents' Church, Indiananolis. The font, of stone gotten out by Mr. Fletcher, of Stinesville, is the gift of Miss Patton in memory of her sister. The chancel carpet is the gift of Mrs. Rodgers, a communicant of Bloomington. The chancel lamp is the gift of Mr. Turner, a merchant. The altar bookrest and hymn-boards are the workmanship and gift of Mr. and Mrs. Pence and Mrs. Strickland, of New Castle, a memorial of the mission held by Mr. Cole there. her, a favorable impression is produced, and the few lonely Churchmen made to feel that the Church is mindful of them and ready to minister to them as she can. Delightful instances of appreciation of some of these of their relationship to the Church are afforded, and their obligations to do something for the work of the Diocese and the Church of which they are members. In several places in these annual visits offerings are handed to the Bishop by individuals, to be appropriated at his discretion for the work of the Diocese. If every Churchman would do a little in this way it would greatly help on the work. In one of these places every communicant gives the Bishop a dollar a year in token of their membership with the Church. It would be well if all who are not connected with regular parishes or missions would do this. It would enable us to do much more than we are now doing for the extension of the Church.

LENT.

The promise of a good Lent in Indiana was never more encouraging than at the present

ble instrumentality is being used to deepen the

A LINE of horse cars, it is reported, is being

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER.

"Draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you."

"Prayer was appointed to convey

The blessings God designs to give; Long as they live should Christians pray, For only while they pray they live."

"Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God."

Children delight to keep their birthdays. Why not keep their baptism day, too? This is also a birthday. Then are we born into God's family. As our catechism tells we are made "members of Christ, children of God, and inheritors of the Kingdom of Heaven." If we are glad to be born into God's bright word here, how much more should we rejoice that we are born into the holler and brighter relation, God's spiritual world, His Kingdom of Heaven, the Church of Christ.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN.

Dear Children:

Your Bishop is hoping that many of you are keeping Lent faithfully, attending the week day services of the Church, faithful in your private prayers and self-denials. Your Sunday school offerings during the Sundays in Lent will be appropriated, I hope, for General and Diocesan Missions, and will, if all are faithful, amount on a goodly sum. I hope many will try and raise a dollar this Lent for Cot and Orphanage, and so obtain medal of Good Shepherd or Bishop's picture.

At Madison, in February, the Bishop had the pleasure of confirming eight scholars from the Sunday school. At Hammond he received eighteen boys and girls to the Roll of Honor.

The King's Daughters of Logansport sent $15, to the Bishop for the Orphanage, the proceeds of an evening's entertainment. I wish there might be an organization of King's Daughters in every parish to work thus for the Orphanage Fund. We should not have to wait long for the building.

Perhaps your parents will all help us this Lent. The Bishop has asked them. What a nice thing it would be if all would. A good many of the children will use mite chests for the Lenten mission offerings, emptying them at Easter.

It is nice to read over the children's answers to Mr. Hunter's questions. I wish we had room for them all. We can only give the names. What Sunday school will save their papers and send twenty-five to A. J. Daniels, Kennard?

What Sunday-school will send a package monthly to Rev. T. B. Kemp, D. D., at Garrett?
He will be glad to recieve twenty-five or more.

With Love, your Bishop,

D. B. Knickerbacker.

WE ARE sorry that more of the children do not take an interest in the questions in this column. This corner is especially intended for you. Here you may feel at home; and we would be very glad to have you ask questions, if you don't ask hard ones. Always read over the Bishop's letter carefully, and such other matter as may be given.

Answers to the questions for last month have been received from Miss Anna Bishop and Miss Elsie Turner, Bristol; Miss Hattie and Miss Carrie Wall, Hammond; and Master James Bassett, Indianapolis. The answer to the first question, given by two of the little girls, was Eph. vi, 1, which is very much like the correct one, which is Col. iii, 20. All have done very nicely in their account of Lent and its principal days. From the different answers we get quite a full account of the season. We are told that Lent means spring; that it is the spring fast, and begins on Wednesday in order that, omitting Sundays, just forty days may be accomplished before Easter; that the principal Holy Days are Ash Wednesday and Good Friday, with special observance of all the other days of Holy Week, which is the last week of the season; and also the festival of St. Matthias and of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary; and further that we should abstain from worldly pleasures and such things as we like best, and the money saved should be given to the missionaries.

Now, for this month, we have given two texts upon prayer, and will ask that you will find where they are written. Give also the number of books in the Bible, and find out how many of the writers of the Gospels were of the twelve apostles, and give their names.

On February 13th, a son was born to Rev. G. E. Swan and wife.

THE Rev. J. A. McGlone has been appointed missionary at Anderson,

Ar a meeting of the Standing Committee, a Lutheran minister was recommended to the Bishop to be received as a candidate for Holy Orders. The Rev. J. J. Faudé resigned as Prestident, and the Rev. E. G. Hunter was elected to fill the place. The Rev. Dr. Jenckes was elected to fill the vacancy on the committee.

At a social gathering at the Rectory of Holy Innocents' Church, Indianapolis, on the evening of the Rector's birthday, he was presented with a very handsome copy of the Oxford Teacher's Bible by members of the Sundayschool.

THE Annual Baccalaureate Sermon to the graduating class of the Indianapolis Institute will be preached in Grace Cathedral on Sunday evening, June 8, by Rev. J. H. Ranger. of Christ Church.

The address to the graduating class will be given at the Commencement exercises on Tuesday evening June 10, by Rev. J. Everist Cathell, of Richmond. Diplomas and prizes will be presented by the Bishop.

THE Bishop received some very encouraging donations for the Diocese in the way of Easter offerings from Churchmen in unorganized stations, and the dear children also sent in remembrances for the Orphanage and Cot Fund. We hope our children will more and more realize their relationship to the Diocese and their responsibility to sustain it by sending annual offerings at Easter and Christmas for sustaining the work of the Diocese.

THE terrible tornano that struck Louisville and Jeffersonville was one of the severest in Church at 7:30 P. M. The following is the its destruction of property for a long time. Some dozen of the founders of St. Paul's parish had the roofs of their homes blown off, including the rector and warden. The death of Rev. Mr. Barnwell and son and the destruction of his Church, St. John's, is very sad indeed. The Bishop of Kentucky and the parish are asking the Church to provide for this faithful after collection of subscriptions for Church Priest's family and to restore the church. We shall be glad if the parishes in Indiana shall respond to this appeal. Offerings may be sent to the Bishop of Kentucky.

REV. E. G. HUNTER having resigned the Editorship of the Church Worker, Rev. G. E. Swan at the Bishop's request will resume the Editorial charge. All subscriptions and exchanges may be addressed to him at 237 Central Avenue.

THE Howe Grammar School teachers and pupils have commenced the semi-monthly publication of a paper called the Howe Grammar School Items. It is full of information about the school and creditable literary articles. At Easter joyful service was held in St. Mark's, many friends of the pupils being present from abroad. Among them Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bement, of Terre Haute. The vested choir of the school rendered the service very sweet.

REV. JOSEPH S. LARGE, for many years rector of Trinity Church, Fort Wayne, and greatly loved there, died at Galveston, Texas, April 18. He was on a visit to his son residing there and had been in good health until recently. He was about 76 years of age and had continued in active discharge of his ministry in Michigan up to a few years ago. He also supplied Trinity Church, Ft. Wayne, in the interregnum between Mr. Webb and Mr. Seabrease. He has a daughter residing at Ft. Wayne and he was buried there. Committal service was said by Mr. Seabrease.

On Whit Sunday afternoon there will be a union meeting of all our Sunday Schools at St. Paul's Church, at 3:30 P. M. Reports will be presented of each school. An address and Catechising with offering.

On Whitsun Monday there will be a meeting of all the Sunday School teachers in Christ

THE BISHOP'S JOURNAL

Saturday, March 29, went to Fort Wayne, via Muncie. Passed a couple of hours pleasantly with Mr. Henry and Mr. Olcott-dining with the latter. Arrived at Fort Wayne at 3:45 P. M., met by the rector and taken to the elegant rectory for entertainment. Attended Lenten services at 5 P. M. in parish house; a good attendance of ladies present.

Palm Sunday, March 30, at 9 A. M., celebrated Holy Communion, about thirty communicants receiving. 10:30, after service said by the rector, preached, confirmed a class of six persons, and addressed them. Offerings for Diocesan Church Building Fund. 2:30 P. M. visited the Sundayschool; a good number of teachers and scholars in attendance. Addressed the school, and received four to the Roll of Honor. The rector's wife and two sons are assistants in the Sundayschool. 5 P. M. went to Warsaw- met by Mr. Turner. A good congregation filled the church. After Evening Prayer by Mr. Turner, preached, confirmed one person, and addressed the congregation. Offerings for Diocesan Missions. Mr. Turner had held a parochial mission here, having services twice a day all through the preceding week. It has enabled him to get well acquainted with the people. This mission more than any other in the Diocese, has suffered from weak and illy instructed Church people-people who stand by the Church if it takes the crowd with it, and attracts the well-to-do and fashionable people of the community, but who have no principle in their attachment to it. They can be quite as well content in a Methodist or Presbyterion or Baptist service, and are indifferent to the Church's success and prosperity. The mission is getting down to bed-rock; it is beginning to find out who can be depended on and who love the Church and her holy ways, and we believe a better day is in store for it. Mr. Turner is working patiently and hopefully, and in good time, we doubt not, we shall see the results of his labors.

Monday before Easter, March 31, left Warsaw for home, by way of Plymouth. Spent an hour here, and met the Rev. Charles Meade, of Newark, N. J., who had supplied the parish the day before, and who is to spend Good Friday and Easter with them. He had been sojourning with his brother, Rev. James Meade, of Goshen, on account of his health, and finding himself improved, kindly takes the service at Plymouth. Arrived at home at 3 P. M. Evening, at Grace Cathedral, after Evening Prayer by Mr. Swan, preached on the Passion of our Lord-His betrayal being the special subject for the evening. A good attendance of the congregation.

Tuesday before Easter, April 1, at 10:30 A. M., made an address in Christ Church on the events of the last Tuesday of our Lord's life. Rev. J. J. Purcell, recently admitted a candidate for Holy Orders from the Lutheran body, arrived to pass the week to receive instruction and training preparatory to taking charge of the ocesan missions. mission at Frankfort, as licensed lay-reader. reading the service, preached on the apprehension of our Lord and His betrayal by Judas.

services in Christ Church. 4530 P. M., in Grace Cathedral, took part in the service and baptized seven adults, and made closing Lenten address.

Easter Day, April 6, at 7:30 A. M., in Christ Church, celebrated Holy Communion, assisted by the rector, sixty-six receiving, 10:30, in Grace Cathedral, which was filled to its utmost capacity, and beautifully decorated with memorial offerings of flowers, preached, confirmed a class of eleven, addressed them, and celebrated Holy Communion, seventy-six receiving. Mr. Swan had celebrated Holy Communion at 7 A. M. and said Morning Prayers at q. At 3 P. M. was present at the Easter Festival of the children of the Sunday-school; one hundred and nineteen scholars and teachers present. After a brief choral service, received four to the Roll of Honor, distributed Easter cards, and received the children's offerings. The music at the morning service by the vested choir was very fine. The offerings for the day were about $250 for Diocesan Missions, Orphanage and completing the payment for the carpet of the church. 7:30 P. M., visited Christ Church; the church was crowded. After service, said by the rector and his assistant, Mr. Bamford, preached, confirmed a class of sixteen, and addressed them. Offerings for Diocesan Church Building Fund, Easter Monday, April 7, at 10:30 A. M., attended service at Christ Church. Issued layreaders' license to Dr. Irwin, of Fort Wayne, and Mr. W. B. Russell, of South Bend. Wrote to vestry at Elkhart. 1:30 took train for Marion, arriving at 5:30 P. M. Entertained by Mrs. Turner. 7:30, in Gethsemane Church, after Evening Prayer, said by Mr. Cole, preached, confirmed two persons and addressed them. Offerings for Diocesan Church Building Fund. Large congregation present. Met the newly elected vestry after service, and conferred with them in regard to their new church building. Mr. Cole had signified his acceptance of the rectorship, which I was glad to learn. The parish had had a joyful Easter, with large attendance, and are pleased with their new rector. M., at the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, addressed the congregation, confirmed a class of fifteen, and addressed them. Evening, in Holy Innocents', preached, confirmed eighteen and addressed them.

Monday, April 14, went to New Harmony. A good congregation awaited us at St. Stephen's. Mr. Morris said Evening Prayers and the Bishop preached. Offerings for Diocesan missions, We were entertained by Mrs. Col. Owen. A feeling of sadness filled our hearts on missing from the service the venerable Colonel Richard Owen, whose recent sudden death at the ripe age of 84 years had filled all hearts with sorrow. He was a lovely Christian gentleman, a ripe scholar and a distinguished professor and citizen. His funeral had been attended by Rev. Messrs, Cole and Morris from the church. His end was peace, and he was laid away in the blessed hope of the resurrection.

Tuesday, April 15, went to Mount Vernon; met there by Mr. Abbott. 7 P. M., in the Presbyterian Church, baptized an adult, and gave an instruction to the older members of the Sundayschool. In the evening, in the same church, Mr. Abbott taking the service, preached, confirmed two persons, addressed them, and celebrated Holy Communion. termined not to remain over, but return in the autumn for a Sunday visitation. Was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur over night. On Thursday returned to Indianapolis.

Saturday, April 19, accompanied by Mrs. Knickerbacker, left Indianapolis at 1 P. M. for Terre Haute. Met at station by Mr. G. W. Bement, and entertained at his hospitable home during our stay.

Second Sunday after Easter, April 20, at 9:30 P. M., addressed the Sunday-school of two hundred scholars, 10:45, received fourteen children to the Roll of Honor, preached, confirmed eighteen, addressed them, and celebrated Holy Communion, the newly-confirmed taking their first communion. 3 P. M., visited St. Luke's mission; found a Sunday-school of fifty children, superintended by Mr. Longman, layreader. After Evening Prayer by Mr. Stanley, Stephen's and 1,000 baptisms. The parish now addressed the school. 7:30, after Evening Prayer, by rector, preached.

Monday, April 21, accompanied by Dr. Delafield and Mr. Stanley, visited Rockville; entertained at Mr. Cheeney's. 7:30, after Evening Prayer by Dr. Delafield and Mr. Stanley, preached, confirmed two, addressed them, Dr. Delafield, under whose ministry the church was built, making an address.

Tuesday, April 22, at 9:30 A. M., celebrated Holy Communion, ten of the twelve communicants of the mission present and receiving. Made a brief address. This mission is progressing encouragingly under the ministrations of Mr. Stanley, who visits them twice a month, Evening, present at the commencement of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of St. Stephen's Church, and made an address.

Wednesday, April 23, at 10:30 A. M., celebrated Holy Communion, and made an address. 3 P. M., presided at woman's meeting, and made an address. 4:30 P. M., present at children's service. 7:30, closing service of semi-centennial. Afterward attended reception at Terre Houte House

PARISH, TERRE HAUTE.

April 22 and 23d St. Stephen's parish, Terre CHURCH ORGANS! Haute celebrated the semi-centennial of the founding of the parish. The rector and vestry prepared an interesting program of services that was entered into most heartily by all the parishioners. They had the presence of the Bishop, Rev. E. G. Hunter, President of the Standing Committee; Dean Morris, of Evansville; Rev. J. Everist Cathell, of Richmond; Rev. Dr. Delafield, of Chicago; Rev. Francis S. Dunham, former rector, and Rev. Thomas MacLain, whose former home was in Terre Haute. A large congregation was present at the opening service, Tuesday evening, when the rector, Rev. J. D. Stanley, gave a historical sermon of great interest. From it we learned that 700 confirmations had taken place in St. numbers 400 communicants. He was followed by a paper from Rev. E. G. Hunter, of Holy Innocents, reviewing the condition of the Church and Diocese during Bishop Kemper's Episcopate, and by Rev. J. Everist Cathell, of St. Paul's, Richmond, who spoke of the present A Church School for Young Ladies and Girls. condition of the Church and Diocese. The Bishop also briefly addressed the congregation, speaking of the several Bishops who had preceded him, and their administration,

Wednesday, at 10:45, there was a celebration of Holy Communion by the Bishop, and an address by him on the early founders of the parish, and the difficulties that were overcome in establishing the Church in Terre Haute. The Bishop, clergy, and the vestry, lunched with the rector at the Terre Haute House.

At 3 P. M., Miss Upfold read an interesting paper on the development of Woman's Work in the Church in the last fifty years; and the rector read a history of Woman's Work in the parish, prepared by Mrs. Fowler. Rev. Charles Morris followed with an eloquent address. At 4:30 P. M., Rev. Mr. Cathell addressed the children. At 7;30 P. M., Judge Mack gave a history of the founding of the parish, and its progress and development for fifty years under its various rectors. He was followed by addresses from Rev. Mr. Dunham and Dr. Delafield, former rectors, and Rev. Thomas G. Mac-Lain, of Bay City, Michigan, who had grown up in the parish. The rector read letters from We have, at this time, the best lot of Pianos former rector's, Drs. Spencer and Wells, and delightful social reunion was held in the parlors of the Terre Haute House and refreshments served.

At nearly all the services, Mrs. Donaldson, one of the original founders of the parish, was present. She is now in her 78th year, but deeply interested in the Church's progress.

THE ORPHANAGE FUND.

We are glad to be able to acknowledge such substantial additions to this fund. Some generous personal contributions have been made and some Sunday-schools have done liberally. In Christ Church, Indianapolis, a Sundayschool class under the guidance of their teacher, Miss McDonough, held a successful entertainment on the evening of April 15th, in the Guild Rooms and realized about $25 towards the fund. What we would earnestly urge is that personal donations to the fund, much or little, as God has blessed, be sent to the Bishop, Major W. P. Gould, of Vincennes, has set a good example for all Churchmen in the Diocese by sending an Easter offering of $50. We hope others may do in like manner. There is pressing need of such an institution. Memorial offerings could not be given to a more worthy object. Churchmen of Indiana, here is an object CARPETS, CURTAINS & WALL PAPER, worthy of your liberal gifts.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION.

In consequence of the vacancy of the rectorship the vestry of Trinity church, Michigan Church on Tuesday morning, June 3, at 10 City, have requested to be excused from entertaining the Diocesan Convention this year. Rev. J. H. Ranger, in behalf of Christ Church, Indianapolis, requested the privilege of having the convention in their Church. The Bishop has so appointed. The convention will assemble in Christ Church on Tuesday evening, June 3, for evening prayer the Bishop's address and election of secretary. On Wednesday at 9 P. M. Holy Communion will be celebrated and the business of the Convention transacted through the whole day. In the evening at 7:45 P. M. the annual missionary meeting will be held, the report of the Missionary Committee read by Dean Morris and addresses made by Rev. A. W. Seabrease, Rev. J. E. Cathell, and Rev. A. B. Nicholas. A full attendance of clergy and lay delegates will be provided for all the clergy. A lunch will be served in in the Guild Room by the ladies on Wednesday at I P. M. Bishop and Mrs. Knickerbacker will be glad to receive the members of the Convention and Church people of Indianapolis from 5 to 7 P. M. on Wednesday.

THE AMERICAN CHURCH BUILDING FUND.

In the multitude of calls upon the clergy and their parishes for pecuniary aid, we hope this important fund will not be overlooked. It has for its object to aid in erecting mission churches by granting loans for a period of years. Every parish in Indiana should make an annual offering. Give the people an opportunity to contribute something to this admirable cause. Mayor W. P. Gould is the representative of the fund in this Diocese. Judge Prince still continues the special Secretary of the fund in advocating its claims. The Bishop would earnestly request their annual offering at such convenient time as the clergy may chose.

PERSONAL.

Rev. F. W. Adams, for several years rector of St. John's, Elkhart, resigned at Easter, to accept work in the missionary jurisdiction of the Platte, at Grand Island. Had it been for any other than the missionary field, we should hardly have been willing to part from our brother, who has done a good work at St. John's. His departure is greatly regretted by his people.

Rev. F. Thompson, of St. James's, South Bend, resigned at Easter the rectorship of that parish, after two years of service. He will for the present devote himself to St. Paul's, Mishawaka, and the mission at New Carlisle. Mr. Thompson has presented a large number for confirmation, and has had many baptisms during his rectorship, and leaves many friends in the parish who greatly appreciate his labors

Several of our parishes are without rectors and should be filled as soon as possible. There is no greater mistake than for a vestry to decline to take action at once when the vacancy in the rectorship occurs and secure a clergyman for the congregation which they represent. They should confer with the Bishop of the Diocese. He knows well the kind of man they need and will be likely to have applications from good men whom he can recommend.

ISHES IN EVANSVILLE.

This was a red letter day in the history of the Church at Evansville. The weather was beautiful. The presence of Bros. Miller, Sargent and Birch added to the clerical force in the chancel. The congregations were very large, many being turned away from Holy Innocents in the evening. The confirmation classes were large and showed thorough preparation for the sacred rite.

At St. Paul's, the Bishop and visiting clergy were present at the Sunday-school at 9:30. It completely filled the beautiful chapel and overflowed with the infant department of fifty childred in the parish house. One hundred and thirty-five scholars and thirty teachers and an orchestra of a dozen pieces were present. The Bishop catechized the children and received seventeen to the Roll of Honor. Nearly half the class for confirmation was from the Sunday-school. The superintendent, Edward Viele and the rector had reason to be proud of their school. The Easter offerings were $30, devoted to the support of their Mission school of the Good Shepherd. At 10:30 St. Paul's Church was crowded, Mr. Miller and Mr. Sargent taking morning prayer. The Bishop celebrated Holy Communion, assisted by Dean Morris as Gospeller and Mr. Miller as Epistoller, Mr. Sargent serving. The Bishop preached, confirmed a class of eighteen school gathering St. Paul's church, 7:45 and addressed them, all received their first P. M. Union missionary meeting at communion together. The number of communicants was large. Offering $26 for Diocesan Church Building Fund. We found the rector of St. Paul's and his people very happy, having during Lent secured pledges for the whole of their indebtedness, $10,000. $160 was given at Easter for Diocesan Missions. 3 P. M. the Bishop and Clergy were at the Chapel of Good Shepherd which was packed to overflowing. Service was taken by Mr. Sargent and Mr. Miller, the Bishop addressed the congregation. The rector, Mr. Morris presented an interesting class of fifteen for confirmation who were addressed by the Bishop. An offering of $10.60 was made for Missions. A school of one hundred children is cared for here by a band of faithful teachers from St. Paul's, including Mrs. Morris. Mr. Morris also has a Thursday evening service at the Chapel. Through the kindness of Mrs. Viele the Chapel has been nicely painted on the exterior, whilst the Mother Parish has papered the inside nicely and placed an iron fence around the Church lot. Altogether some $300 has been expended on the improvement of the property.

At Holy Innocent's Church the rector was assisted at the morning service by Rev. Mr. Birch. MEETING OF SOUTHERN CONVO-CATION.

The Southern Convocation met at Evansville April 11, 12 and 13, in Holy Innocents' Church. There were present Rev. D. B. Ramsey, of Aurora; Rev. A. B. Nicholas, of New Albany; Rev. J. G. Miller, of Columbus; Rev. L. C. Birch, of Worthington; Rev. A. A. Abbott, of Holy Innocents', Evansville; Dean Morris and the Bishop. At the opening services, Friday evening, the sermon was on the resurrection life. The Bishop celebrated Holy Communion on Saturday morning, at 9:30. At II A. M., a paper was read by Rev. J. G. Miller, of Columbus, on preparation of candidates for confirmation. The paper met with the approval of the brethren, all of whom spoke on the subject. At 2 P. M., Rev. Mr. Birch, of Worthington, read an interesting paper on Church work in small towns, showing that the same earnest spirit of consecration and devotion was needed on the part of the clergy as in large towns, Several of the brethren spoke on this subject also. Reports were then made by the brethren on their mission work-Mr. Nicholas of his work at Corydon and Salem; Mr. Sargent of Washington; Mr. Morris of New Harmony, Princeton and North Branch; Mr. Abbott of Petersburg and Mount Vernon; Mr. Miller proposes to visit Seymour and Greensburg; Mr Ramsey, Shoals. At 3 P. M. there was a women's missionary meeting, addressed by the Bishop and Mr. Ramsey. Miss Upfold was not able to be present. At 4 P. M. there was a goodly number of children present, and the hour was occupied by the Bishop and Mr. Miller. At 7:30 P. M. the missionary meeting of the Convocation was held, and addresses made on foreign mission work and its claims on every Churchman by Rev. Mr. Sargent, of Vincennes, and the Bishop spoke of domestic and diocesan missions. There was a fair attendance at all the meetings, and the brethren felt it good to be together and take counsel in regard to their

We are now preparing to build a small Church for the worship of Almighty God, and the immediate use, and absolute necessity of our people, who are compelled three times each week to climb two flights of stairs, to reach their ball, much to the physical discomfort of the aged and infirm. We have pledges to the amount of $280. We desire, if possible, to raise in this place, $500. Our Ladies' Guild are preparing for an entertainment of three nights, after Easter, which we hope will net us something handsome by hard work, patience, and perseverance. We copy the following from Church Life deeming its suggestions worthy the attention of our Church women in these days when reading circles for study of more worldly literature abound.

PARISH READING CIRCLES .- If there could be organized in every parish a reading circle, in which a course of reading in Church literature were taken up and pursued in a systematic way, great good would result. If this reading -which should include the best books on the history of the Church from Apostolic times to the Reformation, and from the Reformation should follow the history of the English Church to a time within the memory of men living, and the American Church from its earliest colonial planting to the present-were supplemented by a talk, discussion, or papers on the claims of the Church, the progress it has made in this country since the Revolution, the obstacles it had to contend against during and immediately following that period, etc., etc., there would come to the participants an inspiration to great zeal in her behalf. These Church literature circles, under the direction of the rector, could be made interesting as well as instructive. We can see how they could be made, with wise management, pleasant and agrecable as well as profitable in the attainment of a kind of knowledge most desirable at this day, when the special attention of other Christian bodies is drawn to the Historic Church. To be well informed about her, to know how well-founded are her claims upon our love and reverence, is to beget a zeal in our

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN.

I have heard such good reports from so many of our Sunday-schools in regard to their joyful Easter celebrations that my heart is filled with thankfulness. Your rectors many of them write me that many of you have attended faithfully the Lenten services and that you have made great self-denials in order to increase your offerings for missions. We have heard of only one or two schools where the Lenten and Easter offerings were not for missions. The treasurer of our Diocesan Board, Mr. Martin, we know must feel glad and our missionaries grateful for what the dear children have contributed so freely and generously. Dr. Langford, the secretary of the General Board will be made happy by having so many children help him in his great mission work all over the world. We guess he will feel glad that he visited Indiana at our $1.96. Total, $31.80. convention last year and made such a good impression that all our parishes will help him in the great work he represents. Your Bishop Christ Church, Indianapolis, $22.98; Woman's has had to send out a good number of pictures and medals since Easter on account of dollars sent in by the boys and girls for the Orphanage and Cot. A list of these contributions will be given. Dear Little Robert Owen of New Harmony wrote me this nice little letter that came Logansport, $11.10; St. John's, Rockville, on Easter Day. "Mamma read to me from the Church Worker that you wanted little Vincennes, $37.50; St. John's, Crawfordsville, children to send you a dollar by Easter Sunday. $15.00; St. John's, Bristol, $5.00; Emmanuel, I have saved it up and you will find it here enclosed. I hope it will do you a little good. Mamma adds one dollar also." A little girl at Terre Haute, $60.00; New Castle, $8.32; Kewanna writes: "Dear Bishop, I am only a little girl not quite six years old, but am one St. Paul's, Columbus, $1,00; Laporte, $45.00; of the King's Daughters. I send you $2 toward the Cot Fund, SI is from myself and I would like a medal of the Good Shepherd. You may be sure the Bishop was glad to get these letters, and he will be glad at all times to receive similar letters from the dear boys and girls of his flock. The Bishop received seventeen boys and girls to the Roll of Honor in St. Paul's, Evansville, several also at Holy Innocents, Evansville, Muncie, Grace Cathedral, and St. James's, New Castle. He is always delighted when he finds the Catechism well studied. He has also confirmed a good many boys and girls this month. Well, dear children your Bishop must stop. He wishes you one and all every blessing. Your Friend and Bishop. D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

EDITORIAL.

CLERICAL reports should all be handed to the Bishop at the opening of the Convention, The Journal is put to press by the Secretary immediately after the Convention and is often delayed waiting for reports of careless and inattentive clergy or wardens.

IF THERE is any parish or Mission that has not taken up an offering for the General Board the Bishop requests that they will do so before the close of the fiscal year of the Board, August 31st. He is very anxious that every parish should be a contributor to the General Mission work of the Church.

The Convention will assemble in Christ church Indianapolis, on Tuesday evening June 3rd, at 7:30 P. M. After evening prayer the Bishop will deliver his annual address. The roll will be called and the Convention organized and committees appointed. We trust we may have a full delegation of laymen from all our parishes and that they will remain until the close of the Convention. On Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock morning prayer and litany will be said. At 9 o'clock Holy Communion will be celebrated after which the business of the Convention will proceed. The Bishop and Mrs. Knickerbacker will be glad to receive members of the Convention and Church people generally between 5 and 7 P. M. On Wednesday evening 7:45 the annual missionary meeting of the convention takes place when we hope to have a full attendance of the Church people of the city. The church should be crowded to hear reports of the Missionary Board, and missionary addresses. If the business is not completed the convention will assemble on Thursday at 9 A. M.

WHEN our new building for the Girl's School is completed in September it will need a great deal of new furniture. It would be a great help in the work if our Woman's Auxiliary Branches and Parish Guilds and Societies, especially in our stronger parishes would aid in the matter. The complete furniture for a room occupied by two girls costs about $65. We should like to have at least ten of these furnished by our Church women. Perhaps there are some families who would furnish a room in memoriam, It would be very nice if the old pupils of Rector Johnson's first seminary would furnish a room in memory of him to be called the Johnson Room. If a parish society cannot furnish an entire room a part will be welcome. The Bishop will be glad to hear from any parishes or individuals who are disposed to aid in this good work.

ASSESSMENTS.

Last year the Treasurer reported at Convention $1,213.51 delinquent and unpaid at the opening of Convention, of this he received $230 at convention, making a delinquency of $983,31 at the beginning of the year. When we consider that the assessment when every dollar is paid scarcely meets the necessary expenses of the Diocese we can understand how embarrassing it is for a Treasurer to meet the obligations of the Diocese. We sincerely hope that every parish will realize this and try to have their assessments all in the Treasurer's hands at the opening of the Convention.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The sixth annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be celebrated by the Bishop, and a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Locke of Grace church, Chicago, followed by annual reports of Diocesan Secretary, Miss Upfold. Lunch will be served in the Guild room from 12:30 to 2 P.

M. At the afternoon session there will be a paper by Mrs. President of the Chicago Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary on "Woman's Auxiliary and its Methods," Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols on "The Churchwoman and Her Opportunities A. D. 1890," and "A Mass Lesson on Our Diocesan Mission Field" by the Bishop of the Diocese, closing with letters and discussion of practical work. The announcement that Dr. Locke will preach should fill the RECENT GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

A noble gift was that of a parish house for St. Simon's Mission built and donated by Mr. John E. Baird of Philadelphia and dedicated last month. Another is the Hutchinson House of the Home of our Merciful Saviour for crippled children erected by Miss Mary Hutchinson in memory of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hutchinson.

The will of the late Daniel B. St. John of Newburgh, N. Y., made the following bequests: St. Luke's Home and Hospital, Newburgh, $10,000; Domestic and Foreign Mission Society $5,000; Trustees of Aged and Infirm Clergy of New York $5,000; Rector and Vestry of St. John's Monticello $5,000; Archdeaconry of Orange $5,000. By the will of Mr. Richard Martin an old friend and parishioner of the Bishop of Indiana, property valued at $250,000 is left for the endowment of St. Barnabas Hospital, Minneapolis, founded by the Bishop, and $200,000 for the endowment of the Sheltering Arms an orphanage in the same city.

The late John S. Minor of Detroit left $10,000 to the Church in Nebraska and on the death of his widow and her sister $25,000 will go to St. Luke's Hospital, Detroit; $20,000 to the Church Association of Michigan; $10,000 to the Trustees of the Diocese of Michigan; $50,000 for Domestic Missions; $25,000 for Foreign Missions; $300 a year is bequeathed to Miss Margaretta Scott for her work in Africa,

By the will of Mrs. Waterbury of Brooklyn, recently deceased, the School of St. Monica, Fond du Lac will receive $5,000 and the Diocese of Fond du Lac $10,000.

By the will of the late George S. Pepper of Philadelphia his whole estate amounting to two million dollars is divided among 59 institutions ranging in sums of from $3,000 to $150,000, the latter for free public library. The Church Hospital $50,000; Hospital and Dispensary of St. Clement's Church $10,000; Christmas Fund $5,000; Church Home $10,000.

The will of Thomas Drake of the same city designates 20 charities as recipients of his benefactions, among them Christ Church Hospital. Sheltering Arms, House of St. Michael and All Angels each $5,000. A member of the church of the Holy Apostles is about to erect a substantial three story building on three lots he has purchased for a parish building.

THE RISHOP'S JOHRNAL.

Saturday, April 26, went to Jeffersonville. Met by Mr. Sparks and taken to his home for entertainment. Evening, Rev. Jewell and Messrs. Fitch and Hartwell called.

Third Sunday after Easter, April 27, 8:30 A. M., catechised the Sunday-school and received ten to the roll of honor. 10:30 A. M., morning prayer said by the rector, preached, confirmed three persons and celebrated Holy Communion. Dined with Mr. Fitch and had some opportunity to see the terrible destruction of property by the tornado. Mrs. Ransom's beautiful house was greatly damaged, Mr. Hartwell's house almost destroyed, and the roof was taken off of Mr. Fitch's house. This may delay for a time the building of their new church. They have a very fine lot paid for at a cost of $2,500. The old church property has been sold for $2,000, so that they have on hand $3,500 towards the new church. They hope to build of stone. 2:30 P. M. went to New Albany, arriving in time to meet the growing Sunday-school of the parish. Catechised the children and received twelve to the roll of honor. Evening after service said by the rector, preached, confirmed seven and addressed them. Spent the night at Judge Stotsenburgh's. Matters are shaping themselves in this parish towards securing a new church. The rector hopes to have foundations in this autumn.

Monday, April 28, returned to Indianapolis. II P. M. started for Bristol by way of Laporte, arriving there at 5 A. M. and breakfasting with Brother Scott.

Tuesday, April 29, went on at 10 A. M. to Bristol to attend the meeting of the Northern Convocation. Arrived at 12 o'clock, entertained at the rectory. Afternoon spent with Messrs, Scott and Thompson in the examination of Mr. Turner for Priest's Orders. It was lis. passed satisfactorily. 7:30, first service of Convocation. After sermon by Rev. Mr. Hughes, of Coldwater, confirmed two persons and addressed them. The church was crowded Wednesday, April 30. 10 A. M. ordained Rev. Chas. Turner to the Priesthood and celebrated Holy Communion. Candidate was presented by Rev. F. Thompson of Mishawaka. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Van Antwerp of Western Michigan. Pesent, Rev. Messrs. L. F. Cole, B. F. Miller, Walter Scott, J. B. Meade, Henry Hughes. The remainder of the day and evening presided in the Convocation.

Thursday, May 1, went to Lima, found that Mr. Spalding desired confirmation postponed until a later day. Reached the school in time to welcome a new bell of 1,500 pounds weight, presented to the school by Mr. James Howe. It is to be placed in a tower to be erected for it, Found the school moving on quietly. Enjoyed evening prayer and morning prayer with the school.

Dr. Kemp with a good harvest gathered into the fold. At a special confirmation at 4 P. M. confirmed two persons, catechised and addressed the children of the Sunday-school. This now numbers eighty-seven children, and quite filled the church. Evening, after prayers by the rector, preached, confirmed eleven persons, five the service. 7:30 P. M. accompanied Dean being men, and addressed them. After service Jencks to St. James's chapel and preached. An rectory, most of the parishioners being present. the Diocese. This mission has been greatly strengthened and is in a most hopeful condition. They are rapidly paying the debt on their rectory and talking of enlarging their church at an early day. Saturday, May 3, went to Michigan City, arriving at 2:30 P. M. Was met by the warden, Mr. Follett and Dr. Godfrey and taken to Mr. I. H. Barker's for entertainment. In the evening met the vestry of the parish and conferred terior of the church. with them in regard to securing a rector at an early day.

Fourth Sunday after Easter, May 4, 11 A. M. used benediction service for the new stone church. A large congregation present. Said morning prayer, Mr. Fish, lay reader, reading the lessons, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. Offering for Diocesan Missions. After service met the Sunday-school and catechised them. 4 P. M. met the class for confirmation, 4:30, after evening prayer, said by Monday, May r. o A. M. present at opening of school in Barker Hall, said the service and addressed the children. This school is under the care of three efficient teachers and is doing a most excellent work. The three confirmed the day before were pupils of the school. We missed very much, at this visitation, Mr. Faudé and family. Evening went to Hammond, arrived in time for evening service. A good congregation had assembled and after evening service said by Mr. Wall, I preached. After/service held conference with the vestry and building committee of the mission and settled on plans for a church for the mission to cost $1,500. The plan was designed by Architect Davis and presented to the mission. Steps have been taken to complete the subscription and push the work of building. Returned to Indianapo-

Thursday, May 15, Ascension Day, at Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis. Said service, made an address and celebrated Holy Communion.

Saturday, May 17, issued request to Drs. Clarke and Carter to examine Mr. Herbert S. Webster as to literary qualifications for candidateship for Holy Orders.

Sunday after Ascension Day, May 18, 9:30 A. m. visited St. Paul's Sunday-school, Indianapolis, Mr. A. Q. Iones, superintendent. Catechised the children on Christian Year and Church Catechism. They answering nicely and showing careful instruction. Received six to the roll of honor, 10:45 said Communion service, preached, confirmed a class of seventeen presented by Dr. Jenckes, rector, addressed them and celebrated Holy Communion, the newly confirmed making their first Communion. Friday, May 2, went to Garrett where found Offering for Diocesan Church Building Fund. After service confirmed a sick person in private, 3 P. M. visited All Saints, Brightwood, in company with Rev. E. G. Hunter, preached, confirmed three and addressed them. The attendance was good. The presence of a number of Holy Innocent's choir added to the interest of attended reception and parish social in the offering was made for Church Building Fund of

Tuesday, May 20, visited St. Paul's, North Liberty, station of Dean Scott. Met at Walkerton by Mr. Purse who drove me home to dinner. Took tea with Mr. Flood. Spent night at Mr. McKinzie's. DIOCESAN ITEMS, EVANSVILLE, St. PAUL'S .- The opera of Martha was given in the Grand Opera House, Evansville, under direction of Mrs. George Viele, for the benefit of St. Paul's Church. It proved a great success, and added a considerable sum to the parish finances.

Indianapolis .- James N. Meade, in whose home, on English avenue, the Sunday-school of the Holy Innocents' was organized in 1866, died at the home of his son, at Connersville, on May 14, his funeral being conducted in Trinity Church, of that city, by the minister in charge, Rev. Willis D. Engle, a family friend of a quarter of a century.

MADISON, CHRIST CHURCH. - On Sunday evening, May 4, the rector delivered a sermon on forms of worship from the text: "Let all things be done decently and in order," A report of the sermon is given in the Madison Courier of May 8. It must have proved very instructive to the congregation present.

THE church at South Bend is receiving a coat of paint. The ladies will probably put down a Rev. James D. Stanley, Rector St. Stephen's new carpet.

TRINITY, BLOOMINGTON .- Our lay reader, Mr. Edwin R. Fletcher, has served here every other Sunday. An elegantly-carved prayer desk has been placed in the church recently as a memorial of Mrs. Mary M. Dodds, a daughter of Rev. Dr. Wylie, by her daughter, Mrs. Rose, of Muncie. Prof. Clark, of the University, has secured a chandelier and Prof. Gunn has presented a large lamp. The attendance at service has been good.

CERTAIN COURTESIES OWED TO THE RISHOP

One of the Church's Canons (Canon xv, Title I,) requires that on the election of a minister into any parish formal notice of the fact shall be sent by the Vestry, in writing, to the Bishop.

Another part of the Canon (§ vii [3]) provides that it shall be the duty of the Bishop to receive him if he comes with proper credentials from his last Diocese, unless the Bishop believes him guilty of conduct or teaching rendering him liable to trial.

But now, entirely outside of the formal provisions, and yet closely connected with this same matter of calling a rector, there is scope for certain courtesies towards the Bishop of the Diocese, which ought not to be neglected. To be sure, as is pointed out above, every parish has the right-the legal right-to call a new rector without doing more than to report the fact to the Bishop. Sometimes even this is neglected, more probably through thoughtlessness or lack of knowledge of the canonical provision for it, than for any other reason. But even before the call is made, it seems only right that the Bishop's opinions and wishes should at least be consulted as to the choice. Ordinarily, it would be far the safest thing for a parish to do, even for its own interests.

And then both the Bishop, personally, and the Diocese besides, have interests in the matter, entirely aside from those of doctrine and Bet, Franklin and Market Sts.

Rev. A. M. LaTourrette, Grace Cathedral, conduct, which ought to be regarded. Both are very much concerned as to the men who are to make up the diocesan clergy list, give character to the diocese, and perhaps determine its peace and prosperity or its disturbance and failure for years to come. It ought to be instinctive with all good Churchmen, who really believe in the Church, to pay their Bishop always, when possible, this mark of reasonable, respectful, official regard .- Bishop Vincent in Church Chronicle.

THE indications are at this writing that by the delinquencies of parishes in making up their quotas for Diocesan Missions we shall fall short at least $1,000 the amount asked for by the Board of Missions for their work. Some clergy and parishes seem totally indifferent to the claims of this important fund upon them. The Board can place no dependence upon their loyalty or liberality. It is sad it is so. Other parishes on the other hand are prompt, regular and reliable to do all in their power and meet their appointed quota with the greatest cheerfulness. Why cannot all catch this spirit? It would make our work so much easier.

NORTHERN CONVOCATION.

This proved a most interesting and helpful gathering of the clergy. It was held at Bristol April 29 and 30, and the people were most cordial in their hospitality and constant in their attendance, the church being full at every service. The ladies had greatly improved the church by laying down a new carpet. Of the members of the Convocation there were present besides Rev. Mr. Turner, Revs. Walter Scott, F. Thompson, B. F. Miller, L. F. Cole, J. B. Meade, Dr. Van Antwerp, General Missionary in the Diocese of Western Michigan and Rev. Mr. Hughes of Coldwater added by their presence and sermons to the interest of the meeting. Mr. Hughes preaching the opening sermon and Dr. Van Antwerp the ordination sermon. Mr. Turner was ordained to the priesthood on Wednesday morning. An excellent paper on pastoral visiting was read by Mr. ties where they live.

VISITATION TO VINCENNES.

The annual visitation of the Bishop to St. James' parish Vincennes and St. John's Mission North Vincennes was most satisfactory and encouraging. The rector, Rev. C. S. Sargent has won the confidence and support of his people by his self denying labors among them. At the morning service in St. James's after morning prayer the Bishop preached and confirmed a class of seven persons, four men and three women and addressed them. He then celebrated Holy Communion, 66 receiving, among them the newly confirmed. The church was crowded. In the afternoon at 2:30 the church give us a trial? was filled by the Sunday-school of the parish and St. John's Mission School North Vincennes. After choral evening prayer, said by the rector, the Bishop catechised and addressed the schools and received an offering for the Orphanage. The schools pass a very satisfactory examination in the catechism. At 6 P. M. the Bishop confirmed a sick boy in private. At 7:30 the chapel of St. John's Mission was crowded and after evening prayer said by the rector the Bishop confirmed a class of 13 and addressed them. Eight of the confirmed were from the mission day school sustained by Major Gould. Three were working men belonging to the Brotherhood of the Iron Cross. The whole number confirmed at the visitation was VACANT PARISHES.

In St. James's, South Bend, since Easter, one Sunday service and one week-day service has been kept up by Alfred L. May, licensed lay reader. The services are well attended.

In St. John's, Elkhart, Mr. J. W. Patterson, warden and licensed lay reader, has service every Sunday.

In St. Thomas's, Plymouth, the Sunday-school is superintended by Mrs. Cleaveland, with the co-operation of a faithful band of teachers, Great enthusiasm prevails in the Sunday-school. We have no information that the vestries in either of these parishes are moving in the matter of securing a rector. It is poor economy for any parish to attempt to get along with simply lay reading, and deprive the people of the Holy Sacraments and the ministrations at the sick bed.

Vestries are not elected for this purpose, Some of our old parishes that have gone to seed it is pretty hard to revive. There is so little vitality in the Churchmanship that is left. So little willingness to make sacrifices for the support of services that in some of them the Church would be better off if they were not there. Their deadness and coldness and indifference and lack of appreciation of the Church's blessed services are a wet blanket on every effort to revive and extend the Church. They are really hinderers of the Church's progress obstacles to her advancement in the communi-

WHITSUN DAY IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Grace Cathedral was consecrated on Whitsun day. It was a beautiful day, and the congregation was large. The Bishop was assisted by the Bishop of Quincy, who preached. The sermon was an eloquent setting forth of the objects of . a consecrated church, and the especial influence of the Cathedral as the Bishop's home-for ordinations, and the special scenes of the Diocese conventions, retreats, missions, etc. Mr. Swan presented a class of five for confirmation after the sermon, making twenty-five confirmed in the convention year. The music was very fine. The number of communicants was very large.

At 3:30 P. M. there was a great gathering of June 8. all our Sunday-schools in St. Paul's. The entire central portion of the church was occupied of essays, music and recitations, at the school, by at least six hundred children. A procession Monday, June 9, at 7:30 P. M. of the three vested choirs preceded the clergy. Bishop Burgess and Rev. Mr. Van Buren, of school, June 10, at 8 P. M. Newburyport, Mass. The Bishop catechised reports of the different schools.

THE PRIESTLY OFFICE.

Preaching, no doubt, has its peculiar and most important uses. To reach men's hearts we must, somehow, reach their ears. But the formation of Christian character needs more than the voice of the preacher. Sermons alone will not educate the soul. Each child needs the close study of a loving pastor, the spiritual ministrations of a devout priest, the steady guiding, checking, encouragement and holy example that are possible only by years of familiar intercourse, Two or three years' residence in a parish can merely begin to bring the pastor into proper relations with his people, especially it the conditions of social life have elements in them so strange as those of which I have spoken. I desire to have the Institution office, as provided in the prayer-book, used on the entrance of a rector into a parish, so that the people throughout the Diocese may understand the Church's mind in this matter. The relation of pastor and people is not of an ordinary business character. There is nothing of quid pro quo in it, not so many prayers and so many sermons for so many dollars bound before God to care for them to the very best of his ability; according to the mind of God, and without the slightest regard to pecuni- to the Bishop after the Preface is read; not beary considerations. He is bound to minister fore! the sacraments as soundly, as conformed in every respect to the mind of Christ, in a hovel or in a prison, as in a church or a palace. He must preach the truth as fully and as persuasively in a school-house or cottage as in the pulpit of the Cathedral. He must love the laborer's children as the children of those at ease-must baptize them, prepare them for confirmation and Holy Communion, and must enter heartily into their joys and sorrows.

Any negligence in pastoral work is negligence in God's work. It is failure in duty to Godnot to man merely. The Christian pastor may not say: It will put me to great trouble to visit that poor, sick man; I will get no moneyed reward for it-perhaps expose myself to contagion. He must remember that he is to do what the Great Shepherd would do if He were yet on earth. No man without the heart for all these things, has any right to seek the holy priesthood. And even above and beyond this, the Church, in the solemn monition which she bids the Bishop make to every candidate for the priesthood, inforces the truth that he must not limit his love and labors to the dutiful flock that may undertake in orderly ways to provide for his support and comfort, but must "seek for Christ's sheep that are scattered abroad, and for His children, who are in the midst of this naughty world, that they may be saved." He belongs to Christ always and everywhere. His time and strength can not be bought for any price by any congregation. This is the high ideal that the Church puts before all her pastors. This is the office which she insists that puts them under stringent vows to do all these things before she allows them to become rectors, missionaries and pastors, and they can accept special duties and ministrations only as subject to the conditions and obligations of nual Address.

CHURCH DECORATIONS.

"A hint to the wise" is often sufficient. Let us ask a single question of those who are sometimes thoughtless. Does it strike you that the Lord's Table and the Font, provided for the most solemn sacramental acts of our religion, are proper places or objects for ordinary church decorations, even with flowers? If you wish such decorations in the chancel (and they are beautiful and proper enough in their proper places) have a re-table for them back of the Holy Table; and keep this sacredly and exclusively for His use, whom we delight to come there to honor. And about the Font-associated so sacredly with that other sacramentthink of a clergyman's coming to a baptism and having to stand and blow dirt and dried sticks and dead leaves out of the Font before he could pour in the baptismal water! Would you use one of the communion chalices tor a houquet-holder? Why any more use the Font for the same purpose?

REMINDER ABOUT CONFIRMATION.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN.

Dear Children:

This is a busy time with you I know. You are preparing for your examinations and the close of school, and will have but little time to give to your Bishop. The list of acknowledgements indicate that the Orphanage has been nicely remembered. Seven children in St. Stephen's Sunday-school, Terre Haute, sent as many dollars for the Orphanage, and the Bishop was glad to send them pictures. Miss McDonough's class in Christ Church, Indianapolis, sent in the handsome sum of $30.71. Eight pictures and four medals went to that class. The Sundayschool of Grace Cathedral sent $30. This was very generous. There was one personal gift of $5. We hope for many more. It would not be a hard thing for nearly every adult reader of the WORKER to send in something. The parents ought to be able to do as much or more than the children. If any object should touch the heart and call forth the generosity of Christians, surely that of a Home for Orphans and the Aged should. If this will not call forth the free will offerings and generous gifts of Indiana Churchmen, then nothing will. There are many who could spare $100 for it and not be cramped. How many could send $50 and not miss it! Many more could give $25 or $10 or $5. Hundreds ought to be able to send a dollar a year until the building is secured. We can not run in debt-we can not begin to build until the money is at hand. Until your parents and friends step forth and send generously and freely, dear children, we must depend upon you. You have done so nobly in the past that we feel that we can depend upon you unto the end. We hope your school examinations may pass off nicely, and that you may all receive deserved promotion.

Your friend and Bishop,

D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

DEATH OF MRS. DR. WAKEFIELD, AT SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA.

This sad event took place on May 1st, after a long and painful illness, borne with Christian resignation, She was buried from her husband's church, in the presence of a vast assembly of mourning friends. The altar was decorated with white lilacs, and the casket was covered with blossoms of stainless purity. She was buried in Oak Hill Cemetery. At her old home in Richmond, where she passed thirty years of her life, a solemn memorial service was held on May 11th, a large congregation being present to testify their respect for her memory. Rev. Dr. Pise, of Glendale, an intimate friend of herself and husband, delivered a touching memorial address, as did also Dr. Test and the rector. It was fitting that the memory of this good woman should be commemorated in the dear old church where she and her husband passed so many happy years, and where they were held in such deserved respect. Letters of sympathy from the Bishop of the Diocese and from Bishop Seymour were read.

Also made an address, congratulating the rector and people on the sure progress the parish was making. Mr. Hunter commemorated this day the third anniversary of his rectorship. The parish church has been greatly improved. The debt upon the rectory reduced $600. An effort is being made to further reduce it July 1, with good promise of success. Mr. Hunter has, since February 1, at the Bishop's request, taken charge of All Saints', Brightwood, giving it a Sunday afternoon service. At 2:30 P. M., visited St. Paul's Church, Indianapolis, for a special confirmation of two young men presented by Dr. Jenckes, making twenty-four confirmed in this parish during the conventional year. At 4 P. M. visited St. George's Mission. Dr. Jenckes and Rev. Mr. Ranger were presented. After Evening Prayer, by Rev. W. H. BRIGHTWOOD, ALL SAINTS'.—This mission, from a variety of causes, has been in rather a discouraging condition, but its affairs are reviving. Three were confirmed recently. The assessments for Convention and Diocesan Missions were met.

HAMMOND, ST. PAUL'S.—Plans for the church have been adopted, and subscriptions secured, and the work on the foundation, we hope, is well under way before this time.

HINTINGTON.—The Episcopal service last evening was unusually well attended, the occasion being the Communion of the Church. The discourses of the Rev. Otway Colvin are very superior in clearness of thought and excellence of theme, and the mission here is prospering greatly under his able efforts, and the wise work of those who labor under him. The membership is small and the work is great, but every effort seems to be crowned with success.

INDIANNOLIS, ST. GEORGE'S.—Rev. Mr. Bamford salled from New York, June 7, for England, to visit his parents. The mission will be supplied by lay service during the summer. Mr. Bamford has done faithful work in St. George's. He is one of the most promising of our vounger clergy.

Rev. Mr. Swan, of Grace Cathedral, is making a visit to his brother at Denver.

JEFFERSONVILLE, ST. PAUL's.—The rector has received a call to Oconomowoc, Wisconsin. We sincerely hope he will stay in Indiana, and build the church he has worked so hard to preser for LOGANSPORT, TRINITY .- On Trinity Sunday evening a beautiful service was held in the church, for the children. The rector preached especially and appropriately to the children from the text, "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." Proverbs ili, 17. Even the infant class of thirty children listened attentively, and all were interested. The children sang their hymns sweetly. Prizes for attendance at church were given to Charles J. Dean and George Chase, first, Robert Dean, second, and Thomas J. Dean, third, each receiving a book. Charlotte McDonald, Helen Manders, Esther Johnston and Lucy Simpson received medals. Some of the older scholars I attended Church without missing more than four Sundays in the year. June 3 the King's p Daughters held a festival in the Sunday-school room, realizing $16. This parish always takes a deep interest in Diocesau Missions, and has a monthly offering.

Marion, Gethsemane.—Work on the foundation of the new stone charch is progressing favorably, and will soon be ready for laying the corner-stone.

MUNCIE, GRACE.—Rev. Mr. Henry has visited Portland recently and celebrated Holy Communion. He has also visited Poneto.

New Albany, St. Paul's.—The work of selecting a new site and securing plans and subscriptions for the new church is progressing favorably. The rector has his father-in-law, the venerable Mr. Sturges, with him on a visit.

NEW CASTLE, ST. JAMES'S.—The vestry speak in the highest terms of the labors of their faithful missionary, Mr. Foulston. Under his faithful ministrations the young are being drawn to the Church.

ROCHESTER, ST. PAUL'S,...Mr. De Lou Burk, candidate for Holy Orders, will spend his vacation in charge of this mission.

CLEVELAND, O., June 20, 1890.

DEAR BISHOF KNICKERSHAKER: I Bog to report having held services for deaf-mutes during net he last quarter at the State school and Church, Indianapolis, and St. Stephen's Church, Indianapolis, and St. Stephen's Church, Terrer Haute. Baptisms, Indianapolis, 4: Terre Haute, 1. Services have been held in the other Dioceses as usual.

Affectionately, A. W. MANN.

ORPHANAGE AND HOME FOR THE AGED.

The Churchmen of Indiana are asked to send voluntary gifts for this fund to the Bishop, or Mr. L. B. Martin, Treasurer, Terre Haute. It is to be hoped that the present conventional year every Churchman will send in an individual gift, much or little, as God has blessed them. We want this Home, if possible, to be the spontaneous gift of the members of the Church in Indiana, in behalf of the poor and homeless one. God has greatly blessed many of the Church's children with abundance. This charity should appeal to every one, young or old. Let each one determine some definite sum they will set apart to accomplish this Christ-like work. If not prepared to pay it at once, send a pledge to be redeemed at convenience. Let us aim to secure at least $5,000 this year. Let every one consider this a personal appeal in behalf of a great and needed charity.

THE HOLY COMMUNION.

There are one or two points in connection with the celebration of this Holy Sacrament among us, which need to be emphasized. They relate to the preparation of the elements and the reception of them. Very frequently it is found that the bread for the Sacrament is already cut or broken into a great number of small pieces, when it is placed upon the Holy Table. But this utterly prevents the minister from doing what the Prayer Book bids him do -take the bread into his hands and break it, at the proper point in the service. It destroys another part of the true symbolism of the Sacrament, too, "the one bread" partaken of by all, expressing that blessed truth of the spiritual unity of Christians. The best way to prepare the bread for the Sacrament is by means of a "bread cutter," a simple little device which can be had from any ecclesiastical furnisher, which enables you to cut the bread into blocks of uniform size and thickness, and half through into a uniform number of pieces, which can then be easily broken, as one of the manual parts of the consecration, and as easily into smaller pieces for the administration. This arrangement also enables the celebrant to calculate instantly just how much of his prepared bread he will want for his communicants present. These "bread cutters" cost but a trifle, but they are very useful.

A second point is a wide-spread custom of receiving the consecrated bread with the tips of the fingers (often gloved), instead of into the open palm of the ungloved hand. The latter method will be found to be far more comfortable, both for the clergyman and the communicant, besides being more reverent. This has nothing to do with doctrinal questions about the consecrated elements, nor with any superstitious treatment of them. No lightminded communicant can help feeling reverence for, and wanting to treat reverently, the consecrated symbols. And it is not reverent to pick at them with the tips of the fingers, and then in carrying the bread to the mouth, scatter half of it carelessly upon the floor. "Let all things be done decently and in order." Receive the consecrated bread in the open palm of the

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The sixth annual meeting of the ITEMS FROM THE ANNUAL REPORT Woman's Auxiliary was held in Christ Church, Indianapolis, Tuesday, June 3. A good representation from the city parishes was present, and a few from outside by two delegates. Holy Communion was of the account, $1,000. celebrated by the Bishop at 10:30 A. M. Dr. Locke, of Grace Church, Chicago, Fund during the year from thirty-seven preached an able sermon on "Woman as a Citizen," which was listened to with deep interest and attention. The Bishop parishes, $54.14. made a short address of welcome, in which he paid a tribute to women and their work thirty-eight parishes, $286.68. in the Church, saying that in some instances the entire burden of supporting and carrying on missions and parishes fell upon them. The Bishop stated that the movement to erect a home for orphans and the aged was prospering, and the home will soon be built. Already $2,000 has been contributed toward it by the children July 1, $734.70. of the various parishes, and a Board of Trustees will be appointed to take the of Convention and General Convention, matter in charge.

The Diocesan Secretary, Miss Upfold, parish branches of the Woman's Auxiliary report cash contributions of $1,144.94, boxes valued at $641.44, making a total of $1,786.63. The reports of parish societies received from thirty-four parishes and missions showed $9,045.94 raised and expended for various parochial needs and FURNISHING ROOMS FOR THE INDIANpurposes by about nine hundred workers. Had all our parishes heeded the Bishop's request and sent reports, the total would Guild in the Diocese will become responhave been much larger.

After the reading of reports an adjournment was had for lunch, which was prepared in the Guild room.

The afternoon session began at 2 P. M., when a most interesting paper was read by Mrs. Locke, President of the Chicago Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, on the "Woman's Auxiliary, its History and Methods," Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols then spoke of the Churchwoman's opportunities, A. D. 1890, referring to the grand opportunities women now have in Church work as deaconesses, as workers for temperance, social purity, reformation and elevation of her sex, etc. Bishop Knickerbacker gave a map lesson on Diocesan mission work, pointing out the location of the missions and parishes on a map specially prepared, and showing the many places where the Church as yet has no foothold. After some discussion of the work for the coming year, the meeting adjourned.

APOLIS INSTITUTE.

What Woman's Auxiliary or Parish sible for the furnishing of a double room, $60? What one for half a room, $30, or one-quarter, $15? What family in memory of some loved one will furnish a room? The Bishop will be pleased to hear from any willing to help on this good work. What parish will provide for a room? Surely this work of Christian education should interest the whole Diocese. Shall the Diocese of Indiana gain the good reputation of many of her sister Dioceses for generous giving and interest in every good work for the advancement of Christ's kingdom? We hope so,

DIOCESAN CONVENTION.

The fifty-third annual Convention of ing the business of the Convention. the Diocese was a happy gathering of Bishop, clergy and laity, heartly devoted to furthering the work of Christ's Kingdom in Indiana. We missed a few of the clergy and some of our devoted laymen. but there was a full representation of both, It was pleasant to see in the Convention. Dr. Irwin, of Fort Wayne, whose duties as Superintendent of Public Schools had prevented his attendance for several years. We missed Mr. Fitch, of Jeffersonville; Major Gould, of Vincennes, and Mr. Wason, of Delphi.

Rev. W. D. Engle, who has so faithfully served as Secretary, was re-elected, and Mr. L. B. Martin, our efficient Treasurer, was elected by acclamation: Judge Wm, Mack, of Terre Haute, was elected Chancellor; Mr. David E. Snyder, Registrar, and Miss Emily L. Upfold, Librarian.

The report of the Committee on the State of the Church, read by Rev. L. F. Cole, was an able and encouraging review of the work of the Diocese.

The report of the Committee on Sunday-schools, read by Rev. Charles Turner. was a most helpful and suggestive paper. It will do good to read it in all our Sunday-schools.

The report of the Committee on Constitutions and Canons will be published in the Journal, and was laid over for consideration at our next Convention.

The report of the Trustees and their action in purchasing the Pennsylvania and St. Joseph streets property and investing Endowment money in its improvement by the erection of residences for rent, was approved, as also their action in turning Enrolment Fund of $675, to Endowment Fund. The purchase of property at corner of Central avenue and Seventh street, and erecting school building was approved.

The missionary meeting on Wednesday evening was thinly attended because of the hot weather. Unfortunately the report of the Dean of the Southern Convocation on the Missionary Work of the Board of Missions was stolen on the way to the Convention. The addresses of Mr. Morris, Mr. Nicholas, Mr. Wall and Mr. Cathell were all good.

An apportionment of $3,300 upon the parishes for sustaining the missionary work the present year was adopted.

The Bishop celebrated Holy Communion on Wednesday morning, at which there were present most of the members of the Convention.

The Bishop's annual address was delivered on Tuesday evening. It reviewed the work of the Diocese for the year. The following is a synopsis:

He first reported on the substantial progress made the past year in the educational work of the Diocese, the completion of the new buildings at Lima, Lagrange county, built by Mrs. Frances M. Howe, of Lima, at a cost of $35,000, and presented to the Diocese for the use of the Howe Grammar School, This school has now 40 boarders, and has accommodations for 60. Mr. James B. Howe has presented recently a fine-toned bell of 1,500 pounds weight. Book cases for a library had been presented by Mr. Dwight, of Detroit, and $500 for the purchase of books by the children of Mr. Burnell in memory of their father. The Indianapolis Institute for Young Ladies was closing a prosperous year and was having built for it by the Trustees of the Diocese a splendid new building on Central avenue, near Seventh street, at a cost of $20,000. Upon this there would be a debt of $5,000, which the Bishop pleaded earnestly to be given by Indianapolis Churchmen. This building would be completed in time for the opening of school in September. The Bishop also spoke of the flourishing school at Barker Hall, Michigan City, with its three departments under competent teachers; and of St. John's School at North Vincennes, provided by the generosity of Major Gould, a free school for the children of work people. He mentioned the new churches built the past year-the elegant stone church at Michigan City, at a cost of $20,000; Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis, $5,000, and Trinity, Bloomington, $2,500. Also parish house and rectory of stone at Michigan City, at a cost of $12,000. New churches were building or about to be built at Marion, Hammond, Jeffersonville, New Albany and New Carlisle, The Bishop also alluded to his desire to secure the means to build an orphanage and home for the aged adjoining the Cathedral, and asked the generous offerings of Church people in its hehalf. He spoke encouragingly of the progress the endowment of the Diocese was making-the aim is to secure $65,000. Half of this sum was already pledged, and $24,000 is paid in. The fund for the care of aged and infirm clergy has increased to about $2,300. Nearly $3,000 was reported from the parishes as their contribution for Diocesan missions. The finance of the Diocese were steadily improving. The Bishop spoke in praise of the good work St. Stephen's Hospital, at Richmond, was doing, and asked for it liberal offerings on Thanksgiving Day. On the whole, the report of the Bishop of the progress the Church is making in Indiana is most encouraging. He had confirmed the past year four hundred and fifty. The summary of the statistics for the year is as follows: Confirmations in Indiana, 455. The Bishop had delivered 140 sermons, made 50 addresses, celebrated Holy Communion 70 four parishes in Indianapolis was grateschools, had baptized 16 adults and 21 infants. had licensed 28 lay readers, ordained one deacon and one priest. He has now eight candidates for holy orders and three postulants; had received eight clergy and dismissed four; had received 125 children to the roll of honor: number of clergymen in the Diocese, 39.

In the seven years of Bishop Knickerbacker's Episcopate seventeen churches erected at a cost of $108,200; ten rectories erected at a cost of $35,700; three parish houses erected at a cost of $19,500; school properties erected at a cost of $70,000; lots in eight places on which churches are to be built, $7,300; increase of aged and infirm clergy fund, $2,000; church debts paid and expended in repairs, $25,000; debts of the Diocese paid, $7,500; endowment of the Diocese secured, $24,000; total, $299,200. Confirmation in seven years, 3,025; baptisms, 3,900; communicants in 1883, 3,800, in 1890, 5,900, increase, 2,300; clergy in 1883, 23, in 1890, 39; contributed for Diocesan missions in seven years, $16,903; for General Board of Missions, $6,000. Aggregate contributions for all purposes about $600,000.

Gethsemane Parish, Marion and Trinity Mission, Anderson and St. George's Mission. Indianapolis, were admitted into union with the Convention.

Standing Committee: Revs. Edwin G. Hunter, J. Hilliard Ranger, Joseph S. Jenckes, LL. D., Messrs. Wm. Mack, D. E. Snyder and W. H. Armstrong.

Trustees: Messrs. Lewis B. Martin, A. Q. Jones, Edward Olcott, W. P. Gould and Nathan F. Dalton.

HOWE GRAMMAR SCHOOL,

The closing exercises of the Howe Grammar School were most interesting. A play on Tuesday evening and student's party were most delightful. The ball game on Wednesday and address by Mr. Cathell afforded an exciting and pleasant day. The confirmation of seven students on Wednesday evening was a most interesting occassion. The lawn tennis game and closing exercises Thursday, with essays, declamations and presentation of prizes interested a large audience. On Wednesday the Lima brass band was present and added interest to the ball contest. The Howe club were the victors and retain the cup. Parents desiring an excellent school for their boys should apply at once to the Rev. C. N. Spalding, rector. The outlook now is for a full school next year.

preaching of the Baccalaureate sermon in Grace Cathedral, Sunday evening, June 8, by Rev. J. H. Ranger, of Christ Church. The collegiate exercises, which were given on Monday evening, June 9, before a under the guidance of the Bishop. Interlarge audience, consisted of music, recitations and essays, and were very creditable to the young ladies who took part. On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the school room of the Institute, the exercises of the preparatory department were held. The friends of the school assembled in large numbers and were delighted with the program, consisting also of essays, young ladies, the platform being filled with recitations and music. The art exhibition boquets from friends of the graduates. of the school, of more than a hundred ed great credit on this department of the took place in the Hall of the Young Men's Christian Association and were attended by a very large audience. The order of exercises was: opening prayer, by the Bishop; essays and music, by the graduating class; presentation of diplomas and certificates, awarding of prizes and announcement of honors. A capital address was given by the Rev. J. Everist Cathell, of Richmond, the Bishop pronounced the benediction. We clip the following from the Indianapolis Sentinel:

BRIGHT GIRL GRADUATES,-PERFORMENCES AT THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE

The commencement exercises of the Young Ladies Institute were held last evening at Y. M. C. A. hall. Six girl graduates gowned in pretty the teachers of the Institute, Bishop Knickerbacker and the Rev. J. E. Cathell of Richmond. The young ladies all read essays of an interesting character, and all were listened to with an earnestness by the audience which must have pleased the readers. The thought in all was rary exercises were excellent. Rev. Lewis most creditable, and each subject was handled gracefully and thoroughly. The graduates and the subject of their essays were: Miss Della R. Ramsey, "Class History and Prophecy;" Miss Fannie C. Root, "To Will is to Do;" Miss Bertha M. Flack, "Song;" Miss Florence E. Huntsinger, "The Marble Lieth in waiting;" Miss Flora Anderegg, "Batir;" Miss Margaret Nicholson, "But Yet a Woman," Miss Nicholson also read the valedictory, addressing in turn the Bishop, teachers and classmates. Bishop Knickerbacker made a brief address to the young ladies before delivering the diplomas, cautioning them in after life to be steadfast in purpose. Three things he said, are especially to be cared for - body, mind and heart,

After all had received their diplomas they knelt before the Bishop and received his blessing and the blessing of the church. The Rev. I. Everest Cathell of Richmond, Ind., was introduced and made a short address. He first set forth the meaning of word "commencement" The closing exercises began with the and the realization of the word. He urged that in after life the young ladies let duty have an equal chance with pleasure. The good the school has done was commented upon and the appreciation in which it is held in the Diocese by church men and women, it being directly spersed between the essays and addresses were a piano quartet, by Misses Huntsinger Kirby, Miller and Fitton; a piano duet by Misses Huntsinger and Miller, and a recitation-" Trial of St. Catherine "- by Daisy Lemon.

The exercises were closed with the singing of the hymn, "The Lord is My Shepherd; Therefore I Can Lack Nothing." Bishop Knickerbacker pronounced the beneciction.

BEQUESTS.

Miss Mary Edson, a member of Grace Church, New York, recently deceased, gave $50,000 for the Missions House. Her brother has given the $40,000 needed to complete the fund of $200,000 for its erection. By her will, Miss Edson left more than $200,000 for various charities; $48,000 for General Theological Seminary; $40,000 for missions; $10,000 for General Church Building Fund; $10,000 for St. Luke's Hospital, besides $10,000 to her rector. Dr. Huntington; $10,000 to the Bishop of New York, personal gifts.

NOTES ON THE HOLY COMMUNION.

The requirements of persons who come to Holy Communion, as laid down in the Catechism and in the Liturgy, are five: Repentance; Resolution to obey God's will in things; Faith, or belief in what God has made known to us in Christ; Gratitude for the blessing of Jesus' life, death and resurrection; and Charity, or forgiveness and love toward our fellow men. Examination in these points will show us whether we really accept Christ as our Lord, or only pretend to do so.

Persons coming to the Communion should do so in a reverent manner, and to express reverence certain rules ought to be observed:

- 1. Never wear gloves.
- 2. Never receive the Consecrated Bread in the fingers, but in the paim of the right hand. Every crumb should be slowly raised to the mouth and eaten. The rector sometimes has to pick up from the floor and eat crumbs of the Holy Bread which careless communicants have dropped.
- 3. Hold the cup firmly so as not to cause danger of spilling the Sacred Wine.
- 4. On returning to the pews communicants should continue kneeling in devout prayer, or meditation, or reading of the Bible, or some devotional book. Never sit up and stare about the church, or at the others who are going and returning from the altar.
- 5. The Hymn, after the Prayer of Consecration, is a Prayer, and should be sung, all kneeling. There is no rubic after the Consecration Prayer directing the congregation to rise to sing this hymn.
- 6. The rubic at the end of the Communion office directs that the Consecrated Bread and Wine shall not be carried out of the Church, but if any be left after all have communicated, it is to be reverently consumed by the Priest should be ready to go up at the Priest's call to
- 7. Do not rise from kneeling after the Benediction until the Priest is about to leave the sanctuary; then rise and wait until he has entered the vestry room. The service is then over. The singing of the Nunc dimittis while kneeling, after the Benediction, is a beautiful custom, and gives the congregation an act of worship while the Priest is preparing the sacred vessels for removal from the altar. But whether a hymn is thus sung or not, the above rule of not moving from the pews until the Priest enters the vestry should be observed.

Some idea of the work the venerable S. P. G. is doing in the mother Church may be had from these figures from the last annual report;

"The number of ordained missionaries, including ten Bishops, on the present list is 646that is to say, in Asia, 205; in Africa, 147; in Australia and the Pacific, 14; in North America, 210; in the West Indies, 35; and 35 in Europe. Of these 121 are natives laboring in Asia, and 26 in Africa. There are also in the various missions about 2,300 lay teachers, 2,650 students in the society's colleges, and 38,000 children in for the minister who sighs over his little flock mission schools in Asia and Africa."

The following parishes have no regular preaching: Logansport, Bluffton, Terre Haute, Mt. Carmel, Fairfield, Union, Huntertown, Rising Sun, Manchester, Mt. Vernon, Madison, Patriot and several others. And as long as the regular system of Pastoral Circuits is ignored, the most of them will be without preaching. Under the present policy, ten years more will amply suffice to wipe one half of them out of existence. It is inevitable stagnation is death. From Indiana Organ of the Universalists.

We clip the following item from the Indianapolis Fournal to show what the Friends are doing for their educational institution in Indiana, Earlham College, Richmond:

During the past three years, Earlham College has been especially fortunate in receiving financial encouragement. It numbers among its friends twenty-five persons who, within the above period, have donated to It $91,250, two of them having given $10,000 each, one $7,000, one $6,000, one $5,000, and the others smaller sums. Ninety-six other friends of this institution have in the same time given it $12,350, and one thousand others have given sums of less than $100 each. So then its total receipts from those gifts within this time specified have probably reached the handsome sum of at least $150,000. This has been judiciously expended during the past two years in erecting two substantial and imposing buildings and furnishing them in the most approved style, as well as in other improvements in various departments. Earlham is closing a very prosperous year, the total enrollment of students being 276.

The Bishop of Indiana is not alone in urging his Clergy to do outside mission work. This is what the good Bishop of Western Michigan says in his annual address to his Convention.

My brethren of the clergy, in view of the and people. Hence those nearest the Chancel leanness of our work-a population of 850,000, and only 25 laborers in the field; 18,449 square assist in consuming what elements may remain. miles, and only 40 parishes and missions to cover them; 8 counties in which we have set up no land mark; one communicant to about 220 of the population, indeed "a day of small things" among us; I must reiterate the call to "go into the next towns to preach there also." Is it right that in counties where a parish or parishes have existed for a score or more of vears there should be substantial villages where a prayer book service has never been held unless for a funeral or marriage, where the near rector has never come to ask if here there are children of the Church? Is this loyalty to the Church, is this the love of the brethren, is this the zeal of God's house consuming us, is this the imitation of Jesus' unwearled ministry through the villages and by-ways of Judea? And is it anything unreasonable to ask rector and pastor to sometimes leave his home, with the mission service in his bag, and the word of exhortation in his mind and heart, to gratify some lonely exile from Zion, and let the people know what this Church is, what it prays, and what it preaches? Is there not a field here and limited opportunity?

My fellow laborers the situation demands our best of strength and service, whether we can bring the ardor of youth or only the lessening force of age.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. Dear Boys and Girls:

Warm weather and vacation time has come and you are all planning for a nice time. I suppose some will go to visit friends in the country, some will go camping, others to lake side resorts, others will stay at home and pass the time pleasantly in games and plays. Perhaps some will go to work. In whatever way you pass the time your Bishop wishes you every enjoyment. He will often think of you at his quiet, restful lake side home, at Bishopthorpe Park, near Lima, where he strength for another busy year of work. He has had a cottage built by the side of the lake. He don't expect to find fish as plenty as at Clear Water Lake in Minnesota, but he hopes to find some, perhaps as many as will supply his table. He will spend the time in rowing on the lake, driv- $131.33 had been collected; and the assistant ing about the beautiful country and in reading and study. If any party of boys would like a nice place for camping out and had tents and a comfortable outfit it would be part in the Church work in later life. AN INTERESTING ANNIVERSARY. A YEAR'S WORK AS PERFORMED IN THE PARISH OF CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH,

The congregation of Christ Episcopal Church reports from various departments of Church that organization are to welcome strangers, send notices to guests at hotels on Saturday that $736 had been paid in. The choir-master's report showed a membership in the vested choir of twenty-two, and an average attendance of twenty. Five boys had not missed a single service, except for sickness. The Sundayschool financial statement was to the effect that superintendent's report set out the Sundayschool is in a healthy condition. The scholars are being trained in giving, and are acquiring a training that will fit them to bear their proper which the doctrines of the Church are being planted in the young minds. The Altar Guild reported twenty subscribers and a membership of eight. A liberal contribution was received

Mrs. A. R. Hale, secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary, reported eight meetings were held during the year, and that much good work was done in collecting money and useful articles for the Church work. Two boxes, aggregating nearly $200 in value, had been prepared and reported, through Mrs. Love, the secretary, that the present membership is forty-four. The total receipts for the year were $213.10. The bell for the church chimes, but the amount pledged had not all been collected.

Rev. W. H. Bamford, rector of St. George's Mission, a dependency of Christ Church, on the corner of Church and Morris streets, reported a membership of ninety-three families, seventy communicants and three hundred indiposes was $665. The industrial school, in connection with the mission, has a membership PUBLISHER, BOOKSELLER, AND IMPORTER, property worth $5,000 and owes $800. It has been recognized officially by the Diocese, and, while not independent as yet, is growing. A vested choir has been organized and assisted in the service for the first time yesterday. Mr. Bamford recommended the establishment of a mission in the southeast part of the city. He has had charge of St. George's for eight months but withdraws temporarily to make a trip to England of several months' duration. He will sail next Saturday.

The report of the vestry was the last to be observed the anniversary of that Church and heard from. It was stated therein that the vestry the close of the second year of the pastorate of had expressed disfavor toward any proposition Rev. J. Hilliard Ranger yesterday. Bishop to remove the church from its present location. Knickerbacker was present, and Rev. W. H. It was decided that the historic interest and Bamford, of St. George's Mission, assisted him sacredness of the church, as it is, forbids any in the evening service. After that service consideration of removal. The report reviewed the steps taken to make the pews free, which work were submitted, the first being that of the system went into effect January 1, 1890. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The duties of result has been most gratifying in a material increase of attendance at all meetings. The contributions from voluntary stated subscripnight, and to look after the attendance of stated tion and from the alms-plate collections had inmeetings. It was reported that these duties had creased under the free system from $267 to $325, been performed and satisfactory results had about 22 per cent. The receipts had been suffibeen attained. Mrs. E. A. Ranger, secretary of cient to pay all current expenses for the first the Parish Aid Society, reported a membership time in ten years. Still more, however, is of twenty and good results accomplished in needed for new church windows, for St. George's caring for poor and needy. The Building and other purposes, and a plea was made for proposes to rest for a while and gather League showed that $3,400 had been secured, every communicant to make a regular weekly payable in ten semi-annual installments, and subscription. There are at present one hundred and six regular subscribers out of four hundred and thirty - five communicants. The vestry treasurer reported total receipts of $6,085. The report closed with the statement that so much could not have been done had not the rector given earnest and active assistance in the temporal as well spiritual branches of the Church.

This compliment the rector acknowledged with thanks. In the consecrated church, he said, temporalities become spiritualized. He stated that there are two hundred families in the congregation, four hundred and thirty-five communicants, and one hundred and fifty in the Sunday-school. There were ninteen baptisms, twenty-six confirmed, and three marriages during the year. The Bishop closed the service with a few pertinent remarks. He congratulated the rector and people on the good showing made, and expressed the hope that their relation as pastor and people might continue many years. He deplored the frequent changes of rectors, to which Churches seem so prone. He said ministers stay so short a time they seem to him to be itinerants. He does not know whether it is the fault of the Bishop, the clergy or the peoyear for a rector to learn his people.

VESTED CHOIRS.

The growth of vested choirs in the steadily on the increase. It is a good and educated for this work, it is the most reverent and desirable music, and best promotive of congregational singing. It is a great thing to secure the attendance of boys and young men regularly at church. It gives them a grand part in its glorious services. It cannot but be a blessed thing for those who are honored by being chosen choristers. Parents should feel grateful of the opportunity of having their children in a well-ordered vested choir. At present there are vested choirs in Grace Cathedral, Christ Church, Holy Innocents and St. George's Chapel, Indianapolis; St. James's, Goshen; Grace, Muncie; St. James's, South Bend; St. Mark's, Aurora; St. John's, Lafayette; St. Mark's, Lima, and Holy Innocents, Evansville.

CONFIRMATION AT BISHOPTHORPE.

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

DEAF MUTE MISSIONS-The following is a report of this mission:

VAWTER PARK, IND., Aug. 4, 1890. DEAR BISHOP KNICKERBACKER-Several of the teachers of the Institution at Indianapolis have summer homes here. Mr. Morrow is one of them. Yesterday I had a service in the Park with thirty deaf mutes for a congregation. They were mostly from Goshen, Elkhart, Rome City, Ligonier and North Manchester, all within a radius of thirty miles. They came despite the torrid weather. I was delighted and encouraged by their interest in spiritual things, and did my best to make it worth while to come. I came on Saturday and have to go home to-morrow to prepare for conventions in New York city and Indianapolis. The latter occurs in the last part of August; deaf mutes from all parts of the State will be there.

Affectionately yours, AUSTIN W. MANN.

ANDERSON, TRINITY .- The services have been kept up regularly in this mission by the missionary, Mr. McGlone. The attendance in the public hall occupied by the mission has been fair. The missionary is looking forward to cooler weather, in the hope that there will be a renewal of interest in the work by the Ladies'

AURORA, St. MARK's .- A vested choir has been in training in the mission, and great interest has been manifest to make it an effective instrumentality for good in the work. precentor was obtained from Cincinnati to train them. The rector, Mr. Ramsey, supplied service in St. Paul's, Cincinnati, for a Sunday during August, in the absence of the rector, Dr. Benedict.

BRISTOL, ST. JOHN'S .- We are pleased to give an account of a Children's Sunday at this mission in the words of the earnest rector, Rev. Charles Turner:

St. John's, Bristol, Aug. 11, 1890. MY DEAR BISHOP-Yesterday was a high day with us in this parish-it was the Children's Day. It is difficult during this dry season to get flowers, but, through the efforts of a few ladies, the church was nicely decorated, especially the altar and the font, the latter of which presented a very beautiful appearance, filled and arranged as it was with flowers and creepers of various kinds. We had Holy Communion at 0:30 A. M. Then followed morning prayer at 10:30. The children with their teachers, Mr. Braun of Elkhart, and the rector, walked in procession from the rectory to the church, on reaching which the Processional Hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was commenced. Before taking their places in the space reserved for them, the teachers and scholars divided themselves into two rows down the middle aisle for Mr. Braun and myself to pass between them to our respective places in the chancel. The hymns selected for the occasion were purely children's hymns, and were sung to well known tunes, in good lively style, such, for instance, as "There is a Happy Land." I read the prayers, including a few from the service in the Sunday-school Hymn Book, and Mr. Braun the lessons-Deut, vi and ment. The service was most interesting throughout.

COLUMBUS, ST. PAUL'S. -Rev. Mr. Miller has returned from his vacation in Wisconsin, and has resumed his duties at St. Paul's, CONNERSVILLE, TRINITY .- Natural gas has been put into the church, the expense of the fitting being borne by a parishioner, Mrs. Merrill. During the summer the Presbyterians, Methodist, Campbellite and German Presbyterian congregations have been holding united evening services. On the evening of Sunday, August 24th, by invitation of the several ministers, united services were held in Trinity Church, the people filling the building to repletion, the ministers of the congregations named being present and joining with the people in the service, which was the full evening prayer, followed by sermon by Mr. Engle, who, during the service, took occasion to explain the same, and some of the Church's ways. Evening prayer leaflets enabled the people to follow the services and give hearty responses. Trinity's choir was reinforced by members of the other choirs. It is believed that a good impression was made for the Church, many of the people witnessing the services of the Church for the first time.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, St. JOHN'S .- Mr. Wilson, a student from Nashotah, has rendered accentable services here. Rev. Mr. Prentiss spent a Sunday here, preaching and celebrating Holy Communion.

ELKHART, St. JOHN'S .- Rev. B. A. Brown spent a Sunday here in August, celebrated Holy Communion and preached. It is hoped to secure his services for the parish. The friends of Rev. Frank Adams, the former rector, will be pained to learn that he has been very ill in the Bishop Clarkson Hospital, Omaha. He has been obliged to submit to a surgical operation that it is hoped may bring relief. He will have the sympathy and prayers of his old friends in Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, HOLY INNOCENTS' .- The rector, Mr. Abbott, has had his choir out for a week's camping in a lovely grove, a few miles from the city. The expense, $50, was borne mostly by the parents of the boys. All enjoyed the outing

EVANSVILLE, St. Paul's .- The rector, Mr. Morris, spent his vacation in Minnesota.

FORT WAYNE, TRINITY.-The rector has been at his post all the summer, and the services well attended.

FRANKFORT, St. LUKE'S. - Recently Mr. Robert Brocken threw open his house and grounds for a sociable, which was largely attended, and the net profits considerable toward meeting obligations of the mission. The Young People's Guild has nearly raised the amount needed to pay for a new carpet placed in the church last autumn. Mr. Purcell's services July. have been most acceptable, and are commendably spoken of by all.

kept at home by a great deal of sickness in his workmen from England. The attendance upon parish. He makes visits to Angola and Albion, as nenal.

GOSHEN, ST. JAMES'S .- A vested choir of girls, boys and men was introduced in July, to Eph. vi. Then followed my address to the the great satisfaction of all the parishioners, are otherwise provided for.

children and parents on the Fifth Command- They, by their correct rendering of the service, have greatly added to the interest, and attracted large congregation. The Bishop spent the fourth Sunday in August with Mr. Mead and preached. He was delighted with the choir. Mr. Mead aud family spent a week in the Howe cottage during August.

> INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL. - An entire and beautiful set of Trinity hangings has been received as a gift from the church of Our Redeemer, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, and from the Woman's Auxiliary of the same parish money to purchase a new dosel to be used with them. The former Trinity hangings have been sent to the church at Peru, and a modest set for the same season has been made and sent to the Brightwood mission. Various improvements are visible in the interior. A new hymn-board on the east side, an alms-box of polished oak with brass decorations near the door, to remind all of the blessedness of willing and unknown giving. The font has been placed on a platform rising three steps, and a handsome dosel covers the wall behind it. White linen has been laid in all the aisles over the new carpet, the altar room has been neatly papered, and screen doors have been furnished for choir and vestry rooms. The latter improvements have been made by the Cathedral Guild. The vested choir keeps up its usual strength and efficiency. There are twenty boys, and a violin and violincello are regularly played by two of the gentlemen belonging to the choir. During July the rector took the choir camping a few miles from the city. Six ladies of the congregation camped with the choir, and added greatly to its comfort. Parents and friends visited the camp frequently, and a most enjoyable time was had by all. The Choir Society of Ancient History, under the direction of Miss Fairfield, meets regularly at the homes of different members, and the boys have written and read some really able papers upon the religions of Persia, Asyria, Egypt, etc.

> INDIANAPOLIS, HOLY INNOCENTS' .- Rev. Mr. Hunter returned from Bishopthorpe Park for the first Sunday in August. He made a brief visit to Canada during the month with his family, being absent one Sunday.

> INDIANAPOLIS, St. GEORGE'S. - Mr. John Braun, a candidate for Holy Orders, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Bamford at this mission. Mr. Braun has had a large experience in Christian work, as Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association at Peoria, Illinois, and Elkhart, Ind. After six months' candidateship he will be ordained Deacon. Mr. Braun will, it is believed, prove an efficient worker at St. George's,

> JEFFERSONVILLE, St. PAUL'S .- The Senior Warden, Mr. Fitch, has been east several weeks. Early in the autumn it is hoped to secure a rector to fill the place vacated by Mr. Jewell in

This mission and that of Rochester will be under the care of Mr. Colvin, of Peru, who will give them week-day services until they LAFAYETTE, St. JOHN'S .- The rector spent his vacation in the east. Mr. Willson supplies services during his absence. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler in this mission, Ankney of this parish are about to remove to Cincinnati. Mrs. Ankney has been an earnest worker in all good works in the parish, and will tory, be greatly missed.

LAGRANGE, St. JOHN'S .- Mr. Saunders has faithfully served as missionary in this mission through the summer, having service and Sundayschool each Sunday. The Bishop spent the second Sunday in August with him, having a large congregation present. He preached and celebrated Holy Communion. Lagrange is the county seat of Lagrange county, having a pepulation of 1,700. The church was built many years ago; the number interested in having the service is small. Through the efforts of the ladies the church has been calsomined and recarpeted, and a new porch, the gift of Mr. Weidler. Mr. Frank Ruick did the calsomining gratis.

LOGANSPORT, TRINITY .- The rector spent his vacation in August at Lake Maxinkuckee

MADISON, CHRIST CHURCH .- The rector returned early in August from his visit to his old home in Virginia, and resumed his duties. In this parish, as in St. Paul's, New Albany, a monthly missionary meeting is held to give missionary intelligence, and to cultivate interest in Bristol, $7.03; Frankfort, $10; Huntington, ELOCUTION, GERMAN, ETC. missionary work at home and abroad. It is a $4.58; Grace, Indianapolis, $15.71; Laporte, most useful auxiliary, stimulating the zeal and $3.50; Peru, $23.33; Fort Wayne, Woman's devotion of the parishioners.

MARION, GETHSEMANE. - The walls of the new stone church are slowly rising. The rector has remained at his post all summer, and regular services have been maintained.

MICHIGAN CITY, TRINITY .- Mr. Prentiss gave two Sundays to this parish, celebrating Holy Communion and preaching. Mr. Gardner, of Niles, gave a Sunday in July.

NEW ALBANY, St. Paul's .- The rector, Mr. Nichols, has become well acquainted with his field, and with the cordial co-operation of his people looks forward to a year of hard and successful work for the Master.

RICHMOND, St. PAUL's,-The rector spent most of July in the east. Since his return he has been actively engaged as usual in the duties of his rectorship and the superintendence of St. Stephen's hospital. Matters of deep concern to the parish are under consideration for erection of a new church at a distant day. Dr. Test kept up the services during the absence of the rector on his vacation.

ROCHESTER, St. PAUL'S .- The services of Mr. Burk have been very acceptable in this mission. The attendance at church is very good. A class prepared for confirmation will be confirmed the first Sunday in September, when the Bishop is to visit the mission, SOUTH BEND, ST. JAMES'S .- Rev. A. Prentiss gave a Sunday to this vacant parish and to Mishawaka, celebrating the Holy Communion and preaching. The lay reader, Mr. May, has a morning service every Sunday. The Sundayschool is kept up.

They should be organized with their own special officers, under the direction of the rector, and their interest awakened in behalf of the Orphanage, the Cot Fund, Diocesan and General Missions and some special parish work. It is astonishing, when rightly directed and stimulated, how much the children and young people may accomplish to advance parochial and church interests; besides, it is educating them to fill the places of the elders when they shall arrive at maturity. No clergyman can afford to leave out of consideration the young of the parish. Every parishioner should co-operate with his clergyman for the welfare and advancement of his church. Let every one resolve to be faithful in attendance upon the services and liberal, according as God has blessed them, with contributions for its support. DEACONESSES.

Two institutions for the training of Deconesses, are to be opened this fall, one in New York under the auspices of Dr. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, of which Mrs. Dr. Twing is to be head, add one in Philadelphia. We should have some Deaconesses in Indiana. They are greatly needed. Are there not some Christian women in Indiana, who can and will devote themselves wholly to Christian work for their Divine Redeemer, and who will receive the proper training in one of these institutions to fit them intelligently to do the work?

VISIT OF MISS CARTER.

Miss Sybil Carter will probably make a visit to Indiana to give Missionary addresses in some of our parishes. Rectors who would like to have her visit their parishes will kindly communicate with the Bishop.

Miss Carter has recently returned from a year's sojourn in Japan and China, and interest to relate as to the wonderful generosity of Mrs. Howe. things she has seen and heard. She has visited many of our parishes in former years, and will be warmly welcomed back to Indiana. We can not hear too much of what the Church is doing, and all hearts will be aroused and interested by Miss Carter's stirring talks.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORK.

Do we realize the great importance of this department of Church work? Do the clergy realize in it the opportunity of fulfilling the Lord's command to "feed His Lambs "? Do they prepare themselves in any way to make the Sundayschool as interesting, instructive, and attractive as possible? Essentials of success are the rector's deep and continued their children educated at home. Again interest, and constant presence in the we commend this school to parents havschool; a wise selection of competent ing daughters to educate. teachers from the best material at hand; imbuing the teachers with the importance of their office and of consecration to the work. Teacher's Helps are valuable for the intelligent understanding of lessons to be taught. The service should be made bright, and, where possible, choral. Punctuality in opening, and presence of teachers and scholars should be enjoined. The Church doctrine and Christian Year should be taught thoroughly. Let us all try to make our Indiana Church Sundayschools what they ought to be, and what it is possible to make them.

THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION.

The first Sunday in October is appointed for a collection in all our churches for the education of our candidates for the ministry. Several of them have to be aided in sustaining them at the seminary. We have nine candidates at this time, and the Bishop will need at least $250 to carry them through the year. He looks for this amount from the collection in October. Will pastors call attention of their people to the importance of this fund and the great need of liberal offerings.

EXTRACT FROM DR. DE KOVEN'S SER- amid all the costly jewels of the Bride of Christ, Brethren, confirmation has never taken its due place in Christian training. So little is its proper meaning understood that, even at the last General Convention, a Bishop of the Church desired the alteration of the preface to the confirmation office, and would fain have deprived us of one of the most glorious witnesses the Prayer Book bears to true Christian nurture. I believe a great many clergymen read it now with an inward apology to their reflecting congregations. Confirmation is regarded as a profession of religion, as the mere renewal of baptismal vows, as something demanding great intellectual effort, and an advanced standard of holiness, instead of being what it really is, the complement of holy baptism, the gift of the Holy Ghost, and the strength of the weak. It is the ordinance which properly belongs to little children. Before they leave home for school, before they are exposed to the more vigorous attacks of the world, the flesh and the devil, they ought to receive the sevenfold gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Nor let any one imagine that young children may not come worthily. I have seen in them a deeper faith, a more earnest repentance, a more do always behold the face of the Father in by the services, are ready to join hands with blessed preparation than is often found in those heaven. who are older. Oh, there is no sight so blessed in the eyes of the holy angels, nothing on which the Good Shepherd of the lambs looks down so lovingly, as on the innocent child, kneeling, in all the brightness of his promise, at his confirmation and first communion.

I know what is in the minds of you all: "But will he not fall away afterwards?" Consider Church work in Indiana and we commend one or two points. Do you not judge the religion of young people by a harsher standard than you do your own? Do you not often expect more from them than you ask of yourselves? Do grown people neverfall away afterwards? I believe it will be found that the proportion it not so great in the case of children as in the case of grown people. I am sure, if they do fall away, for evermore, with a voice of increasing entreaty, the grace that came with their early communion will plead with them, until like him of old they will arise and go to their Father and say, "Father, I have sinned against Heaven and before Thee, and am no more worthy to be called they who, in all ages of the Church, have done the noblest works for God, are most often those upon whose brow the annointing spirit has early descended, and whose young life has been quickened by the food of angels.

And yet two things need to be mentioned, or the system of the Church will not be done justice to. I would that the time were mine, and failed. yours the patience, for me to be able to dwell upon them; but I must say that if we would preserve our young people in the ways of holiness, if we would have the full benefit of Christaway, there must be, accompanying confirmation and succeeding it, diligent, minute, careful, earnest, personal, priestly care. There must be, in short, the time and opportunity and the knowledge, on the part of the clergy, for individual dealing with individual souls. There must be, accompanying this, the possibility of leader will lead to failure. A new enterprise, the invalid to see any one; but it must be a very sound training in the Christian school and the Christian college so glorious, so beautiful, aye, so awe-inspiring as a true Christian boy. Early baptised, duly trained, sheltered by prayer, molded by obedience, pure and manly, of open brow and fearless glance, strengthened by confirmation, forever quickened and renewed by the Body and Blood of the Lord who died for him, he is a blessing and a comfort, a strength and support, a lesson and an example to us all. Such have I seen or heard of now and then. Christian fathers, Christian mothers, Christian priestsalas, that they should be so rare! As the most eloquent of modern French preachers, upon whose words of maryelous power all Europe had hung with breathless interest, drew near to the hour of his departure, he said to one who still lives to tell the story: "I have always tried to serve God, the Church, and our Lord Jesus Christ; besides these, I have loved-oh, so dearly loved-children and young people." Let us, my brethren of the clergy, catch, if we may, lish our services, the first work is to hunt up our something of this same priestly spirit. Let us lead forth into green pastures, and by pleasant waters, the gentle lambs of the fold; if so be we may share in their blessedness, whose angels

WE FOUND in the Church Helper, of Western Michigan, under the initials of the Bishop, the following article on the subject "Places where we have failed." Every word spoken with apply to our readers:

This has no very agreeable sound. It means that we have endeavored to establish our services at certain points and have not succeeded, or that the work, having progressed for a time, has then become too discouraging to continue it.

On looking over our journals, one will find places named in past years as having some attention which are not now noticed. Yet all those should not be put on the list of failures. The Bishop or one of the clergy will visit a place in the way of exploration, or there being a family Thy son." Nay, I think it will be found that or two of Church people, will lead to an occasional service, but with no idea of anything permanent. We could mention a score of such

> But there are places where we have failed. Even missions have been struck off from our list. We have made a careful list of these places If a mission has property, it is not taken from that we might decide and state why we have the list, and we keep even the list of missions

1. Inability to send a minister at the right time has thwarted our plans. It is in sacred as in all other business-the iron must be struck while it is hot. When the opportunity comes it for the purpose of seeing that sick person, and ian nurture, if we would keep them from falling must be embraced, it will not wait long. But, unhappily, we often have to wait for the wight man. The people do not see this, and because their offer can not be embraced, they charge the Bishop with losing the golden opportunity by his inactivity.

2. An unfortunate selection of a spiritual the people ignorant of the Church, the support- critical and painful hour which may not be ers acting from variety of motives, can not soothed by a few prayers, and a few words of There is nothing in this fair earth, nothing stand a weak or injudicious minister. The in- cheering plety. -St. Luke's Leaflet.

terest is not strong enough to bear the strain. He will probably have to remain for a time while his work is to no profit, and when he leaves there will be no spirit for another trial.

3. Removals are the bane of our mission work. Matters are moving along hopefully, when one family of good supporters finds it in their interest to go elsewhere. Then another and another sees the same necessity. So the mission has lost in numbers and means, and those remaining are discouraged. So it has been over and over in our nothern district.

4. The depression of towns are a leading factor. New towns are very uncertain. Their boom soon experiences a re-action. When they go down, they carry the churches with them.

5. We come now to speak of causes that are less of necessity. We have to explain by mentioning what ought not and need not so to be. Indifference has caused us many a time to utterly, sadly fail. When we attempt to estabpeople. They are to constitute the plant. But how often we find no responsive feeling on their part. Their Churchmanship, if they ever had any, has died down. They chill those who, attracted them. Sometimes the worst material we have to work with is these children of the Church. They are, instead of being helpers, actually in the way.

6. The sixth cause is, perhaps, the most potent of all—the petty jealousies and bickerings among those who are interested in the enterprise. As we write these words, how many cases come to our mind where this has proved it to the thoughtful consideration of our our failure. For a time all has gone well, then a music fuss, a lively war of words and feelings after a social or a sale. Or if these shoals and rocks of the voyage have been passed in safety, when the Church building comes, a grand breakup of unity and work over the plans, or the location, or as to how this or that shall be paid for, and who shall boss the work. This is the Satan in our mission work,

So we tell the story of places where we have failed. We are not alone in this case. Almost every religious body in our State tells the same story in its "narrative," and its statistics. But they are better off than we, and they can stand the losses and discouragements better.

One word more. Places where we have failed are not necessarily hopeless. There have been places on our failure list that are encouragements to-day. We mean never to lose sight of a place where we have once set up our banners. that are dropped.

PEOPLE should consider that when the parish priest calls at the house of a sick person, it is not merely to express his sympathy to the servant at the door. If one is sick enough to have a doctor, he is usually sick enough to have the prayers of his pastor. Physicians, and people generally, are much mistaken when they refuse the clergyman admittance to the sick chamber. Sometimes, no doubt, it would be unwise for

THE Bishop has received the following, and is glad of the opportunity to publish it in the WORKER:

> RECTORY OF THE CHURCH OF THE TRANSFIGURATION, NEW YORK CITY, July 31, 1890.

Dear Right Reverend Brother:

My object in passing through America on my way to Korea was that I might pay my respects to as many of my brethren in this country as possible, and from a personal interview with them receive in return that encouragement which their sympathy would have given me.

Unfortunately, however, it has been impossible for me to leave England sooner, and on arriving in America I find that the time I have at my disposal will not allow me to come and see you. May I, therefore, write in very few words what I had in my mind to say?

I desire then to commend to your prayers and through you to the prayers of the Diocese over which you preside, the mission which the Church of England is opening in Korea.

The fact that it is to be begun by a Bishop is sufficient to give us a strong claim upon your interest, especially as I and my clergy are strangers to the country, and have yet to learn the language of the people.

But I prefer to base my claim to your prayers on the closeness of the relationship which exists between the Church of America and the Church of England. I do not like beginning this work without soliciting from the sister Church all the help that comes from prayer-prayer both in your homes and before your altars.

Should any of your flock be led to Korea, on duty or pleasure, please assure them of the hearty welcome they will receive from me and to minister to them.

It may interest you to know that a small magazine is published every month, (price five cents a copy,) to spread information about Korea, and to furnish a brief chronicle of all the missionary work done by the Church of England most optimistic among us can anticipate." and the Church of America. The magazine is entitled "The Morning Calm," and is published by Griffith & Farran, London, whose agents in New York are E. P. Dutton & Co.

THE GROWTH OF OUR CHURCH,

the Rev. Wm. Wilkinson, of Minneapolis, said: "The lessons of history have for us been written in vain if they do not produce profound gratitude on the one hand for the wonderful past, and on the other incite us to noble resolve that by grace the future shall be more glorious. In the year 1820 there were only 321 clergymen in our Church in the whole United States and Territories of America. To-day there are 4,060, an increase of 1,226 per cent. in sixty-nine years. In the year 1830 the population was nearly 13,000,000 souls, and the Church had less than 40,000 communicants. To-day, in the State of New York alone, with 5,000,000 people, the Church has 114,500 communicants, while twenty-two States have been added to the Union, the Church has created more than fifty Dioceses and missionary jurisdictions; and in the time in which the population has increased fivefold the membership of the Church has increased twelve-fold.

"About seventy years ago our proportion was one in 416 of the population. To-day we are one in 151. The boy who knows his Creed, if the ratio of increase is kept up which has existed since 1820, will see in our Church 50,700 clergymen, with 5,000,000 communicants. This takes no note of all the institutions of philanthrophy, my clergy. It will always be a delight for me the colleges, theological seminaries and other means of blessing men; but it calls upon us to prepare for the future by endowing schools and churches. The people come like a flood, and if true to our Master there is a future to our Church in this land more blessed than the

We gladly quote the words of Bishop Worthington as sustaining what we have so often urged. Can we not induce the clergy to institute the Missionary meeting; the use of the Missionary service; presenting intelligence with remarks, the use of the blackboard and maps, and original papers by members of the parish? Faith is the eye by which we look to Jesus, A weeping eye is still an eye; a dim-sighted eye is still an eve.

Faith is the hand by which we lay hold on Jesus. A trembling hand is still a hand; and he is a believer whose heart within him trembles when he touches the hem of his Saviour's garment that he may be healed.

Faith is the tongue by which we taste how good the Lord is. A feverish tongue is nevertheless a tongue. And even then we may believe when we are without the smallest portion of comfort, for our faith is founded not upon feeling, but upon the promise of God.

Faith is the foot by which we go to Jesus. A lame foot is still a foot. He who comes slowly nevertheless comes .- II. Miller.

"Suffer thyself to complain of nothing, not even the weather." Don't say complaining words; that is the first step toward not thinking them. An old proverb tells us that everything has a rough and a smoth handle. by which it may be grasped. If you try, you can always find the smooth one. Very often some real annoyance will have a very funny side; if you set yourself to find it, you can laugh away the discomfort. But if it is a vexation which shows no brightness, bear it in silence. Merely uttering a complaint makes it seem worse; when you begin to talk of it, aggravating circumstances come to light that you hadn't thought of before; and if when you began you thought you were injured and aggrieved, your sense of injury will be twice as great by the time you have done.

THE Bible reveals to us most clearly a truth which our carnal narrow hearts are very unwilling to receive-namely, that among the good whom we hope to meet in Heaven, there will be every variety of character, taste and disposition. There are not gates only on the north, but three gates on the east, three on the west and three on the south. From the opposite quarters of the theological compass, from opposite quarters of the religious world, from opposite quarters of human life; through different expressions of their common faith and hope, through different modes of conversion, through different portions of Holy Scripture-will the weary travelers enter the Heavenly City, and meet each other on the shores of the same river of life .- Dean

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

INDIANAPOLIS, CHRIST CHURCH,-The Ladies' Aid Society has purchased a new bell, to supply the place in the chimes of one cracked. Stained windows are being repaired, and a new one of cathedral glass placed in the large west window. It was found necessary to replace the sash also. The rector, Mr. Ranger, not being well, spent two weeks at Oconomowoc, and returned September 17th, quite well and strong. In his absence, Dr. Test supplied services one Sunday and Mr. Prentiss the second. The sermon preached by Mr. Ranger on April 20th, in Christ Church, on the Labor Question, has been neatly printed under the title of "The People's Cause," and is being widely circulated. It is an able and timely production.

INDIANAPOLIS, St. George's. - Mr. John Braun, a lay preacher and candidate for Holy Orders, has been appointed to the charge of this work. Mr. Braun's long employment in Young Men's Christian work as secretary at Peoria and Elkhart, has given him an experience which will make him an efficient Church worker. Mr. Braun entered upon his work on Sunday, September 14, and was given a cordial reception by his people.

INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL .- An important step has been taken in connection with this aggressive congregation. A daily service of evening prayer was begun September 15, to be continued throughout the year, at 4:30 P. M. The boarding pupils of the Indianapolis Institute will attend, and all Churchmen throughout the city are cordially invited to attend this service whenever convenient. It is a matter of congratulation that we are to have one church open daily for Divine service, and we hope the zealous rector of the Cathedral Church may be encouraged by the presence of many of the Churchmen of the city at this daily office. It is intended also to have the Cathedral open daily for private prayer, so that every Churchman passing may retire for quiet meditation and communion with God. The Ladies' Auxiliary of Grace Cathedral have arranged a capital program for their eight monthly meetings. It includes a paper on some missionary topic for each meeting, missionary intelligence and a tea. It is expected there will be a united meeting of all the auxiliaries at the Cathedral on the occasion of the visit of Miss Carter.

INDIANAPOLIS, ST. PAUL'S .- The Woman's Auxiliary and Parish Guild have reorganized for a year of hard work. It is expected that St. Paul's will this year complete the payment of its debt. The rector, Dr. Jenckes, has worked faithfully and steadily for this result, and his heart will be made glad when the last dollar shall have been paid and the parish for the first time in its history be free from indebtedness.

INDIANAPOLIS, HOLY INNOCENTS'-On the first of July paid $250 on the rectory debt, having reduced it during the incumbency of Mr. Hunter from $1,500 to $700. Steady, continued work in this direction will in another year or two meet the balance. The condition of this parish, contrasted with what it was five years ago, is most encouraging, and the future outlook is good. Mr. Hunter is surrounding himself with a faithful band of earnest workers, whose good work is telling for the prosperity he officiated, the lay reader, Mr. Burke, was of the vested choir of eighteen boys and young brated on Sunday, September 21st. The church clation of his services by the congregation. was appropriately decorated with flowers, fruits and grain. The societies of the parish have entered upon their fall work. The Aid purchased a set of curtain stretchers early in the season, and have them to rent; they have already more than paid the cost of purchase. Mr. Hallman, connected with one of the music houses, has kindly offered to aid in the music, and has now charge of the choir. With the first Sunday in October the Sunday-school will meet at 0:30 A. M., and the morning services at 10:45. A history class will organize on the first Wednesday in October, for Wednesday evening for a service, besides his regular services at Anreading. Robertson's sketches of Church history will be used.

Missions should soon be started in West Indianapolis and in North Indianapolis. These are growing suburbs of the city, and the larger city parishes should set their surplus workers to organize Sunday-schools and to establish mission services in some rented hall. The city is growing and the Church should keep pace with its growth.

HAMMOND, St. PAUL'S .- The new church, twenty-five by sixty feet, to seat two hundred, and to cost $1,800, is progressing nicely, and will be ready for occupancy by the time cold weather comes. It will be a refreshing change from the third-story hall where the mission has had a habitation.

FORT WAYNE, TRINITY. The rector has been at home most of the summer, superintending the decoration of the church, services being held in the meantime in the parish house. The church was re-opened for regular services on Sunday, the 21st inst., after having been closed for interior improvements for two months. The walls have been most beautifully decorated after special designs of J. & R. Lamb, and the wood work refinished. The enrichment and elaboration of the work is centralized in the chancel. A handsome altar rail of brass and oak has been presented as a memorial of the late Judge Withers by his family. A floor of the best workmanship, in quartered oak, has been laid in the sanctuary. The chancel platform has been deepened, and the heavy rail of carved wood that has done service for twenty-five years as a chancel rail has been placed between the nave and chancel as a choir screen. The pews have been recushioned, and the floors recarpeted in design of special order. The entire expense of these improvements has been met by the Ladies' Association and the St. Margaret's COLUMBUS, ST. PAUL'S. - Mrs. Thomas, a parishioner, has been very ill indeed. The rector hopes for a good year's work.

GARRETT, EMMANUEL .- An enjoyable picnic took place early in September, in which all the parishioners and the Sunday-school participated, and $50 were realized for the church treasury. The cellar of the church has been recently drained in order to put in a furnace for heating the church. This will give some much needed room, and add to the comfort of the worshippers. Dr. Kemp visited Lake Pleasant gola, Albion, etc. He spent a day at Bishopthorpe Park with the Bishop.

BRIGHTWOOD .- The Harvest Home of this mission was celebrated on Sunday afternoon, the 31st of Sentember. The ladies had tastefully decorated the church, and the choir had prepared special music. Miss Grace Culloden, of Holy Innocents' choir, and Master Schmuck, of Grace Cathedral choir, very kindly assisted in the music. The sermon was by Rev. Mr. Swan, of Grace Cathedral.

SOUTH BEND.-Rev. Mr. Richmond, of Chicago, a former rector, spent Sunday, September 14th, and celebrated Holy Communion. A good congregation present, and fifty-two received the communion. Mr. Alfred May, the lay reader, reports: "I am glad to say that the Sunday morning services have been well attended by those of the parishioners who have the welfare of the Church at heart. On the few occasions we have had visiting clergymen the church has been full. There was a falling off of the children at Sunday-school during the hot weather, but now the children are returning and we hope soon to equal the number we had last Easter." The outside of the church building has been finished. The old carpet has been removed, preparatory to a new one being laid down, and a cement sidewalk has been made in front of the church in place of the uneven brick one.

LOGANSPORT, TRINITY .- The rector, Rev. B. F. Miller, has held two services during the summer at English Lake, and has also visited Kewanna. The congregation of Trinity is gathering again after the usual summer hegira. The rector is preparing for the mission to be held by Mr. Cole in October, and is hoping for a great spiritual blessing for his people. Dr. Bell, the Senior Warden, and his wife have returned from Europe in good health. The Harvest Home Festival was observed on the 28th, the church being beautifully decorated with fruits and flowers, and the music most effective. Rev. George B. D. Miller, of St. Louis, brother of the rector, is to visit here this month, and will baptize the infant daughter of the rector.

IEFFERSONVILLE, St. Paul's .- The Senior Warden, Mr. E. W. Fitch, has been on an extended trip east and has recently returned. Lay services have been maintained, and with fair attendance. Rev. Mr. Peters, assistant of Christ church, Louisville, has been very kind in celebrating Holy Communion when desired. The vestry hope at an early day to secure a rector.

AURORA, St. MARK's .- The Bishop visited this church on the evening of St. Matthew's Day. The church was well filled. The singing

The children will continue to work for it, but if ten thousand dollars, the needed sum, is to be secured, the obligation of every Churchman to help this blessed work must be realized. Reader, what will you do to help it?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN-We have met here this afternoon for the purpose of celebrating an anniversary of the German Orphan Asylum of this city. We have met here for the purpose of expressing our confidence in its management and our sympathy with the work it is doing in this community.

The orphan asylum-the home-the place of refuge for the helpless and homeless. The name of this organization tells you its purpose and its object and is a sermon in itself.

Nothing in all nature is as helpless as a little child utterly incapable of caring for itself, entirely dependent for the supply of its smallest want. Its necessities compel our attention. Its very helplessness becomes its strong tower of strength. No work that men and women are called upon to do appeals as directly to the heart and intelligence as does the work that comes to us because of the helplessness of childhood, and when from any cause the child is deprived of its natural protectors and guardians then the duty rests upon each citizen to see to it that want and suffering is not added to this utter helplessness.

This duty comes to us from a higher law than the law of man. The heart of every man and The following beautiful address was woman does beat in unison upon this subnatural protectors does become the ward of

This reproach to the Church worse than either. More than that-your efforts have in all probability formed a character upon which the state can with safety rely, which in its turn will become a center from which will proceed that which is true and of good repute, instead of a polluted center, from which can come nothing but infamy and crime.

GENERAL CHURCH BUILDING FUND.

The second Sunday in November is the appointed Sunday to make offerings for the General Church Building Fund. The Bishop would request that in all our churches an offering be made at that time, and that it be sent to the Treasurer, Mr. George Bliss, 22 Bible House, New York, as a special for St. John's Church, Green-This mission borrowed $500 castle. toward building its pretty stone church. A generous offering on the second Sunday in November applied in this way will greatly aid an embarrassed mission, and help the General Fund at the same time. Perhaps the better way will be to send the offerings to the Bishop and let him arrange for their application to the loan of this mission. Two of our churches now being erected are applicants for loans from this Fund. The Commission have shown great kindness toward the Diocese, and we hope all our churches will arrange a collection on this Sunday.

OPENING OF THE INDIANAPOLIS INSTITUTE,

IN THE NEW BUILDING, SEPTEMBER 16.

A large number of the friends of the Institute assembled in the school rooms of the new building, with the pupils, at o o'clock Tuesday morning, September 16. The Principals, Mr. and Mrs. Lyon and the full corps of teachers were present to welcome the pupils and their friends. All were impressed with the admirable character of the new building for its work and its adaptability for a school of this kind. The opening devotions were said by Mr. Swan, and addresses made by Dr. Jenckes, Mr. Prentiss and Mr. Hunter. The school starts out with twenty-eight boarders, and a large number of day pupils. Mr. Lyon has secured an admirable body of teachers, and the present year promises to be, as each preceeding year has been, a decided advance on the previous one. It was pleasant to see the familiar faces of the old pupils and many new ones. Soon after the close of the exercises, the Bishop and Mrs. Knickerbacker arrived and were shown through the building by Mrs. Lyon and were introduced to the new teachers and pupils. The buildings are a surprise in the completeness of their equipment and appointments. The dining room is light and cheerful. The school rooms large, well ventilated and lighted. The pupil's rooms sufficiently large and tastefully furnished. Mrs. Sarah Hall has furnished the office with desk, chairs and book cases in oak, in memory of her venerable father, Dr. Mears, who, during his life was a beloved physician of Indianapolis, and the friend of education. It is delightful to have his memory associated with this school. The school room is furnished by the former pupils of Rev. Mr. Johnson, through Mrs. Hall's efforts, with entirely new and commodious furniture, in memory of Rev. Mr. Johnson, the founder of the first Church school in Indianapolis, and one of the earliest rectors of Christ Church. Another Church woman, who is deeply interested in the success of the school, has promised the furniture for a room. There Careful supervision of health, habits and manare several rooms yet awaiting the furni- ners. Particular attention paid to the training ture, and the Bishop will be rejoiced if individuals will lend a helping hand in this good work.

The Churchmen in Indiana should take courage and thank God for the founding of these schools. They are a bright and hopeful feature in the development of Churchwork in Indiana in these later years. The Trustees of the Diocese are HOWE GRAMMAR SCHOOL. to be congratulated on the success which has crowned their efforts in erecting this noble building. The good work began by the faithful Johnson, and afterwards taken up by the courageous and devoted Talbot, is beginning to bear fruit and to show that their labors were not in vain, nor should that noble layman, W. H. Morrison, be forgotten. He foresaw this day, and to him and his good wife are we more indebted for this noble building than to any others. The donation of five lots for a girl's school by them, has made this building possible, and to them the Diocese of Indiana should be ever grateful. The henediction of the school building will take place on Sunday afternoon, October 5, at 4:15 P. M.

On Sunday morning, September 19, the Bishop visited the school again and said opening prayers and made an address to the fifty girls present, welcoming them to the school and setting before them, on the outset of the school year, the object which has brought them here - the eduaction of body, soul and mind, and how this could be best attained.

EDITORIAL.

WE HOPE soon to secure two or three more clergymen to supply vacant missions that are suffering for clergymen.

WILL all the parishes do all in their power to make up their quotas for the Diocesan Mission Fund? The first half year is greatly needed now.

REV. HUBERT M. JOHNSON has come to us from the Diocese of Washington, and has accepted an appointment to Plymouth.

THE Treasurer of the Diocese is in great need of the assessment quota to meet pressing Diocesan demands. Will rectors and vestries please see that it is sent to him?

REV. AUGUSTINE PRENTISS has been appointed to the cures of St. James's, South Bend, and St. Paul's, Mishawaka, Mr. Prentiss is gladly welcomed back to the Diocese and will do good work in a very important field.

LET the good work of St. Stephen's Hospital, Richmond, our only Church hospital, our only benevolent institution, be remembered in all the churches in the Thanksgiving services by generous collections.

THE tenth coupon of the Endowment pledges will be sent out November first ing for the General Church Building Fund for collection. The amount due is about on the second Sunday in November, and $1,800. THE BISHOP'S JOURNAL,

August 24, St. Bartholomew's, the Bishop visited, for the third service, St. John's mission, Lagrange, where Mr. Edward Sanders, a candidate for Holy Orders, had been doing missionary work for his summer vacation. Since my first visit the church has been greatly improved. A gentleman had kindly calsomined it, a carpenter, husband of one of our communicants, had built new steps, the ladies had purchased and put down a new carpet-evincing an interest and appreciation of the lay reader's services that were most gratifying. Mr. Sanders will enter Nashotah to prepare for Holy Orders. He has served acceptably for two years as prefect at the Howe Grammar School. Mr. Herbert Webster, another prefect, and postulant for Holy Orders under Dr. Spalding's direction, will continue the services each Sunday morning at Lagrange.

September 6, left Bishopthorpe Park for Rochester, stopping at Decatur for dinner with Mrs. Dr. McMilton, a Churchwoman. Reached Rochester at 8 P. M. Met at the station by Mr. Burke, the lay reader in charge of the mission for the summer; entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Baker during my stay. Mr. Baker is a lawyer, and a candidate for Holy Orders, preparing for Sunday, September 7, Fourteenth Sunday after Trinity, at 10:30 A. M., preached and celebrated Holy Communion-twelve receiving. After service catechised the children of the Sunday-school, twenty-eight in number. At 7:30 P. M., after evening prayer read by Mr. Burke, I preached, confirmed one person and made an address. Mr. Burke's service in the mission has been most acceptable, and has greatly increased the interest and attendance, The ladies had made under his direction beautiful embroidered vestments for altar and lectern, white and green; the altar had also been improved by superaltar and lights. All participated most heartily in the service. Mr. Baker will continue the services as lay reader every Sunday. The members of the mission are united and working heartily together for its prosperity. The people had provided the board of the lay reader, and presented him with a purse on his leaving as a token of appreciation of his services.

Monday, September 8, went to Kokomo. Here Rev. C. W. Tyler, a Deacon, of the senior class of Nashotah, spent his vacation, having services every Sunday in a rented hall. His services had been most acceptable, and had enlisted a good interest in behalf of the Church. leading to the organization of a woman's guild numbering twelve members, and a liberal subscription towards the purchase of a lot for the site of the future church. Nearly fifty confirmed members of the Church had been found, many of them Englishmen, workers in the immense plateglass works here. We were entertained during our stay by Mrs. Williams, a Churchwoman from Aldren, Ohio. In the afternoon we visited the plateglass works and met several of the workmen who are Churchmen; also looked at several lots, with a view of selecting one for the church lot. At 7:30 P. rendering the music very nicely. Mr. Tyler read the service. I preached, confirmed two persons, and addressed them. After service met Philip's mission, and catechised the children; the members of the mission in conference, addressed them upon their obligations to work for securing a lot and church building at an early of Bishop Atwill, at Trinity Church, Toledo, day. Mr. Tyler closed his services on September 14, and the mission, named St. Andrew's, will be in the care of Mr. Colvin, of Peru, until a missionary can be located there. Kokomo has a population of about 9,000, and presents an interesting and important mission field that the Church must occupy.

Tuesday, September 9, returned to Bishopthorpe Park.

Saturday, September 13, went to Crawfordsville; as usual, the guest of Mrs. E. A. Binford. Mr. E. Warren Wilson, of the senior class of Nashotah, a candidate for Holy Orders from the Diocese of Missouri, has been serving as lay reader during the summer, having services morning and evening, and a Sunday-school each Sunday. The attendance had been very good indeed, and a growing interest in the services. The people had been very kind to Mr. Wilson, and showed generous appreciation of his services.

Sunday, September 14, Fifteenth Sunday after Trinity, at 10:30 A. M., morning prayer was read by Mr. Wilson. I preached and celebrated Holy Communion-twenty receiving. After service I visited a sick person and said prayers.

September 28, at 10:30 A. M., at Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. At 7:30 P. M., at Holy Innocents', Indianapolis, preached.

KENNARD, St. PHILIP'S .- A harvest home service was held October 21st, when the church was dressed out with tokens of the harvest's ingathering. The Rev. G. E. Swan delivered an interesting and instructive sermon, while a special choir kindly renkered the music.

LAPORTE.-St. Paul's church is to have a new parish house. The vestry have let the contract for a nest frame building, 24x45 feet, and an additional room in the rear, 10x20 feet. It is hoped to have it in readiness for occupancy by Christmas. It will be a great addition to the working power of the parish, and is built in grateful recognition of their rector's faithful service and his determination to remain as their rector

NEW CARLISLE,-Dean Scott has visited this station and found the faithful little band in great hopes of erecting a neat church on their lot at an early day. He will hold a service for them on the evenfing of October 31.

NEW ALBANY, St. Paul's,-An eligible lot has been secured for the location of the new church. A committee has visited Michigan City, and were greatly pleased with that church. Their hope is to build one similar. They have the promise of all the stone needed at the quarry. A subscription is being circulated, and it is hoped that sufficient will be forthcoming to complete the church without debt. The rector is doing faithful work, and reaching out to adjoining towns. TERRE HAUTE, ST. STEPHEN'S .- This parish is the recipient of a very fine marble altar, in memory of Mrs. Hemmingway, a parishioner, who died a year ago. It was made by Lamb, of New York, and is the gift of a young daughter. New furnaces have also been put in. and are working nicely. The young ladies of the parish have recently had a very successful exhibition of Ben Hur, the proceeds of which go for a parish house, which it is the intention to erect at an early day.

BRISTOL-Rev. Mr. Turner celebrated his first anniversary as rector September 21. He reports fifteen baptisms, eleven confirmations, two funerals, one marriage, Holy Communion celebrated fourteen times, average attendance at communion twenty-four, sermons preached one hundred and fifty-three, pastoral calls five hundred and thirty-eight. Societies organized, Ministering Children, St. Andrew's Brotherhood, and Young Ladies' Auxiliary, representing a working force of sixty-eight young people. The Ladies' Guild numbers twenty members; $191 were expended in church and rectory improvements, and $81 contributed for special objects; raised for support of services $323; total raised $600. The Sunday-school has ten teachers and sixty-five scholars. Good fellowship and harmony prevail throughout the parish.

parish, somewhat over a year ago, I have been the time when they can have regular services by in the chancel every Sunday, with the exception a clergyman settled in their midst. of one, when I exchanged with Mr. Turner, taking his duty and administering the Holy Communion at Warsaw. We have had our regular morning and evening prayer each Sunday, with sermon at each service, with two or three exceptions during the excessively warm weather. I have also been present at the sessions of the Sunday-school. The Holy Communion was administered every Sunday and Holy Day, with two or three exceptions. I have also held two week-day evening services, with classes for instruction. During the past two months there has been but one weekly. I have made stated visits about the parish four times, with an equal number of incidental calls. There have as yet been no bantisms and no confirmations. There are at present two unbaptised infants in the parish. Three hundred dollars have been paid on the floating debt; $180 have been raised for the precentor and organist. A vested choir of twenty-six voices, men, young women and boys, has been introduced, at a cost of $70, about half of which has been paid. As a result of this the congregation and offerings have nearly doubled. Seventy-three dollars have been contributed to objects outside the parish, besides a box of clothing, amounting to about $18, sent to a colored school in Southern Virginia. I have also administered the Holy Communion to the sick eight or ten times. Within the past week I have been for that purpose to Ligonier, making two trips. There is one Church family there, and a few others who have united with other bodies. I think it possible to have a cottage service there. There is now every prospect that we shall have a Chapter of St. Andrew's Guild, which promises well. The Young Woman's Guild will also be reorganized almost immediately. The prospect for renewed life in this parish is brighter than for a long time before. The Sunday-school has fallen off, and is very small, but I do not despair of resuscitating it in time. In addition to the two infants above mentioned, several children of one family are yet unbaptised, and I have as yet been unable to influence the parents. I intend immediately to visit Middleburg and Milford to inquire for Church families or learn the possibility of beginning services. I also spent two hours at Millersburg, calling at twenty houses, October since gone.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Sept. 15, 1890. Rt. Rev. Father in God:

In obedience to your appointment, I came to St. John's church, Crawfordsville, July 3, to hold service during the summer. Since that time we have had service every Sunday morning and evening-in all twenty-two services. The attendance has been good, but varying on account of many things prevalent during the summer, which kept the people away from the services. The average attendance was about forty. re-opened the Sunday-school and about twenty-five children were gathered in-the remnant of a once large and prosperous school. LAGRANGE, IND., Sept. 2, 1890. Report of St. John's mission from June 12 to September 1:

Twelve services have been held, with an average attendance of twenty-three. The Sundayschool has met eleven times, the average number of scholars being seventeen. There have been twenty-two choir rehearsals, an average of seven being present. The church having been closed for four years the interest that had been felt in it had died out to a great extent. The few members that are left who still adhere to the Church are able to do very little financially. The offertory collections amount to $10.24, and the sum of $55.50 has been raised by other means. Of these sums $55.50 have been expended on the church building, which has been newly carpeted, calcimined, a new porch built, and sundry other smaller repairs have been made. There are at present residing in the mission eight communicats and seven baptised members. Besides these two communicants are away temporarily. EDW. SAUNDERS.

ROCHESTER, IND., October, 1890. Report of services held at Rochester, Ind., by DeLou Burke:

Rt. Rev. D. B. Knickerbacker, D. D.:

I began the sixth Sunday after Trinity and closed with the fifteenth Sunday after Trinity, holding three services each week during the time-Sunday morning, Sunday evening and Friday evening, preaching a sermon at each service. The average attendance was thirty or more. Also conducted Sunday-school at 12 M. each Sunday, with an average attendance of between twenty-five and thirty. The Rt. Rev. Bishop of the Diocese was present at both services on the fourteenth Sunday after Trinity. He preached the sermon at both services, and celebrated the Holy Eucharist in the morning, and confirmed Mrs. Jennie West at the evening service. Also addressed and catechised the children at Sunday-school. Mr. M. A. Baker is licensed lay reader, and will read morning prayer each Sunday, and also care for the Sunday-school.

THE CHOICE OF SCHOOLS.

In our efforts to build up schools in Indiana we have been pained to find that many Churchmen and Protestants are disposed to send their children to Roman devoted their lives to the service of the church, schools, principally because of their cheapness. They are able to make them cheap because of the voluntary labor of sisters and brothers as teachers. These schools are established to make Roman Catholics. and relying on the cupidity of Protestants and their desire to get things cheap, without regard to quality, their schools are filled with their children, and many of them made converts to their faith. From a Presbyterian paper, published in St. Louis, we clip the following editorial, which we commend to our thoughtful

Many parents are considering with anxiety at this period the choice of schools for their children. They are examining carefully into the courses of instruction, the characters of the instructors, the social standing of the students, the health of localities, and the comparative monied expense. Yet there is another factor more important than all, that is apt to be too little regarded. It is the question of the religious influence prevailing among teachers and students-the spiritual atmosphere-the impression positive or negative as to the personal life of faith and piety in the institution. There are nominal religious institutions and there are others where a strong and earnest spirit of devotion to Christ exists. The future religious Diocese of Indiana will meet in St. Paul's character of these dear children will very largely depend on the forces brought to bear upon them at this stage of their training. They are now impressable; they are imbibing sentiments and convictions that will mould their futures irretrievably.

> There is great danger here that questions of mere financial bearing will prevail, in some cases, to the utter neglect or the peril of those young souls. Protestants are sometimes tempted to send their daughters to the Roman Catholic Convents on the bare ground of their cheapness in comparison with Protestant schools. It may prove the dearest bargain parents ever made. There are some things worth more than a few dollars saved in the expense of a girl's education. The Roman Catholics have no enthusiasm or spirit of public education. Their schools are established and conducted on purely church grounds. They exist to educate young people into Catholicism. Their managers scheme with utmost subtlety to pervert Protestant girls and win them to their faith. These schools are church institutions endowed by church money, conducted by those who have and their one aim is to build up the Papacy. The catechism is the main teaching; in intention other studies are subordinated. Superstitions and doctrines such as the confessional and the worship of the Virgin, are carefully impressed upon the minds of pupils, by word, by intimation and every school influence. The utmost ingenuity is employed to stamp these Romanist notions deeply upon the growing mind. Extra efforts are put forth to saturate Protestant girls with these notions that may cling to them all their lives through, if they do not at once surrender to the strategy and become Romanized. Let pastors and friends keep a watch over these traps set for Protestant girls and use all their influence to secure to our own institutions the education of our children.

SCHOOL FOR BOYS, LIMA, INDIANA.

On my visit to Sturgis, Rev. Dr. Spaulding very kindly came on Sunday afternoon and remaining for service, brought me to the school at night. I thus had an opportunity of examining the building, and seeing the boys. Buildings better adapted to a school could scarcely be found. Each boy has his own room of sufficient size and well furnished. The general school room is of ample size and well lighted. This and the class rooms are ventilated in a scientific way. The whole building is heated by steam. The boys have a Gymnasium, and ample play grounds. The Warden and his family take their meals with them. A Chapel is promised when the number of boarders reaches fifty. There are now forty. Four teachers instruct the boys, and several Prefects have them in charge. The curriculum of study fits for college or business. I can recommend Howe Hall to parents in our Diocese. The terms are low considering the advantages.

MOTHER'S HOME TALKS WITH HER LITTLE FOLKS. By the Rev. J. P. T. Ingraham, S. T. D., author of "Why we Believe the Bible," Net 50 cts.

This is a series of simple talks for children, on the Bible, interspersed with many full page and other illustrations, and with an attractively engraved cover. It is the prettiest, simplest, most attractive and most Churchly Bible book on the market.

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

Dear Children .

There is room only for a very short letter this month, and I think I will tell you about my visit to St. Philip's Sundayschool, Indianapolis, on Sunday afternoon, October 12. You know this is our colored mission school, established three or four years ago, by Mrs. Hall, who has built a very neat chapel, and who has in connection with it an Industrial School, which meets on Saturday afternoon, when the children are taught to sew. She is aided in the Sunday-school by Mr. John Ferguson, an English Churchman, who has faithfully aided Mrs. Hall from the beginning of the work. In recognition of his faithfulness the Bishop, on the occasion of this visit, licensed him as lay reader. There are about fifty children enrolled in the school, and a few adults. I wish you could have been there to hear how well the children recited the catechism as far as the Lord's Prayer, and they did not miss a single question. Two pupils were presented for the Roll of Honor. The school joined in every prayer and in singing the hymns most heartily. They all seemed very much interested in this school. Mrs. Hall felt very proud of her children. An offering was made of $2.10, and the Bishop was much touched to hear that it was the children's wish that it should be appropriated for the Orphanage Fund, The Bishop has heard from a dear little boy at Frankfort, who has promised to send him ten cents a month for the Orphanage. If all our children would catch the spirit of these colored children and of this little boy we should soon have enough to put up the building. Rev. J. A. McGlone, our missionary at Anderson, would be glad to have some Sunday-school save their old Sunday-school papers, the Young Longworth and wife then living in Brooklyn, Churchman or Young Christian Soldier, and send him twenty-five or thirty copies weekly. What Sunday-school will undertake this good work?

With love, your Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

"FAIR COLORS." By Sister Bertha. Paper, 25 cts. net. The Young Churchman Co., Milwaukee.

This is a delightful series of devotional read ings on the significance of colors in the Bible and in the Church. It is so chaste in appearance and so sweetly devotional in expression, that we can but commend it to Churchly readers.

FROM the Mid-Continent, a Presbyterian ity did he gather his family about him and send paper published in St. Lous, we clip the letter of an old friend with whom we used to summer at Clear Water Lake, Minnesota, and take sweet counsel together. He was a member of our summer choir there. It gives an account of the chapel built there in the wilderness by the Bishop long years ago, and a Church family who did not lose their Churchmanship, and give up their Church, as too many who have come to Indiana have done, because they did not find the Church already established and built. In his own house he erected an altar and gathered his family and friends about him, and the result was the church. And this will always be the result where Churchmen are consistent and adhere faithfully to their Church:

MY DEAR DR. TAYLOR:

You ask me to give you an account of summering in Minnesota. I will do so, though with some misgivings lest the subject of summer wanderings in general be almost too familiar to people at this season. While the merits of foreign travel and the claims of the seashore must be admitted as measures for health and improvement, give me the shores of a northern lake, or a Lake Superior trout stream for fun and recreation pure and simple. Our favorite place is somewhat near the center of Minnesota-nine miles away from a town or a railroad-and only a fine farm house with four little cottages clustering around it, located on the high shore of a beautiful lake, all contained in what is called the Big Woods of Minnesota. With a description of charming scenery, and exploring expeditions among the islands and bays of a body of water of two by seven miles, and accounts of exploits in fishing for bass, pike, pickerel and cropple-or else the hunting of ducks, loons or pheasants, I might well close this letter, had I not something better to tell you-namely the simple story of a good man and woman, the hospitalities of whose children we this summer enjoyed.

Almost or quite a half century ago Octavius N. Y., went westward and sought the wilds beyond St. Paul, then a small settlement in the vicinity of Fort Snelling. They located on this fine lake some sixty-five miles west of the Fort where they were surrounded by the Indian tribes who originally occupied that country, With the courage and industry of the pioneers they built their home and maintained their residence, though more than once they were obliged to flee to the protection of the Fort to save their lives, when the savages put on their war paint. It was, however, the Christian life and testimony of these good people which forms the most interesting chapter of their career. Mr. Longworth died within two years past, and his wife, now more than eighty years old, is calmly spending the twilight hours of her long day. He was, as she still is, a devout member of the Episcopal church, and no sooner did the blue smoke begin to ascend from the chimney of his log house than with equal daily regularaloft the incense of prayer and praise using the form of prayer in the standards of his Church. And when the Lord's day came he gathered with him his neighboring settlers and read the morning service with a sermon. In the course of the years their friends in the east gave them the help which enabled them to build a neat little chapel on a knoll overlooking the lake - and there for many years now, services have been regularly held during the year, the Bishop of Minnesota assigning a young clergyman for the summer season, and Mr. Longworth himself officiating as a lay reader at other times. Good Dr. Knickerbacker, formerly rector at Minneapolis, and now Bishop of Indiana, lent a ready and effective hand in the rearing of the little church. When we were there first - some fifteen years ago, we were instrumental in bringing out from Troy, N. Y., the fine bell whose calls for worship now make music among the bays and coves along the shores of that broad and beautiful lake. The first Sunday that bell rang, there were some who heard a church bell for the first time, and one, I am told who had not then heard one for forty years. The influence of all this is very perceptible in the community of perhaps twenty families within reach at the present time. There are many besides the now numerous Longworth family who are faithful Christian people, and a tone of respect for religion and the Lord's day is seen and felt.

Octavius Longworth has gone to his rest, and his remains sleep alongside the church he loved so well and served so faithfully. With all the weakness and failings of our common human nature, he stood firm and manly in his place and did his duty. His testimony for Christ was strong and unerring, and the result is a well established nucleus from which forever will grow and spread the testimony of the redeeming grace of our God. How good and wholesome a record is this especially when contrasted with the sad havoc most men make of their lives. In a strong sense we are all similarly placed in our spiritual lives. Our work is before us as plain as the familiar landscape our eyes rest upon. The question of our faithfulness is left to our own decision. If every man will sweep before his own door the city will be clean. If we would all read the simple record of the life of Mr. Longworth, and act upon the lessons which it teaches, then would the wilderness blossom as

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT OF THE LADIES OF GRACE CATHEDRAL.

The foreign branch of Grace Cathedral Auxiliary gave a bag sale Thursday evening at the residence of the Rev. George E. Swan, rector of the cathedral. The proceeds of the sale are to be sent to Dr. Marie Haslep, an Indianapolis lady who went to Wu Chang two years ago, sent by the Board of Missions to take charge of the Woman's hospital. She has recently removed to Shanghai.

Africa, China and Japan were represented by ladies in costumes, who presided over booths. In the Chinese booths were pictures of the churches, missions and classes in China, and many Chinese novelties. The African booths held novelties, among which was a piece of embroidery representing a scene with a sacred mountain in the background. The Japanese booths contained novelties of Japan, and then there were bags of every shape, size, color and use. There were laundry bags, clothes bags, slipper bags, darning bags, shoe bags, traveling bags, hand bags, in fact, the whole bag family was represented. The costumes of the ladies were furnished by a Chicago costumer, and were very pretty. Ice-cream, cake, coffee and tea were served.

AN ANTI-TREATING BILL.

The legislator who introduced a bill in the Pennsylvania legislature making treating an offense punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 proposes a measure that, could it be enforced, would almost do away with intemperance-among those, at least, who are of any great account to the community or themselves, The abolishment of the absurd and destroying American custom of treating would be the greatest boon ever granted to a nation. The custom of treating is one of the most pernicious and foolish that ever cursed society. It is sup-of the Nation, when the settlers had to resort to the mutual-help plan and when the neighbors gathered for a barn-raising or log-rolling the host set 'em up for the boys, and upon similar occasions the compliment was returned. Twothirds of the drinking done, two-thirds of the money spent for drink, two-thirds of the resulting wretchedness, are due to the treating system. Men take drink after drink that they do not want and spend money to pay for drinks for other people, oftentimes men they hardly know or perhaps dislike. The custom, furthermore, looked at in the proper way, is degrading and unmanly. It assists in forming bad association, "habits of loafing around," and precludes a person from his most sacred privilege—that of choosing his own associates. People who join in the social drink should be those who are on the closest and most intimate relations. There is no hospitality or generosity in the American treating any more than there is in the giving of an Indian who takes his present back. Every man keeps a mean little tab in his head on his fellows, and the score is kept even all around. There is comparatively little solitary drinking in America. The number of men who go to drinking places and buy a drink for themselves SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY BOOKS, alone is comparatively few. Abolish treating and the saloons would soon be few and far between. It was upon these facts and principles that some twelve or fifteen years ago a club was formed in Brooklyn in the endeavor to make it discreditable for any gentleman to give or accept a treat. But the custom is here and the club is not; and the custom will continue a hundred years after the Pennsylvania Solon has gone to

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

CONNERSVILLE, TRINITY. - Rev. W. D. Engle in charge. A parishoner writes to the Bishop: "I want, in the name of the entire church membership, to thank you for sending to us our beloved rector, Mr. Engle. The parish has never been in so prosperous a condition as now; the feeling of earnestness and unity of action never was so great, so even the older members say. We all feel that we are indebted to you and Mr. Engle for the present prosperous state of affairs, and hope the future will more fully develop the fruits of the work.' The church has received a beautiful altar desk and hymn board, a present from Mrs. M. L. Strickland of New Castle. One of the parishoners furnishing the printed cards for same.

CRAWFORDSVILLE .- Rev. H. M. Johnson has been appointed a missionary of the General Board from December 1st.

FRANKFORT, St. Luke's .- Rev. J. J. Purcell. writes: "On last Friday, December 5, the church building took fire. Happily, the fire was discovered in time to save the building, but some damage was done. The fire took from the furnace. We secured $94 from the Insurance Company. Some of my books and many of my sermons in the vestry room were utterly ruined." The church was closed two Sundays for repairs, the missionary officiating at Delphi these Sundays. In December the Rev. J. J. Purcell was called upon to officiate at the funeral of the venerable mother of Senator Turpie, who died at the ripe old age of ninetytwo years near Delphi. On the Fourth Sunday in Advent Rev. Mr. White, of Lafayette, exchanged with the Rev. J. J. Purcell, of Frankfort, celebrating the Holy Communion at Frankfort. The church had been repaired and was first used on this day after the fire.

HAMMOND, ST. PAUL'S .- S. E. Prentiss, lay reader in charge, reports average attendance at the church hall twenty-five; Sunday-school, twenty-five. Communion administered by Rev. Dr. Gold. The Ladies' Guild held a Bazaar for finishing the new church. The new church, a beautiful structure costing $2,000, was completed early in December. The benediction by the Bishop was on the evening of December 22.

INDIANAPOLIS, CHRIST CHURCH .-- Rev. J. H. Ranger, rector. A reception and Christmas sale was held on December 18th by the Parish Aid Society, and was a delightful affair. The proceeds went to St. George's Industrial School. A generous box was prepared for the White Earth Indian Mission, and a well-filled box sent by Ladies' Auxiliary to a Diocesan missionary. The rector preached an excellent course of Advent sermons: 1st, on Jesus, the Judge; 2d, Basis of Final Awards; 3d, Second early day.

Paul's church, Hammond; baptism, sermon and in Advent collection for General Board of Missions. Book racks have been placed in all the pews-a most desirable improvement. The choir under its new precentor is steadily improving.

> INDIANAPOLIS, HOLY INNOCENTS'.-Rev. E. G. Hunter. During December the chapel and choir room has been re-papered and put in good order at a cost of $25. On December 16 a New England Supper was spread by the ladies, and a Christmas sale-which was well attended - netted a handsome profit for the funds of the Ladies' Aid Society.

> INDIANAPOLIS, ST. GEORGE'S MISSION .-John Braun, lay reader, in charge. A good improvement has been made by erecting a front entrance to the church and basement, the mission contributing $100 to it. A union service was held on the completion of the improvement, Christ Church congregation meeting with them, and Mr. Ranger delivered a helpful encouraging address. The attendance and interest continue to increase.

> JEFFERSONVILLE, St. Paul's .- Rev. J. H. Bamford, rector. Miss Spencer delivered an address in the church on the eve of Thanksgiving Day and $11.65 was contributed for foreign missions. The Thanksgiving Day offerings for St. Stephen's Hospital amounted to SII.

> LAFAYETTE .- The New Organ Fund has reached about $1,000. It is hoped to double this sum in due time and secure an organ commensurate with the size of the church and its excellent choir.

LAGRANGE, St. John's .- Herbert J. Webster. lay reader, in charge. Services have been held every Sunday. Dr. Spalding has celebrated Holy Communion. Ladies' Guild has held two socials and provided means for light and LAPORTE, St. PAUL'S. - The rector writes: "Things are moving along as usual. parish house is ready for the last coat of plastering and we expect to occupy it early in January.

LIMA, St. MARK'S .- Rev. C. N. Spalding, D. D., rector. Mr. James B. Howe has accepted an election to the Diocesan Board of Trustees in the place of Major Gould, resigned. Mr. Howe's brother, John B. Howe, was for years a trustee of the Diocese. Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Frances Howe will spend Christmas and January in Boston.

MARION, GETHSEMANE .- Rev. L. F. Cole. The work on the new church has been greatly delayed by the slowness of supplying stone from the quarry. The roof is now on and the tower will be completed as soon as stone can be supplied. Congregations are excellent and there is a lively interest among the people. A Young People's Guild has been organized. Every Sunday afternoon a service is held at the Soldiers' Home, and the Hospital is visited during the week. The dining room serves for a chapel.

MUNCIE, GRACE .- Rev. Mr. Henry left for Denver early in December. Mr. Edward Olcott, lay reader, continues the services. The vestry are taking steps to secure a rector at an

NORTH LIBERTY, ST. PHILIP'S MISSION .-Mr. Scott in charge. The Wabash Railway from Montpelier to Chicago is now certain to pass through Liberty. This will be a great thing for our Church here, and is a justification of keeping up the services so long. North Liberty is sure to become a prosperous town. Mrs. Mary C. Laning, who was baptized and confirmed at North Liberty in the early days of the mission, goes to Japan as a missionary with her uncle, Dr. Henry Laning. She is to work in St. Barnabas Hospital, Osaka.

NEW ALBANY, St. PAUL'S. - Rev. A. B. Nicholas. Mr. Nicholas will give a monthly service at Bloomington. Bishop Dudley preached in St. Paul's, New Albany, on the Fourth Sunday in Advent in behalf of freedman, and a liberal offering was made for the work among colored people. On the Monday after Christmas Rev. G. C. Betts, of Louisville, lectured for the "New Church Club."

NEW CARLISLE, -- Mr. Scott held a service November 28. He was to go over in December to assist in circulating the subscription for the new church

NEW HARMONY, ST. STEPHEN'S. - Alfred Kingsley Glover will supply alternate Sunday services in this mission.

SOUTH BEND, ST. JAMES'S .- Rev. Augustine Prentiss, priest in charge. A parishoner writes: "Mr. Prentiss is giving the greatest satisfaction to the people, both in the Church and outside, of any clergyman we ever had. The little church is filled to its capacity now at the morning services. The evening service is beginning to bring the people out and in a short time we will have the crowd in the evening. The vestry have been able to reduce the indebtedness.

WORTHINGTON, St. MATTHEW'S .- Rev. L. C. Birch. The rector writes: "We have lowered the floor, finished the flue and bricked the floor at a cost of $50. I never knew ladies to work better or more cheerfully. The service is being appreciated by the best people in the place. We are expecting a good Christmas. I am greatly encouraged."

Missionaries are requested to send in quarterly reports to the Bishop early in January.

A SPECIAL meeting of the House of Bishops is likely to be called in New York city early in February, at which the Bishop has promised to be present.

THE beginning of a new civil year is a fitting time for our Church families to subscribe for a weekly Church paper. Among the many the Worker would recommend the Churchman, published at 47 Lafayette Place, New York, $3.50 per annum; The Living Church, published weekly at Chicago, $2 per annum; The Standard and Church, published weekly in Philadelphia at $2 per annum, and The Church Year, published at Jacksonville, Florida, at $2 per annum. All a practical knowledge of are good, and every Church family should take at least one of them. BENEDICTION OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, HAMMOND.

On Monday evening, December 22, the Bishop visited Hammond to have the benediction of the new church just completed for this important mission. He found a beautiful wooden church after plans drawn by Starbuck of Chicago, consisting of porch through tower, nave. chancel and sacristy, all complete and elegantly carpeted throughout. windows are of cathedral glass. church is capable of seating 225 persons. The Bishop was assisted in the service by the Rev. Mr. Philips, of Chicago, and Mr. Prentiss, of the Western Theological Seminary, lay reader in charge. The congregation filled the church, the Bishop using the benediction service of the Priest's Prayer Book. Mr. Philips said evening prayer, Mr. Prentiss reading the lessons. The Bishop baptized a child, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. The offering-a liberal onewas divided between Diocesan Missions and Diocesan Church Building Fund. The church has cost $2,000. The carpets, Bishop's and Priest's chairs were furnished by the Ladies' Aid Society. The lecturn is a gift from St. Paul's Church. Columbus, through the kindness of Mrs. Col. Daily. The hymnal board is a gift of Mrs. Strickland of New Castle. There is lacking altar, credence table and font. These will in due time be secured. Great credit is due to the vestry and building committee, Messrs. Fenton, Fox, Menzies and Kopelke; all have worked faithfully. The preparation for the work for securing lots, plans and contract had been made by Rev. R. C. Wall before resigning. Thus is the work firmly established, in a growing city and in another county in the State. The Diocesan Church Building Fund has aided to the extent of $500.

THE Diocesan Church Home Association have prepared a neat circular pamphlet setting forth the objects of the association, with subscription blanks to be circulated in every parish and mission by the local Secretaries. The object is one which must commend itself to every Churchman. We trust the local Secretaries will see that every Churchman has an opportunity to subscribe, and that they will be met most cordially by all upon whom they shall call, and that a generous response will be made. Let the year 1891 be signalized by the accomplishment of this noble Diocesan charity.

ENDOWMENT OF THE DIOCESE.

THE Bishop has prepared a brief pamphlet giving a history of the effort to endow the Diocese to this date, and showing the good progress that has been made. It has blank coupons to be filled out by those who have not yet given their pledges for this very important Diocesan undertaking. It has a claim on every Churchman in Indiana, and if they will recognize their obligation the next two or three years will see the accomplishment of this grand object. QUIET DAY FOR CHURCHWOMEN.

The Bishop has arranged for a Quiet Day for women in connection with the Retreat for the clergy under the direction of Father Hall on Friday, January 23. His hope is that the Churchwomen will appreciate this opportunity for spiritual improvement and make their arrangements to attend in large numbers, to devote the whole day to it, bringing their lunches with them. The order of service is as follows:

DEAR WORKER-I have thought for sometime be because she is of God. She wants your loy- trust in the Lord to help them through. Faith of the noble work that is being done in the city of Evansville by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. men of St. Paul's and Holy Innocents' parishes. and the young men belonging to the Chapter are doing active work for our dear Church and her most holy Lord. The services at the Chapel of the Good Shepherd are conducted by the Brotherhood regularly every week, and the Sunday-school of the chapel is maintained by them also. They have undertaken and are faithfully once a month having services at the County Infirmary, also services at the Insane Asylum. It is a glorious and most helpful picture to see a body of young men in the vigor of their young manhood giving themselves and their spare time eign work," to the active service of Him who died that they might live, who, realizing the great sacrifices that Christ made for them, are not only talking but working that others may know that Christ is indeed their Friend and Helper.

To-morrow, St. Andrew's day, we intend to have a special service in the evening for the Brotherhood, when the church will be appropriately decorated, Prof. Glover of the Normal University is going to deliver an address on the catholicity and historical continuity of the Church, he himself being a member of the Brotherhood. It will be his hope to convince the members of the Brotherhood that they are working for the Church of God existing from the Master's time and destined to control the hearts and shape the minds of the American people and she will do this because she contains and holds fast to The Faith once (for all) delivered to the saints because "She is the Church the Church, seeming to feel that they do not of the Living God the pillar and the ground of require the same qualities displayed in the the truth." And young men in promoting her interest, lenghtening her cords, carrying her Women, ever watchful in their domestic affairs, creed and services to the poor and afflicted and bringing Christ with them for the Church is His Bride, His Body, His Spouse, and for Her life He died.

Pardon a seeming digressive line, but would to God we could impress upon the members of support of our Church, by sustaining cheerfully the Bishop in his work, upon whom rests a grave and mighty responsibility, that they were not praying or working or giving for the promotion or growth of another sect in Indiana but veritably for the Catholic Church of God. I think then with this conviction deeply impressed men will do more than they have done. Would that they could feel as the Psalmist of old felt concerning the Church at Jerusalem, "When I forget Thee Oh Jerusalem it is always difficult to and chairmen for commay my right hand forget its cunning and my mittees, even among those who are willing to tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth." I thus work on such committees. DIFFICULTIES IN CHURCH WORK.

Church work, like everything else in this world, is attended with certain difficulties, which must be overcome, as far as possible, before it can be made entirely successful. To know these difficulties is to be on the way to their correction. Let us consider some of the greater ones, in connection with the work of our parish, as we are entering upon the working

- 1. It is difficult to make persons feel a personal responsibility for the success of any parochial undertaking, and to realize that success depends upon the work being done just as any other work is done. Men who are prompt and active in all that pertains to their own affairs, are procrastinating and indifferent in affairs of workers to accomplish what is laid upon them. and particular about their duties to society, do not hesitate to neglect Church work, and be indifferent to the duties connected with it. The first difficulty to be overcome, then, is to make Church members feel that, if they would make their work successful, and their parish active. our own fold in the Diocese of Indiana, that in they must manifest the same zeal, earnestness praying for, in working for, and in giving to the and promptness in it that they manifest in work for themselves. And a realization of this fact will bring with it the kindred conviction that each one has a duty in the matter, on the principle that each one must contribute something to create complete success anywhere. There must be no drones in the hive.
 - 2. Again, it is difficult to find leaders in Church work. A majority of persons are ready to work if some one will lead them and tell them what to do; but such guides are scarce. Hence,

- 3. Again, it is difficult to induce persons to attend meetings in large numbers, and thus the enthusiasm and moral force of numbers are lost. It is, of course, a fact that non-attendance does not necessarily argue a lack of interest, for many of the best workers seldom attend these gatherings. They argue that they can do nothing to contribute to the success of a meeting, presence would be an encouragement to others, and their suggestions helpful. One of the first reformation in this matter, is to make it a point to attend meetings of committees of which they are members, whether they think they can be of
- 4. Another difficulty to be contended with is the feeling that persons can graduate in Church work. This is a fatal error. We must work as long as we are able. If individuals manifest capability for any particular position, that is the strongest possible reason why they should hold it. The law of rotation does not apply there. That is God's particular gift to them, and they must use it in His service. Lack of time is no argument for declining such positions, either, for time, as much as anything else, belongs to the Lord. This difficulty is one of the greatest met with in the work of the Church. Persons so early tire, and are so ready to argue that they have done their "share," which they can only do by continuing in the harness, at the particular work for which God has fitted them.
- 5. The last difficulty I will mention is the failure on the part of communicants to realize that they are "not their own." They have not the spirit of self-consecration which adorned the life of the Master. They are not as selfforgetful as He was, or as ready to say, "Here I am; send me," when His work is to be done. Trace indifference, shirking, every difficulty to its source, and it will be found, more than anywhere else, in a lack of that spirit which every true Christian should possess. Dear brethren, when you find yourselves lagging in parish work, look within for the cause, and you will find it in a lack of devotion to Christ and a lack of real interest in His work. Believe me, this is the real truth. - Selected.

CHILDREN'S LETTER. Dear Children:

How much you have been in your Bishop's mind the last week and during the happy Christmas days. How much DIOCESAN SCHOOL FOR GIRLS. has been done in your homes and in your churches to make you happy and make you realize that the birth of Jesus Christ brought happiness to the world, and that God's great gift of His only begotten Son to the world was a precious gift, bringing joy and peace to homes and What happy gatherings you have had around your Christmas trees, and how your voices have rung out in joyful notes as you have sung your Christmas hymns. In imagination I have been with you all, and now we are entering on a new civil year. Your Bishop prays that it may be a happy one to all his dear children; a year full of blessing to your souls; a year in which you will all improve your spiritual privileges in Sunday-school and Church, and like the blessed Jesus when a child, grow in grace and the knowledge of the Lord. I do hope you have all entered on this new year with a determination to do your pied at the opening of the Fall Term. best in improving your opportunities, remembering you are Christ's young soldiers and pledged to serve and obey Him. If you give Him a willing mind, He will open opportunities for you to serve Him. You can all be regular in attendance at Church and Sunday-school; faithful in saying your prayers night and morning; in reading your bibles. You can be obedient and loving children in your homes; kind to your brothers, sisters and companions. You can save something from your earnings and spending money for orphanage, for missions, and your Church. You can be diligent in learning your Sunday-school lessons, in committing to memory the catechism, the collect and verses of Holy Scripture. See to it that you have your names on the Roll of Honor. I hope many of the older ones will desire to be instructed by your rectors for confirmation. always a lovely sight to see the young STAINED, ENAMELED, EMBOSSED, CUT AND renewing and ratifying their baptismal vows in Holy Confirmation, beginning early to seek the Lord. Now, dear children, if you try to do these things that the Bishop has asked you, this will surely be a happy year to you all. May God bless you!

REPORTS have been received from the following candidates for Holy Orders: DeLou Burke, J. C. Crack, M. A. Baker, William Mitchell, Le K. Glover, John Brann, Edward Stanley.

THE Bishop expects to spend Sexagesima Sunday in Buffalo, New York, and Quinquagesima Sunday in Troy, New York. He will be in attendance upon the House of Bishops, Feb. 3, 4 and 5, in New York.

WE WANT to make the CHURCH WORKER a mirror that shall reflect the whole works of the Diocese. The Bishop is glad to receive from the clergy and laity items of parochial interest. Let them be sent in by the 20th of each month.

THE following lay readers have reported and their licenses were renewed for 1891: Dr. Irwin, Fort Wayne; M. A. Baker, Rochester; Edwin Olcott, Muncie; Thomas H. Edmunds, Richmond; S. E. Haigh, Madison; E. W. Fitch, Jeffersonville; Walter Flagler, Evansville; Joseph Tansley, Holy Innocents', Evansville; I. B. Davey, Emmanuel, Garrett: I. H. Kjersted. THE Quiet Day, Friday the 23, was attended by about seventy-five women, who entered heartily into the spirit of the day and must have derived great spiritual benefit from Father Hall's deeply instructive meditations on the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Lord's father, Joseph, and the childhood of our Lord. Each year there has been an increasing interest and attendance upon these spiritual exercises that is most encour-They offer an opportunity that the devout Churchwomen will gladly embrace.

READERS of the WORKER can help it, without detriment to themselves, if when they patronize its advertisers, they mention the fact that they saw their advertisement in THE CHURCH WORKER. The fact that during the last year the Worker has come nearer paying its expenses than in any previous year, is due somewhat to its increased advertising patronage, and the income from this source can be materially enlarged by demonstrating to advertisers what we know to be facts in regards to its value as an advertising medium.

THE seventh volume of the CHURCH WORKER closes with this number. Volume eight will the Women's Church Home Association. Mrs. begin with March. We ask the clergy to send in lists of their parishioners that the WORKER may go to every Church family. We are constantly receiving evidence of appreciation of our Diocesan paper. The letters to the children are read monthly in many of our Sundayschools and are received most kindly. Churchmen get information about all our work at home and they are beginning to be proud of their Diocese and what the Diocese is doing. The beginning of a new volume is a fitting $10. Let each do what they can. Do not time to remember to send 50 cents to the editor that the printer may be kept paid. We are Diocese, to Mrs. Dr. lenckes, the local Tressvery grateful to the many that every year do urer, or to L. B. Surely everyone unwilling to pay for it. .

FROM the Churchman we learn the percentage of communicants in many of our Dioceses to the population as given in the census report of 1890. Connecticut stands at the head of the list with 1 communicant to 32 of population, Rhode Island 1 to 37, Maryland 1 to 42, New York 1 to 49, New Jersey 1 to 52, Delaware 1 to 62, Arkansas 1 to 542, Kansas 1 to 425, Mississippi 1 to 424, Indiana 1 to 385. There is something to encourage us in Indiana. In 1890, the last census, it stood 1 to 536. A very hopeful reing on Ash Wednesday for the Prayer Book duction. The next ten years we hope will indi-Society of New York or the Bishop White cate a much greater gain on the percentage of population. Let us still work for this.

> THE Retreat for the clergy, in Grace Cathedral, Jan. 21 to 23, conducted by Father Hall, was most satisfactory. About twenty of the clergy attended, and we feel quite sure, felt thankful for the opportunity and returned to their parishes greatly refreshed and strengthened spiritually for their work. Father Hall has great gifts. The meditations were on the titles of our Blessed Lord as given in St. John, and he drew from them comforting, helpful lessons for the clergy. A testimonial presented by the clergy at the close expressed their appreciation of his kindness in coming to us. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Lyon, of the Institute, the Bishop was able to arrange for all the clergy to luncheon together each day.

> THE acknowledgements of the Tressurer for the Orphanage and Church Home will indicate the new impetus given to this movement by Eliza A. Hendricks, the honored widow of our late Vice-President, is the first to become a patron of the Home by her generous contribution of $100 on Jan. 1. We hope her good example in this respect may be followed by many others. St Paul's Sunday-school, Indianapolis, is leading all others by the generous donation of $37. A goodly number of $10 and $5 are coming in. The King's Daughters, of Vincennes have sent a second installment of wait to be called on, send to the Bishop of the will do something.

BISHOP'S JOURNAL.

December 24, Christmas eve, 7 F. M., attended Christmas festival of Sunday-school of Christ Church and made a brief address. Eight F. M. attended children's festival of St. Philip's colored Sunday-school; took service and address; both were very happy occasions.

Christmas day, December 25, 10:30, at Grace Cathedral, preached and took celebration.

Friday, St. Stephen's, 10 A. M.; Grace Cathedral, special confirmation of one person; took celebration. 7:30 F. M.; in St. George's attended Christmas festival of children; a very large attendance and happy time; made a brief address and catechized children.

Saturday, December 27, went to Anderson, and in the evening made several calls with the rector on his parishioners.

Sunday after Christmas, December 28, 10:30 A. M., at the opera house occupied by Trinity mission; after morning prayer by the rector I preached, confirmed eight and addressed them; and then celebrated Holy Communion. At 3 P. M. visited the Sunday-school, meeting about seventy children; catechised the children and addressed them. Mr. McGlone is about closing the first year of his work in this mission. It has proved a hard field, but has yielded to patient, persistent culture and the outlook is a most hopeful one if the mission can be encouraged by help from their brethren. They need to secure a lot and build a church the coming year. This city has a population of 12,000, and the missionary has found upward of seventyfive baptized and confirmed members of the Church. They are mostly working people and have come strangers to the town. They cannot aid very largely at present toward the purchase of a lot and securing a building. A lot will cost probably from $1,200 to $1,500 and a church building suitable to their needs $2,000 more. With a building secured the mission becomes selfsupporting. Probably not more than half the amount needed can be raised in Anderson. Are there not a hundred persons in the Diocese who will send to the Bishop, or the Diocesan Treasurer, ten dollars each, as a special for Church Building Fund for Anderson. A little generosity and this year will accomplish a good work. The missionary has labored most faithfully, about $600 has been raised the first year of the mission, and the ladies have recently held a festival and raised $100 with which they have paid for their organ, lecturn and prayer desk. A Sundayschool of eighty children has been gathered, most or them the children of English working people. It is a most hopeful and encouraging work.

Bt 4:45 the Bishop left for Muncie where he was received by Mr. Clouct, and entertained for the night. At 7 P. M. service was said by the lay reader, Mr. Olcott and the Bishop preached, the church being full. After service, conferred with the vestry about calling a rector. They are taking steps to fill the place as soon as possible.

December 29, returned to Indianapolis. Received notice from the Assistant Bishop of California of the deposition from the ministry, at his own request, of Rev. Frederick Olney Barstow, on the 16th of December, 1800.

December 31, attended midnight service at Christ Church.

January 1, 1891, attended celebration Holy Communion at Christ Church.

January 3, went to Worthington, arrived 10:30 A. M. Spent afternoon in calling on parishioners.

January 4, 10:30 A. M., in St. Mathew's, Worthington, preached and celebrated Holy Communion, rector reading morning prayer. Afternoon, driven by Mr. Austin, senior warden, to Bloomfield. Entertained by Captain Stryer. Arrangements had been made for service in Presbyterian church, a large congregation present, said evening prayer and preached. We have two communicants of the Clurch residing here who were pleased once more to be permitted to enjoy the service of their own Church.

Monday, January 5, left Bloomfield at 7 A. M. for Indianapolis, arrived at 10:30. At 2:30r. M. attended monthly missionary tea of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church. A large attendance, a most interesting meeting, mead brief address on missionary work of the Diocese.

January 6, 10 A. M., at Grace Cathedral, special confirmation of one person, made a brief address and celebrated Holy Communion, a good number receiving. 3 P. M., attended the monthly meeting of Woman's Auxilary at Mrs. Cooper's, a large attendance, an interesting paper was read on work among the colored people, made a brief address.

January 9, went to LaPorte. 7:30 P. M., assisted by Rev. Mr. Scott, the rector; Rev. Mr. Dean, of Michigan City; and Rev. A. Prentiss, of South Bend, held benediction service in new parish house, erected by St. Paul's parish; after benediction service and evening prayer, made an address, followed with addresses by the clergy present. The building was filled by an interested congregation and an offering was made for Diocesan Church Building Fund. The building has cost, with furniture, $1,100, only $300 of which remains unpaid. It will accommodate Sunday-school. week-day services and guild and social meetings and is creditable to the parish and will prove most useful. Was entertained by Judge Noves. Saturday afternoon, January 10, went to Michigan City, entertained by the rector. First Sunday after Epiphany, January 11, at morning service, instituted the rector, preached and celebrated Holy Communion, Rev. Dr. Spalding, of Lima, was present and assisted in the Communion service. Rev. Herman B. Dean, the new rector has been cordially welcomed to the parish and is getting organizations to aid him in his work. The Sunday-School is steadily increasing, numbering one hundred and fifteen at present, and he hopes by Easter to have one hundred and fifty scholars. An Chi industrial school has been organized, of fifty young girls, to learn sewing. Barker Hall enrolls fifty-five pupils, and the head master, Dr. Murphy, is winning golden opinions by his fitness for the work. 2:30 P. M., visited and addressed the Sunday-school and gave them my blessing. 7 P. M., the rector took the service, Dr. Spalding preached and made a brief address and confirmed one person. Was pained to learn of Mrs. I. H. Barker's severe illness.

Monday, January 12, visited St. Thomas's, Plymouth, the guest of the senior warden, Mr. John Blaine. At 10:30 A. M., celebrated Holy Communion, thirty receiving. Spent afternoon in calling on sick members of the parish. At 3 P. M., baptized two children. 7 P. M., said evening prayer and confered with vestry in regard to calling a rector. They were anxious to do what they could. The parish has lost many members by removal and is financially weakened by it. Hope to have a rector settled at an early Was glad to learn that the faithful women of the parish under the superintendance of Mrs. G. S. Cleaveland have kept up the Sunday-school and that they had a delightful Christmas celebration.

Tuesday and Wednesday, January 13 and 14, was in attendance at meeting of Central Convocation at Tere Haute, and meeting of Discesan missionary committee. Made an address at Woman's meeting at 4 p. m. Tuesday. Preached and made an address at missionary meeting Tuesday evening.

Wednesday morning, January 15, in conference with the treasurer of the Diocese, L. B. Martin, and made several visits.

Friday, December 16, attended evening prayer in Christ Church, Indianapolis.

Saturday, January 17, went to Elkhart, consuming most of the day. At Goshen, had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Mead for twenty minutes conference. Was glad to learn that his work was moving on encouragingly.

Second Sunday after Ephihany, January 19, in St. John's, Elkhart, baptized a child, took morning service, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. Conferred with vestry in afternoon. Evening, in St. Paul's, Laporte, after evening prayer by the rector, I preached. IO:15 P. M., took train for home, arriving at 3120 A. M.

January 21, 22 and 23, in attendance upon retreat and quiet day at Grace Cathedral.

January 25, at Grace Cathedral, ordination of Rev. J. J. Purcell to the Priesthood, and of Mr. John Brann to the Diaconate. 4:30 P. M., at Christ Church, Indianapolis. 7:30 P. M., at St. George's.

CENTRAL CONVOCATION. TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA, JANUARY 12 AND 13, REV. DR. JENCKES, DEAN.

St. Stephen's gave a cordial reception to the Convocation. The attendance upon the meetings was good and the interest was great. The sermons of the Dean on Tuesday evening and of Mr. Cathell on the Relation of Pastor to People were highly spoken of and calculated to do good. The Dean, in the absence of the Bishop, celebrated Holy Communion. There were present, besides the Bishop, Dean, and Rector, Rev. J. E. Cathell, Rev. E. A. White. Rev. G. E. Swan, Rev. J. J. Purcell, Rev. H. M. Johnson, and Rev. W. D. Engle. One of the most interesting meetings of the Convocation was the women's meeting at 4 P. M on Tuesday at which Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols, Vice-President of Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese presided, and Miss Upfold, Diocesan Secretary, was present with delegations from Grace Cathedral, Christ Church, St Paul's Church, Indianapolis. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Love and Mrs. Meral, the delegates from Indianapolis, and by Miss Upfold. Mrs. Nichols, made an eloquent appeal in behalf of Diocesan Home and Orphanage. The attendance of ladies was large and the interest awakened great. Mrs. Swan gave an interesting talk on work among Indians and she spoke Harmony. cheering words.

The closing missionary meeting, on Tuesday evening, presided over by the Bishop, was well attended and of deep interest. Addresses were made by Mr. Purcell, Mr. White and Mr. Cathell and by the Bishop. The next Convocation will be April 7 and 8.

THE Missionary Council, by resolution, instructed the General Secretary of the Missionary Society to convey the following to "the proper officers of every Sunday-school in the Church:"

WHEREAS, The great and far-reaching benefits of the Children's Lenten Offerings have become evident by the experience of the years past, enlisting as the movement does the children of the Church in the work of extending Christ's Kingdom and stimulating their personal interest therein; therefore,

Resolved, That this Missionary Council does strongly commend the Children's Lenten Offering Plan, and affectionately and urgently presses it upon the attention of the Church. with the earnest hope and prayer that it will be enlarged and extended until the children of every Sunday-school in the Church shall, during the great penitential season, send up the fruits of their self-denial to the missionary treasury of the Church,

On Ash Wednesday, the Holy Church calls scrap book, I lovely slumber robe, I quilt. her children apart from the world to begin the forty days of Lent.

Lent is a season of special retirement from the pleasures of the world, for more careful, devout and frequent prayer, for abstinence in matters of food, so far as is consistent with health, and, in general, it is a season calling us to works of holiness and devotion, and for HOWE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, helping us to live honest and Christian lives and to prepare us for life after death.

Life is too real to be trifled with; death too sure to be forgotten. It is to fit us for both, that God calls to this special season of fasting and prayer.

We ask each member of the congregation to make an earnest resolution, with the help of God, on each of the following matters:

I. To offer private prayer to God, on your knees, even though very briefly, every morning

II. To attend church regularly at every service; not to be absent except for some cause which you would feel sufficient excuse to make if summoned before God Himself: and to be in your place in church before the service begins.

III. To deny yourself some stated luxury, either in food or in some other form of enjoyment on every day (except Sunday) from Ash Wednesday until Easter. Some such luxuries which might be given up are: butter, cake, pie fruit, or all sorts of dessert. Decide in advance on some one, and then keep to your resolution. Be honest with God, and don't resolve to give up something you would not have any way,

IV. Keep for God the money saved by your

Lenten self-denial, and give it to Him, with any other you may have been able to earn for V. Keep from places of public amusement

And remember, please, that all of this will be of no use unless you are really in earnest in your intention to follow Jesus when He leads into hard places, as well as into easy ones. In the Christian life too hard? Think of what your Saviour endured for you. Think more of Jesus and less of yourself.

Please observe this Lent, therefore, as a time of holiness; that when Easter shall come it may find you nearer to the Divine Pattern whose life you are following than you are today; and that when God may be ready to call you out of this world of pain and hardship you may be ready to live with those pure and holy ones who, "having finished their course in faith, do now rest from their labors."

On Good FRIDAY The Bishop asks that an offering be made especially for the education of Theological Students, and that the clergy explain the object of it and the importance of giving generously so that we can educate our own clergy.

THE Diocesan Treasurer requests the WORKER to call attention to the condition of the Treasury and that he is greatly embarassed by most of the larger parishes failing to pay their assessments. The WORKER has so often called attention to remissness in this respect that it A. feels that the case is hopeless. Clergymen, vestries and the people seem wholly indifferent to their Diocesan obligations. Influential Churchmen of ability allow their parish to go on delinquent without a thought of honest business integrity in the relation of their parish to the Diocese. It is pitiable, the loose unbusiness like way in which vestries manage parochial finances and meet parochial obligations. If their own private business was managed in the same way it would bankrupt them and make their credit dishonored. When shall we reach a better state of things? When the clergy take the matter in hand and insist that Diocesan obligations be met when due.

LENTEN OFFERINGS OF OUR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The Bishop suggests that in every Sundayschool in the Diocese, the Lenten offerings be for Missions, to be divided at Easter between the General Board and the Diocesan Board and that the importance of self-denial and liberality be impressed upon the teachers and children. $45,000 was collected by the children of the Church last year for the General Board. They ask for $50,000 this year. Let Pianos and the Indiana Sunday-schools do their best and both the General Board and Diocesan Board will be greatly benefited.

PREPARATION FOR CONFIRMATION. Lent is improved largely by the clergy in preparing classes for confirmation, as then the Bishop is likely to visit the parishes for that purpose. It is, so to speak, the harvest season for gathering in spiritual fruit. A better way is to constantly have a class under preparation and instruction. The rector having them in connection with the Sunday-school, drawn from Roll of Honor pupils, the bible class and older members of the school, Perhaps in nothing do our clergy fail more than in thoroughness of instruction of their confirmation classes. Some give very little instruction, they pick them up here and there as they may meet them, tell them the Bishop is coming at such a date and they want them to come. And this is the reason we have so many weak and uninterested Churchmen. Some clergymen are more anxious for numbers than for spiritual training. We should rather have fewer candidates and better instructed. Oh! may our clergy realize their responsibilities in this matter and act conscientiously and faithfully in the spiritual training of their candidates that they may understand clearly their duties upon them these religious obligations. Let parents and sponsors help in this matter and we ent member of the Church.

SPECIAL APPEAL OF THE BISHOP TO THE WELL-TO-DO CHURCH-MEN OF INDIANA.

It is my earnest desire to have lots secured in Huntington, Anderson and Kokomo. Each place will need $500 from the Diocesan Church Building Fund. This means $1,500. Are there not 150 persons in the Diocese who will give $10 each to help accomplish this great work? There are 12,000 people in Anderson, 10,000 in Kokomo and 8,000 in Huntington. Surely, we should have a church in the midst of the great centres of population. Brother Churchmen and Churchwomen of Indiana, come to your Bishop's help in this matter and send him your free-will offerings to accomplish this grand work for Christ and the Church.

ORDINATION.

REPORT OF MISSIONARIES.

NASHOTAH, WIS., Jan. 10, 1891.

Dear Bishop: According to arrangements made when you were with us at Rochester last autumn, I arrived there Saturday evening, December 20, Mr. Baker met me at the train and he and Mrs. Baker entertained me during my stay. After tea we went to the church to choir practice, where a pleasant surprise awaited me. I found stained windows, the interior of the church newly painted and a bright violet altar cloth and lecturn hangings, all added during my the choir and assisted it the last two Sundays.

Mr. Baker had held service every Sunday Mrs. Tixe. morning and the attendance had been regular. The Sunday-school had increased until it now numbers thirty-seven.

The church is now as beautiful as can be imagined and with the increased attendance and interest shown in both the Church services and Sunday-school, I think the prospects most encouraging, and Mr. Baker and the Church people are to be congratulated.

I held eleven services while there. Two each Sunday and two on Christmas Day and two the Epiphany, These services were all well attended and much interest shown.

The Rev. Walter Scott was with us the evening of the 20th and the morning of the 20th. He preached at both services and at morning service celebrated the Holy Eucharist. This service was one of the most beautiful and impressive I ever attended.

Mr. Baker will continue to hold services every Sunday morning and he and Mr. Kewney will continue to provide for every want of the Sunday-school.

I hope to return to Rochester at the close of the Seminary year and I feel sure I shall find continued progress has been made.

> With love, faithfully yours, DE LOU BURKE.

LAFAYETTE, IND., Dec. 22, 1890. My Dear Bishop:

The following is a report of my ministerial services for the present quarter;

I held services at Covington on the first Sundays of October, November and December. going down on Saturday and returning on Monday. Each month I visited nearly all the people connected with the mission. There have been no noted accessions but an increase in attendance. THE DEAR MUTE MISSION.

Rev. A. W. Mann spent Sunday, January 25, at the State school for Deaf Mutes, and took the usual morning service with a congregation of over 300 pupils. In the afternoon, a service was held in the chapel with a large attendance of city deaf mutes. Two persons were received on New Year's day and one on the Feast of into the Church by baptism. On Monday, a combined service was held at St. John's Church, Crawfordsville. The church was full. Of the ten deaf mutes present, but two live in the place, and of those from the outside, two came 80 miles to enjoy the blessed privilege of worshiping together in a familiar language. From Crawfordsville Mr. Mann went to Michigan to serve several of his missions.

BRISTOL, ST. JOHN'S .- Rev Charles Turner. On Sunday morning, Jan 4, at the anniversary of the parish Mr. Turner gave a history of the parish. It was organized the 25th of April. 1843, by Rev. Solon Manny of Laporte, Albert Hays and Henry P. Hanford, wardens. Four July, 1843, Rev. Richard S. Adams, of Mishawaka began regular services every third Sunday. On the 29th of December, 1843, Bishop went East to solicit funds to complete the enclosed, and Bishop Kemper made a visit and comfirmed four. Benjamin Halsted, of Mishawaka, held occasional services. Mrs. Judson made a second visit to the East and a third visit in 1850 when she secured sufficient funds to complete the church and furnish a bell. She raised in all $2,222. The church was consecrated on the 8th of May, 1851, by Bishop Upfold. Rev. Homer Wheeler became at that time first rector. It was the first church in the was, after Mr. Wheeler, Rev. W. H. Story, H. M. Thompson, Wellington Forgus, M. C. Stanley, S. Rosevelt, J. G. Miller. During the forty-seven years of parish history there have been 324 baptisms, 44 marriages, 107 funerals, 189 confirmations, 217 communicants have been enrolled. The actual communicant list at present is 79.

Their music was very rich and hearty.

On Christmas night the Chapel of the Good Michigan Street, Mr. James Collett, superintendent, held their annual Sunday-school service and festival and distributed presents to a hundred or more children. On Friday evening St. Stephen's Day, the large Sunday-school of St. Paul's Church met in Evan's Hall when they had an entertainment and Christmas tree.

Holy Innocents' Memorial Church held their Sunday-school service in the church on Monday evening following Holy Innocents' Day. Their excercises consisted of a service, an offering for Diocesan Missions and a Christmas tree from which each member of the Sundayschool received a token of remembrance.

On Tuesday evening, December 30, the Wade Mission, Walter W. Flagler, superintendent, had a service and Christmas tree for their Sunday-school and distributed presents to about thirty-five children.

With their earnings the ladies provide for the services of the sexton, and numerous other exegencies.

The St. Agnes Guild and Junior Branch of the Auxiliary have been most enterprising. Shortly before Christmas they held a doll sale (the result of weeks of work) clearing thirty dollars. With the proceeds the Christmas decorations were paid for, the gifts for the Sunday-school, and assistance given towards sending a twelve dollar box to a colored school in Virginia.

The decorations this year were almost entirely accomplished by the young ladies of the $37.40. Also a package was sent to St. John's Guild and the choir boys, and, though not elaborate, are pronounced most tasteful and effective.

> The Ladies of the Church have provided medals to be worn monthly by the two choir boys of highest standing for the month. They are awarded for "reverence" and "merit, and are highly appreciated by the choristers.

> At the Christmas Sunday-school festival the choir showed their appreciation of Mr. Morrice's work by presenting him in their own name with a very handsome willow-work chair. It was worthily bestowed.

Madison, Christ .-- The services at Christ Church in commemoration of the Nativity of our Lord and Saviour were of the bright, animated and devotional character befitting the advent of the Holy Babe, Christ born in the flesh, upon this earth. The songs of praise and anthems of adoration were rendered by the choir in their usual suberb vocal and instrumental cultured style. It would be merely superfluous to commend the high artistic style and perfection of this choir in Church music. It was a still elegant Christmas. The regular choir were handsomely and valuably assisted by the fine voices of Miss Maud Branham and Carrie Peace.

Mount Vernon, St. John's Mission .- Rev. A. A. Abbott in charge. The Diocesan Board of Missions has made an appropriation of $150 for the year 1891 for this mission. The missionary expects to rent a hall or church for service, establish a Sunday-school, and, by the aid of his lay-readers, to keep up regular services on Sundays. There is an earnest band of women who have been working patiently to secure the means to purchase a lot. They have earned $350 and have it well invested. The Bishop at his last visit there appointed Judge Edson and Col. Owen a business committee to act with the missionary. These gentlemen are manifestly much interested, greatly to the encouragement of the ladies and the missionary. NEW CASTLE, St. JAMES'S,-Rev. J. W. Foulston reports that there is a visible improvement in both our Church and Sunday-school. Some important steps have been taken to benefit the young of the congregation. About two months ago I commenced a series of short addresses on Sunday evenings, having for their object to make the young members especially better acquainted with the history of their Church and to deepen their interest in its mode of worship. It has been a matter of regret to me that the Church catechism has formed so little of systematic teaching in the Sunday-school, but I hope this will be remedied in the coming year. I believe the monthly meeting of teachers and pupils we propose to hold will assist in bringing about advantage to the school. My daughter has commenced a sewing $4.40; Goshen, St. James's, $8.80; Indianapolis, and knitting class for little girls and she is St. George's, $1.60; Laporte, St. Paul's, $6.50; much encouraged in it.

TEE OF THE DIOCESE AT TERRE HAUTE, JANUARY 15 AT 3 P. M.

An important meeting of the committee was held at this time to consider ways and means for occupying several promising openings for missionary work. There was a good attendance and all seemed deeply interested. The Bishop spoke of the development going on in the natural gas region of the State, especially at Anderson, Kokomo, Huntington and Elwood, and it is very important that a missionary should be located at Kokomo and churches built at Anderson, Kokomo and Huntington this year. He was authorized to locate a missionary at Kokomo as soon as the proper man could be found, and the Board would make liberal provision for his support. He was also authorized to find a missionary as soon as possible for Bloomington and Greencastle and the Board would sustain him. The reports of missionaries were most encouraging. An earnest spirit was manifested to arouse the Diocese to the importance and possibilities of the mission work and to make the contributions larger than ever before. Each one pledged himself to do all possible to raise their several quotas.

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

Dear Children:

When your Bishop's letter reaches you in this number of the Worker you will be making preparations to observe a good Lent. You will try, if your church is open daily, to attend one of the services, or if you cannot daily you will on Wednesday or Friday. You will make a good resolution to read your bible daily-to be faithful in saying your prayers night and morning. You will be more faithful than ever in attendance at Sunday-school and Church. Try, all of you older scholars, to have your names inscribed upon the Roll of Honor of the Diocese of Indiana for having recited the Church catechism perfectly to your Sundayschool teacher and to your pastor, so that when your Bishop visits your parish you may be presented unto him. The General Board of Missions asks that you remember that great work of preaching the gospel in heathen lands and the destitute in our own lands, and our Diocesan Board of Missions ask you to help them in extending Christ's Kingdom to destitute places within our own boundaries., We shall ask therefore that all your Lenten offerings and the fruits of Lenten selfdenial be appropriated to missions and that at Easter they will be divided between the General and Diocesan Boards, one-half for each. Children gave $45,000 last year for the General Board. We hope our Indiana Sunday-schools will do all they can that we shall have a good report to give at Easter. God bless you all. Your friend D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

From among many letters received last month showing interest in Orphanage, we give the following:

AUBURN, Jan. 11, 1891.

BISHOP KNICKERBACKER: Rev. and Dear Sir:

Few objects could appeal as deeply to my sympathy as the Orphanage and Church Home. I desire to do for it from time to time as the Lord prospers me all that I am able, but equally do I conceive it to be my duty to do it as between my Master and my own conscience. May the Lord move the heart of Christians to give as He has given to them, freely. I send you a small draft. I wish it were more. With God's blessing it shall be only the beginning while I

Very truly yours in the Faith,

LENT is a time of self-denial, and the fruits of self-denial, the savings gained thereby, are to go into the Lord's treasury. There is great need of liberal offerings for our Diocesan Missions, for our Diocesan Church Building Fund, as also for all parochial objects. The quota asked of every parish and mission for HAVE all our parishes taken an annual Diocesan Missions is the minimum needed absolutely to carry on the work with any effectiveness. The Mission Board can not do their work without it. The sum is considered within the reasonable ability of the parish or mission of which it is asked. The Board then ask that during this season steps may be taken to secure the full amount named in the Journal. In several parishes the Woman's Auxiliary take hold and raise it. The half of the children's offering will help. If proper efforts be made by the rector to enlist the interest of his people there will scarcely be a failure in any case. With 44 counties in the State containing a population of 900,000 souls, still unoccupied by the Church, there is great need of generous giving in behalf of missions. Again would we call attention to the special call for 150 subscribers of $10 each for a REFERRING to the special appeal of the special fund to erect churches in AnderBISHOP'S IOURNAL.

Friday, February 6, started for Buffalo, N. Y., and arrived there on Saturday morning, February 7. Met at station by my old college friend, Rev. W. E. Hitchcock, D. D., rector of Ascension Church, whose guest I was during my stay in Buffalo. It was the first time in our ministry that we were permitted to meet this dear brother and to renew the association of college days. It was a great pleasure to be a guest in his home and parish, and to be a witness of his earnest work for Christ and the Church. Dr. Hitchcock had arranged that I should address his Sunday-school at 10 A. M., preach at 11 A. M. and speak of our missionary work in Indiana. That at 4 P. M. we should address the Sunday-school of Trinity Church. Rev. Dr. Lobdell, and in the evening speak again for Indiana at St. Luke's Church, Rev. Mr. North, rector. We feel sure that at Easter we shall have a generous response from these congregations in answer to our appeal. The weather on Sunday was rainy, and the congregation in consequence was not large. At 11 P. M. we took a sleeper for Albany, N. Y., arriving there on Monday morning in time for breakfast. This being the Feast of Purification, there was a special service in the Cathedral, at which we were glad to be present with Bishop Doane and his clergy. The Cathedral is one of the grandest buildings we have in America. It was well filled on this occasion of special confirmation, celebration and parting from his clergy for a season by the Bishop. Opposite the Cathedral is located St. Agnes School for Girls and the Children's Hospital. This group of buildings is a grand monument to the wise and practical administration of the first Bishop of Albany, and an evidence that he has had the cordial co-operation of his clergy and people. In the afternoon went to New York, arriving in the city at 6 P. M. We were most hospitably entertained at our cousin's, Mr. Henry Knickerbacker, 830 8th Avenue.

Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in session of the House of Bishops, resulting in the sending of Bishop Hare to Japan for a visit as representative of the House of Bishops, and the selection of Rev. Mr. Swentzel, of Scranton, Pa., as Missionary Bishop of Japan.

Thursday was spent in visiting Bible House, book stores and friends, going up at midnight to Troy and arriving there on Friday morning. Visited friends Friday and Saturday,

Sunday morning we were at St. Paul's Parish, the church in which we were baptized in infancy. Here we told the story of our work in Indiana and pleaded for help, as also at Trinity Church, Lansingburg at 4 P. M., and St. John's, Troy, in the evening. Substantial aid we are sure will come from these appeals for our missionary work. At 10:00 P. M. we took train at Albany for home, having had a most enjoyable visit with cousins over Sunday, reaching home Monday evening at 11;30 P. M.

We doubt not that in all our churches services are multiplied and Lent is being kept to the spiritual edification of our people.

AURORA AND LAWRENCEBURG.-A clergyman is expected to take charge of this mission soon after Easter.

FRANKFORT, St. Luke's,-A local paper says that "under Rector Purcell the Episcopal Church in this city is steadily growing, the congregations are increasing in size and the Church is prospering as it never has before."

GOSHEN, St. JAMES'S .- The Ladies' Aid held a social at the residence of Mrs. Robert Stuart, on Thursday evening, Jan, 29, and though the night was stormy the very efficient committee managed to congregate a goodly number of people. The supper was most tasteful and the young people seemed to throw off ceremony and enjoyed themselves, without any approach to what was unseemly. The proceeds were applied to payment on the choir vestments, a fact highly appreciated by both rector and

LENT.

The WORKER has been favored with a large number of Lenten cards issued by the Reverend clergy of the Diocese. From them we are able to gather that the opportunities for spiritual improvement in our Diocese this Lent are very great, and that there should be as a result of the devout improvement of opportunities offered, a great spiritual uplifting of our people, a great advance in the Devine life. During holy week in most of the parishes there will be service twice every day and a three hours service Good Friday with meditations on the Lord's seven sayings on the cross. Not a few of the clergy have daily addresses and frequent meditations. We hope the earnest endeavors of the clergy to make the season profitable to the people may be appreciated by them, and, as a result, that the

DIOCESAN ORPHANAGE AND WOMAN'S HOME

The Woman's Association under the direction of Mrs. Josphine R. Nichols is beginning work in real earnest for the Home. Mrs. Nichols delivered a lecture in Plymouth church in its behalf, February 24. on her experiences at the Paris Exposition, it was largely attended and must have netted a substantial sum for the Home Building Fund. We hear also of subscriptions being made here and there which indicate growing interest. Methodist lady of Indianapolis has pledged $26 and promised to work for it among her people. Let every member of the Church in the Diocese determine to send in an Easter offering. Shall we not have at that time a number of patrons and life members by subscriptions of $100 and $25. The children are doing good work for the Fund and we expect every Sunday-school scholar to contribute at least 25 cents. The King's Daughters take great interest and we hope to hear from them again and again.

SCHOOLS.

The Howe Grammar School, Lima, issues a sprightly illustrated monthly paper called the Items. It gives many interesting items concerning the school. The health of the school has been excellent and the work of the school gone on most encouragingly. The Worker can most cordially commend this school to parents who desire their sons in a thoroughly good school. It is an institution Indiana Churchmen may well feel proud of.

REPORT OF MISSIONAIRES.

RT. REV. D. B. KNICKEBACKER.

Bishop of Indiana. DEAR BISHOP. I have held all the regular services at Peru and Huntington during the last quarter. Mr. M. A. Baker, lay reader, has held morning service every Sunday at Rochester. I have also visited and celebrated Holy Communion at this mission whenever requested to do so. I regret to report that the out look at Kokomo is not very encouraging at present. The church at Peru has been beautifully decorated and the seats refinished at a cost of two hundred dollars. Owing to some difficulty in securing a contractor and the risk of building of brick during the winter, we have been compelled to defer the erection of the new guild hall and parish building until spring. But the ladies have rented the Congregational church building and have furnished it as a guild hall until the new building is erected. The two Guilds. connected with this parish, during the last four months, have made by entertainments about two hundred and forty dollars, besides raising one hundred and fifty dollars for decorating the interiar of the church building. Our congregations are comparatively good, and the Church is increasing in popularity. We have recently received a small legacy from Mr. John Twells, of New Jersey, a former communicant of this Church. At Huntington the outlook is very hopeful. Considering the many difficulties under which we are laboring, we are doing exceedingly well. The services are more attractive, the congregations larger, the Sunday-school better attended and the people more united than at any time since I have had charge of the work. The ladies made thirtyfive dollars recently at a supper. Several good families have been added to the mission. We expect to build a chapel in the spring. I have celebrated the Holy Communion in public twelve times and six times to the sick and Yours, sincerely,

PERU, IND., Jan. 26, 1891. OTWAY COLVIN.

CANNELTON, January 20, 1891. MY DEAR BISHOP: Since my last report, the usual morning and evening services have been held on Sundays, and also occasional week day services. Four adults and five infants have been baptized. There have been thirteen public celebrations of the Holy Communion, and four in private, five funerals and three marriages.

The Sunday-school has increased in numbers and interest. In addition to a very pleasant Christmas festival, there was a supper and entertainment for the children on the evening of the Epiphany. Mrs, A. has organized a society for the younger girls in connection with may not be led to expect impossible results. a sewing school, which is well attended from the mission, and by children from the denominations around us.

Though the attendance on the services of the Church has never been what it should be under more favorable circumstances, yet for a hard working people, burdened with household cares. and without the assistance of hire I help, the attendance is better than I have noticed in other places under like conditions.

There is much here to encourage, and if there is much again to dishearten, we should remember that this mission is no longer in its youth; that many of those who engaged with ready church as often as they can. There are nearly hands and willing hearts in the work, have families to other places and have been succeeded by a changing population, that of the of earlier years, and are bowed down with the toils and anxieties of a hard life, and hence, we should be reconciled to a day of small things. and thank God that through His guiding hand the seed does not all fall in barren places. Since your last visitation, some clouds have disappeared, and the prospect brightens. Very respectfully, R N AVERY

COLUMBUS, IND., Jan. 16th, 1891. My DEAR BISHOP: During the quarter ending December 31st, 1890, I have been continuously engaged in the regular routine work of my parish. I don't know that any specially brilliant or sensational result has been developed, except as the very fact of continuousness may afford an unwonted experience to the people here. I have been in this work now for sixteen months-a much longer term than that of any former rector. And yet there is but little apparent fruit, except that the attendance is good, especially in fine weather - larger, indeed, than ever before. The Church seems to be gradually winning its way in the respect and esteem of the public; and this is saying a good deal-for Columbus.

One of the first lessons impressed upon my mind in preparing for the sacred ministry was that results belong to God alone; that it is not five or six times. for us to question or complain at apparently meagre fruits of labor. In this maxim there is consolation for me when I see others lauded for bringing in their sheaves from fields white to the harvest-their baptisms, their confirmations, and their amounts of money raised.

There are several local conditions here adverse to Church growth. But I need mention only the general fact of religious indifference. The ground has been so thoroughly burnt over, for many years, that there is little or no serious religious conviction left. Aside from the adherents of the various bodies-whom we can not touch-the mass of the people drift here and there in surging crowds according to the attraction of the hour, but can not be anchored anywhere, being indifferent to all religious obligation. Least of all do they relish the Church and her services. They may come at times to hear the sermon or the music, but they retain no serious impression. Indeed, the general situation may be defined in three words: sectarianism, indifference, infidelity. I make this candid statement of some difficulties 'in darkest Columbus' that the Bishop

And we have peace and harmony in our own little flock and the same old-time zeal and faithfulness among the workers. The blackest shadow that rests upon us now is the dreadful and long-continued illness of Mrs. Thomas, who still lingers between life and

> INDIANAPOLIS, 10 CHURCH ST .. January 27, 1801.

MY DEAR BISHOP: Presuming that you knew all about St. George's Mission and my work since coming under your care, I have not sent you a report as requested in Church WORKER for January.

I came to Indianapolis, September 6, 1890. Conducted service September 7, morning and evening, and every Sunday since (morning service, January 25, 1891, excepted) and morning service Christmas Day. Total number of regular services, 42; Holy Communion being celebrated 5 times; total attendance at above services 2100, or an average attendance of 50; Wednesday evening services, 20, attendance, 400, average, 20; cottage meetings, 13, attendance, 312, average, 24; total attendance, 2812.

During the above time, I have conducted evening service at St. Philip's Mission some

Our King's Daughters have held twenty meetings. I have assisted them in any way I could, by advice, helping plan, etc., etc. A Marys and Marthas Society has been organized, composed of young ladies of St. George's congregation between the ages of fifteen and twenty-five years. Sunday-school attendance average 115. Improvement in appreciation on the part of the pupils very noticeable, with a growing appreciation on the part of the teachers; ere long we hope for an efficient corps of Sunday-school workers at St. George's, which, of course, will mean much for the upbuilding of God's Kingdom here.

A teachers weekly meeting has been commenced which promises to be helpful.

A bible class has been formed which is mutually helpful - to pupils and mission.

Through the kindness of Rev. Mr. Ranger. our rector, we were enabled to make more presents to scholars at Christmas than hereto-

During the past five months there has been two baptisms.

Improvements have been made on building, amounting to $151.50, of which sum the people of St. George's contributed $118.50, by special subscription.

Othes, additions to property, gas fixtures, clock, table and wardrobe have been made, costing, in the aggregate, $25.00.

Total cost of additions and improvement, $176.50.

With the assurance of Ps. 32:8 we hope to fill the niche He has for us in His work and Kingdom

Thanking you for your many courtesies and unusual kindness, I am, yours, humbly,

INO, BRANN, Deacon

SOUTH BEND, 1112 W. Wash. St., February 16, 1801.

MY DEAR BISHOP: I send you a few parochial items for the CHURCH WORKER and a list of names.

In South Bend the interior of the church has been newly painted, papered, varnished, and completely renovated. A Churchman gave two beautiful brass vases for the altar; and others have given a new carpet for the whole church, and some much needed cassocks and cottas for men choristers. The debt has been further reduced, and if present arrangements hold good, it will be entirely paid off about Easter week, The several parochial organizations are working vigorously, and the church building continues to be insufficient for the congregations,

In Mishawaka an elegant new stove has been given to the church, and another is promised. The attendance at the 9:20 A. M. service is growing steadily. At the 4 P. M. services the church is generally full. The finances of the parish have been increased over three hundred per cent., and there is strong talk of substituting a stone church for the present wooden building.

In Elkhart the tide seems to have turned in earnest. The attendance on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Sundays has been excellent. Rev. A. Prentiss is acting as rector, and holds service and preaches every Wednesday evening and celebrates the Holy Communion and preaches every Thursday morning. Mr. S. E. Prentiss holds service and preaches every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. He has organized a Sunday-school with about twentyfive ascholars and seven teachers, and a bible class. The congregation express themselves as greatly appreciating his services. Provissions have been made to pay off the debt, and a part of the money already secured. Two infants have been baptized. The outlook is very encouraging. The ladies have reorganized and begun work. AUGUSTINE PRENTISS.

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., Feb. 19, 1891. MY DEAR SIR: In the number of the CHURCH WORKER for this current month a statement is copied from the Churchman that the Diocese of Connecticut has one communicant to every thirty-two of the population of the State. This statement was based on an erroneous estimate of the number of communicants in the Diocese. A VICTORY FOR THE WAGNER VESTIBULE.

The Wagner Palace Car Company, operating Sleeping-cars over the Big Four Route, has gained a signal victory in its controversy with the Pullman Company. By the decision just rendered by Judges Gresham and Blodgett. in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago, the motion made by the Pullman Company to enjoin the Wagner Company from the use of the "Vestibule" is denied, and the Wagner Company is sustained on every point it has made in the contest. This decision practically disposes of the litigation, and leaves the Wagner Company a clear field in which to demonstrate the superiority of its perfected Vestibule, which is now in use on all express trains of the Big Four Route, making the trains practically solid from end to end, an advantage which will be readily appreciated by the traveling public.

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

Indianapolis, Indiana, February 20, 1891.

Dear Children:

Only a few words from your Bishop this month. He is in great hopes that the dear children of his flock are having a good Lent. He hears of their pastors holding special services for them in many cases, and giving special sermons and instructions for their benefit. No doubt a good many of the older ones are preparing for comfirmation, others, and not a few, we trust, are preparing for reception Tone. May they be the fruit of much self-denial, and manifest a liberal spirit. Besides these general offer- It is Strictly Pure. You know we ask a special gift, this year, of twenty-five cents for Orphanage Building Fund, Should any child desire to secure the Bishop's picture, they may do so by sending a dollar to him for the Orphanage or Cot Fund. May you all have a happy Easter, dear children.

> Your Friend and Bishop. D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

DEAR BISHOP-Mr. Abbott read your letter to the children- the one in which you asked each Sunday-school pupil to send 25 cents for the Orphanage. Charlie Tyndall, a little fellow in my class, who sells papers, and whose father works in the Ice Factory, heard it and said he would get the 25 cents for you and at intervals since he has brought me enough to complete the sum this morning. He sends it to you with a great deal of boyish pride in having done something for the Orphanage. I hope you will hear from our Sunday-school again in this way, and the work I do will probably be in this direction.

I send this note by Mr. Dalton, whose presence here to-day has greatly delighted us. With a great deal of love, and hoping to see you before long, I am,

Most sincerely yours, ADA D. ABBOTT.

EDITORIAL.

BISHOP'S HOUSE, March 25, 1891. Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity of Indiana:

The General Board of Missions, in view of their appropriations being onethird greater this year than last year, and their receipts at this date $16,000 less, ask for a special offering in their behalf on the Third Sunday after Easter, April 19, in all our churches throughout the land. Let the Diocese of Indiana respond most cordially and generously.

I recommend then that on the Third Sunday after Easter a special collection be made in every church in Indiana, for the General Board of Missions. ask for liberal offerings in their behalf. Your Friend and Bishop,

D. K. KNICKERBACKER.

REV. W. C. Fercken, of Islip, Long Island, has withdrawn his acceptance of Grace, Muncie, and Rev. J. A. Antrim, of St. Paul, Minn., has been called.

PREPARATIONS are being made for the division of the Diocese of Virginia before the next General Convention.

DEAN GRAY of Tennessee is raising $60,000 for the endowment of that Diocese and to allow of its division.

Indiana gave last year $16.42 per Tuttle.

WE ARE thankful to our many friends who have responded so promptly with amount we ask from each one, fifty cents per annum is small, but if all who receive the paper can send it, it will enable as to meet our bills to the printer promptly. We ask all of the clergy to revise the list of their parishes and send in full lists to the editor. All Diocesan items should be sent to the Bishop by the twentieth of each month in order to secure insertion. The Bishop will be glad to have the clergy send items in regard to their parish work. We want to make the Worker a reflector of all Church work in the Diocese,

BISHOP'S JOURNAL.

February 21, left home at 1:20 P. M. arriving at Peru at 4:30. The guest of Col. Cross at the hotel.

February 22, second Sunday in Lent, 11 A. M. at Trinity church. The Rector Rev. Otway Colvin said morning prayer. I took the Communion service and celebrated; also preached confirmed seven and addressed them. The newly confirmed received their first communion. 2:30 visited the Sunday-school numbering thirty scholars and six teachers catechising the school. Visited a sick person and also Grandmother Brownell the sister of Bishop Brownell of Connecticut now ninety-three years of age enjoying fair health and in good possession of her faculties. 4:30 P. M. went to Huntington where I was the guest of the warden T. N. Carhart. 7:30 P. M. in Clogher Hall held service, a congregation of seventy-five being present Mr. Colvin took evening prayer, I preached and afterwards addressed the congregation on the importance of having a Church building the present year.

Monday, February 23, spent forenoon with the warden, looked up a lot for a church site, we found one well located that could be bought for $500 and agreed to purchase. Appointed Mr. Carhart, Mr. Moore and Mr. Coe a Building Committee to secure the funds and build a neat church the present season.

Monday afternoon, February 23, went to Wabash, a city of five-thousand population, where I had held service in 1884 and not since. Mr. Colvin had secured the use of the beautiful Presbyterian Church for the service, and it was lighted and warmed and the organist and choir present to furnish music, a congregation of one hundred and twenty persons present. By the aid of leaflets the service was easily rendered. I preached and spoke to the congregation expressing our thanks for their courtesy and kindness. About a dozen persons remained after service to meet us, who were Church people, several of them Englishmen two of whom I had confirmed in Circleville, Diocese of Southern Ohio. All expressed their gratitude at being permitted once more to enjoy their Church service. Mr. Colvin took their names and will visit them and supply them with such ministrations as are in his power, we hope some day Wabash may be occupied for the Church. After service went to Peru to spend the night with my host, Col. Cross. We regretted to learn that he has sold out his hotel and was to remove to Michigan. We shall very much miss his genial presence and hospitality, and the parish will miss his generous aid and sup-

Ten persons present. we were met by Mr. McGlone, of Anderson, who had made arrangements for the service at the Methodist Church which was warmed and lighted and the choir present. Service was held at 7 P. M. A congregation of one hundred and fifty present and seemingly greatly interested in the service. A sermon by the Bishop. Two Churchwomen were present and we heard of one other family residing in the town. This was probably the first service of the Church ever held in the town, we hope it may not be the last. Elwood has the prospect of becoming an important town in the near future. Immense plate glass works are located here and will soon be in running order, giving employment to six to eight hundred men, many of whom no doubt will be Englishmen. Other large manufacturers are coming. It has now a population of 2,500 and will without doubt double its population in the next year. The Land Company have promised lots for a church and these in the afternoon we selected, on the boulevard not far from the glass works.

February 27, 4:30 P. M., Christ Church, Indianapolis, took service and made brief address. Issued lay reader's license to Mr. Perry, of Holy Innocents' Church, Indianapolis.

Saturday, February 28, went to Evansville, entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Viele.

Third Sunday in Lent, March 1, 9:30 addressed St. Paul's Sunday-school, Mr. Edward Viele, superintendent. A large attendauce. 10:30 at St. Paul's Church, preached, confirmed thirteen and addressed them, and celebrated Holy Communion. Offering for Diocesan Church Building Fund, $33; four pledges of $10 each for Special Building Fund. 3:30 P. M. visited Chapel of the Good Shepherd with Mr Morris, he taking service. I preached, confirmed four and addressed them. Took tea at Holy Innocents' rectory with Mr. and Mrs. Abbott. Brazil, with a population of 7,000, offers a good opportunity for the establishment of Church services as soon as we are prepared to embrace t. Mr. and Mrs. Ashley, son and daughter are communicants from Kewanee, Diocese of Quincy.

> Saturday morning, March 7, went to Terre Haute; the guest while there of Treasurer Martin. At 3 P. M. attended Mute Service of Rev. A. W. Mann; eight mutes present. Confirmed one person.

> March 8, Fourth Sunday in Lent, St. Stephen's, Terre Haute, J. D. Stanley, Rector; 9:30 went o the Sunday School services; received four children to the Roll of Honor, and addressed and catechised the school; 10:45 Communion service; preached; confirmed thirteen and addressed them. Celebrated the Holy Communion; 3 P. M. confirmed four persons at two private confirmations, who had been detained from morning service by sickness, making eighteen confirmed in all, in the parish.

> At 4 P. M., visited St. Luke's, and, after evening prayer by Mr. Stanley, catechised the Sunday-school, numbering fifty children under the superintendency of Mr. George Longman, lay reader. 7:30 P. M., after evening prayer by the rector, I preached. Offering for the Diocesan Church Building Fund.

> Monday, March 9, 4 P. M., accompanied by Mr. Stanley, went to Rockville. The guest of Mr. Cheney in his new home. 7:30 P. M., in St. John's, after adult baptism and evening prayer by Mr. Stanley, I preached, confirmed one person and made an address. This mission is served by Mr. Stanley twice a month on Monday evenings, and is steadily growing in favor in the community.

Tuesday, March 10, went to Covington and topped over at Crawfordsville several hours at Mrs. Binford's. Was glad to learn of the great cordiality with which Mr. Glover had been received and the good impression he had made. 1:30 Went on to Covington, 7:30 P. M., in Presbyterian Church, said service and preached. Not a large attendance.

Wednesday, March 11, 10 A. M., at the resi-

March 12, renewed lay reader's license of George Longman. Visited Hartford City. The guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hubbard. 7:30 P. M., service held in the Presbyterian Church, the choir being present and singing the chants. Congregation large. I said the service and preached. One Churchwoman had driven in, over bad roads, ten miles to be present at the service. At midnight started for home.

Saturday, March 14, went to Lafayette, St. John's Church, Rev. E. A. White, rector. The guest of the rector.

Fifth Sunday in Lent, March 15, 10 A. M. Communion service, I preached, confirmed nine persons and celebrated Holy Communion, all the newly confirmed receiving. About seventy-five communicants received. Offerings for Diocesan Church Building Fund. 4 P. M., evening prayer said by the rector with the Sunday-school, catechised the school and received twelve to the Roll of Honor. Sunday-School presented $11.17 for Orphanage. This parish has just ordered a fine organ of Pilcher Brothers, Louisville, similar to Grace Cathedral organ, Indianapolis. The vested choir, under the direction of Prof. Sinclair, did very nicely.

Monday, March 16, at 9 A. M., accompanied by Mr. White and a part of the vested choir, visited Oxford. At 10:30 A. M., in the Methodist Church which was crowded, we had 7:30 P. M. March 17, gave letter dimissory to Rev. Robert C. Wall, late of St. Paul's Hammond, to Diocese of Michigan. Mr. Wall has become rector of Hillsboro, Michigan, where he has a comfortable rectory and a living support.

March 19, 10 a. m., celebrated Holy Communion in Christ church, Indianapolis; 4:30 P. M. took evening prayer and address in the same church, the rector being away at Shelbyville for mission services.

Friday, March 20. Went to New Castle by the way of Anderson. Stopped at Anderson to confer with the missionary in regard to the purchase of a lot for the location of a church. Saw a lot that could be purchased for $1,400. Decided upon it if title was all right. Arrived at New Castle at 4 P. M. Visited a sick communicant and had prayer with him. Took tea with Mrs. Strickland; 7 P. M. the church was crowded, Mr. Foulston said evening prayer. I baptized an adult, confirmed four and addressed them. Offering for missions; returned to Indianapolis after service.

March 21. Took part in the examination for deacon's orders of Prof. Alfred Kingsley Glover, Dr. Jenckes and Mr. Ranger assisting. Gave letter dimissory to Rev. F. W. Henry to the Diocese of Colorado. Mr. Henry, we are glad HAMMOND, St. PAUL'S .- Rev. T. D. Phillipps. The Friday evening Lenten services have been well attended. A Sunday-school library of twenty dollars worth of books has been purchased. Several families have been added to the mission, and quite a large class is preparing for confirmation on the 6th of April. The missionary, Mr. Phillipps, is the author of an excellent catechism on confirmation, published by the Young Churchman Company. The warden of the mission, Mr. Fenton, has been Secretary of the Senate, and a vestryman, Mr. Kopelka, Senator.

JEFFERSONVILLE, St. PAUL'S .- Rev. W. H. Bamford .- The vestry are considering plans for the new church and hope soon to commence operations. The three guilds work well. The Auxiliary, for missions, a paper on some mission subjects being contributed at each monthly meeting. The Ladies' Guild for parochial objects, and the St. Agnes Altar Guild, for church decoration. The last gave an entertainment called "The Mistletoe Bough", just before Lent, which was well attended and netted about $75 for their work. They have made a handsome set of purple hangings for the chancel. In response to your application in the Church Worker in behalf of Huntington, Anderson and Kokomo, Jeffersonville would like to contribute one $10, which I enclose.

Кокомо.-Rev. D. Griffin Gunn, of Wallace, Idaho, enters upon his work as missionary at Kokomo and vicinity the Sunday after Easter. Mr. Gunn, the Bishop knew as a missionary in Minnesota where he was instrumental in building a number of mission churches and of founding the Buck Farm School, now numbering two hundred pupils. During the past year in Idaho, he has built a church, rectory and hospital. The Worker is glad to welcome Mr. Gunn as a fellow missionary in Indiana and to wish him God speed. It bespeaks for him a warm welcome from our friends at Kokomo. He goes as a missionary of the Diocesan Board, as does Mr. Lund.

Here are its pledges:

I. We promise to make it our especial religious work to acquaint ourselves with and pray for the advancement of missions in this Dio cese; endeavoring thus to fulfill the petition in our Lord's prayer. "Thy kingdom come."

2. We promise to canvass our parish once a year for subscriptions for diocesan missions, to assist in the quarterly collection of the same in the months of March, June, September and December, and to aid the rector in other missionary work as he may desire.

3. We promise to attend a missionary meeting on the first Wednesday of each month for the purpose of doing the business of the guild and to increase our interest in diocesan missions."

We wish there was such a guild in every parish. Here is what the News says of THE WORKER: "The March issue of our diocesan paper just received. It is admirable; and that feature of it which is most commendable is the report of the missionaries of the diocese. Every communicant in this parish should read and re-read with great care all those reports on the sixth and seventh pages of THE WORKER of this month. The report of the Rev. John Brann, of Indianapolis, is especially clear, comprehensive, and generally satisfactory. It is to send such faithful, earnest missionaries as Rev. Messrs. Colvin, Avery, Prentiss and Engle that your offerings are bespoken for diocesan missions. Who that reads their reports, and reads between the lines the story of hard work and small salary of the missionary, and the pitiful reachings out of scattered children of the Church for services and sacraments, can close his heart or his pocket against the urgent glad of this word of appreciation. We have always had a good list of paying subscribers in Trinity parish.

Of Barker Hall it says all departments of the school are doing satisfactory work this term. The Ladies' Aid Society have raised $997 towards the furnishing of the church. Mrs. W. H. Bowes is president; Mrs. W. H. Dean, MARION, GETHSEMANE, -Rev. L. F. Cole .- vice-president; Mrs. Walter Vail, treasurer;

Mr. Vernon.-The mission has purchased a suitable lot for the church, at a cost of $300. Already they have some substantial subscriptions towards the church building; one gentleman subscribing $100, another, $50, and the ladies have $50 on hand after paying for the lot. The Bishop has promised $100 from Diocesan Church Building Fund. If pushed energetically now the building can be erected this season.

MUNCIE. GRACE CHURCH.-Rev. William Willson, Lafayette, spent Palm Sunday, Holy Week and Easter in this parish, rendering most acceptable service. The lay reader, Mr. Olcott, has kept up all services.

NEW CASTLE, St. JAMES'S .- Rev. J. W. Foulston .- A member of the vestry writes: We are getting along nicely, both in Church and Sunday-school. The Lenten services are well attended. Our Sunday school is very full and we have an excellent corps of teachers. Please send us some prayer books."

SHELBYVILLE .- Rev. Mr. Ranger is greatly encouraged by the interest in the Church services at his monthly visits. We have here a number of interested communicants, and, if they will take hold in earnest, must, at a comparative early day secure a neat chapel of their own. A communicant thus writes to the Bishop: "I want to ask you, dear Bishop, if I may send to you a little offering towards a chapel in Shelbyville, for the year 1891. I can give $12, and can get a few friends out of Shelbyville to add a little to it. Could you put it out at interest? Is there a savings bank where it would be best to put it? I ask what you think of this? Do you approve it? If there were a nucleus would not others here and there add to it? If you let me send this, I hope each year to add to it, and when the time comes that you think it best to erect a chapel here, it will be ready." Of course, the Bishop said he would be glad to receive it and place it at interest, and surely others will add to it. Shelbyville is one of the finest towns in Southern Indiana.

VINCENNES, St. JAMES'S .- As announced in the last WORKER, Rev. C. Graham Adams, D.D., enters upon the rectorship of this parish the Sunday after Easter. He comes from Portland, Oregon, and was formerly in the Dioceses of Central and Western New York. He will be warmly welcomed by his people, and will occupy one of the most interesting parishes in the Diocese. Major W. P. Gould, of this parish, is spending a part of the winter in New York City. Mr. Slocomb, one of the call for aid which they make to us?" We are wardens, has removed to Evansville. The Sunday-schools have been kept up during the interregnum.

FRANKFORT, Ind., February 24. My DEAR MRs. NICHOLS: I have been very busy for the past few days, or I would have written you sooner. I am in position to know that a word of appreciation oftener cheers a heart than begets vanity, and hence, not only take the privilege but the pleasure of thanking you for your most excellent lectures. The papers, the community and the Church people without a dissent speak in terms most flattering. The views, which are superior to anything ever produced here, gave a realism to the lectures which place the audito-spectators on the boulevards of Paris or in the heart of the great Exposition. For your further encouragement let me add that although the evenings were far from favorable, still there will be a neat little surplus which will be placed to the credit of the "Home." Wishing you abundant success, I am respectfully and gratefully

J. J. PURCELL, Rector.

Mrs. Nichols gave her lectures on Paris at Frankfort, as also in this city. The above note indicates how highly they were appreciated at Frankfort. All who have heard the lectures are greatly pleased. Our Ladies' Guilds would do well to secure Mrs. Nichols for both her lectures.

DEAF MUTE MISSION.

One of the hardest workers in the Church and one of the most faithful of its missionaries is the Rev. A. W. Mann, who ministers to the children of silence in the States of Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. He travels more miles in the prosecution of his work than any Bishop or Priest of the American Church. He has little time at home with wife and children and no one ever hears him complain. We have the highest respect for him and his work and it is a blessed thing that the Church through him can reach so many souls. He is feeling the need of helpers in his work and of training those who shall take his place. Prof. Nathaniel Field Morrow.

CHILDREN'S LETTER EPISCOPAL RESIDENCE, March 20, 1891.

Dear Children:

When this letter reaches you, you will have had your Easter celebration and your mite chests will have been returned bearing the fruit of your Lenten selfdenial for missions. It will add a goodly sum to our Diocesan Mission Fund and the General Board will also share your generous offering in aid of the $50.000 the children are asked to give.

The Bishop has added a good number to the Roll of Honor at Evansville, Terre Haute, and Lafayette. At Lafayette twelve children were presented, the largest number from any one school this year.

This school also presented $11.17 for the Orphanage at the Bishop's visit.

At St. Paul's, Richmond, the Sundayschool has sent $12 for Diocesan Missions. the gatherings of three months for this object.

St. Thomas's Sunday-school, Plymouth, has sent $16 for Diocesan Missions.

In all the confirmation classes there have been boys and girls from the Sundayschool, and this always gladdens the heart of the Bishop.

Two nice children, in Grace Cathedral. sent twenty-five cents each to the Bishop for the Orphanage, and Nettie Cheeny and Garnett Cheeny, of Rockville, always hand the Bishop some money for the Orphanage when he visits there. Tommy Martin, of Terre Haute, and his sister, Margaret, always keep a little box for the Orphanage Fund and give it to the Bishop when he comes. The Bishop is always glad to receive these offerings. In the next Worker he expects to report a large The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. number of children having paid their quarter. The Bishop has had fifty large and fifty medium sized pictures of himself given to the Orphanage Fund to be sold for its benefit at one dollar and seventyfive cents each. Any boy or girl who will get orders for them, sending the money to the Bishop, he will send the pictures for delivery.

Arrived at 12 noon in a pouring rain, the rector meeting me and entertaining me at the rectory. Notwithstanding the rain there was a large congregation present and after evening prayer by the rector I preached, confirmed a class of ten and addressed them.

Good Friday, March 27, left Madison for Indianapolis at an early hour, reaching home at 10:40 A. M.—12 to 3 P. M. took the Passion service in Grace Cathedral.

Easter Even, March 28, in Christ Church at 7;30 P. M., at a service for deaf mutes conducted by Rev. A. W. Mann, confirmed a class of eight persons presented by Mr. Mann who also interpreted my address to them.

Easter Day, March 29, 7:30 A. M. in Christ Church, took celebration and gave Easter salutation; about fifty communicating. 10:30 in Grace Cathedral, preached, confirmed three and addressed them and celebrated; about one hundred receiving at this and the early communion. Offerings $200 largely for Diocesan objects. 2:30 P. M. visited the Sunday-school of St. Paul's Church and made a brief Easter address to the children. 3:30 visited Chirst Church Sunday-school, received six to roll of honor, and addressed the school; at 4 P. M. in Christ Church Chapel, had a special confirmation for Mr. Mann of two deaf mutes, making ten. 4:30 in Christ Church after evening prayer by the rector and Mr. Brann, confirmed nineteen and addressed them. 7:30 P. M. in Church of Holy Innocents, Rev. E. G. Hunter presented seven for roll of honor and ten for confirmation, whom I addressed. The children's Easter offerings were also presented. Made a brief address to the large congregation present.

Easter Monday, March 30, 7;30 P. M. a good number of the congengation of Grace Cathedral were present at a meeting to receive annual report of the treasurer and elect delegates to convention, at which I presided. The report of the Treasurer was most encouraging. The rector, Mr. Swan reported 730 communicants as now connected with the congregation. The offerings for current expenses during the year were $5,0000.

Easter Tuesday, March 31, attended service at Christ Church 10 A. M.

Thursday, April 2, went to Frankfort, was the guest of Mr. Robert Bracken. Found the rector, Mr. Purcell and his good wife down with la grippe. At 7:30 held service and preached, a good congregation gathering at short notice. Mr. Purcell is doing a good work in Frankfort and Delphi. It is not often the Bishop gets a week or more ahead of time but in this case he was booked for the roth of April instead of the and. The Bishop is guided by the WORKER and it not coming out promptly with his list of appointments occasioned his premature visit, however he promised them another visitation later.

Friday, April 3d went to Plymouth, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Cleveland. 7:30 P. M., said the service and preached in St. Thomas's church. A good congregation present.

Saturday, April 4, 10 A. M. celebrated Holy Communion. After service received a telegram announcing the sad news of the death of Mrs. J. H. Barker, of Michigan City. Reached Michigan City at 2:30 r. M., Rev. Mr. Faude arriving at the same time, having been summoned to assist in the last sad offices at the burfal of Mrs. Barker. Rev. Mr. Dean met us at the station and took us to the rectory.

First Sunday after Easter, April 5. At 10:30 A. M. after service by the rector and Mr. Faude, preached, confirmed three and addressed them and celebrated Holy Communion. At 3 P. M. assisted by the rector and Mr. Faude officiated in the last sad offices at the burial of Mrs. J.H. Barker, a most faithful and devout communicant of the Parish who will be most sadly missed. I made a brief addressed, followed by Mr. Faude. After committal at the grave, drove to Laporte, thirteen miles through a snow storm, reaching there at 7 P. M., half an hour before service. 7:30 P. M., in St. Paul's Church, Laporte, an immense congregation present. After evening prayer by the rector, Dean Scott, preached, confirmed twenty-two and addressed them. Could not refrain from congratulating the rector on the rich reward of his labors for the past year. Spent night at the rectory.

Monday, April 6, went to Hammond by the way of Michigan City, reached there at 6:30, took tea with my good friends, the Hohman's. At 7:30 Mr. Phillips, minister in charge taking the service, preached, confirmed seven and addressed them. The church is very neat, a new side walk had just been finised. A credence and altar desk were presented at Easter by Mrs. Strickland, of New Castle. After service returned to Indianapolis.

Saturday, April 11th, went to South Bend arriving at 1:30. The guest while there of Mr. and Mrs. McMichael.

Second Sunday after Easter, April 12, 10:30 A.M. in St. James's Church, South Bend, preached, confirmed five, addressed them and celebrated Holy Communion. 3 F. M. in St. Paul's, Mishawaka, after service by Rev. Mr. Perul's, preached, confirmed ten and addressed them. Evening in St. John's, Elkhart, preached, confirmed four and addressed them. After service held conference with the vestry.

Monday, April 13th, 10 A. M., celebrated Holy Communion in St. John's, Elkhart. 2 P. M., met the vestry, arranged for Mr. Stephen E. Prentiss, postulant, with the aid of his brother, the rector at South Bend, to care for the Parish until Sept. 1st. While in Elkhart was the guest of Mr. Jones. Learned from Mr. Prentiss that he had a very good Easter with liberal offerings and large attendance at communion at South Bend and Mishawaka. Afternoon went New Carlisle for evening service in opera house. Good attendance. Mr. Scott with me. Baptized an adult, preached, confirmed three and addressed them. This was the first confirmation in St. Mary's Mission and only the prelude to many more. The little band of women here who constitute St. Mary's Mission feel greatly encouraged. They have paid for their lots $350 and have $800 promised for a new church with the hope of increasing it to ten or twelve hundred dollars. The Diocesan Church Building Fund is promised to help them to the extent of $200.

Tuesday, April 14, returned to Indianapolis. Evening presided at meeting of Sons of New York and made an address on the settlement of New York by the Dutch.

Wednesday, April 15, went to convocation at Fort Wayne. Presided at meeting of convocation afternoon and missionary meeting in the evening.

Thursday, April 16, in company with Col. Randall my host, and Mr. Seabrease visited the State Institution for Feeble Minded Children at Ft. Wayne where there are 355 patients reciving the best of care under Mr. John G. Blake. Afternoon in company with Dr. Kempwent to Angola and held service in the Methodist Church; a large congregation in attendance. We have eight communicants in Angola who receive occasional visits from Dr. Kemp. They always welcome annual visit of the Bish-

Friday and Saturday, April 17 and 18, spent with Dr. Kemp at Garrett. Saturday after-noon visited the Busy Bee Society and addressed them. Evening a nice reception was held at the rectory. Special confirmation of one person.

Third Sunday after Easter, April 18, 8 A. M. celebrated Holy Communion. 9:30 addressed and catechised the very large Sunday-school and received sixteen to the roll of honor, and an offering of $1 for Cot Fund and $3 for the Orphanage. 10:30 after morning prayer by Dr. Kemp, preached and celebrated Holy Communion. 3 P. M. accompanied by Dr. Kemp and thirty of Emmanuel congregation visited Auburn, five miles distant and held service and preached in the Lutheran Church, the choir of Emmanuel Church rendering the music. 7:30 in Emmanuel Church Garrett, after evening prayer by the rector, preached and confirmed three persons. This Parish is entirely out of debt, its comfortable rectory paid for and was never in so good a condition

The list of our blessed dead is large this month and has been increased by the sudden decease at New Albany of Judge George A. Bicknell, on Saturday, April 11th. He had all his life been identified with the Church. As warden, vestry-man, lay-reader and chorister, he had long been of great service to his parish, often representing it in Diocesan convention. In congress and as judge he had been honored in the State. He was a good man, a courteous gentleman of the olden school, beloved and respected by all who knew him. His funeral took place from St. Paul's Church, New Albany, Wednesday, April 15th, and the large attendance indicated the respect in which he was held in the community where he had so long lived.

In Crawfordsville, April 17th, Mrs. Charlotte A. Wynn, a venerable servant of God fell asleep at the ripe old age of 82 years. She had been feeble and confined to her bed for years patiently waiting for the summons that should release her from the flesh and welcome her to rest and peace of paradise. She was a most esteemable Christian woman and loved the Church the Bride of Christ. Her funeral was celebrated on Monday the 20th inst. DIOCESAN CONVENTION

The Diocesan convention will meet on the first Tuesday in June, the 2nd day of the month in Grace Cathedral at 8 P. M. The Bishop's address will be delivered at this time. At 9 A. M., Wednesday, Holy Communion will be celebrated, after which the convention will transact its business. At 3:30 P. M., the Missionary meeting will be held and report of the Missionary Board read by Rev. J. H. Ranger and addresses made by missionaries of the Board. In the evening a reception will be held at the new Episcopal residence, 242 North Pennsylvania All missionaries and rectors who have done missionary work are requested to report at once to Mr. Ranger of such work to be embodied in his report. All organizations of women are requested to report to Miss Upfold. A full attendance of clergy and lay delegates is requested. All reports of the clergy should be handed to the Bishop on Tuesday evening. A lunch will be provided in St. Mary's Hall on Wednesday by the ladies. Let every one come prepared to make this an interesting convention. Hospitality will be provided for the clergy. The Central avenue cars go to the Cathedral.

THE ORPHANAGE FUND.

The donations to the Orphanage Fund at Easter from children, Sunday-schools and friends gave a good impetus to the The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. fund. That of St. Mary's Delphi, $14, of St. Luke's, Frankfort, $20; Miss McDonough's class in Christ Church Sunday-school of $16 are specially worthy of mention. Miss Mary Engle secured $50 as the result of a day's soliciting in Indianapolis. Mrs. Nichols lectures netted $71. The Bishop received $50 from St. Margaret's Guild of St. Paul's Church, Troy. Miss Upfold received $50 from an old friend and parishioner of her father's in Pittsburgh as the beginning of an endowment of a room for an aged person, in memory of her father. It will be well for the friends of the venerable and beloved Bishop to contribute for this memorial; a small offering from every person confirmed by him in this Diocese would be graciously received. Nichols has visited Evansville and Fort Wayne in the interests of the fund and her visits always create enthusiasm in its behalf. Every Churchman in Indiana should be a contributor to this worthy

Dear brethren let us hear from you as soon as possible in behalf of this most desirable object.

THE Bishop received from a parishioner of St. Stephen's, Terre Haute, an elegant Bible for one of our Mission Churches, a memorial offering. It bears this inscription: "For the worship of IMPORTANT. God and in loving memory of Eli Silliman Ives and Lodema D. Thompson, his wife this book is affectionately dedicated and presented by their daughter."

The Bishop has received a deed of three lots made to the Trustees of the Diocese by the Elwood Land Company for a church and parsonage. They are lots 1, 2, and 3, block 5 on Boulevarde. They are worth $600. The Diocese has reason to be grateful for the liberality of the company and next year we shall hope to build the church.

The Bishop has also received the deed for the lot purchased in Huntington at a cost of $500. It is also made to the Trustees. The erection of a church is to be undertaken soon.

EASTER IN INDIANA.

Never have we had a more glorious Easter in Indiana than this year. The weather was hearts and bringing throngs to Church. It may be a little late but the WORKER desires to give a brief record of the information as far as has come to hand. We thank God for His goodness to our beloved Diocese, and pray that the good Lent and glorious Easter may have given an impetus to the spiritual life as shall be apparent in all its future history.

Christ Church, Indianapolis. The old mother Church outdid itself. Their music was grand. Three celebrations, crowded congregatious, a class of nineteen confirmed, $400 offering for Missions, with a delightful Sunday-school festival including St. George's Mission made all hearts rejoice.

St. Paul's, Indianapolis was crowded to overflowing, a thousand people being present. Excellent music and generous offerings made it a high day for rector and people. The Sundayschool festival was a very happy occasion.

Grace Cathedral. Large congregation present, offerings, $200 for missions, testified to the liberality of the congregation. Three were

St. George's Mission had two celebrations of Holy Communion, by the venerable Father Engle, aged eighty-two years, fifty receiving, $60 in offerings. Mr. Brann and his people were very happy. The floral decorations in all the churches were in good taste and in abundance.

Trinity, Logansport. Mr. Miller concluded his rectorship with pleasant Easter services. On Quinquagesima Sunday a silver baptismal Mrs. T. H. Simpson in loving memory of a child in paradise, made from a silver cup belonging to the child. It is gold lined and very beautiful. The offering on Easter Sunday was $140, children's offering, $10. Two trymen. celebrations with large attendance. During Mr. Miller's three years and eight months rectorship he held 665 services, preached 401 sermons and addresses, celebrated Holy Communion 131 times, baptisms, 57; confirmations, marriages, 17; burials, 25; services at Delphi, 70; other places, 21; calls, 2,200. Mr. Miller goes to Tower, Minnesota.

Gethsemane, Marion. Rector writes, we had a delightful Easter. Our Lenten services were well attended. New people are coming all the time. We have about one hundred attached to the parish with about seventy active communicants. New church in progress and we have the pews ordered. Children's Lenten offering, $28 one-half for Diocesan and onehalf for General Missions. Miss Florence ful with flowers. Easter offerings, $17 for Easter Day there were three bright, hearty and missions, $14.50 for Orphanage. Sundayschool of fifteen scholars. Lenten offering for beautiful, the bright Easter sun warming all Diocesan Missions, $22 (no doubt the banner school.) Wardens, R. A. Wason, Jno. H. attended and each received an Easter card. Burr. Vestrymen, J. P. Wason, Chas. B. Lyon, Offerings, the largest known for many years, to R. S. Higginbotham. Mr. Purcell is making many friends. Our congregation varies from twenty-five to forty-five.

"Mr. Purcell was here for Easter morning the music. The attendance was good,

St. John's, Elkhart. Mr. Stephen E. Prentiss, lay reader, has been conducting services ten weeks. Sunday-school reorganized. Ladies' Guild in operation, debt all provided. Two baptisms by Rev. A. Prentiss. $5 contributed by the Sunday-school.

St. Stephen's, New Harmony, had a stone font presented by Mrs. F. O. Fitten in memory of her mother. On Easter the Sunday-school had a delightful celebration of the festival. The ladies presented new white hangings for the altar. Chancel lamps were donated. The attendance was large.

St. Matthew's, Worthington. The rector, Mr. Birch, writes of a grand Easter, the church crowded. The children's festival at 4 P. M. had also a large attendance, Easter eggs were given, eleven children were baptized. The wardens elected, Mr. Austin and Mr. Hollis, vestrymen, Messrs. Miller, Carnahan and Taylor.

Trinity, Michigan City. As always it was a day to be remembered, congregations large, offerings $215. Mr. Follett and Dr. Godfrey Holy Communion increasing. elected wardens, J. H. Barker, Walter Vail, L C. Willson, Wm. Rhoads, J. G. Mott, vestrymen.

St. Paul's, Columbus, sad to say, Mr. Miller was laid up with la.grippe and no services.

St. John's, Lafayette. The Easter service, all are agreed in saying, surpassed anything ever before held in St. John's. The church was crowded, over one hundred chairs being brought in and even the standing room was occupied and many turned away. The music was excellent, the boys never did better. The choir was occupied by an orchestra which added shell was presented to the church by Mr. and greatly to the effect. St. John's, Crawfordsville. Two interesting services. At the afternoon service Knights Templar were present in large force. Offerings for missions.

St. Paul's, New Albany. This parish had a good Lent and a glorious Easter. Congregations filled the church on Easter Day. The chancel was beautifully decorated with Annunciation lilies, palms and cactus, and beautiful roses filled the memorial altar vases. The choir gave a glorious burst of Easter music. At Easter Monday parish meeting the reports showed the people had a mind to work. Workman's Guild, Boys Club, St. Mary's Guild, Church Aid, New Church Club, Mite Missionary Society, Woman's Auxiliary, all made excellent reports. Sunday-school and congregations steadily increasing. We thank God and take courage. Vestry elected, wardens, H. O. Cannon and D. C. Axline, vestrymen, J. H. Stotsenberg, Richard Boardsman, Fred Wilson, Evan Stotsenberg, Lee Gibbons. Terre Haute, St. Stephen's had a remarkably good Easter. The rector had been laid up with la grippe during Holy Week and all were glad to welcome him to the church on Easter morning. The good news comes that in response to an earnest appeal from their rector, pledges have been made sufficient to warrant the vestry in taking steps to erect a commodious parishioner, Mrs. Fitch, in memory of her parish house to cost $7,000. This will supply a greatly needed want and promote efficient Church work in the parish. Indeed no large parish can do its work properly without such a building.

CHOICE OF SCHOOLS.

Parents intending to send their children from home for their education are requested by the Bishop to take into consideration our own Diocesan schools. The Howe Grammar School, at Lima. Dr. Spaulding, rector, is the best place for boys. Boys from eight years and upward are taken and every pains possible taken for their moral and intellectual culture. St. Mary's Hall, formerly Indianapolis Institute, Rev. G. E. Swan and wife, principals, affords the best care possible for the training of girls. The terms of both are reasonable and they are heartily commended to the consideration of parents.

THOSE who desire to help this paper can do so very materially by bestowing at least a portion of their patronage upon those who have advertised their business in the WORKER, and by mentioning this paper when they go to trade.

CHILDREN'S LETTER. Dear Children:

Your Bishop has only time to thank you for your generous offerings made for from every Sunday-school, but among those that have done nobly are St. Mary's, Delphi, $22; Gethsemane, Marion, $27; Emmanuel, Garrett, $21; St. Thomas's, Plymouth, $20; Christ Church, Indianapolis, $100; Trinity, Fort Wayne, $75; St. George's, Indianapolis, $26. No doubt many others have done quite as well. Next month we may be able to give a list of all if rectors and superincard to the Bishop. Besides this we have received many offerings from Sundayschools for the Orphanage, and a given to the Orphanage Fund and he will be glad if the children will secure orders. There are two sizes, Any child securing 75 cents or $1.00 will be entitled to a picture. On Whitsunday eve we are to have a grand gathering of all the children of our Sunday-schools in Indianapolis at St. Paul's Church. We exists, etc., etc. hope to have 600 children. Wont that be a nice sight?

With love and your Bishop's blessing, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

On invitation of the Superintendent, Rev. A. W. Mann addressed the Indiana School for the Deaf at commencement, June 10. Next day he went to Delavan, Wisconsin, and acted as Chaplain of a reunion of deaf mutes. The following week found him at Flint, Michigan, the seat of the State School, where a similar reunion was in progress. He held services there also. From there he went to Pittsburgh to fill appointments.

CAMPUS EXERCISES.

Yesterday at 4 o'clock the young ladies of St. Mary's hall enjoyed a campus day on the grounds of the school. Promptly on time a procession of young ladies, headed by Miss Armstrong, carrying a banner, marched out upon the campus, and after speeches and other class day exercises, proceeded to bury relics of their school days in a common grave. Each young lady wore the class colors, green and white. Miss Alice Brass presented the senior charge, admonishing and advising the juniors. Miss Coe replied for the juniors with a little rhyme. Miss Angelica Thayer, the class poetess, covered herself and the class with glory by her well written poem. The whole occasion bubbled with jokes and will be a bright spot in the girls' memories. A feature of the affair was elaborately written regrets from Governor Training and $20,000 for the Retiring Hovey, an invitation to "Alvin Hovey" (the other Alvin Hovey) having fallen into his hands. - Indianapolis Sentinal.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

DEAR SIR: Having read Mr. Sargent's experience in plating with gold, silver and nickel, I am tempted to write of my success. I sent to H. C. Delno & Co., of Columbus, O., for a Judge Hilton of New York has added lelry than I could plate ever since. I cleared $500,000 to the endowment of the Cathe- $27 the first week and in three weeks $97. Any one can do plating and make money in any locality the year round. You can get circulars by addressing the above firm.

BISHOP KNIGHT, of Milwaukee died on Monday, June 8th, from paralysis caused by apoplexy. The funeral services took place in the Cathedral the Thursday following at II o'clock, A. M. Bishop Knight had endeared himself to the Diocese in his brief Episcopate.

EVERY reader of the WORKER will be glad to learn that by the will of Delos Root, recently deceased, Grace Cathedral will receive from his estate $200 a year for fifteen years, for its support. At the end of that time a principal sum of $3000.

Thus is the generous liberality of this good man towards the Cathedral whilst living, perpetuated for all time.

THE Special Church Building Fund has grown a little the past month. Mrs. Perry, of Holy Innocents', Indianapolis, has given $5; Mrs. Frances M. OUR SCHOOLS.

St. Mary's Hall had a most successful commencement at Propylæum Hall on Tuesday, June 9, 1891, when six young ladies graduated with honor. The programme was as follows:

Latin Salutatory and Essay, Stories in Stone, Miss Alice E. Brass of Lima.

Essay, Second Thoughts, Miss May Guthrie Bloomfield of Peru.

Essay, Jack and Jill, Miss Ottilia Hanson of Michigan City.

Essay, The Firmest Flint Doth in Continuance Wear, Miss Burton Bristor of Indianapolis.

dictory, Miss Mary Angelica Thayer of Plymouth.

All acquitted themselves with credit and their elocution reflected credit on their teacher, Mrs. Prunk. An address to the graduates followed from Rev. Augustine Prentiss of South Bend, and presentation of prizes and diplomas by the Bishop, The attendance was large and the morning hour proved a fitting time. In the evening a delightful reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Swan at the school every parish and Mission in the dioce building. Trinity, Connersville, Rev. Willis D. Engle in charge, has a new roof, and funds are raised for an artificial stone side walk. It is also hoped to have the interior walls painted at an early day.

ST. MARY'S HALL.

The art exibit at St. Mary's Hall opened vesterday afternoon. The work is all that of beginners, after one year's instruction under Miss Nellie G. Harmon, and the class makes a remarkably creditable showing. Most of the studies are simple arrangements of flowers, fruits or other "still life," though there are a few landscapes. All the "still life" studies are original, drawn and treated from nature, while the landscapes are copies from original studies by Miss Harmon. There are ten water-colors in the exhibit, all but one the work of Mary D. Gilkey. Most of them are good, but one is of unusual value. "The Kitchenmaid's Coat-ofarms" is nothing but a rude wooden bench upon which are piled a tub, pail and mop of the vintage of several years ago, but the thing is so effectively arranged and treated that it is artistic to a degree. Rose R. Leet has but one water-color, "Heart's Ease and Soul's Comfort," but it is well worth exhibiting. It is an old open bible with a spray of heartsease lying on the table beside it, making a simple and pleasing Among the oils the study most likely to attractattention is Miss *Alice Atkinson's "Old charge.

It is hoped the new church at Marion will Favorites," an arrangement of tattered calfbound books, giving with remarkable faithfulness the peculiar texture of the old calf-binding. This same effect has been brought out with only a degree less of success by May Z. Simons in her "Marguerite," a study of a couple of bound volumes of Goethe, with two or three marguerites thrown upon them. The flowers are so gracefully arrange! and well handled that of the two this makes the more charming picture. Miss Atkinson has a landscape, "Solitude," which is unusually well done. Among other studies "Peach Blossoms," by Mamie E. Powell, a Japanese banner by Minnie Beck and a letter rack by Mabel C Witty will attract attention, the last rather for its striking effect and faithfulness than for its artistic value, which is ruined by the commonplace subject and jarring combination of color. "After the Matinee," by Adelaide Fairbanks, is a good sketch in oil, of fan, opera-glasses, bon-bon box, etc. "Crab-apple Blossoms," by Lucy Beck, is another pleasing study.

In the rear room of the studio Miss Harmon exhibits some of her own work which is well worth seeing. The draperies, casts and pictures about the room are very effectively arranged and the room makes a very pretty picture in itself. Among the best of her works are a couple of arrangements of flowers, one of roses and other of lilacs and a moonlight marine scene .- Indianapolis Fournal.

May 13-20. National Conference of Corrections and Charities, Indianapolis, Ind. I found recreation and profit in meeting this body of workers in reform and benevolence, many of whom I have come to recognize as personal friends. In a subsequent Church Helper I will write of the Conference at length.

I was privileged to be the guest of Bishop Knickerbacker, receiving the kindest attentions of himself and Mrs. Knickerbacker, and was rejoiced to find the good success attending his wise plans and arduous work.

The Sunday-school Institute of the Church in the city and the Convocation being in session, I attended meetings of both, and responded to the invitation to address them. The papers read from clergy and laymen, were of a high order. A Sunday-school Institute is something we should have in Grand Rapids. On Whitsunday morning I preached and administered the Holy Communion in Christ Church, and in the afternoon addressed the children and teachers of ail the schools, this being their annual gathering.

Evening, offered the prayer at a meeting of two thousand persons in the opera house.

I must acknowledge the attentions of the city clergy .- Bishop Gillespie, in Helper.

He will also give two services a month on week day evenings at Washington. He takes a lively interest in St John's Mission, North Vincennes, The St. Agnes Society had an entertainment just after the Bishop's visit that realized $135 $50 was appropriated to meet the quota of the parish for Diocesan Missions for 1890 and '91. The remainder will be appropriated fo improvement of the interior of the church.

First Sunday after Trinity, May 31. At 9. A. M., in Christ Church, Indianapolis, held special confirmation of two persons; 10:30 was commemorated the third anniversary of Mr. Ranger's rectorate. His annual report to the parish indicated faithful service and most encouraging results. This old mother parish of the city was never doing better work. Every society is alive and in earnest. The addition to its communion list for the year was eightyfive, twenty-two had been confirmed. Parochial offerings, $4.272; Diocesan, $1,371.72; General, $314.58. Total, $5,958.20. After the report the Bishop preached on the "True Relation of Pastor and People." 12:30 P. M., in St. Paul's, Indianapolis, held special confirmation for four persons and made a brief address. Evening, in St. Paul's Church, Columbus, preached, confirmed two persons and addressed them.

Tuesday, June 2. 10:30 A. M., eighth anniversary of Woman's Auxiliary, celebrated Holy in visiting St. Stephen's Hospital, Richmond, Communion, Rev. Mr. Dean preaching an admirable sermon. The attendance was good and the report of Miss Upfold, Diocesan Secretary, indicated good work. Fourteen Auxiliaries had contributed $1,759.82 for missionary purposes. For parochial purposes the women in our parishes had raised $10,511.06. After an enjoyable lunch in the dining room of St. Mary's Hall an interesting session was held, at which some admirable papers were presented. Church Work in the South, by Mrs. Dr. Lockridge of St. Paul's Church; Church Periodical Club, by Miss Caroline II. Howland of Christ Church and Junior Auxiliaries, by Miss Alice Fairfield of Grace Cathedral. All were listened to with deepest interest. The Church Home Association reported through Mrs. Jenckes, Local Treasurer, that a good amount had been paid in and much more promised. 7:30, opening session Fifty-fourth Diocesan Convention. Friday, June 5. Evening, made a brief address and presented diplomas to the graduating class of Boston School of Elecution at Propylana Hall.

Second Sunday after Trinity, June 7, at Holy Innocents' Church, Indianapolis, 10:30 A. M., preached, it being the fifth anniversary of Mr. Hunter's rectorship. His report to the parish showed faithful patient work and the results most encouraging, The steady improvement of the parish under Mr. Hunter's rectorship has been very marked and the outlook is most promising. The baptisms numbered fifty. confirmations, fifty: present number of communicants, one hundred and thirty. It is hoped this year by united efforts to meet the balance of indebtedness on their rectory, $650. All are working for this and they richly deserve help from the older parishes. In the evening Rev. J. H. Ranger was present with the rector and made an address. 7:30, at Grace Cathedral the Bishop delivered the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of St. Mary's Hall, a large congregation being present, and confirmed one person.

Tuesday, June 9, present at the commencement exercises of St. Mary's Hall in Propyleum Hall and presented the prizes to the school and diplomas to the six graduates, closing with benediction. LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. Dear Children:

Vacation time has come again and you have thrown aside your school-books for a season, and are prepared to have a nice Summer. City boys and girls will go out into the country and enjoy the freedom from restraint that is allowable at such a time. Your Bishop will spend the Summer beneath the trees at Bishopthorpe Park and in rowing upon the Lake. How delighted he would be if he could have a grand picnic of all the children of his Diocese gathered there and how you chil. dren would enjoy the bathing, boating and fishing to be had there. Well that cannot be, so he wishes all the children may have a happy Summer. That they will keep up their interest in Sundayschool and Church work. How nice it would be if every child could in some way earn twenty-five cents for the Orphanage Fund this Summer. Surely a thousand children could do it if they had a mind to try. We shall see, for every boy and girl that sends the Bishop twenty-five cents will be reported in the WORKER and nothing would more delight the Bishop than to have a thousand names to report. Perhaps there are some who can send a dollar and secure the Bishop's picture to frame and hang up in their home. Now boys and girls see what you can do this Summer for the Orphanage or Cot Fund. Write the Bishop at Bishopthorpe Park, Lima, Indiana.

Lovingly your Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

EVANSVILLE, IND., May 31, '91.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Knickerbacker, DEAR BISHOP: I send you a check for ten dollars. Nine (9) little girls, members of the Altar Guild, each send you twenty-five cents and I send you fifty cents as a personal offering. The remainder, $7.25, has been made by the society for the Orphanage Fund. For the past year they have been working for this cause and are very happy to be able to send you this small offering now and hope to let you hear from them soon again. I give you the names of the eight little girls: Emma Page, Rena Collis, Mary Bell Slocum, Zelia Slocum, Victoria Bingham, Mamie Darah, Minnie Vierling, Evangeline Maier, Edith Stacer. They all send their love to their dear Bishop. Yours truly.

MISS ELLA M. RUNCIE. Secretary Orphanage Fund. Indianapolis, May 21, 1891. Rt. Rev. D. B. Knickerbacker,

DEAR SIR: The within is sent in behalf of the Diocesan Church Building Fund.

Wishing to share both the plessing and the glory of the mite I remain,

GREENCASTLE, IND., May 30, 1891. Rt. Rev. D. B. Knickerbacker,

Bishop of Indiana:

Mrs. Arnold requests me to forward to you enclosed draft for funds collected for Old People's Home-$1 each from Miss Fida Lester, Misses Ethel, Frances and Edna Arnold, Charles Arnold and Mrs. F. A. Arnold: $6 in With regards, F. A. ARNOLD.

THE DAUGHTERS OF THE KING

A careful distinction should be made between the Daughters of the King and the King's Daughters. The "Daughters of the King" the older society, and differs from the King's Daughters' in many particulars. In the first place, it is more an order than a society, and is distinctively Episcopal. Its work is definite, and may be stated "for the spread of Christ's kingdom among young women," and "the active support of the rector's plans in the parish where the particular chapter may be located." It is not a ten-times-one society, the membership of the chapters being practically unlimited. Daughters who remove are expected to form new chapters. Its badge is a cross of silver - a Greek cross fleury - and its mottos "Magnanimiter Crucem Sustine," and "For His Sake." Its colors are white and bluewhite, the old royal color of Israel, and blue the color of the Virgin Mary, the "blessed daughter of Israel's King, the mother of the King of Kings." There are now chapters in The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. various parts of the United States.

To insure unifority, badges should be secured of the Alpha Chapter. This may be done at about cost, viz.: 75 cents for the cross only, or $1.00 for the cross suspended from a pin bar engraved with the owner's initials. This includes postage and postoffice registration fee.

Additional information and publications will gladly be furnished by the Corresponding Secretary, Miss E. L. Ryerson, 520 East 87th street, New York city. Mrs. M. J. Franklin, Head of Alpha Chapter.

WE ARE glad to add the name of Mrs. J. M. Latta of Goshen to our Special Church Building Fund, making twentysix in all and the first of the $250 needed for Kokomo. Will not all who can and who intend to take a share do so at once? The missionary at Kokomo is waiting for the money.

An interesting service was held in Kokomo on the evening of July 22, at which Dean Charles Morris was present and made an eloquent address. The beginning of a lot fund was made, and $366 subscribed. A lot has been selected on which it is hoped to erect a church at an early day. The cost of the lot alone will be $2,500. This the missionary is sanguine he will be able to raise.

nishings. The families who have occupied them have had great enjoyment, and the clergy of Indiana.

During August the cottages are to be occupied by Rev. Mr. Cathell and family of Richmond, and Rev. Mr. Cole of Marion. Mrs. Howe on each Sunday sends out a carriage to bring the occupants of the cottages to church at St. Mark's, Lima, and returns them.

Bishopthorpe has also been a center of missionary work in supplying services to the adjacent towns. Kendallville received two services; Lagrange, four; Ft. Wayne, two; Lima, three, in July. The value of such a summer home for our clergy as may be furnished at Bishopthorpe Park can not be too highly appre-

Besides our own clergy, the family of Rev. Mr. Moore, of Calvary Church, Chicago, has been located at the boarding house on the lake. All have enjoyed with the Bishop the rest and beauty of the Park and its surroundings. Each year these will be enhanced. We wish our stronger parishes and some of our laymen might have their own summer cottages here.

From collections from the churches about as much more has come, and the Bishop has added as much as from both of these sources. Huntington and Anderson have been provided for, the lots have been secured, and the churches are in course of erection. Kokomo is yet to be provided for. Are there not yet twenty-five Churchmen who can spend $ 10, each securing a lot and building a church in this town of 12,000 population? If so, the Bishop will provide the same amount. The people of Kokomo will provide $3,000 for church and rectory. Prompt responses are most desirable.

THE CHURCH WORKER

These summer months are a dry time for the WORKER. Very few think of their obligation to extend a helping hand for its support. At least fifteen hundred of our readers are owing their subscription. At least a thousand of these could spare the amount and not miss it. We are behind hand in our payments to the printer. We do not like to be in debt, It is for our patrons who receive the paper to indicate whether it is worth while to prolong its life. It is not much we ask; only 50 cents a year from those who receive the paper and can afford to pay for it. We believe it would be a loss to the diocese and to Churchmen to suspend its publication. We have no resources but those which our patrons place in our hands. Let those who have not paid up for '91 send at once a Postal Note to Mr. Swan.

ST. MARY'S HALL.

Extracts from the new catalogue:

BUILDING.

The Institute building is of brick, stone and terra cotta, and, architecturally considered, is the finest school building in Indianapolis. In regard to ventilation, lighting, and the convenience of its interior arrangements it is unsurpassed. A feature to which the attention of parents is particularly directed is that the living apartments and the school rooms are under the same roof, thus obviating the necessity of the pupils exposing themselves in severe weather. The building is heated with natural gas and steam, securing an even temperature night and day. In its construction, great attention has been given to ventilation and lighting.

LOCATION.

St. Mary's Hall is situated in the best residence portion of Indianapolis. The Central avenue and Alabama street cars run to and from the Union station directly in front of the building.

THE SCHOOL YEAR.

The school year is divided into two terms. The first begins Tuesday, September 15, and ends Wednesday, January 27. The second begins Thursday, January 28, and ends Tuesday, June 14.

VACATIONS

Christmas vacation begins Saturday, December 18, and ends Monday, January 4. Spring vacation begins Saturday, March 26, and ends Monday, April 4.

EVENING READINGS.

It is hoped to provide occasional lectures upon subjects connected with science, art, political and comestic economy, and other topics of general and essential interest.

Evening receptions, including only the family, are occasionally given for or by the young ladies, who thus learn ease and grace of manner for more formal social events. Constant oversight is given to the continuance or acquirement of gentle and truly lady-like traits.

MISCELL ANEOUS.

The health of pupils is of first importance. Mrs. Swan watches each pupil, and the effort of the school is to secure to each plenty of exercise, fresh air and sleep, regular bathing and abundant nutrious food. Every effort is taken to prevent sickness and secure vigorous health.

One of the principal reasons for attending boarding school is to be separated from the interruptions of study which seem unavoidable rule of the Church, unless in those few instanat home. At St. Mary's Hall young ladies have ces where I judge, and as far as I judge, there every incentive to work. The regular study, is an absolute necessity. For instance-

Miss Harmon is a resident teacher and devotes her entire time to that department. Easels, mahl sticks and chairs are supplied by the school.

PIANO AND ERENCH.

We feel great pride in introducing to the Indianapolis public, and especially to the patrons of our school, Miss Emily Clare, whom we have been so fortunate as to secure as a specialist in music and French. Fourteen years of experience and unqualified success in teaching these branches give her an assured reputation. Our patrons can feel that their daughters are receiving the very best instruction that can be given. Miss Clare's musical education was completed under Sir Julius Benedict, who teaches only the most advanced students, and These are constant and regular, being from whose reputation is international. Her French was acquired partially under excellent masters, but practically during long years of residence in France and Brussels. Miss Clare's testimoterms of her ability and thoroughness in teach-

IOHN WESLEY ON SEPARATION.

In his famous sermon CXV, John Wesley used these words:

Revolve all the histories of the Church from the earliest age, and you will find whenever there was a great work of God in any particular city or nation, the subjects of that work soon into deserts, or they built religious houses; or at least they formed parties into which none was admitted but such as subscribed both to their judgment and practice. But with the belonged; they are still members of the Church; such they desire to live and die. And I believe one reason why God is pleased to continue my life so long is to confirm them in their present purpose not to separate from the Church. *

I hold all the doctrines of the Church of England. I love her liturgy, I approve her plan of discipline, and only wish it could be put in execution. I do not knowingly vary from any

- 1. As few clergymen open their churches to
- 2. As I know no forms will suit all occasions, I am often under the necessity of praying extempore.
- 3. In order to build up the flock of Christ in faith and love, I am under a necessity of uniting them together, and of dividing them into little companies, that they may provoke one another to love and good works.
- 4. That my fellow laborers and I may more effectually assist each other to save our own souls and those that hear us, I judge it necessary to meet the preachers, or at least the greater part of them, once a year.
- 5. In these conferences we fix the stations of all the preachers for the ensuing year.

But all this is not separating from the Church. So far from it, that, whenever I have opportunity, I attend the Church service myself, and advise all our societies to do so. * *

I wish all of you who are vulgarly termed Methodists would seriously consider what has been said. And particularly you whom God hath commissioned to call sinners to repentance. It does by no means follow from hence that ye are commissioned to baptize, or to administer the Lord's Supper. Ye never dreamed of this for ten or twenty years after ye began to preach. Ye did not then like Korah, Dathan and Abiram, "seek the priesthood also," Ye knew "No man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as Aaron was." O contain yourself within your own bounds; be content with preaching the Gospel; "do the work of an evangelist; proclaim to all the world the loving kindness of God our Saviour;" declare to all "the kingdom of heaven is at hand; repent ye and believe the Gospel!" I earnestly advise you, abide in your own place; keep your own station. Ye were, fifty years ago, those of you that were then Methodist preachers, extraordinary messengers of God, not going in your own will, but thrust out, not to supercede, but to "provoke to jealously" the ordinary messengers. In God's name stop there! Both by your preaching and example provoke them to love and to good works. Ye are a new phenomenon in the earth - body of people who, being said to their neighbors, "Stand by yourselves, of no sect or party, are friends to all parties, for we are holier than you!" As soon as ever and endeavor to forward all in heart-religion, they separated themselves either they retired in the knowledge and love of God and man. Ye yourselves were first called in the Church of England; and though ye have and will have a thousand temptations to leave it and set up for yourselves, regard them not; be Church of Methodists it is quite otherwise. They are not England men still; do not cast away the pecua sect or party; they do not separate from the liar glory which God hath put upon you, and religious community to which they at first frustrate the design of Providence, the very end for which God raised you up.

Thursday, July 23, 10 A. M., was the time appointed for this interesting ceremony. The Bishop, accompanied by Rev. J. Everist Cathell of Richmond, arrived at 9 A. M.; Rev. L. F. Cole of Marion, at 9:30. These brethren, with the rector, assisted the Bishop in the solemn service, an excellent choir singing several hymns. The rector, Rev. J. A. McGlone, announced the list of deposits in the corner-stone. The Bishop said the usual service; Messrs. Cathell and Cole made excellent addresses. A large audience was in attendance.

The lot, 70 x 144, is centrally located, opposite the new High School building. The foundation of the church is 30x54, with a tower. The lot cost $1,400 in June, and is now worth $2,000. The church, a frame, is to cost $2,000, with chancel, robing room, nave and tower, sittings for two hundred and fifty people, and heated by furnace. A rectory is to be built adjoining the church to cost $1,000. cost $5,000.

The whole is the result of the faithful, patient labor of the missionary, Rev. Mr. McGlone, who has been indefatigable in his efforts. Most of the money has been raised by him from citizens of Anderson outside the Church, except $500 donated from Diocesan Building Fund, and $1,000

The Church people of Indiana have a great opportunity to aid in building up the Church schools of this diocese by giving them generous patronage. This is all that is asked now. Twenty-five girls sent as boarders to St. Mary's Hall will place the school on an assured foundation. Mr. and Mrs. Swan are determined to make the school first-class in every respect, and those who know them best feel assured that they are competent to fully carry out these promises. They have secured an able corps of teachers and all that is needed is for our Church people to send their daughters to share the advantages offered.

DIOCESAN REVIEW FOR JULY.

Though July is a hot month in Indiana and many of the clergy are off for their vacation, the Church work has not been standing still, and there is a good deal of activity one way

At St. Paul's, Hammond, a rectory adjoining the church is being built, to cost $600, and so planned that it can be enlarged at some future day, when needed. The missionary is greatly encouraged by the progress of the work at East Chicago. The Congregational church has been rented for services, and a mission is soon to be organized.

The new church to be erected at Huntington has been contracted for and is to cost $1,000. It is to be ready for use by the 1st of October. It will seat one hundred and fifty people, and be a great thing for this mission, which has been obliged to move about from pillar to post in rented rooms. It gives assurance of the stability of the work, and is an evidence of the faithfulnes and executive ability of the Rev. Otway Colvin, missionary in charge.

On account of the necessary absence of Rev. L. F. Cole, who has been East for a few weeks, the benediction of the noble stone church at Marion had to be postponed until some day George Sergent. later

Rev. Mr. Gunn, of Kokomo, is getting his work in hand, is becoming acquainted with his people, and organizing them for effective work in the early autumn. He hopes to secure a suitable lot and build church and rectory, to be completed by Christmas. He has been able to visit Elwood to get acquainted with the few Church people in this enterprising and growing town.

Rev. J. A. McGlone has been indefatigable in pushing the good work at Anderson. He has, with the aid of $500 from the Diocesan Building Fund, paid $1,400 for an eligible corner lot. He has the foundation in for a very nice church, and the corner stone was laid July 23. He hopes to have church and rectory completed by the early fall.

The zealous rector of Madison, Rev. N. W. Heermans, has changed the evening service to 4 P. M. and spends the Sunday evenings conducting mission services in the Bethel Chapel. situated in a part of the city remote from the parish church, where he is greatly encouraged by the large attendance.

Rev. J. H. Ranger, who is spending his vacation at the East, left his services in charge of Rev. Edward Saunders. He reports the congregations as large. He spent a week with choir in camp at Broad Ripple and the boys enjoyed it greatly.

At St. George's, Indianapolis, the good work of Rev. Mr. Brann goes encouragingly forward. The book festival brought more than 100 volumes to the library. A lawn festival in Gen. Coburn's attractive grounds was held on a warm evening in July and was generally patronized. The congregation and Sunday-school are good, the teacher's meetings well attended, and an Altar Guild has been recently formed for securing vestments. Mr. Brann's year of work has been greatly blessed.

Cathedral services, besides visiting the different towns to secure pupils for St. Marv's.

The Rev. E. G. Hunter was at his post in July but hopes to take a vacation in August visiting his aged father in Canada; stopping at Bishopthorpe Park for a week or more.

Mr. Edwin Williams, postulant, is giving good satisfaction in caring for the mission of St. James's, New Castle. Rev. J. W. Faulston, who returned to England for a visit, has decided not to return. Rev. Mr. Bamford made a visit in July and celebrated Holy Communion.

At Crawfordsville the earnest missionary, Mr. Glover, has had the old church painted. the vestry room put in good order, the doors of the church repaired, and new Trinity-season hangings secured for the altar through the Altar Guild. The Rev. Mr. Lemon, a former rector, visited the parish and spent Sunday; celebrated Holy Communion, thirty-five persons receiving. A reception was given at the rectory to him which was largely attended. The choir now numbers fourteen boys, and are having a nice time camping out at Clark's Ford, on Rock River, under command of

Rev. De Lou Burke, who is spending his vacation in St. Paul's Mission, Rochester, and was intending to do a good deal of mission work, has been unfortunately ill with typhoid fever. He is slowly recovering. The people have been very kind and attentive to him. The Rev. W. W. Raymond visited the mission and celebrated Holy Communion.

The rector of Holy Innocents', Evansville, gave the boys of his choir a nice outing, by going into camp with them, in a lovely grove a short distance from the city. The boys enjoyed it, and the visits of his good wife daily driving out the buggy laded with good things for their table contributed by fond parents. With a dozen or more boys to look after, the rector had a busy time.

At Lafayette the rector, Rev. Mr. White and family, have gone East for their vacation, the services left in charge of Rev. William Willson.

On July 9th, Rev. W. W. Raymond, his parish and Sunday-school, had an enjoyable picnic together. He is getting his parish well in hand and winning their confidence and co-operation. The Hon. H. G. Thayer and family of this parish have gone abroad for the summer.

The services of the Rev. A. W. Seabrease at Trinity, Fort Wayne, were taken in July by Dean Scott and Dr. Spalding, the rector being

Just before the sermon the Wednesday, calling on the people and training made a visit to the sea-shore for much needed rector in a few words addressed the Daughters, the children in singing. Here he has a Sundayrest, his brother clergy caring for his services. bidding them welcome in the name of the school of twenty-two children.

The Rev. George E. Swan looks after Grace King, Whom, by the rule of prayer and the rule of service, they have now pledged themselves to love, serve and obey, and strongly urging the necessity of unswerving loyalty to their King, their Church, their rector, and the principles of their Order.

At Elkhart, a cement sidewalk connecting church and rectory has been laid at an expense of nearly a hundred dollars. On the 25th day of July, Rev. Mr. Turner of Bristol elebrated Holy Communion.

The exterior improvements of Trinity Connersville, have been completed. They include the reshingling of the building, painting and a cement sidewalk. The interior is painted and improved, the whole cost $450. The old church is now once more in good material condition, and we hope for a corresponding spiritual improvement in its membership.

During the summer the Bishop and clergy staying at Bishopthorpe are having services at St. John's, Lagrange. There has been an encouraging attendance and interest.

Kendallville, where the Rev. Wm. Mitchell, recently ordained, has his home with his parents, services have been arranged for the summer, each Sunday in the Opera House. Mr. Mitchell held the first services July 12 with very encouraging attendance. Dean Scott spent Sunday, July 19, here and was well pleased with the interest manifested.

From New Albany we have the pleasing intelligence that the balance due on the new church lot has been provided, through the liberality of Dr. E. Newland, and there is good hope of laying the corner stone at an early

From the Altar Guild of St. Paul's Church, Jeffersonville, we have received a beautiful photograph of the proposed new stone church, It consists of nave, tower and chapel and reminds one of many an English church. It is expected to lay the corner stone in the autumn.

The Rev. Mr. Antrim of Muncie, has been suffering from nervous prostration most of the time since taking charge of the parish. He is now at Battle Creek, Mich., receiving treatment. Mr. Edward Olcott and family are spending the summer at his old home in Charlestown, N. H.

The parish of Trinity, Logansport, has secured for rector, Rev. Douglas I. Hobbs of Philadelphia, who will enter upon his duties September 1. Mr. Hobbs will be a welcome addition to the Diocese. Services have been maintained here by the lay readers, with good attendance.

The Standing Committee of the Diocese at a meeting in July recommended Stephen Elliott Prentiss, as a candidate for Holy Orders. Rev. H. B. Collier, Deacon, to be advanced to the Priesthood. Mr. Prentiss is brother to Rev. Augustine Prentiss of South Bend, and is serving as lay reader at present, in St. John's, Elkhart. Mr. Collier is in charge of St. Paul's Priest in September.

On Sunday, July 12, Mr. Aquilla Jones, Sr., of St. Paul's parish, Indianapolis, after a brief illness, deceased. Mr. Jones had reached the good old age of 80 years. He had been prominent as a citizen, having been at one time a member of the Legislature, State Treasurer, and Postmaster of Indianapolis under Cleveland. He was one of the founders of St. Paul's parish and a vestryman, and often a delegate to the Diocesan Convention. He was greatly beloved and respected. He left a widow and nine children. At the funeral service it was a touching sight to see the eight sons bear the coffin of their father to the grave. In the absence of his rector, Dr. Jenckes, the Bishop was summoned to officiate at the funeral.

On July 12, Mr. George N. Stockton, long a vestryman of St. John's, Lafayette, and a communicant, was called to his rest. He had been suffering for three years from paralysis. The funeral took place from St. John's July 14, Rev. William Willson officiating,

A CHANCE FOR BOYS.

What to do for the boy, is sometimes a very serious question in a family. Often the death of husband or wife leaves the survivor with a boy whom he or she feels bound by the strongest incitements of duty and love to rear to noble and self-respecting manhood. But though not straitened in means, the demands of business may be such that what one feels should be done is neglected or temporized about, and to the regret of the parent, the fleeting opportunity for fulfilling the highest function of humanity is lost. Sometimes, though death precept; and, better still, by example upon may not have interferred in the family economy, example.

seek advice as to the best course to pursue. It is in such circumstances that the value of the various schools for boys are realized. We would particularly call attention to the institute at Lima, the Howe Grammar School. It is believed there is no other school in America which is so much more than a mere intellectual training school. The boy there has a home, with all its comforts, as well as advantages of association on equal footing with his fellows. He is trained physically as well as mentally, is taught cleanly habits, and in brief, reared for strong, clean manhood. The experienced and scholarly rector, Dr. C. N. Spalding, is enthusiastic in his work, and nothing would delight him more than the opportunity of having the educational care of boys from eight years of age until entrance in college or business, -Lagrange Standard.

THE TRUE HISTORIC CHURCH. Christ came to earth to found a Church, His Church, ONE Church by which and in which to save mankind.

This Church, with its apostolic ministry, faith, sacrameuts and form of worship, was planted in every country of the then known world before the end of the first century,

This Holy Catholic, or universal, Church was planted in England as early as the days of the Apostles or their immediate successors (three British Bishops sat in the Council of Arles, A. D. 314), and it has had a continuous historic existence to the present day.

This Church of England was planted in this country 280 years ago; and when the United States became independent of the mother country it was made a separate national branch of the Anglo-Catholic Church and given the legal name of Protestant Episcopal.

It is the only Church in this country which has kept the apostolic form of government by the three orders of the ministry - Bishops, Priests and Deacons; has kept the faith of the Apostles unchanged; has kept itself free from and protesting against the errors of doctrine and polity into which other bodies of Christians have fallen; and has retained the forms of worship handed down to us from the Apostolic

THE SACREDNESS OF A PROMISE. One of the most important precepts to be of the young is the sacredness of a promise. There are persons who would shrink in horror from the charge of habitual untruthfulness, who yet no not hesitate to break any pledge which they may make, when it comes in conflict with the selfish desire of the present hour. That they feel disinclined to keep a piedge, or that they disregard it in a fit of anger, is put forth as a grave and befitting excuse by those who should be ashamed of so childish a plea.

The early training which produces no better fruit than this must needs have been sadly defective. Let parents and teachers look to it that strict integrity in regard to this very keystone of moral excellence be carefully enforced by line upon line, and precept upon

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

BISHOPTHORPE PARK, July 25, '91. Dear Boys and Girls:

Your Bishop has thought a great deal about you this month, as he has been enjoying his vacation at Bishopthorpe. He has had quite a number of boys and girls here to interest him, and it has been a delight to him to see them enjoy the boating, fishing and bathing. We have had eleven boys and girls here in July and they have had a happy time gathering berries, running in the woods and catching fish.

Among the adventures we have had, is snakes, and catching a baby rabbit. All the children have become adepts in rowing boats.

On the Fourth of July we had a good display of fireworks, and flags were flying all day from boat house and cottages. We had a happy afternoon with the children of St. Mark's Sunday-school, Lima, enjoyed a picnic with them at the Park. Fish have been quite plenty and the girls seem to enjoy fishing as much as the boys. Sunday we all go in to church at St. Mark's, Lima. Each year hereafter, we hope to have a good number of boys and girls here to enjoy the pleasures of lake side life. We hope all the boys and girls throughout our Diocese are having a pleasant summer, and getting health and strength for the school or Church work in the autumn. Not many have remembered the Orphanage this month. The four Colvin children have given their proportion, twenty-five cents each, and good Mr. and Mrs. Eastman have sent five dollars for the Cot Fund. They were its founders, beginning it in memory of their little daughter who died at Laporte.

I AM thoroughly convinced that attention should be called to the nomadic character of many of our clergy. The pastoral relation, in its normal state, is a permanent one. The best churches in the diocese today are those that had the fewest changes. Why have the changes been few? Simply because good sense, mutual charity and a firm purpose, have promoted permanent relations. No man is fit to be a priest at all who is not qualified to spend ten years in a particular field. What an absurdity it is that a clergyman should seek another parish just as he has become acquainted with the one he is so ready to leave. But is the blame altogether with the clergy? Are not many of our people of fickle mind, and often wickedly critical towards their pastors? There is no help for this crying evil but in a better appreciation of the necessity of the Christian minister to the integrity of the people. It is Church, and the ministry; they are the three It is gratifying to the young man's friends to angles of a perfect triangle. Emphasize one know that he has met with every encourageand you emphasize all, and all to the glory of ment as a result of the good work he is carry-God; depreciate one, and you depreciate all, ing on. and so abstract from our religion its full significance. If the people would realize the primary source of the Priest's mission, that he is sent from the Head of the Church, with sacraments and messages to be delivered upon the principle of ambassadorship, then they would find less temptation to set themselves over those whom the Lord has set over them, These rights must be observed loyally and as a matter of religious principle, under the penalty of degrading the ministry to the hireling level. Such a ministry can accomplish but little for men's souls, and such a ministry will be absothe killing of a ground hog and several lute devoid of that kind of attractiveness which draws men to fill up the ranks as they are depleted by death. A great many young men today decline the ministry, in the very face of an inward desire, because they see Priests treated like hirelings, hear them cruelly dissected by critical tongues, and dealt with as though they constituted a menial class. That we have any candidates at all is, I think, due to the fact that constraining motives of high order so possess some souls, that they willingly accept the penalties, while they also enter upon the holy duties. I do not believe this evil is as serious among us as in other bodies, but its influence is sufficiently disastrous to justify pointed and frequent reference to that fundamental principle of our holy religion, whereby primarily the powers of government, teaching, discipline, and administration of sacraments, are lodged in the hands of a three-fold ministry thereunto called, ordained and set apart. The practical application of this thought would inspire the clergy with a holy persistence, a manly determination to obey the law of God's providence which has placed them in fields where they are, and to obey that law until its manifest repeal by the very hand which made it .- Bishop McLaren.

Rev. Wm. Mitchell's first service after his ordination to the diaconate, held at the Spencer opera house Sunday morning and evening furnished the many friends of the young minister an excellent opportunity to hear him and express their warm approval of his choice of life-work and their congratulations for the eminent progress he is making. Both services were nicely attended and there was every evidence of a warm interest on the part of the BISHOPTHORPE PARK,-Rev. Wm. Scott left the Park on the first of August. Rev. Mr. Woodard occupied the cottage for two weeks. Mr. Colvin and family remained until August 19. Mr. Colvin held service every Sunday at Lagrange during his stay and also preached acceptably at St. Mark's, Lima. A delightful social gathering was held at the Park on Friday evening, August 21, when a goodly number of the people of Lima enjoyed the hospitality of the Bishop's cottage.

BRISTOL, St. JOHN'S .- The foundations of the tower having been discovered to be very much decayed, have just been replaced with new ones. The sides of the tower have been lap-sided, a new floor and door sill have been put down, the old weather beaten cross has been removed and a new one put in its place. Besides which, the exterior of the church has been painted-the body in French gray and the trimmings two or three shades darker, the spire having received three "coats," and all the rest two. The whole edifice now presents a clean, neat and Churchly appearance. It can no longer be called "the little brown church on the hill." These improvements have cost $167. The Daughters of the King intend, soon as possible, to supply at their own expense, two new stone steps, which shall be in keeping with the other changes. The church property is now in excellent condition.

The church, with the exception of a small amount due on the new sidewalk, is out of debt. Sunday, July 26, Rev. Mr. Turner of Bristol conducted morning and evening services. In the morning he celebrated Holy Communion. Sunday morning, August 2, Rev. F. W. Adams of Grand Island, Neb., (formerly rector of this parish) preached and celebrated Holy Communion. He also preached at evening service, August 16. Sunday evening, August 9, the Bishop of Indiana was with us and preached to a good congregation. The offering for the evening ($2.05) was for the benefit of new churches being erected in the Diocese. Sunday night, August 16, Mr. Nathan Lighthall. formerly a senior warden of this church passed away. The funeral services were conducted at the church at I P. NEW CASTLE, IND, August 18, 1891. Right Rev. Father in God:

By your request I send you the following report of my labors in this mission. Have held services every Sunday beginning with the Fourth Sunday after Trinity, June 21. On the Eighth Sunday after Trinity Holy Communion was celebrated by the Rev. W. II. Bamford. Held a service of morning prayer and litany on St. attendance has been about twenty-five. Our people here deserve great credit for the energy they display and the work they accomplish considering the disadvantages under which they labor. The services are most heartily responded to and the chants and hymns being joined in by the congregation are very pleasingly rendered. The Sunday-school I am sorry to say is not what I would like to report it. On account of the change of time, the attendance remedied until the time is again changed back to the old time. The average attendance has been about fifteen, which is quite a drop from needs is more interest taken in it by the people. I pray God it may soon begin to improve.

May God bless and prosper this mission and give it new and healthy life."

THE INDIANA STATE FAIR. "A GRAND EDUCATOR,"

The prosperity of the country, and the evident wealth of the farming community is largely due to the imported live stock and wonderful improvements in agricultural machinery, which will be illustrated at the State Fair. No enterprising farmer or dealer can afford to stay away from this "Grand Educator," which will commence September 21.

The success of the State Fair is the true index of the prosperity of the country, and all indications point to an improvement on all former efforts. No limits for competition.

If there is any better stock or machinery than we have we want to see it.

HARVEST HOME SUNDAY.

In view of the bountiful harvest that has blessed our whole state, it would be well to set apart the third Sunday in September as the Harvest Home Sunday. This is not to take the place of Thanksgiving Day, which is a national day, but rather to emphasize our appreciation of God's goodness especially in this bountiful harvest. The churches will be decorated with specimens of the harvest. The music will be appropriate. Such a service can be made attractive and beneficial. The sermon will set forth God's goodness and love to his children. Offerings will be asked for the Hospital and Church Home. Those parishes who have them the knowledge of the truth and the means observed this day have always found it a delightful service.

Lyman, says these timely words to his people on the subject of the individual obligations to devise liberal things for the this life. extension of Christ's Kingdom. They apply with equal felicity to the duties of Churchmen to the work of our own Dio-We ask their careful reading.

No duty is more imperative upon the clergy than the constant endeavor to impress upon those committed to their charge, that there is a real work which each Christian must be striving to do. Active labors for extending a knowledge of the truth, and drawing those around them to embrace that truth, and to walk answerable to it-these are obligations which rest upon every professed disciple of Christ. We are all to be "workers together with God," both by personal activity in connection with the interests of religion, and also by consecrating some good measure of the means which God bestows upon us for the extension of the Kingdom of His Son. No man may feel that what he gives for religious uses for sustaining and extending the privileges of the Church, is only a charity, which it may be becoming him to exhibit, but he must rather regard it as a bounden duty which God enjoins upon him to discharge. Of all the fruits of our labors, and the incomes which, from any source, may be derived, there is a reasonable share which God claims as His own, and if we keep this back and spend it upon ourselves or our families, we are really robbing God by appropriating to our own uses what He claims as His own.

And how can we reasonably look for a divine blessing upon us in the business and engagements of life if we refuse to give back to God what He claims as His portion and use it rather in accordance with our own tastes and inclinations? We then convict ourselves of being unfaithful stewards of what has been committed to our trust. "The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of Hosts," "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase; so shall thy barns be filled with pienty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine."

The same wise Bishop has some excellent remarks also about the mission work of his Diocese that will apply as forcibly in Indiana, as in North Carolina. Will our brethern read them and act accordingly?

Within the boundaries of our own Diocese we have a very large and steadily increasing Missionary field. Thousands upon thousands can readily be gathered into the fellowship of Christ's Holy Church if we will only carry to of grace and salvation. These great treasures HENRY PILCHER'S SONS. WOMAN'S WORK IN THE DIOCESE OF INDIANA.

The record of Woman's Work in our Diocese, as indicated by the report of Miss Upfold at the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, is one to be proud of. We doubt if there is another Diocese in proportion to its numbers and means, that can show a better record. In most of our parishes and missions the women are well organized and take the lead in every good work. In cold and heat, they are indefatigable in doing what they can for the welfare of the Church. They appreciate what the Church of God has blessings the religion of Jesus Christ brings to their homes and loved ones; what a blessed safeguard it throws around them, so they are willing to work for the spread of the blessed gospel and the upbuilding of the Kingdom of Christ. By their sociables, sales, and entertainments they supplement the contribution of the men, and are able to supply many parish $1,056.41 in cash for missions. When their interest is properly guided and awakened by their clergyman, they will take a deeper interest in Diocesan affairs, in contributing to Diocesan Missions, Diocesan Church Building Fund, and the Diocesan Endowment. Some of the largest subscriptions for Diocesan Endowment have been from women. Interest in our Diocesan Missions and the General Board of Missions has been greatly aided by the Woman's Auxiliary, and the interest in missions, which they are calculated to cultivate.

ST. MARY'S HALL.

The attention of parents and guardians is again called to the many advantages offered in our Diocesan schools for girls. The Art Department is under the care of a resident teacher who is herself a graduate of an eastern college of fine arts. The work last year under Miss Harmon was very successful and called forth very favorable notice from the press. Every facility is afforded for the best work.

The new teacher of the piano is a pupil of a man of world-wide reputation and has a special ability for teaching with large experience and uniform success. She is also a resident teacher.

The Primary Department is under a cultivated, experienced teacher, who employs the latest and best methods.

All the teachers have the fullest intellectual, social and Christian qualifications for their arduous and noble work and imbued with enthusiasm securing the best results.

School year begins September 15. Send for catalogue to Rev. George E. Swan, Indianapolis.

We all miss the company and surroundings of Bishopthorpe Park very much. Our stay there was one of the happiest periods of my life and think it was especially fortunate for the children. I wish to return you many thanks for your share in securing us the privileges we enjoyed. I cannot imagine anything more restful than to sit on the porch of that cottage and watch the surrounding beauties of nature. I hope the resort will have a great developement, with many laymen building cottages. I will certainly look forward to have another month there some time in the future.

A MOVEMENT is well under way in the Diocese of Indiana to organize a vast order of is to provide for the three degrees, as follows: Communicants, age 16-21: 3rd degree, Communicants, age 21 and upwards. Those in the first degree are to be known as "St. John's Cadets," and will have a regalia of a red belt. fatigue cap with white passion cross, and a sword. All members pledge themselves to live for CHRIST and His Church, and must have certain qualifications on entering. Any information regarding this movement may be gained from the originator, Rev. A. K. Glover, Crawfordsville, Indiana. The originator of this personal sense of privilege and responsithis new order was led to believe that the secret bility does not enter into the ordinary layman's organizations outside the Church do more than anything else to wean our male communicants our effort to reach the great mass of people away from their Holy Mother, the Church, and outside the Church is so weak and fruitless. he is satisfied that a secret order of knighthood To attain any grand and blessed accomplishwithin the Church will be a permanent cure for ment in Christian work, it is necessary that the this evil .- Young Churchman, August 1, 1891.

THE HOWE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

In one class of schools, Indiana-we might say the whole West-is sadly lacking. This class is that composed in the East of a large number of well-equipped, well-endowed preparatory schools, which aim, not only at preparation for the higher grade of universities, but in themselves furnish excellent mental training which is only feebly imitated by the irregular work of most high-schools, poorly equipped as they are and not calling from the student the earnest endeavor and interest required in thorough work. One is surprised to find at Lima, Indiana, a school which much resembles these eastern academies. The Howe Grammar School was founded some years ago by a philanthropist whose name the institution bears. For some time the school has been under the patronage of his wife, who owns a magnificent estate in and about the quaint old village of Lima, and whose home, situated near the school, is one of the most beautiful country-houses in Indiana. The buildings of the school are surprisingly handsome and wellequipped, few colleges having more attractive property. Inspection of the well-lighted, clean, wholesome rooms, in which the boys pass their sleeping hours, shows that the young students are well cared for. A gymnasium, the spacious grounds, the many lakes near by, including Bishopthorpe, at which Bishop Knickerbacker spends his summers, all go to furnish amusement when hours for amusement are at hand. Although the staid community of Lima would seem to offer few temptations to boys, yet the "freedom of the city" is not allowed the students, who are always under the surveillance of careful teachers. Students are ready at the conclusion of their course at the Howe School to pass the Yale, Harvard or Princeton examinations. Taken altogether it is not only the only one Indiana academy which prepares for university work of the highest grade, but is a perfectly safe place to which parents may send sons .- Peru Standard.

LAY HELP IN THE CHURCH.

Again and again, in one form and another comes up before the Church the question of using her laity in the work of evangelization and education. That there is a great force in the Church that is not being put into operation, knighthood in the Church, to be known by the is generally acknowledged. The real question name of "Order of Knights of the Cross." It is, how can we bring this force to bear upon the problem of making disciples of all men? 1st degree, choristers, age 10-16: 2nd degree, How can we take the great army of laymen and put them into the field of aggresive fighting for Christ? The burden of the battle falls upon the clergy; they are both the officers and the rank and file; they must both plan the campaign and carry out the details of it, or else failure is before them.

> The spirit of Christ must touch and inflame the pew as well as the pulpit. The power of soul-winning must be felt by the Church members as well as by the minister. It is because conception of his relation to the Church, that lead given by the clergy should receive a warm and prompt response in the heart and effort of the Church members. Where there is a recognition of a joint partnership and co-operation in the work, the Church is conscious of a divine strength, and goes forward to its work with assurance of victory, and adds daily to the number of those who are saved.

This is the first step in successful lay worka stirring up in every man and woman and child in the Church of a sense of the high privilege to which they are called of being fellowlaborers with the clergy and with God in the work of winning souls to God through Christ. Unless this is first brought home to their hearts and consciences, there will be no efficient and permanent work for Christ, Guilds may be formed and clubs organized and brotherhoods formed; there may be activity in all parts of the parish; and from the outside, there may seem to be great success; but God, who looketh on the heart, knoweth that it is but the form of Godliness and not the power thereof. The Church is not put into the world to make successful parishes : nd flourishing guilds; its office is to form character, to make men and women Christlike; and the guild or club or brotherhood that has not contributed to that end, and has not that end in constant view, is but a delusion and a snare. - Church of Today.

DANIEL R. MCKENZIE.

The funeral of the late Daniel R. McKenzie took place yesterday at 11 o'clock, the service being held in St. Philip's Church, North Liberty, and the burial taking place in the cemetary of that village. Rev. Walter Scott officiated, assisted by the choir of St. Paul's Church, Laporte. An immense concourse of people attended, the church being crowded, and many unable to gain admittance. The whole congregation repaired to the cemetery for the closing service. No man in the community was more generally or more favorably known. He had been for many years a leading citizen and business man, and by industry and enterprise had acquired valuable property. He had contributed largely to the erection of St. Philip's Church, and was for twenty-one years a zealous member and communicant. He was born at Caledonia, N. Y., January 25, 1818, and came to Laporte county over fifty years ago. He was married here in 1846 to Miss Adeline Travis, who survives him. There are three children, Curtis McKenzie, of Laporte county, and Mrs. Vincent S. Bulla and Mrs. George R. Flood, of North Liberty, and thirteen grand children. He always attended the old settler's meetings in this county, and was at the last one in June. Daniel R. McKenzie was a type of the intelligence, honesty and untiring energy of the early settlers of Laporte county. He will be regretted by a host of devoted friends .- Laporte Paper,

THE EDUCATION OF BOYS AND GIRLS.

Few boys or girls make satisfactory progress in their studies at home. Professional men and business men and their wives are generally too busy to give the intellectual, moral and physical training of their sons and daughters that attention which they require. Furthermore, boys and girls at home have generally to contend with so many interruptions and distractions that the formation of systematic habits of study, so essential to success, is rarely possible. The result is that when boys or girls are sent away from home for the first time to a good training school, not only much that they have done has actually to be undone, but it is often found that their faculties have become so blunted by misdirected efforts, and they have formed such bad habits of study, as to give root. Price $1.50. Sold by every them a positive dislike for books, that can not easily be removed.

Unquestionably the early years are the most important in the education of boys and girls. If their parents can afford to send them to a good training school, they should generally leave home during these years. For a good education, a good foundation is of the first importance; and boys and girls who remain at home until they are sixteen rarely have such a foundation.

It is a very common mistake to think that young people at the most important age in their educational life are too young to leave home. Again, it is very strange that parents who can afford to send their children to a good training school should keep them at home and send them to the public schools, when the educational advantages offered are frequently very meagre, and where the associations formed are generally very objectionable-Selected.

A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS.

In the last thirty years the Indiana State Board of Agriculture have paid out in premium awards nearly a quarter of million of dollars. Arrangements are pending for special attractions during the Fair, in addition to the large premiums on speed.

Judging from the past it is estimated that there will be over $1,000,000 worth of machinery on the ground.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

REV. AND DEAR BROTHER-Enclosed please find my subscription for THE CHURCH WORKER. I am always glad to get it; and glad to see that the Church seems to be making such good headway in Indiana. Two articles in the August number would be useful in leaflet form: "Bishop McLaren on changes of the clergy," and "John Wesley on separation." I wish I had them for distribution, Enclosed please find cheque for $1. We enjoy reading the Church news very much and think it a bright paper.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN.

Dear Children

Vacation is over, school has opened, and you have resumed your places in scholarship a grade higher than last year. You have returned to work fresh and vigorous after a happy vacation. You will, your Bishop is sure, enter upon the school year with the determination to do your best to improve your opportunities. The preparation and discipline you are going through in school is to fit you for the duties of life, to make you capable men and women. You are all in Sundayschool, I hope, and regular in attendance at church. I would emphasize this matter of church going, I am always delighted to see children at church and joining audibly in the service. -I think they have as good a right to be there as their parents. I feel quite sure their worship is as acceptable.

Dear children, love the House of God and His worship, and show your love by your actions-by being always present aswell at church as at Sunday-school. Your parents and pastors will be delighted with your presence in the sanctuary I am certain.

Again, dear children, I want to speak to you about our Roll of Honor. I want to have every one of our older boys and 933 EAST ILLINOIS STREET. girls enrolled, as having recited the Church catechism to their teachers and pastors, and presented to the Bishop. We received only ninety-one to this roll the past year. There should have been twice as many. Set to work then in September to learn perfectly the Church catechism, and be ready to be presented to the Bishop and to receive your certificate at the Bishop's visitation.

Again, dear boys and girls, I speak to you about our Orphan's Home Fund. I have not been satisfied with the response of the children to the appeal for each one of you to send me twenty-five cents for this object during the year. I do not think there have been more than three hundred out of three thousand children who have responded.

have remembered this good work? Only see, about one in ten have given. Let each child begin at once to save this amount and send it direct to the Bishop with a little letter. Read what a nice letter a little boy in Evansville wrote last month, enclosing his twenty-five cents. Now you can do the same-only try. Remember, it goes for building a home and mothers. Remember, too, that your Diocesan Schools Lenten offerings this year will be all for missions, to be divided between our own HOWE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, Diocesan work and the general mission work of the Church. Last Lent the offerings of all the children of the Church amounted to $50,000 for our Board of Missions. One sixth of all that was given by the whole Church for the year. hope your rector will read this letter to Rector, you in Sunday-school, so that all of you Or may hear it, and that rector and teachers Bishop Knickerbacker, Indianapolis. will encourage the children in this matter so dear to your Bishop. Praying God to bless you all, dear children,

EVANSVILLE, IND., August 10, 1891. RT. REV. BISHOP KNICKERBACKER:

Dear Bishop-I thought I would write you a few lines to tell you what a jolly good time we (the chorister boys of Holy Innocents') had while camping. We were gone ten days and Or we did not want to come home one bit. During the day we played base ball and boxed with gloves. Service suspended at Lawrenceburg during August, have been resumed and will be kept up on each Sunday afternoon, BRISTOL, ST. JOHN'S-On Sunday September 20 the services were partly of a harvest character and partly anniversary, the rector having just entered on the third year of his ministry in this parish. At the close of his sermon in the morning on St. Matt. 13:39 he presented the following facts for the year just closed.

Baptisms, 3 adults, 4 children; persons confirmed 2: funerals in Bristol 1, in Michigan 1; Holy Communions in Brazil 47, Warsaw 13, Goshen I, South Bend I, Elkhart I. Sermons preached: Bristol 127, Warsaw 37, Elkhart 2, Goshen 2, South Bend 1, Garrett 1, Porter 2, Vistula 3, Gregory school house 3. Convocations attended: Garrett and Fort Wayne, Convention at Indianapolis and ordination at Lima. Pastoral calls made in Bristol 460, in Warsaw 72. total 532: miles traveled 2200. During the year 13 communicants have removed. Present ary to continue his studies preparatory to the number on roll in good standing 67. One new society has been formed, now called the "Daughters of the King." Total receipts for the year from subscriptions, socials and offerings $610,14. Total disbursements for Church expenses and improvements $324.29. The attendance in Sunday-school both of scholars and teachers has been somewhat irregular and owing to removals and the questionable practice of some children attending more than one Sunday-school, shows a decrease. On the first Sunday of every month, (which we call missionary Sunday) the children give their offerings both at home and abroad.

COLUMBUS, ST. PAUL'S-Mr. Miller has continued at his post all summer and has been rewarded with a good attendance at church and an increasing interest in the services.

ELKHART, St. John's-Rev. J. B. Mead late of Goshen celebrated Holy Communion on the third Sunday in September.

EVANSVILLE, ST. PAUL'S-The rector is to have as an assistant in his mission work the services of Mr. Austin W. Morgan, a candidate for Holy Orders. This will enable him to supply St. Stephen's, New Harmony with alternate Sunday services.

FORT WAYNE, TRINITY-The rector returned from his vacation at the seaside, for the second Sunday in September, refreshed and strengthened by the salt air. The Churchman recently contained pictures of the parish property, and records what we are promised for the November WORKER.

FRANKFORT, ST. LUKE'S .- Rev. I. I. Purcell has resigned this mission from October 1, and has accepted the rectorship of St. Paul's parish, Westport, Diocese of Western Missouri. He will enter upon his duties October 1. He will also have charge of St. John's mission, Independence street. It is hoped this vacancy can soon be supplied.

GARRETT, EMMANUEL-Dr. Kemp returned the first of September from Angelica, New York, where he has spent the month of August supplying a vacant parish. He received a testimonial from the vestry there of thanks for acceptable service rendered.

HAMMOND, ST. PAUL'S-The mission has received a donation of a set of altar linen from the Sisters of St. John the Baptist, New York. The new rectory is completed and occupied. The missionary is to be advanced to the Priesthood at Grace Cathedral the first Sunday in HUNTINGTON, CHRIST-The new church is nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy by the middle of October.

Any Article that has out-lived-22 years of competition and imitation, and sells more and more each year, must have merit, Dobbins' Electric Soap, first made in 1869, is just that article. Those who use it each week (and their name is legion), save clothes and strength and let soap do the work. All that we can say as to its merits, pales of into nothingness, before the story oo it will tell, itself, of its own perfect purity and quality, if you will give it one trial. Ask your grocer for it. He has it, or will get it. Try it next Monday.

CLERGYMEN desiring fall visitations in November and December will have kindness to communicate with the Bishop,

THE Bishop made his second visit to Kendallville on September 6. As on a former visit he was the guest of Mr. John Mitchell. Saturday afternoon was spent in making a number of calls on sick people and others, and visiting the large windmill manufactury. At 4 P. M. he met the ladies at the Opera House and organized a guild. Mrs. Dr. Teal was elected President: Mrs. Kate Campbell. Treasurer, and Mrs. Barr, Secretary. The ladies were all candidates for confirmation, and are earnest to promote the progress of the mission. Mr. Mitchell has been working most earnestly and his labors have been greatly blessed. All spoke in the highest terms of his devoted labors. Sunday afternoon, because no public place could be secured, a cottage srrvice was held at Mrs. Boice's, those particularly interested in the Church being present. The litany was said and the Bishop gave a familiar talk on "The Church and Her Ways." The Opera House had been secured for the afternoon, that being for the present the place of the services. The service was appointed for 3 P. M., at which time a congregation of 400 was present. The service was evening prayer with adult baptism, confirmation and Holy Communion. Six persons, all heads of famitheir first Communion. The offering was signed and presented to the Bishop requesting permission to organize a mission. The bishop gave his consent and thereupon Trinity Mission, Kendallville, was organized. The Bishop appointed Mr. Archie Campbell, Warden. The congregation elected Dr. Teal and Mr. Boice Vestrymen, with Mr. Barr, Secretary, and Mrs. Campbell, Treasurer. After the service, Mr. John Mitchell, father of the Rev. William Mitchell, a Presbyterian, signified his intention to donate a very eligible lot as a site for a church when they were ready to erect one. From the spirit manifested by these good people it will not be a great while before the lot will be occupied by a pretty stone church. Mr. Mitchell has returned to the Theological school at Cambridge to complete his studies for the priesthood. It is hoped he will return and take up the good work next year.

COLLECTION FOR OCTORER

The first Sunday in October has been the Sunday on which a collection has been asked in every parish and mission for the Theological Educational Fund of the Diocese, to aid our candidates in pursuing their studies for the ministry. But as the Worker may not reach the clergy in time lies, were confirmed, and all received to remind them of this, and the Secretary omitted the list of collections required in behalf of Diocesan Missions. The from the Journal, the Bishop would ladies had decorated the Opera House suggest the second Sunday in October as stage with potted plants and cut flowers a fitting time, and would here express the very tastefully. On Monday, September great need of aid for this fund. Every 6, at 10:30, a service was held in the member of the Church should be willing Presbyterian church and ten children to help a little. The Bishop is responsiwere baptized by the Bishop, he making ble for a large amount in behalf of this an address. After service a petition was fund the present year. He needs the generous assistance of the Churchmen of the Diocese and will be glad to receive individual donations for this fund.

ON THE 14 of October occurs the eighth anniversary of the consecration of the present Bishop of Indiana. It is a fitting time to review the progress of the Church and to note some evidences of its growth. The Diocesan journals for these years indicate that the clergy have increased from 25 to 46; lay readers from 18 to 30; Sunday-school teachers from 297 to 445; Sunday-school scholars from 3171 to 3666; communicants from 3884 to 6267: candidates and postulants from 3 to 11: in 1883. baptisms were adults 78, infants 278, total 350: 1800-01, adults 160, infants 400, total 560. In eight years there have been 1222 adult baptisms, 3164 infant, a total of 4389, an average of 547 per been 3203 an average of 411 per year; marriages, 1129; burials, 1940; the number of families reported is 2400; value of churches in 1883, $436,740, in 1891, $554,605; value of school property in 1891, $80,000; value of endowment, $35,000; Rectories in 1883, 46,500, in 1891, 95,950

Contributions for diocesan missions in the past eight years are $10,020, an average of $2215 per annum; contributed by the parishes for endowment fund $20, 888; contributed for current expenses of the parishes $362,484, an annual average of $45,310. The number of church buildings erected has been 23 at a cost of $132,500; rectories 13 at a cost of $37,800; parish houses three at a cost of $13,000.

The services of the Church have been established in 22 counties not previously occupied, besides occasional services in many others. These statistics are not given in the way of boasting, for there is nothing in them remarkable or worthy of boasting, but they are given that we as Churchmen may take encouragement from the past and renew our efforts; to consecrate ourselves for greater efforts in the future. There is no ignoring the fact that Indiana as a Diocese in the past did not have a very enviable reputation. It did little for the general missionary work. Its proportion of communicants to population was less than in any other Diocese. It had a reputation as being a Botany Bay for the clergy. That men who had failed elsewhere would be welcomed here. We need not say that this discreditable reputation has been passing from us, that the Diocese is taking a high rank among her sister Dioceses because of her deep inter- Swan have secured an able faculty to est in Christian education and because of assist them and the school promises to do

The Churchmen of Indiana as a body are as wealthy and intelligent as the same number in any other Diocese. They have the means, if they will only cultivate a liberal spirit of making a Diocese of which every Churchman may have reason to be proud. Our Church has only begun its great work in Indiana. It is only beginning to realize its responsibilities. With more of the Christlike spirit of consecration and a realization of personal responsibility to work for Christ and the Church each year will see increasing progress in the work.

Having recently given some account of the the statistics of the Church in the three principal cities in the Diocese, next in size viz., Evansville, Fort Wayne and Terre Haute. The census of 1880 gave Evansville a population of 29,280; in 1890, 50,674, a gain in ten years of 21,394. St. Paul's, the oldest parish, has a splendid church property, consisting of church and chacost of $55,000 and a rectory and parish house, altogether valued at $90,000. The Rev. Charles Morris has been rector the past ten years, and during this rectorship the church property and chapel have been secured. The church hassittings for 500. During 1890-91 the baptisms were: adults, 7; infants, 31; confirmations, 15; families, 50; communicants, 340; Sundayschool teachers, 14; scholars, 220; marriages, 18; burials, 14. This has under its care the mission Chapel of the Good Shepherd, with a Sunday afternoon Sunday-school numbering 100 pupils. The property is valued at $3,000. The rector of St. Paul's cares also for St. Stephen's, New Harmony, giving a monthly week-day service. Here, the past year, he baptized 17 adults, 36 infants, and presented 24 for confirmation. A vested choir renders the music in St. Paul's. Communion offerings in 1890-91, $340; current expenses, $5,000; improvements, $350; Sunday-school, $300; debts, $10,000; Diocesan missions, $175; assessments, $320; orphanage, $10; general missions, $10; total offerings, $16,511.40.

Holy Innocents' Memorial Church has a church and rectory, erected by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Viele, in loving memory of their daughter. It is valued at $10,500.00. It has sittings for 300. Rev. A. A. Abbott is rector. It is located among a working population, and is mainly composed of working people. rectors reports: baptisms, adults, 10; infants. 25; confirmations, 16; families, 45; communicants, 90; Sunday-school teachers, 10; scholars, 125. There is a vested choir, and the parish has weekly celebrations of the Holy Communion. Communion offerings, $37.34; current expenses, $1,511; Sunday-school, $82,-77; improvements, $138; Diocesan missions, $75.10; orphanage, $7; miscellaneous, $7.25; general missions, $30.14; total offerings, $1,-890,52. Rev. Mr. Abbott does mission work in several adjacent towns, going to Mount Vernon, Princeton, and Petersburg. In Mount Vernon last year seven were confirmed. A lot has been purchased, and it is hoped to erect a church the present autumn. To sum up, then, we have in Evansville two clergymen, two church buildings, two chapels, two rectories and one parish house. Total value of church property, $103,500; Sunday-school teachers, 30; scholars, 345; communicants, 430; offerings for all purposes in 1890-91, $18,412; average per communicant, $42.81. Communicants as 1 to 117 of population.

Fort Wayne is the next city in population 29,880; that of 1890, 35,349; gain, 8,469. Here infants are to be baptized. too we have a very desirable church property, consisting of a stone church, rectory and parish house. The two latter have been built during the rectorship of the present incumbent, Rev. interest, I spend my leisure time plating table-

Delno & Co., Columbus, year were adults 2, infants 8; confirmed 10; 19; scholars 160; marriages 8; burials 13; communion offerings $90.43; current expenses $2,527; Improvements $2,880; Sunday-school $167.12; Diocesan missions $114.10; assessment and endowment $328; general missions pel of stone, erected about five year ago, at a | $248; a total of $6,411. There is no mission chapel, one formerly existing having been sold and proceeds appropriated to parish improvements. The rector does no mission work. Average of contributions per communicant $21. The proportion of communicants to population is I to II7. The population in Fort Wayne is largely German. It has a Roman Catholic sea, this religious body is the predominant one. The music of Trinity Church is by a quartette choir, and weekly celebration is observed during Advent and Lent.

Terre Haute is the fourth city in population in Indiana. In 1880 it had 26,142 and in 1890 31,000, a gain of 4,958 in ten years. Here St. Stephen's parish has a church, rectory and chapel, with a parish house soon to be erected. The church and rectory are built of brick, the chapel of wood. Sittings in church 400; chapel 125; value $36,500. Baptisms, adults 4, children 31; confirmed 18; communicants 400; Sunday-school teachers 25; scholars 250; marriages 13; burials 18. There is a weekly celebration of the Holy Communion; the choir is a quartette. Offerings: Communion alms, $80.53; current expenses, $2,674; improvements, $800; Sunday-school, $182.67; miscellaneous, $6.46; Diocesan missions, $351; Episcopal endowment, $1,000; orphanage, $67.58; General Board of Missions, $84; total, $5,887. This parish has St. Luke's Chapel, with an afternoon Sunday-school, and the rector has the care of St. John's Chapel, Rockville, the county seat of Parke county, where he gives a semi-monthly service. The music at St. Stephen's is by a quartette choir. Average offering per communicant, $22.21. The proportion of communicants to population is 1 to Church buildings are in process of erection in Anderson, Marion, and Huntington. Lots have been secured in Kokomo, Mount Vernon, and New Carlisle, on which churches are to be erected at an early day. Rev. Francis C. Woodard, a Congregational minister, has recently applied for Orders in the Church. He is a native of Indiana, a graduate of the State University and of the Yale Theological School. He is thirty-two years old. A mission has lately been established in Kendallville, a town of 3,000 population. Rev. William Mitchell. Deacon, a native of the town, has held services through July and August, each Sunday, in the Opera House. A decided interest has been awakened, the congregations have been large, and as a result there is a class preparing for confirmation at the Bishop's visit, the first Sun-

THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

During the months of June, July and August the Rev. Austin W. Mann, general missionary, was busy meeting calls for the Church's blessed services in the language of deaf mutes, which may truly be said to be God-given to meet a special need. Besides the services at the old established missions at the large centers, Mr. Mann served four "silent" conventions and reunions as chaplain. They were held at Flint. Mich.; Delavan, Wis.; Monticello, Ind.; and Fulton, Mo. He was unable to attend the Iowa convention at Council Bluffs, and so sent his assistant, the Rev. Mr. Cloud.

From the Rev. Mr. Mann's last annual report the following figures are gathered: Services in sixteen years, 2,900: baptisms, 531; confirma-, tions, 432; candidates for confirmation, scattered over fifteen Dioceses, 95; marriages, 57; burials, 6; parishes served, 295; annual reports to Bishops and Secretaries, nearly 300; prayer books distributed, 400; letters and postal cards written, 26,000; m'les traveled, about 700,000. Of those sixteen years of missionary work, nearly twelve have been spent away from dear home. With more to do than falls to the lot of many clergy, Mr. Mann still finds the time to keep a record of all official acts, including those of Bishops where deaf mutes are confirmed, and to prepare items of the work for nearly a dozen Church papers.

Owing to the hot weather of August, and the absence of clergy and Church people on vacation, there is a slight falling off in Twelfth Sunday after Trinity offerings, which are needed every year to meet the expenses of the

LAYING THE CORNER STONE OF ST. STEPHEN'S MEMORIAL PARISH HOUSE.

The Bishop had scarcely become settled after his return to the Episcopal residence before he was summoned to Terre Haute to assist in the interesting ceremony of laying the corner-stone of their elegant vice closed with benediction by the Bishop. Parish House. Mr. Stanley is certainly to be congratulated upon the readiness with him in securing it. The service of laying the corner-stone was appointed for Wednesday afternoon September 16, at 5 P. M., at that time a goodly number assembled around the foundation when the usual service was said by the rector assisted by Rev. Alfred J. Blake of Avondale, Cincinnati. The Bishop laid the stone and made an address and was followed by Mr. Blake and the rector both of whom were very happy in their remarks. We give from the Terre Haute Gazette an account of the service:

In due order, the Rev. Stanley announced the contents of the stone, as follows: A copy of Founded by Bishop Knickerbacker, 1884. the Diocesan Convention Journal, 1891, The Churchman, The Living Courch, The Church Worker, The Terre Haute Gazette, The Express The Mail, The Terre Haute Gasette or April 24th 1890, containing account of the celebration of the fiftleth anniverary of the parish, The Indianapolis Journal, The Indianapolis Sentinel, A list of the communicants and of the officers Bishop Knickerbacker, Indianapolis. on September 16, 1891.

Then the Bishop struck the stone three times with a hammer and said: "I lay the corner stone of this elifice, to be here erected as a Located at Central Ave. and Seventh St. memoral to those members of St. Stephen's parish who have entered into rest, and to be devoted to the service of Almighty God and the extension of the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, even Jesus Christ; who is God over all, blessed for evermore, in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins."

After a hymn sung by the congregation addresses were made by the Bishop, the Rev. Blake Donald Kennedy, and the Rev. Stanley. The Bishop said it was a suprise to him to learn on his return from his vacation the foundation walls of this guild house had been laid. Owing to the modesty of the rector, he was not even aware that the work had so favorably progressed as to warrant building this year. He was pleased to know that the building was to be dedicated as a memoral to those parishioners who have gone to another world. He would be futher pleased to have its it cured me. DAY OF INTERCESSION FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The American Church Sunday-school Association suggests Sunday, October 18 and Monday, October 19, the days appointed by the Church of England

The circular concludes with the following extract from the Lambeth Encyclical on the importance of the work:

The work done in Sunday-schools requires, as we believe, more constant supervision and more sustained interest than, in a great many cases, it receives from the clergy. The instruction of Sunday-school teachers in elementary schools, ought to be regarded as an indispensible part of the pastoral work of a parish priest; and the moral and practical lessons from the Bible ought to be enforced by constant reference to the sanctions, and to the illustrations of doctrine and discipline belonging to them, to be found in the same Holy Scripture,

EDITORIAL.

THE sad tidings comes of the death, on October 5, of the missionary Bishop of China, the Rt. Rev. Wm. J. Boone. Bishop Boone was born in Shanghai in 1846, and was consecrated in 1884. He was the son of the first Bishop of China, who was consecrated in 1844. There are now four missionary jurisdictions without an Episcopal head, viz: Alaska, Oklahoma, Japan and China.

WE ARE pleased to be able to present to the readers of the Church Worker this month, views of the beautiful church property of Trinity, Fort Wayne, and the lovely reredos memorial of its old rector Dr. Large, given by his children. They are kindly furnished by Lamb of New York, the maker of the reredos and designer of recent decorations in the church.

September 26, went to Connersville, was the made an address, large audience being present.

September 27, Eighteenth Sunday after Triniabout twenty being present; 10;30, morning prayer was said by Mr. Engle, I preached and celebrated Holy Communion; in the evening, at 7, I preached and confirmed one person: the congregations were good. I found the church property greatly improved and in most excellent order, the roof has been reshingled, the spire woodwork repainted, the walls of the interior had been retinted. It is intended at an early day to recarpet the floor, and a new memorial altar is promised. It is hoped to arrange for services every Sunday. The parishioners were more hopeful than I had ever found them.

September 28, received from the Bishop of Ohio notice of the deposition from the ministry of H. McQueary; received from the Rev.

Walter II. Bamford, notice of his intention to September 22, gave lay reader's license to resign the rectorship of St. Paul's, Jeffersonville, from October 4

A good spirit was manifested and a determination to meet their responsibilities. The vestry has made arrangements with Rev. Mr. Willson who has kindly offered his services to take charge of the parish until its finances should be straightened out. The beautiful new organ, built by Pilcher Brothers, o' Louisville, is in place and gives good satisfaction. We sincerely hope every parishioner of St. John's Ranger, presenting two candidates; 4:15 P. M., will realize their obligations and come speedily to the help of the vestry. There is a determination on their part to make St. John's a live and working parish. In the afternoon I visited Mrs. Jenner, the daughter of the first rector, Dr. Johnson. She had met with a severe accident that must confine her to her bed many weeks, had prayers with her.

September 29, gave letters dimissory to Rev. Walter H. Bamford to the Ecclesiastical Authority of Fond du Lac. We parted with Mr. Bamford with some regret, and trust he may find the climate of Wisconsin conducive to his complete restoration to health.

October 2 and 3, in attendance upon and took part in the examination of Rev. Alfred Kingsley Glover and Rev. Harry B. Collier for Priest's Orders.

October 3, received certificate from the examiners of Mr. Glover that his examination had been satisfactory; I had also received the certificate from Mr. Collier's examiners.

October 4, Nineteenth Sunday after Trinity, 10:30, in Grace Cathedral, advanced to the Priesthood Mr. Glover and Mr. Collier, the sermon was preached by Mr. Sargent, and the candidate presented by Mr. Swan, I celebrated Holy Communion; at 4 P. The payment by the Treasurer of the October stipend of our Diocesan missions exhausted the Treasury; indeed it was necessary to overdraw the account. At this time one-half the quota for the year is due, and it is to be hoped all rectors and missionaries will realize the importance of looking after the matter at once, and see to it that their respective quotas are sent in at an early day. They should all be sent in by the middle of December. Will not the collection of the needed amounts be entrusted to some committee who will make diligent effort to call on parishioners and collect what is needed? It will hardly do to trust to quarterly collections in church. At the Bishop's visitations this year the offerings will be for Diocesan Church Building Fund.

THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

Rev. A. W. Mann spent Sunday, October 4, in Indianapolis, to fill the following appointments: 9 A. M., morning service at the State Institution; 10:45 A. M. Holy Communion in the Sunday-school room of Christ Church; 2 P. M., address at the Institution; 4 P. M., service, with infant and adult baptism at Christ Church. Bishop Knickerbacker was present at the latter service, and addressed the "silent" congregation through Mr. Mann. He promised to visit in the best sense of the word womanly. their Institution at an early day.

Monday evening found Mr. Mann holding a Stephen's Church, Terre Haute. One of the deaf mutes in the congregation was from near Paris, Ill.

Tuesday evening, a service was held in the beautiful Viele memorial chapel of St. Paul's of silent brethren.

Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock, Holy Communion was administered to a man and woman, who were to be joined in marriage the following evening, the rector, the Rev. Mr. Morris, and a few friends received with them. The marriage was solemnized in the church at language, the rector reading the service for the many hearing people present. The groom, Mr. C. Orvis Dautzer, is a lay reader to the deaf mutes of Central and Western New York.

From Evansville, Mr. Mann went to Chicago to address the Church Club on the need of a church, with rectory, and parish house, for the deaf mutes of that growing metropolis of the Middle-West.

At the regular monthly meeting of the clergy of the city held this day it was unanimously

There is no better location in the city, as to the neighborhood and salubrity, to say nothing of its beauty of surroundings. The school is equipped with a staff of thoroughly capable teachers in the various departments. Rev. and Mrs. George E. Swan, the principals, though celebrated Piano manufacturers, Wm. highest importance in the education of young women. The general trend of the education of the school is one that will commend itself to every thoughtful parent. It proceeds along the line of character building rather than that of accomplishments only. Young women here are taught to reverence and esteem the things of faith and religious experience. They are also taught to respect themselves, and to exemplify those virtues, and those graces which are feel that this is an important era in the history of Church education of young women in this service and administering holy baptism at St. Diocese. If the school be now enthusiastically encouraged, and loyally patronized by the people of the Church it will become a source of inestimable good, and take an honored position among the best institutions of the great State of Indiana. No pains has been spared in secur-Church, Evansville, with a large congregation ing teachers, in equipping the school, or in providing for the comfort and the health of students. The foundations are broad and munificent, and we hope and believe that there will come a patronage and a success as broad and munificent as the foundations. We pledge ourselves to forward the interests of the work, with the conviction that in so doing, we are 8 o'clock, the Rev Mr. Mann officiating in sign putting our hand to the most important enterprise of the Church at this time. We are convinced that the clergy and the laymen of the Diocese will not let this work fail of its great opportunity. We therefore respectfully, but earnestly would press upon all, the duty and privilege of doing whatsoever is in their power to labor for this school this current year. Let us strive by united effort to increase the number of boarding pupils. (Signed:)

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

Dear Children of the Church:

Your Bishop did not find time to write you in last month's number of the Worker, and can only write briefly for November. He has been pleased to receive several contributions from the children for the Orphans' Fund in October from Amos S. Heffley, of Logansport, 25 cents; from Clara C. and Virginia C. Carnahan, of Ft. Wayne, $1 each; Matilda May Carstins, Michigan City, $1; a member of Christ Church Sunday-school, Indianapolis, 50 cents; Raymond Woodward and Laura Reed, of New Castle, 25 cents each. From the Sunday-school of St. Paul's, Richmond, the Bishop has received the generous sum of $13.85 for the Cot Fund. Now. it is very pleasant to be able to make these acknowledgements, and I sincerely hope I shall hear in a similar way from hundreds of our children; that all will remember it at Christmas time, if not before.

I hope, dear Children, that you are faithful in your Sunday-school attendance and lessons, and-may I not say most of you-attend the Church service in your home church regularly, and take your part in the services. You know that you are all members of the Church by your baptism and should try to live up your Heavenly Father by attendance at stay in Indiana, I remain, His House, and by worshiping Him in spirit and in truth. Sincerely,

YOUR BISHOP

Very respectfully, KATE VAN DUSEN, Treas. St. Paul's Sunday-school.

WE GIVE below the reminder of L. Bradford Prince, its authorized agent, that an offering should be made in all our Churches on the second Sunday in November in behalf of the General Church Building funds. Our diocese did very little for the important fund last year. We hope it will do better this year. This fund is under the care of the Board of Missions, is fully authorized by the General Convention, has been of great help in building Churches in our own diocese. The Bishop urgently requests every Rector and missionary to give his people an opportunity to contribute at one of the services on the second Sunday in November. Offerings should be sent to Geo. Bliss, Treasurer, 22 Bible House, specifying that they are for the General

MR. EDITOR-It is the custom of most insurance companies a short time before a premium is payable to send what they call a "reminder notice." Perhaps this secular system may be turned to account in Church affairs by a "reminder notice," now that the Sunday fixed by seventy Bishops and by common consent for receiving the regular annual offering for the Church Building Fund in each church which has not before contributed this year, is so near at hand. The day designated is the second Sunday in November, and comes this year on November 8.

A personal notice will be sent to every clergyman in a short time, but in these busy days such formal notifications often fail to have an effect, and so this reminder, given long enough in advance to make it easy to prepare for the day, and intended for vestrymen and laymen as well as the clergy, may be useful. May I not add, especially to the laity, whose practical minds are always interested in this fund as the most practical of all Church agencies, that a large increase is absolutely essential to meet the present needs of Church extention, and that no more appropriate time for personal offerings could be found than the present? Reports and all information will be cheerfully L. BRADFORD PRINCE.

EDITORIAL.

THE annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in St. Louis October 22-24 was most enthusiastic. It brought ing admirably.

On November 2 a meeting of the Missionary Committee was held at the Diocesan Library. The Treasurer reported that the funds in his hands had been exhausted by the October payment, and that $700 would be needed for the payment of stipends at Christmas. The Board awaits with great anxiety the response on the part of our Church people. A failure to respond would be a calamity quickens interest in mission work. and would necessitate borrowing the amount needed, which would be deplored, However, the Board has confidence that Churchmen will remember the great home work of Church extension.

man's Auxiliary in Indianapolis held a joint meeting at Christ Church, Tuesday afternoon, October 27, at which about eighty members were present, who were deeply interested in Miss Emery's address. Each Auxiliary has issued a printed programme of their monthly Missionary Teas for the year October 1st, 1891, to June 1st, 1892. These indicate that they are alive to the importance of the missionary work of the Church, and the great need of full information in regard to it. The Bishop was able to visit the meeting of Christ Church branch October 5, of Grace Cathedral branch on November 3, and that of Holy Innocents', November 5. They were all well attended and a most excellent spirit manifested. The Diocesan Secretary attends all these meetings in the city so far as possible, and reports a branch just organized in St. George's Mission. The third monthly meeting of the St. Paul's Auxiliary was held on Saturday, November 14 at the residence of Mrs. Chas. Maguire. This, like all the meetings of this branch, was well attended, about twenty-five ladies being present. We hear good things of the new Auxiliary recently organized at Logansport, and great zeal in that of Fort Wayne. All of our branches are now busy making up their Christmas boxes to twenty-one Bishops and 269 clergymen. send to various Missionaries and Missions. It is a blessed work.

THE Board of Missions of the Diocese of Indiana, entrusted by the Convention with the care of our Diocesan Missions, would earnestly impress upon the Churchmen of the Diocese the importance of this work, and the urgent need of generous support. The amount asked of each parish and mission, as apportioned by the Convention, is given in the Journal and has been given in THE CHURCH WORKER. The total is less than $3,500. If this amount can be secured, and we think it is a moderate estimate as compared with the extent and importance of the work, we shall be able to keep our present force of missionaries in the field. One-half of this sum should be in the hands of the Treasurer before Christmas,

To aid in calling attention to the work, and to allow every member of the Church to take some part in making up the sum, as God has blessed them, the committee send out a card to be distributed in our congregations on some early Sunday, and we ask every Churchman to pledge the amount he or she will give this year, one half to be paid through the offertory of their church before Christmas and the other ners. Particular attention paid to the training half before Esster.

THE four parish branches of the Wo- buildings, we ask also a pledge in its behalf. We need and should have this year $1,000 contributed to this fund. It will enable us to build three churches.

Your committee rely on your generous co-operation in your efforts to advance the ladies and girls. Admirable location. Elegant extension of our beloved Church in the many desolate places of our great Diocese.

Generously sustain our Diocesan Missions to give a good account of the growth and progress of the Church.

So the Lord is blessing and because a comfortable home is necessary for successful work. They also feel that great credit is due the ladies of the parish, not only for the improvements made at the rectory but also for the faithful work done at the church.

During the summer the church building was thoroughly cleaned, the wood work of the chapel repainted and a beautiful new carpet laid. This work also is highly appreciated, for the Lord's house ought always to have first consideration in the minds of His people.

The King's Daughters, with Mrs. Havs as President, Miss Grove, Vice-President, and the Misses Magee, Secretary and Treasurer, have special charge of the altar, its linen and decorations, chancel hangings and furnishings, they are also doing helpful work in other directions. On next Saturday afternoon and evening they inaugurate a series of benefit or reception "teas"

St. Agnes's Guild, composed of the younger Mesdames Snyder and Simpson, with officers as follows: President, Miss Magee; Vice-President, Miss Ora Sala; Secretary, Miss Margaret Meck; the interest of the Sunday-schools.

The festival of All Saints' was appropriately observed, flowers being placed on the altar church, Michigan City, a large and prosperous and font by various members of the parish, in loving memory of departed friends. Among the rest was a vase of white chrysanthemums in memory of Mrs. Margaret Worth. Her daughters, Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Goodman are making arrangements to put into the church an elegantly carved, oak pulpit. What gift could be more appropriate to perpetuate the memory of one whose life was so dear to the Church? One other gift especially appropriate would complete the furnishing of the chance, this, a memorial lecturn. It is much needed and might well perpetuate the memory of other noble souls who have lived and died in this same parish.

The rector, in an impressive sermon, on the holy purposes of the day, directed our thoughts to the pure and good in paradise, which indeed was a strong incentive to holy living.

The day following, November 2, Miss Sybil Carter was present and gave us an insight into her special work among the Indians, at White Bishop Knickerbacker, Indianapolis. Earth, Minn. All were pleased to meet her and the auxiliary gained new enthusiasm for the work by listening to her. Miss Carter is a persuasive talker, and the sketches of her travels in Japan afforded a rare delight to all, who were privileged to listen to them.

Her stay with us proved a great incentive to active work, and the Woman's Auxiliary are now earnestly engaged in preparing a Christmas box for the mission school and hospital at White Earth reservation.

Such in brief is an epitome of some of the workings of the parish, the results of which, to my mind, should be emphasized as of chief importance: a decided awakening of the people of the parish; the increased attendance at the services of the church and Sunday-schoolespecially the Holy Communion, and the promptness and completeness with which all promises and services are fulfilled. Truly the growth is from within - a force inherent and because such will be lasting.

A VISITOR.

At a meeting of the vestry of Christ Church at Hanover, last evening, Rev. N. W. Heermans tendered his resignation as pastor of that church, to take effect on and after Sunday, Nov. 29th inst. Mr. Heermans' leaving here will be a matter of regret to all of his parishioners, as he has proven himself to be a most faithful and acceptable pastor. In the pulpit Mr. Heermans has been lucid, strong, and orthodox; preaching the true Gospel in its integrity, and catering to none of the religious eccentricities of the day. His sermons have always been interesting and captivating through solid argument and educated presentation. For his comparetively short years in the ministry he has attained creditable position in all that pertains to the sacred office and its various duties.

This community generally, and especially those who knew him intimately, will regret his Treasurer, Miss Bessie Grove, are working in departure from amongst us. He will go with the kindest regards of all towards him.

Mr. Heermans has had a call from Trinity parish, but involving a vast amount of active work. We predict that he will be well received and prove acceptable to the members of his new charge and to the general community of that city .- Madison Paper .

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. Dear Children:

Your Bishop is glad to write you a few lines for the December number of the WORKER. He can scarcely realize that Christmas is so near at hand and that soon all of you dear children will be celebrating the birth of the dear Christ Child and gathering at your Christmas festivities. Your Bishop hopes you may all have a very happy Christmas. You will see that a few boys and girls have remembered the Orphanage during November. It always makes the Bishop's heart glad to receive your letters and remittances. It strikes him that at Christmas time he should receive a great many. He will be very glad to give up a whole side of the Worker for January to the Christmas letters of boys and girls sending their quarters for the Orphanage and their good wishes. We have a few pictures left of the Bishop which we will be glad to send to any one sending a dollar for the fund. May God bless you all dear children.

Your friend and Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

DEAR BISHOP KKICKERBACKER-Some one told me you are building a home for orphans in Indianapolis, and you want all the boys and girls who hear of it to send you twenty-five cents. Here is fifty cents from my brother Austin and me, with much love from both of us. I am ever sincerely your little friend.

EDITORIAL.

ALL lay readers licensed by the Bishop of Indiana are requested to make their annual report to the Bishop early in January, and to make application, endorsed by their rector, for renewal of licenses,

ONCE more we urge the recipients of the WORKER who have not availed themselves of our generous offer, last month. to cancel all past dues and credit one year in advance to every recipient of the WORKER who shall send us a dollar this month. We want to wipe out entirely all old scores, and start the new volume without arrearages. We hope all who have not done so will at once avail themselves of our generous offer,

WITH this number of THE CHURCH Worker we enter upon a new civil year. We wish all our readers a happy new year. The year closing has seen some progress of our beloved Church in the Diocese. We hope the foundation and superstructure of the new Church Home may be among the possibilities of 1892. Above all let us pray for and work for a deeper spiritual life and consecration in the hearts of Churchmen.

At Evansville, during the Advent season the parishes had united services in St. Paul's and Holy Innocents' on alternate weeks daily, during the whole season. It must have had a blessed influence for good, in helping all to realize the importance of preparation for the second coming of the Lord.

In Indianapolis all the Auxiliary branches have sent Christmas boxes, either to the Indian or Domestic field. These boxes have been valuable, as an expression of deep love for the missionary work. The course of lectures in St. George's is very well attended. The lecture by Mr. Van Buren in December was very instructive in every day law. St. George's has been greatly improved by papering the interior, a Girls' Friendly Society is the last organization here. An effort is also being made to raise St. George's quota for the Endowment $100, under Mr. Brann's wise management it will prove a success. The ladies of Trinity Mission, Kendallville, have been working all fall and winter for a bazaar, held the middle of December for three evenings, for the building fund of a church to be erected in the near future. The ladies number but few, but they have been generously aided by their friends and their sale was generally patronized by the community. The results were most encouraging to the ladies.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Mission, Shelbyville, was most successful in its first entertainment and the results make a good nest egg for their lot and building fund. Mr. Ranger spent the whole of Thursday, December 17, with them, holding two services and visiting members of the mission. The day is not distant when the Church will have a permanent habitation in Shelbyville, and the result will come as most of our successes have come from reaching out from a strong center and not burdening a weak mission from the start with support of services.

The attendance upon the services of the new church of Gethsemane, Marion, is steadily increasing. The Bishop is to visit the parish

It is expected the benediction of the new Christ Church, Huntington, will take place at an early day. The work has been somewhat delayed by failure to secure glass and seats in time.

The Howe Grammar School will open the Easter term, Tuesday, January 12. It will be a good time to enter boys. The school will be glad to receive a number of new boys.

The Xmas vacation of St. Mary's Hall closes January 5. There is room for several additional pupils in the boarding department. The lot as the place of the old wooden one, which has labors may be greatly blessed.

At present the only missions vacant and unprovided with services are St. Luke's. Frankfort, and St. Matthew's, Worthington, and these simply because the vestries will not co-operate with the Bishop of the Diocese. They are willing to close the church doors and do without services rather than make the necessary efforts to provide what should be reasonably expected of them, to maintain the services of a missionary. This is to be lamented

Sunday after Christmas, the Bishop spent at St. Stephen's, Terre Haute; at 10 A. M., the splendid parish house was set apart by solemn benediction service for its sacred uses, in the presence of the Sunday-school and vestry, the Bishop making a brief address of congratulations. This house contains a grand assembly room for Sunday-school, and infant class room adjoining. A fine large ladies' parlor, Bible class room and reading room, with kitchen and closets. It is in every way convenient and will add very much to the working power of this parish. Its whole cost has been $8,000. At 10:45 A. M. there was a sermon by the Bishop, confirmation and celebration. A class of twenty-seven were confirmed, all of whom made their first communion. This parish is in a most healthful spiritual condition. Its assessments for the Diocese are promptly paid, and its obligations for the missonary work generously spent. It is a great comfort to find a parish moving on so harmoniously and prosperously, and its rector is to be congratulated.

St. Philip's, Indianapolis, Colored Mission, Mrs. Sarah IIali, Superintendent, had a delightful Christmas festival on Christmas eve. Rev. J. H. Ranger conducted the service and made the address. The children enjoyed the gifts from the well laden tree, and made an offering of $8 for the Orphanage, representing 25 cents for each pupil. They are the banner school in this respect for this year.

St. George's, Indianapolis, had their Christmas festival on Christmas eve, having a Jacob's ladder and two beautiful trees. The chapel was crowded with parents and pupils, and there was a delightful choral service. Addresses were made by the pastor, Mr. Brann, and by the Bishop, and there were some lively recitals by the pupils. There were more than 100 children present.

Knickerbacker visited Anderson, the county seat of Madison County, for the benediction of a new rectory, just completed, and the consecration of a beautiful wooden church. Anderson is one of the booming towns in the gas belt of Indiana that, in the past four years, has him in the great work before him. grown from 4,000 to 12,000 in population. The Bishop located a missionary here about eighteen months ago, and the result is that we have here, on a centrally located corner lot, a church property representing a value of $6,500. Though it is a hard field and the few members of the mission have but little means, the missionary, Rev. J. A. McGlone, has, by perseverance, secured some $5,000 from the citizens completed the payment for a lot as a site for a of the town towards paying for the property. new stone church next year. The altar is a gift from Rev. W. H. Bamford, the lectern Bible is a gift of a daughter of Bishop Ives, in memory of her parents. The communion set is the gift of the Bishop: the altar linen of the sisters of St. John the Baptist in New York. A font is to be presented by a communicant in memory of her mother. $500 was donated from the Diocesan Church Building Fund for the purchase of a lot; $1000 was borrowed from the General Church Building Fund for the building of the rectory. On Saturday evening a reception was tendered to the Bishop at the new rectory and a beautiful service of benediction was said by the Bishop. On Sunday morning, at 10:45, the church was filled to its full capacity, chairs being placed in the aisle and many people turned away. The Bishop and missionary were received by the vestry at the entrance of the church. request to consecrate was read by the warden and the sentence of consecration by the rector, the Bishop preaching and celebrating Holy Communion. The Bishop congratulated the people and the missionary on the grand work that had been accomplished and thanked the citizens of Anderson for their great kindness in responding to the request of the missionary for aid in the good work. A collection of $150 was received to meet some deficiencies. This marks the steady advance of the Church in occupying another county in Indiana that has hitherto been without a church building. Three lots have been secured in the growing town of Elwood, in the same county, where it is hoped to erect a church next year, and at another growing town in the same county the Bishop has had the promise of a lot when ready to build.

The evening of Advent Sunday the Bishop spent in Muncie, where the Rev. F. O. Graniss began, that day, his rectorship, and, after an excellent sermon by the new rector, the Bishop, in a brief address, welcomed him to the Diocese and commended him to the good offices and support of the people, bidding him Godspeed. Muncie has trebled its population in the past four years and has now about On the first Sunday in Advent, Bishop 15,000 people. > Rev. Aubrey F. Todrig, of Ellicottsville, N. Y., has accepted the rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Jeffersonville, and entered upon his duties the second Sunday in Advent. Here the plans for a new stone church have been accepted, and it is the intention to build during 1892.

At New Albany, St. Paul's parish has just official duties.

The Bishop visited Greencastle on the evening of Holy Innocents, December 28, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold. A goodly congregation gathered in the church at 7 o'clock. the Bishop taking the service and preaching. At a conference after the service the means were subscribed for the support of services on alternate Sunday mornings by Rev. Edward Saunders of Bloomington.

Mr. W. Morgan, the young man preparing for Orders now helping Mr. Morris, of St Paul's, Evansville, has taken hold at the Chapel of the Good Shepherd with promise of good results. He has also established weekly Friday night services at Howell's, a suburb of Evansville, where the L. & N. shops are located, and goes to New Harmony every fortnight. Rev. Mr. Abbott, of Holy Innocents', goes regularly to Mt. Vernon, where the mission is growing all the time in numbers and importance. Here there are two guilds, St. John's, composed of the older ladies, and the Young People's Aid Society, each of which societies is adding to their treasury all the time for the new church. Messrs. C. D. Stickney and Norman Booth, of St. Paul's parish, attended the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in St. Louis in October. November 4, an excellent missionary meeting of the Church people in the city was held at St. Paul's chapel, addressed by Miss Sybyl Carter. In Holy Innocents' parish the Daughters of the King have commenced a series of parish mites for the winter, and a missionary society is now being organized among the older ladies. In this parish much is made o All Saints' Day, this year the floral decorations were beautiful and in accordance with a custom established last year, the flowers were taken to the cemeteries in the afternoon an | placed on the graves of friends, The grave of Rev. St. Thomas's Church, Plymouth, has sent in to the Diocesan Treasurer the whole amount of Assessment and Apportionment, both delinquent and current, up to June, 1892. A Christmas eve festival service with a tree was held in the church largely attended by old and young, and the occasion was in every way enjoyable. The rector and Mrs. Raymond were remembered, for one way, by the ladies of the parish with an envelope and money in it.

Rev. W. W. Raymond visited St. Paul's Church, Rochester, on St. John's Day, and baptized John Paul Kewney, infant grandson of the late Thomas R. Austin, D. D., of this Diocese. ONE of the matters that should be brought to a full accomplishment in 1892 is the completion of the endowment by each parish and mission subscribing their proper quota or giving to the Trustees the obligation of the vestry. There is no question about the importance of this matter, and if taken hold of resolutely by vestries and congregations it can be accomplished. More than half of the parishes have already provided their quota and are released thereby for assessment for the support of the Episcopate. The parishes that have not as vet taken hold of it are quite as able as those who have done it. The income from the endowment is now $2.000 per annum. The Trustees of the Diocese are ready to confer with any parish who prefers to give their notes with an annual payment of the principal by installment, and a committee has been appointed to confer with the

THE CHURCH WORKER parishes. They are also contemplating sending out an agent to work the matter up in the parishes.

THE Living Church Quarterly, containing almanac and calender for 1892, is promptly out and overflows with valuable information concerning the Church. The new features this year are, (1) a table showing the source of doctor's degrees held by American clergymen, of which Hobart College has the highest number - seventy-five. Only four are from Yale, and three from Harvard. Of the 4,203 clergymen in the Church, 577 have received doctor's degrees. (2) Some hints on church furnishing and decorations, and on the robes and vestments. The clergy list and roster of Church institutions are as accurate as painstaking care can make them. It would be a most valuable educator for the Church if every family of our communion would have each year a copy of the Church Almanac for constant reference. The Living Church Quarterly is 25 cents. word of mouth, in the newspapers, and in Episcopal addresses, as a highly peripatetic were chiefly responsible. It appears that this is an unjust view of the case; that the responsibility must be largely shared by vestries, congregations, mission stations, individual Church fault of the clergyman lies in the following:

. That they are injudicious in adapting themselves-rather not adapting themselves at all, to the various conditions of various parishes and people. They do not seem to realize that ways and methods and manners and personal application is made, or a sermon is heard, and dealings, entirely applicable in one place, may be wholly inapplicable in others.

2. It is a sadly patent fact that there are some clergymen who are almost entirely incapable of wisely and efficiently conducting the work and services of the Church anywhere. In their particular calling they are failures. although they might have been successful in some other calling. Their history is one of repeated failure wherever they go. It is consoling to reflect that these are exceptions to the at St. James's Church, Goshen, January general rule.

The faults of parishes are found as follows: I. Unreasonable expectations. Hope of having a minister who will be able intellectually, socially and physically, to meet all their desires. They seem to expect to secure their services at a small figure, and to retain them, notwithstanding all discouragements and dis-

The failure on the part of vestries and mission committees to administer their finances upon any reasonable business principles; the lack of system in gathering subscriptions and collecting them. In putting off the evil day of payment, or of preparing to pay, as long as possible. Their insensibility in some instances to the inconvenience, and sometimes positive suffering, thus entailed upon the rector or missionary. Responsibility is too highly diffused among the number of vestrymen and mission committees-no one or two or several seeming to feel that it is his or their affair to attend to this business, as they would to any other busi-

3. The want of co-operation on the part of the people in the work of the Church. Their want of sympathy with the clergyman in the difficulties and perplexities that confront him. While professing to desire the prosperity of the Church, they are willing to allow the clergyman to stand alone in his work, refusing to lighten his burden. They will even add to the burden by criticism, and complaint, and faultfinding, until it would require one better than an angel to prosecute it successfully, or to bear the irritation that will ensue.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. Dear Children .

Your Bishop knows you have had a very happy, very merry Christmas. He has heard from so many parishes of the excellent preparations made for the Sunday-schools. He has received not a few printed programs that indicate a deep interest in children and the desire to bring joy to their hearts because of the Christ Child. Oh, is it not a blessed season. dear children, this happy blessed Christmas tide. How thankful should we all be for the gift of God's dear Son, and let us show our thankfulness by loving Him with all our hearts and by striving to do His holy will. This letter reaches you, dear children, at the beginning of a new civil year, and your Bishop wishes that States from the Living Church Annual. for you all it may be a Happy New Year. I want you all to read the nice little letter of Rose M. and John R. Budd, of Grace Cathedral, sending the Bishop $5 for the Orphanage. How many of you have saved some of your pennies for it? I thought sure I should hear from a hundred children at Christmas. You will have to hurry up and earn your twenty-five cents or save it. I want to hear from five hundred boys and girls sending their twenty-five cents for the Orphanage. That would make $125, and be a big help. Your loving friend and Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

Dear Bishop:

In the bag you will please find five dollars ($5) for the orphanage. It is the savings of my brother and I. This summer papa raised some tomatoes, mangoes and pickles. He said we could have all the money we made by selling them. That with the pennies we have saved since vacation we have decided to give to the orphanage with a great deal of pleasure. Yours affectionately,

A FEW LINES

The following was addressed to Mr. Charles Lindoerfer by the Rev. Kemp at the close of his sermon at his wife's funeral, entitled, "Lines to a Brother on the Death of a Beloved Wife," and given for publication by request of the family:

What, though my heart be torn with grief, And sadness weighs my spirit down: Is there no balm to give relief. No smile beneath a Father's frown.

Must I, when mem'ry brings the past Forever shed the bitter tear, And see my sky with clouds o'er cast, No ray of light, no hope to cheer?

Mourner! Ah, no. 'Twas God's decree The wife so well beloved by thee And lay her prostrate in the tomb, Hard is the stroke, thine angulsh deep. In yielding to the omniscient will. Nature must feel and we may v But yet there may be comfort still.

Think of thy wife, though in the grave Her body sinking to decay. Jesus has died her soul to save And she shall live in endless day.

Was in a God whose name is love At whose command her slumbering dest Shall join the unfettered soul above.

And on the blissful happy shore Reunion shall again take place, Where thou shalt meet to part no more, But see thy loved one face to face.

Comfort, then, mourner; look on high! Go not in sorrow all thy days lesus shall wipe thy tearful eye Therefore to him ascribe all praise.

RECTOR HEERMANS' FAREWELL. Yesterday, November 29, closed the ministerial labors of Rev. N. W. Heermans with his charge in this city. It was a solemn and sacred scene - that celebration of the last supper in the early dawn at which some of his flock partook for the last time of the bread and wine at his hands, feeling that not again would this be celebrated together until they should sit down at the marriage supper of the Lamb. At the ten o'clock service a farewell sermon was preached from these words: "Give an account of thy stewardship."-Luke 16, 2. As the result of his ministry here 45 persons have been baptized, 33 have been confirmed, 45 couples married and 49 burials. He spoke of the various women's societies in the church and their valuable work. Of the four memorial windows added to the church, of the vesper lights and candlesticks, the altar cloths and hangings, "All these," he said, "testify to your work since my coming to Madison." Of the finances, the report shows a larger amount to have been raised during the year of 1800, than in any other year during his pastorate, for the support of the church. Of the wardens of the church he spoke in grateful praise for their faithfulness. His testimony to the devotion and efficiency of the choir was ardently expressed, yet he said their worth can never be told in words, for in thought he had been carried unto heaven itself while listening to their music. Mr. Heermans during his pastorate here has held 800 services, preached 580 sermons, lectures and instructions. and has made 600 parochial calls .- Madison

EVANSVILLE, HOLY INNOCENTS'-This parish has been taking quite a number of steps forward this winter. Three new men, accessions to the parish during the year have been placed upon the vestry. A Church Club has been organized, consisting at the present time of twenty-one members. Any one who has been baptised or is desirous of baptism, and is in sympathy with the Church, may become a member. The object of this club is the support of the services and work of Holy Innocents' parish, and the social and intellectual improvement of its members. They meet once each month, light refreshments are served and the evening is spent in social intercourse, debates, etc. Hitherto the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the parish has been working under the charter of the Brotherhood of St. Paul's Church. In January an independent Brotherhood was organized, and it now consists of thirteen members and meets for Bible instruction each Sunday at 2 P. M. On February 13 a Woman's Auxiliary was organized and reported to the Diocesan Secretary ready for work. In December some important additions to, and changes in the arrangement of choir seats in the church, and a much needed new parish house were commenced, the former being completed before Christmas and the latter by the middle of January, all at a cost of $600. The parish house is a frame addition twenty-four by twenty-eight, to the vestry room. It is sealed throughout, tin roof, and is furnished with a reed organ, chairs and cases for choir vestments. It is ready to receive the Bishop's blessing when he comes in April.

Gosfien, St. James-The rector is organizing the young men into a Brotherhood from whom he expects great assistance in parish work. On February 14 he exchanged with Mr. Prentiss, of Elkhart, celebrating Holy Communion for St. John's.

Indianapolis, Christ Church-Mr. A. A. Aylward has resigned his position as organist and choirmaster in Christ Church. On Quinquagesima Sunday Mr. Edward Taylor will enter upon the duties of choir master, and Mr. E. E. Holloway will at the same time enter upon INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL-On the 11th the Men's Guild, assisted by the ladies, gave a very pleasant reception to the congregation. For this the rector (?) of St. Mary's Hall kindly gave them the entire lower floor of his building. On Wednesday, the 17th, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and their friends entertained Mr. Faure, of New York, at the parsonage. Mr. Faure is a live St. Andrew's man. He gave a very interesting account of the general work of the Brotherhood and was gratified to find the work here on the true lines. Their meetings for young men on Sunday evenings at 6:30, are increasing in numbers and interest. Their hotel work has shown marked results this month. They have also undertaken to revive a Sunday-school at Illinois and Twenty-second streets, with very encouraging prospects. On Sunday evening, the 21st, the Bishop visited the Cathedral. He confirmed three. He also received nine men into the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and twenty-two young women into the Daughters of the King, and preached a very impressive sermon to young people.

INDIANAPOLIS, ST. PAUL'S-Dr. Jenckes closed his rectorship of eight years and a half on Sunday, January 31. During this period he reported baptisms, 217; presented for confirmation, 159; married 128 couples and read the burial service for 124. The vestry hope to secure a rector at an early day. During February services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hamilton, Rev. E. G. Hunter and the Bishop. Mr. Moore superintends the Sunday-school, and all the organizations continue actively in their work. The Woman's Auxiliary meeting in February was largely attended.

JEFFERSONVILLE, ST. PAUL'S-On Wednesday evening, February 19, a rousing Missionary meeting was held. Addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Smith and Betts, of Louisville, and a deep interest in behalf of missions awakened. The organization of the parish as a missionary society was the result. Preparations are being made for the erection of the new church, and it is hoped a rectory and parish house may be included. On Wednesday, February 17, Rev. R. G. Hamilton, of Edwardsville, Diocese of Springfield, held divine service after the new stone church is erected. and preached, and on Thursday morning celebrated Holy Communion. Though the weather was had the services were well attended.

Кокомо-A valuable lot in the main street of the city has been purchased here at a cost of $2,500. It has upon it a large residence that will answer as a rectory. It is expected to erect a church at a cost of $20,000 in the spring. A lot has also been secured in South Kokomo on which a chapel may be erected as soon as the church is completed and paid for.

LAPAYETTE, St. John's-The services of Mr. Willson are proving most acceptable. The attendance on service is good and the ladies' guilds are actively at work. At a recent bazaar they realized a considerable sum towards parish indebtedness. The vestry are bending all their energies to get the parish out of debt, and are determined to do it before calling a rector. The vested choir are expecting a new choir master the first of March, Prof. Sinclair having removed to Iowa. The Sunday-school under Prof. Philips, of Purdue, is steadily growing and he is seconded by a band of faithful and interested teachers. The outlook for St. John's is most encouraging.

LAGRANGE-Mr. Webster, prefect in Howe Grammar School, continues his services as lay reader here. The ladies' guild have appropriated $18, raised by them, to defray expenses of the visits of lay reader.

LOGANSPORT, TRINITY-The work goes bravely on in this parish under its earnest young rector. The parish has suffered the loss of several faithful communicants, but others are coming forward to take their places. The church is to be enriched by two memorial offerings at Easter. A pulpit in memory of Mrs. Worth, from her daughters, Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Goodwin, and a lecturn in memory of Mrs. Button, from her sister. They are to be furnished by Geissler, of New York. The different societies are all hard at work and good results are looked for. Two families have recently been added to the Church by baptism. Already a second class is preparing for confirmation for the Bishop's spring visitation. Confirmation lectures will be given on Friday evenings during Lent, and daily service will prepare all for a joyous Easter.

MISHAWAKA, St. Paul's-Lenten services every day, except Thursdays and Sundays, 4:30 P. M. On Thursdays at 7:30 P. M.; Sundays, 10 A. M. and 4 P. M. On Wednesday, March 16, Rev. R. H. F. Gairdner, of Niles, and on Wednesday, March 16, Rev. J. B. Mead, of Goshen, will take the rector's place. Sermon or address at every service. During Holy Week there will be service at 9:30 A. M. in addition to the 4:30 P. M. service. Holy Baptism at 4:30 Easter Even.

MUNCIE, GRACE-This parish has recently purchased a quarter of a square for the site of their new church. It is 125 by 125 feet and gives ample room for church, chapel, parish house and rectory. It cost $6,500. It is the intention to sell the old site and remove the church building to the new, to serve as a chapel

PETERSBURG-Mr. Abbott visited this point on February 17 and celebrated Holy Communion. On the 18th he had cottage service at KENDALLVILLE-Mr. Mead, of Goshen, held Princeton, Gibson county, and arranged at SHELBYVILLE-Mr. Ranger visited Shelbyville on Thursday, February 18. Services were held in the Christian Church. Celebration in the morning at 10 o'clock, evening prayer, instruction, and sermon at 7:30 o'clock. After evening service there was held an enthusiastic business meeting. The weather was bad but there was a full attendance of the people. We are looking about for a site and have in view already a purchasing fund of about seven hundred dollars. Shelbyville will in no long time take its place among the interesting missionary enterprises of the Diocese.

South Bend, St. James-Lenten services every day except Sundays, 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 Mute Mission, was opened for sign services on P. M. Sunday 9 and 10:45 A. M. and 7 P. M., special Lenten lecture to St. Andrew's Brotherhood at noon and rector's Bible class at 2:30 P. M. Litany at noon Wednesdays and Fridays. There will be addresses at all afternoon services. Five minutes meditation at 9 A. M. Sundays. Rev. R. H. F. Gairdner, of Niles, will take the rector's place at the 7:30 P. M. service, Wednesday, March 9, and Rev. J. B. Mead, of Goshen, will do the same for that service Wednesday, March 16. On Good Friday The Three Hours Service, commemorating the agony of our blessed Lord on the cross, will be conducted by the rector in addition to the regular services. On Easter Even Holy Baptism of infants at 3 and of adults at 7:30 P. M. Easter Day Holy Eucharist at 7:30 and 10:45 A. M., evening prayer and sermon, 7 P. M.

been a great quickening of spiritual life and parish activity since the beginning of the new year and occupancy of the new parish house. A young men's club, numbering more than sixty members, has been organized and a room fitted up in the parish house for meeting and reading room. A Chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood has been formed with fifteen charter members and it will steadily grow, those in charge of it being much in earnest. Among the young women also a live and active Guild has been formed for promotion of social culture, and a Helping Hand Society among the younger girls. On Wednesday evening, February 3, the parish house was formerly opened with a grand social reunion of all the organizations of the parish and all parishioners. An excellent supper was provided by the ladies and recitations and music. The real and interest manifested is most cheering and encouraging to the rector and vestry. The Sunday-school is increasing in numbers, and attendance at not turn with the rest, would seem to disjoin services are larger.

THE DEAF-MUTE MISSION.

St. Clement's Church, Chicago, recently given by Bishop McLaren to All Angels' Deaf Sunday, February 14th. Rev. A. W. Mann, General Missionary, officiated morning and afternoon. The edifice is very churchly in appearance inter orly as well as exteriorly, and is well built, having cost the builder, Mr. Geo. A. Armour, $20,000. The gift is very timely in view of the increasing "silent" population of the Western metropolis; and the coming Exposition, which will draw visitors from distant points, who will seek a spiritual home during their stay.

REASONS FOR TURNING TO THE EAST IN REPEATING THE CREED. (By the Right Rev. the Bishop of St. Andrew's.

Dunkeld and Dunblanc.)

Repeating the Creed is the only individual TERRE HAUTE, ST. STEPHEN'S-There has act of Worship in our Church Service. All the Prayers, Intercessions, and Thanksgivings are couched in the plural number. But in the Creed, each member of the congregation is re- the Treasurer always ready, and so ready that he quired to say, for himself or herself, "I believe." Thus we assemble in Church upon the under- a chance meeting on the street, but goes to him standing that we all hold the same belief; and to settle accounts. in order to give visible expression to this unanimity by a very simple and innocent symbol, which has been in use from time immemorial, when the Creed comes to be said (however different our positions may have been before. in consequence of our different places in church) we all turn the same way, and so exhibit the likeness of Christian Soldiers all standing, as if prepared to march together straight forward, the same hour of the day each time, he regularly in defence, if necessary, of the Christian Faith. mounted the front steps of his rector's house, Surely a very beautiful and edifying representation of the Unity of the Faith which ought to exist among Christians! Any person who does himself or herself from the company, as intend-WASHINGTON-Mr. Adams, of Vincennes, ing to intimate: -- "I have my own views; I do holds semi-monthly week day services and has not believe as you do." Clare, of St. Mary's, time, and especially in Divine Service and in of years, he will "educate the parish," much

But in saying the Creed we not only turn the same way, but that way is towards the East. Our churches are built East and West, and nent, she is especially fitted to conduct this is the most obvious and natural way of such a party. All who wish particulars attaining the end we have in view, that is, of CHURCH ORGANS! in regard to the route and the expense showing the unity and unanimity of our Faith. should address Miss Clare, St. Mary's This has nothing to do with turning towards the altar. It is true the altar is at the East end; but the thought of it is in no way mixed up with the repetition of the Creed. That in turning in direction, the East is most suitable for our purpose, is manifest, from the fact that the East is the source of light, and so we are reminded that the Articles of the Creed are like so many rays of light issuing from the Face of the Sun of Righteousness.

I have said that the practice is one which has come down to us from time immemorial. It is true it is not ordered in the Prayer Book, but neither are we ordered in the Prayer Book to say the Psalms responsively, or told when we are to sing Hymns (except in the single case of the rubric after the Third Collect): these things, and others of the same kind, have been left to the direction of authority, or to the tradition of the Church. And in this matter the tradition of the Church has been so generally maintained, from the reformation (and probably long before the reformation) downward, that there is not a single cathedral in England in which the practice has not been constantly and universally observed. I mention cathedrals because they are the churches which are least likely to be affected by any mere temporary or fanciful innovations-The Scottish Standard Reaver.

THE PARISH TREASURER.

The most useful lay officer in a parish is a prompt Treasurer. He is a delight to the eyes and a comfort to the heart of his restee. Happ is that rector, who, when pay day comes, finds does not wait for the rector's visit, nor trust to

In him the pastor sees a whole congregation promptly and cheerfully meeting its obligations. and from him the pastor receives a spur and a stimulus that pushes him powerfully to his duty. The ties of interest and affection that bind the Priest to the people are very greatly strengthened. He cannot but be respected by them.

We once read of a Treasurer so remarkable, that on the first day of each quarter, and about rung the bell, went in and made his payment in full! Alas! that we only knew him in a book.

No Parish Priest can have a more powerful helper than such an officer. No parish a more useful member. There are limitations. A Treasurer cannot always help himself. He cannot pay what he does not have. But a prompt and energetic man, having the necessary tact, will collect mere closely than a slow more than one would suppose. Praise the prompt Treasurer, and if you have such a one, keep him .- The Record.

LAY READERS' REPORTS.

Additional reports have been received as fol-

Charles D. Stilz, of Holy Innocents', Indianapolis, assisted the rector by reading the morning lessons, and read the morning service during the rector's vacation in Angust.

G. L. Bell, of St. John's, Crawfordsville, writes: "I open and close the church building, act the part of janitor faithfully, try to assist the choir by singing, even if I do not know how to sing, in short, do all that no one else will do, and receive the censure for not doing Rev. Mr. Morris reports: "Mr. Collett read the service regularly the Thursday evenings he was in town until the coming of Mr. Morgan. Herbert S. Webster, lay reader at Lagrange, lle also superintended the Sunday-school of the Good Shepherd. He has done good and faithful service. Mr. Wade left the city some months ago and is now in the Western Theological School, Chicago, preparing for the ministry, a candidate from the Diocese of Springfield.

> Mr. Edwin E. Smith, of Marion, reports that during the absence of rector Cole he read service for four Sundays and assisted in the Sunday-school.

Mr. W. A. Baker, lay reader at Rochester, reports having held service on Sunday mornings with morning prayer, litany and sermon, thirty times. During Lent held service also on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance of our Church people at all of these services, and many who were not Churchmen were also present. As superintendent of the Sunday-school I conducted the school every Sunday at 1:20, with an average attendance of twenty children. Owing to sickness among the children and teachers, the school has temporarily closed. The number of Church families in the mission has been reduced by removals to four, leaving us but eight resident communicants.

Mr. A. J. Daniels reports as superintendent of the Sunday-school of St. Philip's, Kennard. Total number of scholars present during the year, 2,142; average attendance, 42; smallest number present, 15; largest, 100. Myself and wife are the only regular teachers, Mrs. Houch assists when it is possible to be present, and occasionally Mr. Engle. It is not uncommon for my wife and I to have twenty scholars each. The interest manifested is good.

Mr. George Thayer, of Plymouth, reports reading service and sermons on various occasions during the vacancy of the rectorship and

HOW TO HELP YOUR PASTOR.

- 1. Hear him. Never let him preach to your
- 2. Recommend him. Don't dig his grave with your tongue.
- 3. Pray for him. The Master's blessing made the few loaves and fishes feed multitudes. Prayer will make what a pastor says and does feed many.
- 4. Pay him. That is honest. A half fed preacher needs food, and one that don't pay his grocery bills can do no good.
- 5. Give him sympathy, real sympathy, enter into actual fellowship with him in all his toils and cares. Jesus yearned for it in Gethsemane and so does your pastor.

The reason some people do not go to church and bible class more is not because the services are tame and the people unsocial, but because the religious atmosphere of their souls, in its temperature is away below zero .- Exchange.

IN NO part of the machinery of Parish Work is it so essential that the clergy should be supported by the personal aid of the laity as in the Sunday School. Here is the young life of a parish; here are to be fostered and cultivated the minds which shall later produce the active element, the people of the parish. In order that these people should be not empty or careless, but spiritually minded, well taught in the faith and truths of the Church, it is vitally necessary that this teaching should begin in early youth. The Sunday-school offers the best opportunity for such teaching; but it is not intended that its instruction shall entirely absolve the parents from home guidance of the youthful minds. There is first taught veneration for holy things, reverence for God and His Church. and the school develops these ideas, teaches the reason why, and so brings the child to full understanding of the Christian faith. In every parish, then, the Sunday-school should express the life which is within its workings. The children should all be in the school; but not alone with the children must the responsibility rest, but with teachers as well, for theirs is the privilege, and theirs the responsibility of assisting the clergy in building, not for today, but for future years, the strength and usefulness of every parish as a bulwark in Christ's Church. ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH IN ENGLAND .-An important paper appears in the Magazine of Christian Literature, written by Dr. Buddersieg, of Dresden. It has been translated by Dr. Schodde, of Columbus, O .- "The Roman Catholic Church in England," in which by figures drawn from various sources, the German statistician proves that instead of the Roman Church increasing it is decreasing in England. He says: "The fact that fifty years ago the Roman Catholics constituted one-third of the population, as they did in the days of Elizabeth and have now decreased to one-seventh, is no longer denied by Roman Catholics. It is true that grand Catholic cathedrals have been erected of late years and many colleges and schools founded. But what does this signify, when as a rule, these buildings are under mortgage from turret to foundation stone. and the attendance of the schools is so small? There are Catholic colleges in England in which the attendance does not average two pupils to a professor."-Southern Churchman.

> ARROWS FOR THE KING'S ARCHERS. By the Rev. Henry W. Little, Sussex, N. B. 12mo. Cloth binding. Price $1. Published by Thomas Whittaker, 2 and 3 Bible House, New York.

> The title of this attractive new book is as suggestive as its contents are pleasing. It is a series of analytic outline addresses upon religious, temperance and social topics, with several courses of addresses for special seasons. The volume is designed for the use of busy and overworked ministers, lay readers, teachers and other Christain workers. The author is no novice in books of this kind: he has published a somewhat similar volume under the clever title "What Shall I Say?," of which three editions have been sold. The purpose of the book is to suggest ideas on subjects for short sermons and addresses in the smallest compass, and in the simplest form possible. The author gives systematical and uniform character to these helps without making them too elaborate or artificial. They will be found simple, yet not superficial; methodical, yet thoroughly practical; brief, but not barren, clearness is one of their striking characteristics. The author holds that it is the plain duty of every speaker to be plain-to be thoroughly understood; that in imparting religious instruction in any form. whether in the pulpit, on the platform or in the class room, the three great departments of the work of the Church in the world, (1) the defense of the faith; (2) the exposition of the faith; (3) the maintenance of the moral purity and rectitude of society, are best helped by direct, robust and plain teachings upon the fundimental doctrines o'the gospels. There is an Appendix containing seventy-eight facts and anecdotes to illustrate the addresses.

There are many volumes of pulpit aids, but here is one that is a help indeed.

THE clergy will please remember that Good Friday the offering is for the Education Fund of our Diocese, to assist in educating our candidates for the Holy Ministry. We will ask that it may be lib-

THE corner-stone of the new Fiske Memorial Parish House for St. Paul's, Richmond, will be laid at 3:00 P. M. on Tuesday in Easter week, April 19, by the Bishop. The clergy are cordially invited.

It is important this General Convention year that all parochial reports be made carefully and fully. That every blank item of the report be filled out. The clergy will please be very particular in regard to this.

ON THE fourth Sunday in Lent the Bishop confirmed, in the morning, ten in St. Paul's, Jeffersonville, and in the evening nine in St. Paul's, New Albany. On Monday evening, March 28, in St. Paul's, Cannelton, seventeen were confirmed.

AT THE Easter elections it is important to select as Wardens and Vestrymen only those interested in the Church's welfare, five men interested in the welfare of the Every baptized member of the Church at Easter.

Church, are better than a dozen indifferent ones, and it is easier to get a quorum for business. The mission organization of a Warden, two Vestrymen, a Secretary and Treasurer, is a most convenient one for the transaction of business and looking after temporalities.

WITH this number of the WORKER we begin volume nine. It is a good time to send in subscriptions. The offer is still open to all who are in arrears, no matter what amount. One dollar sent to M Swan will wipe out all arrearages a pay a year in advance. We hope many who have neglected to send in subscriptions will avail themselves of this gener-

Much is expected and looked for from children's Lenten offerings. Let all the pyramids be gathered in at Easter, contents counted, and remitted to the Treasurer of the Board of Missions at once. Will the clergy notify the Bishop by postal of the amount of their Sunday-school missionary offerings?

should feel bound to do something annually to assist in evangelizing the State. Our welltodo Churchmen should be willing to give liberally and generously for this object. We hope most sincerely that the full quota of every parish may be sent in at Easter. It ought to be considered a pleasure and a privilege to sustain the noble band of missionaries whose reports we herewith set before the Churchmen of the Diocese.

THE financial condition of the Diocese the present time gives great concern to the Bishop and Treasurer. The expense account is overdrawn $1,500, and to meet the stipends of our missionaries April 1, only $150 of the amount needed and which had to be borrowed $600 additional. There is due from the parishes and missions of the Diocese, by a statement received from the Treasurer March 18, $2,534.17 on account of assessments, and on account of missionary apportionment for 1891 and 1892, $3,315.71. Every dollar of this will be past due April 1, and should be in the hands of the Treasurer at that date. What can we do or say in the WORKER to stir up the hearts of our people to an appreciation WE GIVE considerable space this month of their Diocesan obligations, and of every to the quarterly reports of our mission- parish and mission bringing up all arreararies. MISSIONARY REPORTS.

PERU, March 17, 1892. TO THE RT. REV. D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

TO THE RT. REV. D. B. KNICKERBACKER,

Dear Bishop: In addition to the Sunday services at Peru, I am now holding services on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. I deliver a lecture on every Thursday evening, on The History and usages of the Church. It is well attended and I hope to have a class for confirmation after Easter. At Huntington services have been held in the new chapel since January 1. The congregations are good and the Sunday-school in a prosperous condition. The chapel is neat, commodious and centrally located, and is heated and lighted with gas. It has one large memorial window, presented by Mr. Murray Moore, of Anthony, Kansas, in memory of his brother, John I. Moore, a former member of the yestry. An altar will be received as an Easter offering from Miss Mary E. Arnold, of Topeka, Kan. Several gifts have been received from Churches in the Diocesc. A Cross and Bible from Jeffersonville,

E. Arinou, of Topeca, Kan. Several gitts have been received from Churches in the Dlo-cesc. A Cross and Bible from Jeffersonville, and a Credence Table from the Rev. M. Wilson, of Lafayette. We need a baptismal font very much and if any church or mission has one to give it would be highly appreciated. Huntington is growing rapidly and a resident rector is needed to look after the strangers who are constantly coming in. A mission has been organized at Wabash and Mr. Chas. Doebler has consented to act as Warden. We have tented a vacant church and a service will be held once a week. The laddes have organized a guild and will pay part of the expenses. The main offices of the C., W. & M. R. R. will be located here after April i, and the outlook is very favorable.

CANNELTON, March 12, 1892.

My DEAR BISHOP:

Since my last report services have been held as usual on Sundays and week days. There have been three adult and two infant baptisms. I have officiated at three funerals and celebrated the Holy communion eight times in public and twice to the sick in private.

While I can not report any marked improvement in the attendance on the public services, or any decided revival of interest on the part of the people in general, I can turn with special satisfaction to the Sunday-school. Here the attendance has been good, the instruction intelligent and faithful and an increased interest manifested by the children. The immediate result is that quite a large class, for so small a school, will be presented for confirmation. The parish is out of debt.

Yours truly, Dr. AVERY.

Gostfen, March 10, 1892.

MY DEAR BISHOP:

For the last quarter I have held the usual services with a growing interest in the congregation and an increase of strangers on Sunday evenings. I have held one cottage service at Kendatville and officiated (in exchange with Mr. S. E. Prenties) one Sunday at Elkhart, administering the Holy Communion. I am teaching the bulk of the Sunday-school myself, (two small classes having special teachers) and have thus secured a much more regular attendhave the secured a much more regular attendhave and secured a much more regular attendhave attendhave and secured a much more regular attendhave attendha ance. I have also a fluctuating Bible class, which I hope will settle into permanency and some effective material for the Church in time.

The Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary meets the first Wednesday evening of each month, we having a standing rule (violation subject to fine) that each member shall read the equivalent of three pages of Spirit of Missions on some missionary topic. The result is discussed at the meetings. Dues and fines are forwarded to Mission Boards periodically.

Lenten services have opened with unusual interest and attendance. Communicants are more regular. All current expenses are met with the exception of one small bill, for which funds are forthcoming. We hope to liquidate all indebtedness at Eustern

A number of young men have recently arrived in the parish (communicants). They have formed a club and are acting as ushers for the Sunday services and distributing cards of invitation at the hotels. They have undertaken the preparation of some simplified service books for strangers.

The young ladies are preparing an "initial quilt.

The vestry have passed a resolution assessing each Communicant one dollar to meet Diocesan obligations. The communicants have begun handing in this tax and I hope it will be the solution of a disagreeable problem. Respectfully yours.

BLOOMINGTON, IND.

DEAR BISHOP:

The services at these stations have been kept up as at first arranged. During Lent we have had alternate Saturday evening service at Green-castle, and every Friday evening service here. The Sunday services have been fairly well attended at Green-castle. Here the congregations have been small.

At Greencastle we have about 18 communicants and nearly the same number of baptized members (children). At Bloomington we have communicants and 4 children.

Sincerely yours, EBW. SAUNDERS.

Indianapolis, March 22, 1892.

MY DEAR BISHOP: I have to report some material improvements in two of my mission fields. At Connersville, as you know, the long lethargy that has prevailed has been somewhat dissipated, resulting first in material improvements in the church fabric, the amount contributed for such purpose in the last eighteen months aggregating some $600, putting a new roof on the church, painting the exterior and the walls of the interior, placing a beautiful altar and brasses, and laying an artificial stone walk in front of the church lot and to the door, putting in natural gas and new burners for the artificial gas, and with something like $150 to apply towards the purchase of a carpet to cover the entire church, the present one having been in use for over thirty years, and never covered but the chancel and alley. But the improvement is not confined to material things, and there is now a class of six preparing for confirmation, with a promise of an increase in that number by the time you can visit us again, which we hope will not be much after Easter. There is an earnest desire for service every Sunday, and I feel certain that matters will be successfully shaped to that end quite soon. During Lent we are having a service every Friday evening. While the congregations remain small in numbers, yet they are increasing slowly. My father hopes to give them a celebration on Easter.

At Kennard there is some brightening of the prospects, four having been confirmed on March 13, and it is hoped that another class may be gathered before you leave for your European trip. The death of, Alexander Reynolds, who, with his wife, was the only Churchman in the mission, originally, has been a serious loss to the mission. He was ever faithful and earnest. It is hoped that his soon may rise up and take his blace.

At Wilkinson there does not seem to be, as yet, any improvement in prospects, but I am willing still to continue the effort there in the hope of ultimate success.

Yours faithfully, WILLIS D. ENGLE.

BRISTOL, March 15, 1892.

MY DEAR BISHOF:
During the quarter I have conducted in Bristol and Warsaw 41 services; administered Holy Communion in public of times, in private 3 times; preached in both parishes 30 sermons; pastoral visits made, 154; Saints' days observed (celebration), 4) besides Christimas and Ash Westpesdays.

Offerings- December 20, 1891, $3.90; January 21, 1892, Diocesan Church Building Fund, $2.26; January 26, foreign missions, $4.00; March 2, New York Prayer Book Society, $0.84.

The prevalence of La Grippe and other diseases in both parishes has seriously interfected with our work and reduced our number at the services. On Thursday evening, January 31, the Bishop made a visitation at Bristol, when, after preaching the sermon, he gave an address on mission work, both Diocesan and general. A good attendance

RECTORY HOLY INNOCENTS' CHURCH, \
MY DEAR BISHOP:

As per your request, I would respectfully report respecting missionary work. For reasons well known to you, services were suspended in Brightwood about the middle of December last, and have not been resumed. My time has been wholly devoted to the work in Holy Innocents' parish, and the districts outlying but immediately connected therewith.

The work in the parish continues without any important changes. But little growth is to be noted. We get no additions by removals, and lose many during the year by transfers to other places. Our work is in the midst of an intensely predjudiced community, strongly partian sectarian, yet all actuated by one spirit of opposition to the Church.

administering the Holy Communion. I am improvement is not confined to material things.

Our Sunday-school has been changed from teaching the bulk of the Sunday-school myself, (two small classes having special teachers) and of baptizm upon an adult, whose family and have thus secured a much more regular attended and the change was made to the morning to admit the change was made to the morning to admit the change was made to the morning to admit the change was made to the morning to admit the change was made to the morning to admit the change was made to the morning to Brightwood. We lost in the change quite a number of members. Now that Thursday and Saturday afternoons, which were we have gone back to the afternoon we hope to regain some that we lost, but have not succeeded to any great extent.

To accommodate some children in the southeastern part of this parish, who found it difficult to come regularly to the parish church because of the distance. I opened an instruction class at the residence of Mr. Cook across Pleasant Run on Read St., under the charge of Mrs. Cook. This will be continued so long as the local need seems to call for it, and as agreeable to the persons in charge. I visit the class one Sunday each month. The attendance has averaged about eight children.

This would seem to cover about all the matters of general interest.

INDIANAPOLIS, March, 1802.

My DEAR BISHORS

I do not remember when my last report was sent you, but will commence this brief one with the time I was made Deacon, which was on January 25, 1891, making some fifty-eight weeks.

Fifty-five of the above fifty-eight weeks I have conducted service twice every Sunday at St. George's, and every Wednesday evening read evening prayer and made a short address, besides service every Thursday and Saturday afternoon during Lent, 1891.

On account of the sad bereavement and illness in my family, Rev. Mr. Ranger has taken service every Sunday P. M. for past three weeks, and found some one to take Sunday morning that time. He has also preached for us several times during the year on Sunday evenings, also given me much of his time in counsel concerning the affairs of the mission. Through his efforts the members of Christ Church are taking a deeper and more practical interest in St. George's than ever before.

I have taught Bible Class and superintended our Sunday-school every Sunday with three exceptions. Once to conduct service at Brightwood for Rev. Mr. Hunter and twice I was detained by funerals.

Attendance at the above fifty-eight Sunday morning services, 2,625, or an average attendance of 45; attendance at the same number of Sunday evening services, 3,777, or an average of 65; attendance at 58 Wednesday P. M. services, 1,452, average 25.

Father Engle has celebrated Holy Communion for us first Sunday in each month and on Easter and Christmas Days, making a total of 16 times. Number receiving, 510, average, 32.

I have presented 4 Sunday-school scholars for the Roll of Honor, and 28 persons for confirmation. I have baptized 18 adults and young persons and 17 children. I have married 6 couple and conducted 13 funeral services. Rev. Mr. Ranger and yourself have celebrated Holy tized an infant. Communion by my request to the sick of St. George's, and Father Engle has done so twice for me.

Our Sunday-school has had an average attendance of 100. Increase and improvement in offering, reverence and deportment notic- brated the Holy Communion, four persons visitation, and to collect up assessments.

I conducted service during Lent, 1891, every well attended, especially by the members of the King's Daughters and Industrial school. 1 must acknowledge my indebtedness to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Swan and the ladies of St. Mary's Hall for their assistance in our Sunday-school. I have visited West Indianapolis in the interests of the Sunday-school there, of which our Warden, Mr. H. J. Horn, is superintendent, tutes a very desirable property. A parish Have by invitation assisted Rev. Mr. Hunter at Holy Innocents' several times and conducted week day service two Friday afternoons at Christ Church for Rev. Mr. Ranger. Have on Saints Days attended service there and partaken of Holy Communion several times during the year. Have assisted the King's Daughters, which have done good service as our Treasurer, Mr. Jeffries, can testify. Have been some assistance to the Marys and Marthas which society is proving o valuable aid in many ways in this pioneer Church work,

Have organized the girls of eleven to sixteen years, who with the assistance and supervision of Mrs. H. M. Rouse, propose to pay St. George's quota of the Endowment of the Dio-

Have reorganized the choir. Have now some thirty voices in it. With the assistance of your contribution, the Mary's and Marthas, the Industrial school and small special subscription, we were able to paper the entire inside of chapel, raise platform for choir, carpet the same and put in additional gas burners, at a cost of $49.95.

You will notice we have reported only what has been done. Our present plans we hope will have taken form and so be reportable next service and Wednesday evening service during time. We most sincerely hope and believe much has been done which can not, and probably should not, be put on paper, but which has and will bear much fruit to the honor and glory of Him whom we serve.

Asking you to excuse the frequent appearance of the personal pronoun, I, on the ground that this is a personal report, and truly grateor labor in God's appointed way in the Catholic and Apostolic Church, I am,

Yours in the Body of Christ for service, INO. BRANN.

D. D., BISHOP OF INDIANA: During the past six months I have visited

Rochester, St. Paul's Church, as follows: On Monday, September 21, St. Matthew's Day, held morning service in the church and celebrated the Holy Communion. On Sunday, October 18, St. Luke's Day, held services morning and evening. On Sunday, November 15, held services morning and evening, including a celebration of the Holy Communion, five persons receiving.

On Sunday, December 27, St. John's Day, held services morning and evening and bap-

On Friday, January 29, 1892, celebrated the Holy Communion at the residence of Mr. M. being sick.

On Tuesday, March 8, first in Lent, celereceiving, and held service with litany and lecture at 3 P. M.

On Tuesday, March 15, celebrated the Holy Communion, three persons receiving, and held service with litany and lecture at 3 P. M.

Church families are very few in Rochester, all of whom I have called upon repeatedly, Some services have been omitted on account of general sickness. The church building is neat and convenient, and with the lot constiregister has been purchased for the complete record of official acts. Holding on to the work against many and some unusual hindrances, the present endeavor is chiefly to "strengthen the things which remain,"

Yours faithfully.

W. W. RAYMOND.

In addition to the work at Rochester, I have visited Kewanna, first on Tuesday, December 1, 1891, held an afternoon service and baptized two infants at the residence of Mr. W. E. Womelsdorff, quite a little assembly of interested people being present.

On Tuesday, December 15, I accompanied the Bishop of the Diocese to Kewanna, where evening service was held in the G. A. R. Hall, the music being rendered by singers from Plymouth, and the sermon preached by the W. W. RAYMOND. Bishop.

GARRETT, IND., March 9, 1892.

RT, REV, AND DEAR BISHOP:

I beg to report for past quarter that I have given full services at Garrett, Sundays, Wednesday evenings and on all the fasts and festivals appointed by the Church; have celebrated the Holy Communion on the first and third Sundays in each month; have catechized and superintended School every Sunday; have met with Young Peoples' Guild each week, as also the Busy Bee Society. Two months ago organized Parish Missionary Society, which meets on the last Sunday evening in each month, the offerings being made for Diocesan Missions. After even song a short sermon on Missions, with selections from Spirit of Missions and Church Mission News, and an address ful that we are permitted to spare and be spent from one of my laymen, which makes an interesting and profitable service. We are doing all we can to enlist the sympathy and co-operation of young and old, knowing that in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

Under God's guidance the work goes on; all begins to look brighter for the future. At Albion we keep the little flock together. We have given three services, administered Holy Communion and visited those belonging to us. Our two last appointments have been omitted on account of the epidemic, which has closed the schools; and the Warden wrote me that it would he best not to hold service until it passed over. I hope to renew services next week. In Angola I have only made one visit for similar reasons, being requested to postpone my visit by telegram on my last appointment, when on my way here. We have lost the most energetic and devoted of our workers; but we are hopeful to visit them during Lent. In Auburn I have written them to appoint a time for service, but there is not enough interest, with two ex-A. DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

It will be a grand celebration of Easter if each parish in the Diocese will complete their quota for Diocesan Missions. It can be done if a committee of two or three

These quotas are based on the reasonable financial capacity of the parish to meet them and are for the minimum sum the Board of Missions needs to meet their obligations to the missionaries. It would be well if those blessed with ability would give a special generous offering for this object at Easter.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The Howe Grammar School is passing through its eighth year quietly and efficiently with an excellent faculty. It is doing good work. LENT

This Lent is being remarkably well observed throughout the Diocese. In all our parishes special Lenten services and given by the Diocesan Church Building Fund, Communions are held, and the attendance thus far is good. The clergy are working hard and our prayer is that their labors may be blessed of God. That the spiritual life of their people may be greatly strengthened. Holy Week is drawing near in which the services of Lent have their deepest significance as we draw near the cross. May this week of weeks be observed with devout gratitude for the Saviour and what he has done for us men and for our salvation. May Easter dawn upon us to find the Church's children rising to new heights of consecration, determined to manifest the risen life in their own life and conversation.

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

HUNTINGTON, CHRIST CHURCH-On Friday, January 29, Bishop Knickerbacker, assisted by Rev. A. W. Seabrease, of Fort Wayne; Rev. L. F. Cole, of Marion; Rev. D. Griffin Gunn, of Kokomo, and Rev. Otway Colvin, of Peru, visited Huntington for the purpose of opening a neat frame church that had just been completed through the efforts of the missionary in charge, Rev. Otway Colvin. The benediction service in the Priest's Prayer Book, by Norton, was used by the Bishop, the clergy assisting. After evening prayer, instead of a formal sermon, addresses were made by the Bishop and clergy present. The congregation was large and attentive. Huntington is a county town of 8,000 population. The mission was organized by the Bishop soon after he came to the Diocese. It has been served from Marion and Peru. For the past two years Mr. Colvin has been giving a Sunday evening service in a rented room. The mission numbers about thirty communicants; they have struggled hard and long to secure their modest frame church. It is 28 by 58 feet in dimensions, with a tower through which the church is entered. The lot cost $500, the church $1,600. It is very neat, has chancel and robing room, and sittings for two hundred people. The mission is steadily gaining favor in the community. Of the cost, $2,100, $1,100 was secured in the town, $500 and $500 loaned by the General Church Building Fund. The missionary, Mr. Colvin, has been most persevering in his efforts to secure the church, and his people have done nobly. They are mostly railroad employees. The Bible and altar cross were presented by St. Paul's Church, Jeffersonville. The Communion service and altar linen were the gift of the Bishop.

INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL - On the Thursday before Lent the Daughters of the King and St. Andrew's Brotherhood gave an entertainment which netted some $36.00, and on the Monday before Lent the Bishop Graves boys earned $7.15 for the Bishop's School by boys carnets 471-3 to the boy of young boys. Remarkable growth during the Cathedral. The regular evening service is past four years. Large new gymnasium and continued every afternoon with especial address drill hall. For catalogue address the rector, Let us all be thankful to God for this dear to the children on Wednesdays. Sunday-feast of Lent and the glory and joy of school on Illinois street under the care of St. couraging increase. On the third Sunday in Lent the Priest in charge, assisted by a choir of young people, gave them an evening service with a good congregation.

RICHMOND, St. PAUL'S-At Richmond, Rev. J. Everist Cathell has been eminently successful in surmounting difficulties apparently insuperable. Not only is the George Fiske Memorial Chapel and parish house to be immediately erected at a cost of nearly $11,000, but the church and rectory will be thoroughly renovated at a cost of $10,000. All this work will proceed s'multaneously to be finished September 1, 1892. Meanwhile the Church services will be held in one of the public halls of the city. The memorial building is to be supplied in part by a fund of $8,300, started many years ago by the first rector of the parish, Rev. Geo. Fiske. The rest of the money required for that building and the renovation of the church and rectory, has been raised within a fortnight, by a canvas made by the present rector. Col. Dudley, of Washington, D. C., generously contributed $900. The parishioners are neither rich nor poor, but they have not been trained to Christian munificence. Many citizens having no connection with the parish have given liberal aid. There are now about three hundred communicants and three active Guilds. The parish has had only four rectors during the fifty-five years of its existence. Dr. J. B. Wakefield succeeding the first rector, and Rev. Frank Hallam the second. Dr. Wakefield spent nearly thirty years in the parish, four years as assistant, and nearly twenty-six as termined effort to build a small church at Albion this year, and the Warden and myself will canvass the town for assistance in the project.

I think I have given you, dear Bishop, a brief synopsis of our work. Our Sunday-school and all our auxiliaries here are alive and prospering. I am doing all I can to have a clean state with the Treasurer at an early date, but 'tis hard to legislate without means.

Now I must prepare for service. God bless you dear Bishop. Ever your obliged servant and son in His Holy Church,

THOS. B. KEMP.

ANDERSON, TRINITY-Mr. McGlone reports: "Have held all Sunday and week-day services. There have been fifteen baptisms, seven adults and eight children; thirteen confirmed; have had six marriages and fifteen funerals. Church lot and improvements, $2,000; church building, $1,450; furnishings, $625; rectory, $1,500; total, $5,575. We are carrying $1,000 loan on rectory.

AURORA, St. MARK'S, AND LAWRENCEBURGH, TRINITY - Rev. Cecil P. Wilson, missionary, reports: "Until after Christmas I held services, school flourishing." every Sunday at Aurora, and as there were no afternoon trains, walked to Lawrenceburgh to hold afternoon service and returned to Aurora for evening service; but latterly have been giving evening service at Lawrenceburgh with much increased congregations. The people, too, seem to be more interested and energetic in Church matters. They are talking of putting a new roof on the church and increasing its attractiveness in other ways. To aid in raising funds they are proposing an entertainment after Easter. I have succeeded in making the Sunday-school an established fact and hope to have some children worthy to be inscribed upon the Roll of Honor at your next visit, as also some candidates for confirmation."

COLUMBUS, ST. PAUL'S-Report of J. Gorton Miller, missionary, for quarter ending March 15, 1892: 44 No. of services held, 33; celebrations Holy Communion, 6; pastoral visits, 63; sermons and addresses, 35; times catechized, 12. Such is the record of work at Columbus during the last quarter. Owing to sickness have not visited any adjacent towns during the winter. There seems to be a steady growth of interest here. Two features are especially noticeable. First, a more regular attendance of Church people, especially at the morning service; second, a large proportion of men at all the services. It often happens that the little church is nearly filled with devout and attentive worshippers, while the congregations are fairly good at all times. There is a growing conviction of permanence and earnestness in the Church's ministrations and of their adaptation to the spiritual needs given: It has taken time to bring this about. Several of the city pulpits are filled by men of high ability, and have hitherto largely drawn the masses. But in the face of all rivalries and antagonisms we have held our own, with the outlook for at least a The last quarter I made four visits; held nine fair share of the general religious growth. HAMMOND, ST. PAUL'S-Rev. Henry B. Collier reports: "Services have been carried on regularly in this mission during the months of January and February. Holy Communion has been celebrated every other Sunday at 7:30 A, M. Sunday-school has been held every Sunday at 2:30 P. M. Attendance has been good. Baptisms, none: marriages, none: funerals. two. Guaranteed support from this mission, $400 up to this date, March 1. I am three months behind in stipend. I have received from Board of Missions check for $40. The work in this mission looks more encouraging. Services at East Chicago have been dropped for the present. The rolling mill shut down, which caused people to move away. Most of them were members of the Church."

Кокомо - Report of Rev. D. Griffin Gunn. missionary, March 16, 1892: "Baptisms, four; Holy Communion celebrated three times: marriages, two; burials, one; services, twentyfour. We have services still in the upper room. The congregations moderate; the Sunday-

New Carlisle-Dean Walter Scott reports: 'Here I have been able to visit but once. On account of removals and sickness the mission has been able to do but little this winter. In the later spring we hope to get the Church under way, and by autumn have it paid for and ready for consecration."

NEW CASTLE, St. JAMES'S Mr. Woodard writes: "First, we wish to say how glad we are to have had our dear Bishop with us for a few days at the beginning of Lent to direct and counsel us on the best way of keeping this holy season. We are so cheered and encouraged by his helpful sermons and fatherly counsels. We hope soon to have our church building moved to a more convenient and attractive location. Our Sunday-school has grown from a very small number to sixty-eight. By Easter we expect quite a number of additions to our Roll of Honor for reciting the catechism. There seems to be a very good interest in our school. Have officiated at two funerals, Mr. Andrew Tufts and Mr. Alexander Reynolds. The latter I visited in his last sickness. It is rare to see one as fully apply the Church's teachings to himself in the hour of his greatest need as this dear brother did. Realizing that the end of his earthly life was near he put his whole trust in God and peacefully passed into the rest of Paradise. It gave me pleasure to see our Bishop confirm, on March 13, in St. Philip's, Kennard, four of Mr. Reynolds' children, two sons and two daughters; others of his children will follow, and the dearest wish of their departed father be fulfilled."

NORTH LIBERTY, ST. PHILIP'S-Dean Walter Scott reports: "Have held an average of two services a month. I now go once a month and stay two days, and hold two or more services.

NORTH VINCENNES, ST. JOHN'S MISSION SCHOOL-Dr. Adams reports: "In September we opened with thirty-one scholars, with Miss Laura Hadley teacher. The average attendance has been about thirty pupils; names on the roll, forty-five. Of the children now in attendance over twelve are of parents whose father or mother, or both, are members of the Church. On the mission house I have been able to erect a tower at a cost of $113, $57 of which had been collected by Mr. Sargent. A bell has been hung in the tower. A Sundayschool has been kept up every Sunday at 2 P. M. in which I am greatly assisted by Mr. Richard Greenhow and a faithful band of teachers. I have also kept up a Thursday evening service. with attendence of from twenty to fifty, I know not that I shall be able to keep up the day school another year."

WASHINGTON, ST. GEORGE'S MISSION- Dr. Adams reports: "Dear Bishop-At your request I took charge of the mission at Washington the 1st of July last. Since that time I have given two services a month in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. We have had a variable attendance - sometimes fifty, at others half a dozen. The average is about a dozen. The work as it is at present is not very encouraging and will not amount to much until the people have a church building and Sunday services. Nevertheless I have endeavored to sow good seed, and we must leave the future to the great Overseer. My principal work has been throughout the city, where I have met with men and women and set the claims of our Church before them. From this kind of work have learned that there are a number of intelligent people who have a tendency toward the Church, and I have no doubt a goodly number of them will in time be brought into the fold. From my entrance into the work I have had ever before me the necessity for a church building before anything permanent could be accomplished, and therefore I set about raising funds to secure a lot in a suitable place. I have now deposited in the bank $300 in the bank toward that object, with some more promised but not yet collected. We hope by Easter to have the deed of a lot in the hands of the Trustees. There are in all fourteen confirmed persons in the mission and about twelve baptized, besides old and young. I am quite certain that as soon as the people have a church building and have Sunday services on alternate Sundays with, say Worthington, the mission will develop steadily."

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN Dear Children:

How are you keeping Lent? Do you try and attend some of the Lenten services in your church? Are you careful about your prayers night and morning, and in reading your Bible. Those of vou who are communicants, are you careful to prepare for your Communions, and to go regularly? Oh, I hope so, and I do pray that this may be a good Lent for you all. That you may appreciate your privileges as members of the Church of God. Wherever I have been this Lent, I have seen children at Church, and it makes me glad. And how about your pyramids, dear children, are they getting filled up with the pennies and self denial offerings that you have earned and saved? Do you think good Dr. Langford is going to have his expectation realized, of $100,000 as the children's grand Easter offering for all missions? I do hope he may. I am sure if the children of the Church try hard and are careful to put in their pennies and ask their friends to do so, it will be secured, and how thankful we shall all be. I do hope our Indiana children will give generously. Each child who has a pyramid will be entitled to a handsome picture of all the Missionary Bishops that can be framed and put up upon the walls of their room. I have not received any letters from the children son. this month. I shall look for a great many at Easter containing offerings for the Orphanage. May you all, dear children, have a very happy Easter.

Your Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

EDITORIAL.

AT GREENCASTLE and Bloomington there were pleasant Easter services, and the pastor, Mr. Saunders, was generously remembered in both places by donations, showing an appreciation of his services.

THE Rev. Asa A. Abbott of Evansville was a visitor at the May meeting of the Indianapolis Clericus, which was held in Christ Church Chapel, and in the absence of Mr. Brann, was presided over by the Bishop. He gave a good account of Church work in the Southern part of the Diocese. The Bishop spoke of the improved condition of the finances of the Diocese. Arrangements were made for the entertainment of the clerical delegates to the Diocesan Convention.

THE Howe Grammar School has been the recipient of a generous donation of land from Mr. S. P. Williams of Lima. intended for an athletic park and play ground. It is adjoining the Howe homestead and not far from the school. It lies level and is surrounded by beautiful maple shade trees. It is 620 feet by 382 feet in dimensions. This is a very much needed addition to the school property, as parishes of the Diocese. We hope this accomplishment. It is not yet too late. the grounds about the school were not year there will not be a mission station or Will not every reader of the WORKER large enough to admit of all the athletics parish in the Diocese non-contributing, who has not yet made a donation for the demanded. In grateful remembrance of his generosity it will be called the Williams' Athletic Park of Howe Grammar School.

WHILE at Marion on Wednesday in Holy Week, the Bishop was taken suddenly and seriously ill, and obliged to suspend his appointments for Marion, Holy Innocents, Indianapolis, and Aurora and Lawrenceburgh. His physician thought the illness was the result of overwork, and advised rest and refraining from preaching. After a few days rest he was enabled to resume his appointments for confirmation, and hopes to be able to continue them up to Convention. The Bishop has taken passage on the State of California for Glasgow, and expects to sail with Mrs. Knickerbacker on June 16, to be absent until October. He hopes to another year.

EASTER SERVICES.

ANDERSON, TRINITY-Rev. I. A. McGlone, Rector, writes: "We had a glorious Easter. The church could not contain one-quarter of the number who wanted to be at the services. We had grand music, beautiful decorations and the Knights Templar."

AURORA AND LAWRENCEBURGH-Rev. Cecil P. Wilson writes of beautiful Easter services at Trinity, Lawrenceburgh, and St. Mark's, Aurora. The congregations were large and the decorations beautiful. The offerings met the obligations of the parish.

BRISTOL, St. John's-Rev. Charles Turner writes: "We had very hearty and bright services yesterday and liberal offerings. The service in the evening was a children's service. Large congregations attended both services. Children's Lenten offering for general missions, $10. Balance due on Diocesan assessments was provided."

CANNELTON, ST. LUKE'S-Lent and Easter are over, and it is my duty as well as my pleasure to give you some information as to the services, etc., at St. Luke's. During Lent, in addition to services on Wednesdays and Fridays, and every day in Holy Week, Holy Communion was celebrated nine times in public and twice to the sick in private, and seventeen were confirmed at your recent Lenten visitation. On Easter day there were nineteen communicants at the early celebration, and thirty-one at the later, and one in private; six infants were baptized in the afternoon, and at 3 o'clock there was a very pleasant Sundayschool festival, at which the Lenten offerings were received. Later in the afternoon a funeral in the church closed the public duties of the day

CONNERSVILLE, TRINITY-The three hours service on Good Friday was largely attended both by the Churchmen and visitors. During the whole Lent there had been a growing interest and attendance while the congregation on Easter morning was the largest in years. The Rev. Willis D. Engle was assisted by his venerable father, who celebrated the Holy Communion. The fabric of the church is now in nearly perfect condition, the latest additions being new candle-tip burners throughout the church and the entire floor covered with a beautiful and appropriately patterned brussels carpet. A large class (for this parish,) is in preparation for the Bishop's visitation, May 20.

ELKHART, St. John's-Mr. Stephen E. Prentiss, lay reader in charge: "We had services every evening during Lent. Attendance was remarkably good. Good Friday night there were at least a hundred people present. I think we are getting stronger. Progress is perceptible and quite encouraging. Our Easter offerings, $51.49, met our full obligations to Diocese for the current year. The children's Lenten offering, $5, was sent to the General Board. The vestry elected on Easter Monday: Mr. J. W. Patterson, Senior Warden; S. A. Jones, Junior Warden; James R. Gore, L. Chamberlain, Perry L. Turner, Dr. Miles and Eugene Forter, Vestrymen."

At the mid-day service a good congregation filled the church, the vested choir rendered a program of churchly music, including morning prayer and Holy Communion, sixty-three persons receiving. In the evening full choral service was sung by the choir and Sunday-school, the children were addressed by the rector and at the end of the service made their annual offering for Foreign and Domestic missions.

EVANSVILLE, St. PAUL'S-Rev. Charles Morris, Rector: "Had on Easter Day two celebrations, about 250 communicating. Decorations and music especially fine. Offerings, $190 for Diocesan missions.

FORT WAYNE, TRINITY-Rev. Mr. Seabrease. Rector: "We had a splendid Easter. Large communions at 7:30 and 10:45. Offering, $400.57 for Diocesan and parish purposes. Delightful Sunday School services at 4 in the afternoon, $70 from mite boxes for missions."

FRANKFORT, St. LUKE'S-Dr. Jenckes very kindly supplied this vacant mission with Easter services to their great gratification. The Doctor also gave them a Sunday in March and a Sunday to the vacant parish of St. Matthew's, Worthington. He continues his mission services also at Plainfield.

GARRETT, EMMANUEL-Rev. Dr. Kemp: "We had a good Lent here and a grand Easter festival. Full and enthusiastic congregations from 6 in the morning to close of even song and Sunday School festival. Communicants of Trinity Mission, Kendallville, came over and worshiped with us and received the blessed sacrament. Children's Lenten offerings, $10.22; parish offerings, $39.22; communion alms, $6.54."

GOSHEN, St. JAMES'S - The Good Friday services were well attended, and thoughtful faces indicated earnest hearts. Easter was a glorious day. In spite of the rain, when the time of morning service arrived every available seat in the church was occupied. The vested choir of twenty-five voices was at its best, and choice selections were devotionally rendered. The decorations were chaste and effective, nothing being overdone. The children's service in the afternoon seems to be growing popular. The church was more than half filled for this service-more than half of those present being children. The Easter offering for 1889 was $41.00; for 1890, $83.00; for this year, $98.00, besides pledges for money and wood later on, The Sunday-school Lenten offering was nearly $10.00. The St. Agnes' Guild have raised $55.00 during the year, and the Ladies' Aid $108.00. The Easter elections have been harpoints to more rigorous progress for the coming year.

HAMMOND, St. Paul's-Rev. H. B. Collier writes: "You will be glad to know the ser- the day was about $150. Indianapolis, Christ Church-Easter was a beautiful and inspiring day the result of a wellkept Lent. There were three celebrations, at 7 A. M., 9:30 A. M., and 12 M. respectively. At the 7 o'clock celebration there were seventythree communicants. At 10:30 the congregation was large, filling every seat. The choir sang the Easter music so effectively as to win the commendation of all. The Children's Choral Easter Festival took place at 3 P. M. The Carols were a rare selection and the children sang them wonderfully well. Addresses were made by Mrs. J. R. Nichols and Mr. I. H. Kiersted, and the school was catechised on the events of the day by the rector. The offerings brought forward by the school were: For Diocesan Missions, $56.85; for General Missions, $50.00; for Church Home, $15.00; total, $121.85. Evening prayer was said at 7:30 P. M. Bishop Knickerbacker was present and confirmed and addressed fifteen candidates. The Easter offerings of the congregation were: For Diocesan Missions, $183.50; for Diocesan Church Building Fund, $10-20; for Church Home, $25.00; for the Parish, $100.00; total from congregation, $318.70; total from Sundayschool, $121.85; whole Easter offering, $440.55.

INDIANAPOLIS, GRACE CATHEDRAL. The Holy Week services were well attended, those of Good Friday especially so.

Easter was a full day and a bright one, Services were at 6:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30 A. M., 3 and 7:30 P. M. The 8:30 and 3 o'clock services were for the children. The 8:30 service was a simple celebration, mostly sung, with hymns and carols and a short address. The afternoon was a choral service with addresses by Rev. Mr. Swan and Mr. A. S. Haynes. The Bishop was present at the 8:30 service, and confirmed a class of eight, and consecrated the Chalice and Paten, of which a description will appear in the WORKER next month,

With the Memorial Service were also given a pair of silver-mounted cruets, and there was blessed at the same time a new set of silk veil. pall, burse, etc. The altar also was dressed with new linen.

INDIANAPOLIS, HOLY INNOCENTS' - Easter services were well attended. The church had been very nicely prepared for the festival by loving hands and hearts with a few select plants and beautiful memorials of cut flowers. The music was rendered with that heartiness which seemed to reflect the joys of the season. The rector took for his subject of instruction "The Rolling Back of the Stone, and the Opening of the Tomb," as illustrating the opening of the way of life and the victory over death and the grave. In the afternoon there were several baptized. The heavy rain somewhat monious and enthusiastic, and everything interferred with the attendance of the children at the evening festival and the presentation of the children's Easter offering; yet the attendance was quite good. The total offering for Salutation," "Christ is Risen," by thirteen the bell tolled thirty-three times in memory Day. At 6:30 a. m. fifty-two communed. The with an Easter carol, by all, assisted by a

INDIANAPOLIS, St. GEORGE's-Holy Communion was celebrated at 9 a. m. by Rev. E. G. Hunter of Holy Innocents, about fifty receiving. At 10:30 Mr. Brann, minister in charge, took the service. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and a large congregation present. At the Sunday School celebration in the afternoon the children's mite chests yielded $28. At the close of the service Mr. Brann presented fourteen for confirmation.

INDIANAPOLIS, ST. PAUL'S-Services on Easter Day in this parish were conducted by Rev. G. E. Swan of St. Mary's Hall. The church was beautifully decorated, the congregation was large, a hundred at Holy Communion. Liberal offerings were made for Diocesan Missions. The parish was made happy in hearing style. The ornamentation did not partake of that the vacancy in the Rectorship had been an elaborate display of evergreens, etc., strewn filled by the acceptance of a call extended to Rev. G. A. Carstenson. Mr. Carstenson spent chancel and alcoves. Hundreds of beautiful Palm Sunday in the parish holding services calla lilles, fragrant lilies of the valley, hyamorning and evening. He expects to enter upon the Rectorship on Whitsunday. On the afternoon of Easter Day the Sunday Schools of the front of the church and the sweet aroma St. Paul's and St. James' held their festival together at St. James' Chapel with bright carols and a distribution of Easter eggs.

JEFFERSONVILLE, St. PAUL'S-The Senior Warden writes: "My Dear Bishop-I know you will be glad to hear we had a joyous Easter; two celebrations, large congregations, generous offerings. Morning offering, $140 for the new church building fund; $15 for the Sunday School and other purposes; children's mite chests, $25. The ladies cleared $95 at a dinner not long since. We have bought ten feet more of ground, giving us 110 feet front."

KENDALLVILLE, INDIANA, April 12, 1802-Dear Bishop: The members of Trinity Mission send with their Easter offering an Easter greeting to you and Mrs. Knickerbacker. It is our wish that the offering, $7, may be given to the Diocesan Church building fund. The interest is still keeping up in our mission and we are all looking forward to the time when we can have regular services here. About eight of us are going to drive over to Garrett to Easter services if the weather will permit. It will be only a short time till you will be with us and it will be a treat to us all .- Mrs. Archie Campbell, Treasurer of Trinity Mission.

LAPORTE, ST. PAUL'S - We had a grand Easter, thirty-seven communicants at early and fifty-five at the later service, ninety-two munion. Financial report of the parish was about the same as last year. > MICHIGAN CITY, TRINITY-Seldom in its history has Trinity Church excelled its Easter celebration of this year. From early morning until the concluding hymn at night glad allelulias sounded. Christ was risen indeed. The beautiful church was decorated in magnificent over the church, but was 'confined to the altar. cinths, LaFrance roses, and big urns of palms, including many potted plants, literally filled arising penetrated the entire edifice. The services began at 7 o'clock with the celebration of the Holy Communion and the majority of the congregation were present. At 10:30 o'clock the attendance was much larger, nearly every available seat being occupied. The full morning service was read and the rector, Rev. N. W. Heermans, preached an excellent sermon upon Easter. The new vested choir of thirty-five Sunday School service about 125 children were voices made its initial appearance and acquitted present, and in the evening the church was itself with rare credit. The music rendered again well filled. A small pipe organ has been was of a high order and reflected highly upon the instructor, Prof. Albert Cook. In the evening the attendance was so great that the church Wednesday after Easter Rev. Mr. Morris of St. was filled as never before, while many were turned away. A special service arranged for Michigan City Commandery, No. 30, Knights On the evening after Mr. Morris presented Templars, was given, and the commandery was present forty swords strong under the leadership of E. C. Nichols. The sermon of the rector was appropriate to the occasion, and was the night before. The work in St. Stephen's is presented with excellent effect.

THE CHILDREN'S COT FUND.

On Christmas Day, 1884, Lottie Eastman was buried from St. Paul's, Laporte, the beloved child of Rev. R. S. Eastman, rector of the parish. Her parents found in her little bank $2.50, this they gave as the beginning of the endowment of a Cot for little sick children in St. Stephen's Hospital, Richmond, Soon after they removed from the Diocese to Torresdale, near Philadelphia, but ever since they have sent an annual donation in memory of Lottie, to be added to the fund. By the generous remembrance of the children of the Diocese, the fund now amounts to $525. We want it to go on growing until it reaches at least $1,500. A few days ago the Bishop received the following letter which will tell us that our dear friends, Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, have been again bereaved in the death of their dear little Ruth Curtis. We are sure they will have the sympathy of many readers:

TORRESDALE, PHILA., April 12, 1892. My DEAR BISHOP-I do not know whether you have learned of the death of our youngest little girl, Ruth Curtis, a little one you had never seen. She died January 19, after a very years and more thus opening peacefully and of New Castle, officiating.

sweetly into life eternal. Her eyes are opened now to see His face. Both Mrs. Eastman and myself have decided that we would like to add the contents of her little bank to the fund for the Child's Cot, towards which our little Lottie's bank account was also given, and I accordingly send you herewith a New York draft for the said amount, being $13,50. Hoping you may get it by Easter as Ruth's Easter gift to do its share toward comforting some wearied little one when the whole fund is completed.

Believe me most sincerely yours, R. S. EASTMAN.

LETTER TO THE CHILDREN. My Dear Children:

Your Bishop can only write you a brief letter this month. He wishes to thank you for your generous Lenten offerings in behalf of Missions. I am sure Dr. Langford's heart and the Board of Missions will be made glad when the returns are all in from the mite chests. Your Bishop is proud of you all. The largest amount received from any Sunday-school that the Bishop has heard of was Christ Church, Indianapolis, $100. The next from Trinity Sunday-school, Ft. Wayne, $70; Grace Cathedral, $38; St. Paul's, Indianapolis, $30; St. George's, $28; indeed all have done remarkably well. There were also nice offerings for the Orphanage. Eighteen children have sent to the Bishop twenty-five cents or more during April. The year will close Whitsunday, and I shall be glad to hear from all the children who will give twenty-five cents or more before that date. We have now $2,500 in bank, we shall not be able to lay the corner stone as we hoped at Convention, but if every Churchman in Indiana, and every Church boy or girl will send in some remembrances to this fund we surely will be able to do it in the fall. With sincere love,

Your friend and Bishop, D. B. KNICKERBACKER.

Goshen, Ind., April 13, 1892. DEAR BISHOP-St. Agnes Guild, of St. James' Cliurch, Goshen, send you four dollars for the Orphanage Fund. Three dollars come from the sale of your pictures, and one dollar is an offering from the Guild.

Very respectfully, ELIZABETH DUGDALE, Secretary.

KENDALLVILLE, IND., April 14, 1892. DEAR BISHOP-We send you 50 cents for the Orphans' Cot Fund.

EVANSVILLE, ST. PAUL'S-During the month of March, branches of the Woman's and Junior Auxiliaries to the Board of Missions were organized in St. Paul's parish, the latter among the young women. Each society began with large numbers and much enthusiasm among its members. The committee report nearly all nocents' parish, March 6, Mrs. Robert Rowland, a member of the Auxiliary, read an instructive paper on the benevolent institutions of the Diocese. With the aid of a file of the Diocesan journals, and items of information furnishedby the Bishop, the reader of the paper reviewed the history of these institutions in the Diocese, showing that there are two, St. Stephen's Hospital, Richmond, and the Church Home, Indianapolis, the latter yet to be built, the lot only having been purchased and a portion of the money for the building secured. At the April meeting, Easter Monday, a paper is to be read by Mrs. Charles Johann, on missionary work among the North American Indians. The Junior Auxiliary, composed of about thirty-five twenty additional shares if they are not boys and girls, meet once each month for instruction in missionary work. OUR DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

We regret at this season to have to report that our parishes and missions are greatly in arrears in their quota for Diocesan Missions. The Treasurer has not the funds in hand to meet the stipends of the missionaries April 1. We therefore hope that in many of our parishes the Easter offerings are to be for this purpose, and that the Mission Board and its Treasurer may be gladdened by generous full quota is now due, and every parish should see to it that it is sent to the Treasurer as soon as possible. > THE CHURCH WORKER with this number enters upon its tenth volume. For nine years it has been a monthly visitor to two thousand homes in Indiana, telling its readers of the progress of the Church in our Diocese. In many of these homes it has been a welcome visitor, and hearts have been encouraged, and faith been strengthened by its faithful record of what has been done for Christ and the Church in our borders. We are glad to be able to say that through the kindness of many in sending subscriptions we are able to close the year without indebtedness. We shall be grateful to all who shall renew their subscriptions for the tenth volume. All who receive the paper have still the opportunity to wipe out old arrearages, and start fresh with a year paid in advance, by sending to Mr. Swan fifty cents. We are grateful to those clergy who have appointed collectors to gather subscriptions, and to the rector of Trinity, Fort Wayne, for a collection in church for the Worker. We wish all our readers a happy Easter.

OLD POSTAGE STAMPS

The Bishop is collecting old postage stamps, a million of them, for which he can secure at least $100 for the Church Home. The older they are the more they are worth. They should be kept and neatly put up in packages of 100 or 1,000 until you have an opportunity to send them to the Bishop without expense. Let us all work hard to get a million.

The following is from a recent Pastoral of Bishop Coxe:

Bisnop Coxe:
A neglect of family prayers is the underlying source of innumerable evils in many house-holds. Where a blessing is never invoked upon a family by all its members kneeling before God, what wonder if blessings are withheld? When we reflect that a reverent use even of tile Lord's Prayer only would preserve a family from the curse which rests on a prayerless household, surely there can be no excuse for neglecting because of the proverbial pressure and hurry of the world's affairs.

The neglect of private reading of the Scripgations, and seek to make up these de-linquencies before the Convention, and relieve the Diocese of the emburrasment of debt. Assessments are made to meet

VISITATIONS.

The Bishop has had some delightful visitations in March. At Michigan City there was a very large congregation at the morning service. The vested choir of boys, men and women rendered the musical portion creditably, and the reverent demeanor and hearty responses of the congregation made it a memorable service. The large class of young people confirmed, several of them pupils of Barker Hall, were an indication of the faithfulness of the rector, Mr. Heermans. He is taking a deep interest in the school and devoting a good deal of his time to making it a success. He has about fifty pupils and is aided by two teachers. We regretted we were not able to remain over to visit the Sunday-school in the afternoon. Mr. J. H. Barker, our hospitable host, sent us with the rector in a comfortable carriage to Laporte, where we arrived at the rectory of Brother Scott in good time for evening service. St. Paul's, Laporte, was crowded full. The music was rendered most heartily by a chorus choir of young people and children. The service was taken by Messrs. Scott and Heermans. Atter the sermon, six were presented for confirmation, three of them members of the Sunday-school. The classes had been large here for several years, and it could not be expected every year. Mr. Scott is doing faithful work at Laporte and caring for the two missions at North Liberty and New Carlisle. On Monday and Tuesday, March 13 and 14, accompanied by brother Raymond, we visited his two missions at Rochester and Kewanna. The little church at Rochester was well filled, notwithstanding a storm. It was beautifully decorated by the ladies with flowering plants. A class of six young women, King's Daughters, were present in a body. A liberal offering was made after the sermon for Diocesan Missions. On the next morning there was a celebration of Holy Communion and a brief address. All seemed to enjoy the privilege of coming to the Holy Communion. Brother Raymond gives a monthly service here. Deacon Baker is having cottage services every week in the homes of Church families. At Kewanna on Tuesday evening, in the midst of a heavy storm, we had about sixty out in Grand Army Hall. There was a hearty service from the leaflets, and good congregational singing, led by Mr. Raymond. We have three Church families here. One of them had driven six miles from the country to be present. After the service, leaving our kind hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Walmsdorf, we returned to Plymouth, reaching there at 10 P. M. Wednesday was spent quietly at the rectory, having a visit from Rev. S. E. Prentiss, of South Bend. We were sorry to learn of the serious illness of his brother Augustine, who is sick at Lowell, Mass. He had felt obliged to resign his parish, and it had been accepted. Mr. S. E. Prentiss will care tor South Bend until Easter. Wednesday evening, St. Thomas's, Plymouth, was filled to its utmost capacity. A large chorus choir rendered the music nicely. Mr. Raymond and Mr. Prentiss said evening prayer, the Bishop preaching, confirming a class of fifteen and addressing them. One half of these candidates were from the Sunday-school. Mr. Raymond's labors here are being greatly blessed, a paper upon "The Use of the Prayer TERRE HAUTE, IND., March 20, 1893.

and the several organizations are working efficiently. The Altar Guild we learned, as a secret, were working to present an altar desk at Easter, and new service books. We returned from these visitations greatly encouraged. On the fifth Sunday in Lent we had another great day in St. Paul's, Richmond, catechising the Sunday-school at 10' A. M. and preaching at 10:36 to an immense congregation that filled the church and gallery and overflowed into the guild house. Service was taken by the rector, Rev. J. Everist Cathell and Dr. Test. The rector had the happiness of presenting a class of 48 for confirmation, the largest in the Diocese this year. Fully one-third of them were from the Sunday-school. It was a noble class. They have had a glorious Lent in St. Paul's, and rector and people are greatly encouraged by the outlook. There was a liberal collection for Diocesan Church Building Fund. The Bishop had the honor of being sent home in a special car attached to the fast mail, through the kindness of Superintendent Miller. On Monday evening, March 20, we made our second visitation for the year to St. Paul's, Columbus. Rev. Mr. Miller presented two for confirmation. We were guests at tea of Col. and Mrs. Dailey. Mr. Miller resigned the mission some time ago, to take effect at Easter. Afer the service, we returned home, leaving Columbus at 11 P. M. and reaching Indianapolis at midnight.

CLERICAL CHANGES.

Rev. Cecil P. Wilson, of Aurora, has resigned, and is now engaged as an assistant in St. John's Chapel of Trinity parish, New York.

Rev. A. R. Glover has resigned Christ Church, Madison, to take effect May 17. and the resignation has been accepted.

Rev. Augustine Prentiss, because of ill accepted.

C. T. Stout assumed the rectorship of life and immortality to light. St. James's, Goshen, on the fifth Sunday in Lent.

Rev. Mr. Blake enters upon the rectorship of St. John's, Lafavette, on Easter Day. Both are good men, and have done good work in the fields they leave to come to us. We most cordially welcome them to the Diocese. Rev. Dr. Jenckes supplied a Sunday at Crawfordsville and Worthington during March. He will spend Easter at Frankfort. His services have been most welcome in all these places.

Rev. F. C. Woodard, of New Castle, exchanged with Mr. Engle, and gave the Holy Communion to Connersville the 4th Sunday in Lent. Father Engle will celebrate Holy Communion at Connersville for his son on Easter Day. have monthly parish papers now in Muncie, St. Paul's and Holy Innocents', and Christ Church, Indianapolis.

WE send out the WORKER a little early this month, that it may reach each one of our readers in time for Good Friday. We believe we have had a good Lent in the Diocese, and that the spiritual life of many has been deepened and strengthened by their devout and faithful observance of the holy season. We are sure the clergy have exerted themselves to the utmost that they might bring about this good result. Holy Week is being observed with a care and diligence never before exceeded in the Diocese. The large classes now being presented for confirmation are a fruit of faithful sewing of the seed and careful training. We have never seen classes apparently better trained, and realizing more fully their confirmation responsibilities. We thank God for this. Good Friday, the three hour service will be observed in more churches than ever before, and in the shadow of the cross, and meditating on the seven last words of the Saviour upon the cross, holy faith will be quickened, and hearts drawn to a more loving appreciation of Him who hangs thereon that He may draw all men unto Him. A good Lent and careful observance of Holy Week will bring a joyous happy Easter to all our parishes, and awaken and quicken spiritual life that shall bear fruit in the years to come. Oh, health, has resigned South Bend and how thankful we Churchmen should be Mishawaka, and his resignation has been for the Christian year, for Lent, Holy Week and Easter. The Bishop sends Rev. Mr. Walton spent a couple of cordial greeting to all his clergy and their months at Elkhart, very much to the flocks, and would salute them all with edification of the parish. All regretted the ancient Easter salutation, "Christ is he could not become their rector. Rev. risen; He is risen indeed," bringing MEMORIAL TO BISHOP TALBOTT AND MRS. TALBOTT IN THE CHURCH HOME.

No more fitting memorial could be made to this good man, who both as rector and Bishop was so beloved in Indiana, than to have his name in some way connected with the Church Home which will before long be erected as one feature of the great work for humanity the Church is trying to do in this Diocese.

The large reception-room down stairs in the building, as arranged in the plan, has been already taken for a Memorial to Bishop Upfold. One of the dormitories has been taken by Bishop Knickerbacker, and will bear the name of Bishop Kemper. It would certainly be a graceful and proper tribute to the memory of Bishop Talbott and Mrs. Talbott to have the other dormitory named for them, so it has been set apart for that purpose. The sum necessary for this purpose is $500, and in order that this may be a Diocesan memorial, no one or two persons or parishes will be permitted to donate the whole amount, but every communicant and every baptised child can have the privilege of contributing to this testimonial of affectionate remembrance of one who in his life was so devoted and generous to the Church of Indiana. If any friend of his who did not know him as his Spiritual Leader so much as the genial friend and polished intellectual gentleman, whose charms of individual character they appreciated, wishes to contribute also, they have the right to do so. In order that this memorial fund may be as universal as possible, and that it may not in any way detract from other funds, the amount to be given by adults has been placed at any sum from 25 cents to $1.00, and that from = children in the Sunday-school or in the Home at any sum from one to 10 cents. In this way the poorest may be able to have a share in this work of love, and those who have already given, or will give large sums, will feel no added burden in giving. Will Sunday-school teachers and Superintendents gather the pennies from the children and send in the amounts as soon as possible, and will rectors who receive any gifts keep a list of the names of the donors and send with the money? All individuals contributing will please give address, as a book will be kept for this purpose. All contributions for this memorial should be sent direct to Mrs. J. R. Nichols, 519 North Pennsylvania-st., Indianapolis.

When any amount worth doing so has been received it will be forwarded to the Treasurer.

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

DEAR CHILDREN-March has been a happy month for the Bishop. He has held a number of delightful visitations at which he has been permitted to confirm a good number of boys and girls from our Sunday-schools. It always makes him happy to see the young coming to Christ, and consecrating themselves to His blessed service. At Michigan City, at Plymouth, at Richmond, at St Paul's, Indianapolis, there was a good proportion of youths confirmed. Only two have been presented for the Roll of Honor, two girls at Richmond. I was glad to receive them. I wish very much the clergy would give attention to this matter, and present to the Bishop those who have learned the Church Catechism, and recited it since his last visitation. The Bishop is desirous of having the Church Catechism the basis of all instructions in our Sunday-schools. When that is learned and thoroughly understood, it is time enough to give attention to instruction in other things. We shall be glad to have a good report of the missionary pyramids. and hope there has been real self-denial in filling them. Will all Superintendents of Sunday-schools report to the amount of their Bishop Lenten offering for missions? This will reach you, dear children, for Eas-I do hope you may all resurrection of Jesus, and remember that it is an assurance of your own resurrection. I hope in every Sunday-school there may be joyous Easter services, and Easter carols sung. You will all be glad to see would come on up here and see us. the picture of the Orphans' Home-your Home, that which you have so long worked for. Now, after Easter I want every Sunday-school that is able to pledge a cot for $50, or a window for $10, or a $6.00. This is a special offering for the Ordoor for $10, or a thousand brick for $10, phanage Fund, taken on the Second Sunday in or a hundred brick for one dollar. Go to work, dear children, and every one of you try to do something to send at least twenty-five cenfs to the Bishop, and we shall hope to see it built this year. With love and a happy Easter,

Your BISHOP.

THE RECTORY, DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D.,) March 14, 1893.

My, DEAR BISHOP:-Papa received yesterday the plan of the Church Home that you sent him. I am enclosing 50 cents for it. I think it will look very nice and be very useful when it is built.

I enjoy reading your letters to the children in the Church Worker very much.

We have a very pretty little stone church here. We are having pews made for it; also, have a happy Easter, and rejoice in the brass altar cross and vases. Our Girls' Society (children's 20 minutes Society) is providing the cross, and the Boys' Guild the vases. They have all been ordered, and we hope to have them in church by Easter Day.

Next time you go to Minneapolis I wish you I must close for this time.

I remain ever your loving friend,

EASTER IN INDIANA.

What a glorious bright Easter it was all over Indiana and we hope all over the Church. A cloudless sky, a bright, balmy spring day, it was a typical Easter and this at the close of as good a Lent as was ever had in our Diocese made it a most glorious festival, and at early morning communions, at later morning services, at the dear children's festivals in the afternoon. and in the evening all over the Diocese Churches were crowded to overflowing and from many of them crowds were turned away, it being impossible for them to gain entrance. The Churches, as usual, were beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and the music to which much attention had been given, was especially grand. In several of our Churches, St. Pauls, Indianapolis, St. James, Vincennes, and Gethsemane, Marion, vested choirs were introduced and gave great satisfaction. The Diocesan Convention at Evansville, though not as largely attended as it would have been at Indianapolis, was well attended with a good working quorum of some of the W. D. Engle, Secretary, best men in the Diocese.

The hospitality of the church people was most cordial, and all were delighted to see the fine church properties of St. Paul's and Holy Innocent's.

At the opening service on Tuesday morning the congregation was large and listened to the address of the Bishop with close attention. THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

From the 1st of November until the present, my time has been fully occupied with the administration of the Diocese My thanks are due the Standing Committee for their wise administration as Ecclesiastical Authority during my absence. The year has brought its usual measure of successes and disappointments. In some fields exceeding prosperity, in others nothing but adversity. So much depends on the holy character and the wise and prudent administration and good sense and consecrated devotion of the clergy, when these exist when it is their meat and drink to do the will of their Divine Master, when a holy zeal impels them in season and out of season to labor for the welfare of the Bride of Christ, the result is appreciation and co-operation and steady progress. When these are wanting, when self-seeking and earthly ambitions or lack of consecrated purpose and good common sense and worldliness of life and motives exist there can be no progress. Alas! that there should be any such in the holy ministry and the dear Bride of Christ be wounded in the house of her friends. Let us all, my dearly beloved brethren in the sacred ministry, take heed how we exercise our sacred calling. We cannot be too entirely consecrated to our holy ministry and with too great a diligence watch for the souls committed to our care. We cannot too completely watch over our own lives that we be not a cause of stumbling to our brethren.

To deepen the spiritual life of my clergy, to deepen their own sensibility of the sacred trust committed to them in the care of precious souls, I have arranged from time to time. preceding Lent, a two or three days Retreat that we might spend it in the house of God together and have summoned the clergy of the Diocese to spend it with me. It has been a mortification and humiliation that scarcely half of the clergy have responded to the We should have better call. We should have better work done and greater results for our labors if the clergy had heeded our invitation. Retreat the past year was conducted by my brother, the Bishop of Springfield, and was eminently helpful to all who were in attendance. I beg to acknowledge my gratitude to

ST. STEPHEN'S HOSPITAL, RICHMOND.

St. Stephen's Hospital though a local and parochial institution in its ownership is yet in a sense Diocesan, in that it receives patients from every part of the Diocese and is the only institution of the kind under the care and influence of the church. It is doing a useful work and each year becoming better known and appreciated. I recommend that an offering in its behalf be made in all our churches on Thanksgiving Day.

We have now five postulants orders. We are called upon pose and the effort should be made to have it a liberal one.

I made my humble protest for the sacredness of the Lord's Day and the observance of the Fourth Commandment in regard to the opening of the great National Columbian Fair. CHURCH CLUB.

Tuesday evening in Whitsun week a gathering of clergy and laity assembled at the Dennison Hotel, Indianapolis,, presided over by the Hon. Thos. L. Sullivan. About seventy-five were present. After the banquet and an address by the President, Major Bailey, representing the Chicago Church Club, spoke eloquently of the objects of Church Clubs. Addresses were also made by Bishops Thompson and Knickerbacker. The preliminary committee who had made the arrangements for the meeting presented a constitution for a Church Club that was adopted and signed by all present, and officers elected as follows: President, Aquilla Jones; Vice-President, N. F. Dalton; Secretary; Albert Michie; Treasurer, Charles Stilz; Executive Committee, Messrs. W. E. Beach, of Lafayette; Sleight, of Terre Haute; Kirby, of Muncie; Maj. Gould and Chas. Maguire of Indianapolis, Thus the Church Club of Indiana was most happily inaugurated, with promise of great usefulness.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

It is gratifying to know that during this year of what has been considered hard times the contributions for Diocesan Missions have been greater than in any previous year, and when taken in consideration with what has been contributed for the Archdeacon's support as general missionary, has been far ahead of any previous year. This is most gratifying and encouraging.

St. Mark's, Aurora, has had the gift of a new altar and lecturne, and has pnt down a new carpet.

I hope the children will go on saving every stamp and every postal card 2. all Summer, so that the Bishop may have half a million in the Autumn to dispose of for the Home. On May 18 he sent 3. off 775,125 stamps to New York, for which he received $160. The boxes in which to pack the stamps were given us by Mr. Bannon, a merchant of Indianapolis. Dean Hunter and Miss Upfold packed them, and the American Express Company delivered them without cost in New York. That was very 5 kind; so that all received from the stamps is clear gain. We have not received as much from the children as we hoped for the brick. They are not half paid for. Oh, if the children would all try we feel sure 500 of them could send a quarter for bricks, and that would mean $125. Try, dear children. May you have a very happy vacation, all of you. Your loving Bishop,

THE CHURCH CLUB.

Through the efforts of Major Goald the Indiana Church Club has delightful headquarters in a large and neatly furnished room in the Talbot Block. On Wednesday evening, June 6th, from 6 to 8 p. m., a reception was held and a large number of churchmen visited the room and were delighted with its appearance. Here the meetings of the Club will be held, and it will be Church headquarters, where churchmen of the city and visitors dues are $2.00.

This will be an occasion of great interest. The church is to be of brick and stone, to cost $14,000, with 400 sittings.

Rev. J. Wynne Jones, at the Bishop's request, held a Welsh service at Gas City on Sunday, June 25. It was of deep interest to our Welsh friends at that place. We hope to hear that steps will be taken soon toward the erection of their church.

> Rev. J. H. Ranger has resigned the rectorship of Christ Church, Indianapolis, to take effect October 1st. Mr. Ranger has for six years been rector of Christ Church and greatly endeared himself to his Bishop, his brother clergy and, to the whole Diocese. His loyal devotion to his Bishop and Diocese, and faithfulness to the work of his parish, has endeared him to the whole Diocese, and all regard his separation from us as a great loss, as the faithful and eloquent preacher, the devoted pastor and friend of his people, the conscientious and patient priest. He will be greatly missed from our midst, and will carry with him the love and respect of us all.

DIVISION OF THE DIOCESE.

At the late Diocesan Convention the Committee on the Division of the Diocese reported that they had had three meetings in which the subject entrusted to them has been fully discussed, and that various propositions for the erection of new dioceses have been entertained.

They have kept before them the principle that "the law of missionary expan-

The vast area of territory included within the limits of this great State, alive on toward the Eternal World," with deep spiritual necessities, forces us to ask if a great impetus to Church growth would not be given if the Diocese were divided. One man cannot be expected "to do the double work of the Episcopate and that of a Grand Missionary,'

The Bishop of the Diocese, in his convention address of 1892, under which your committee was created, said;

"The time is rapidly approaching, it may be said to be at hand, when this great Diocese should be divided into three, corresponding with our present Convocations. I have been working for seven years to secure the endowment that would make in possible, but the response in many parishes has been most feeble, and the work is barely half accomplished. Our wealthy Churchmen do not seem to realize what a great advantage endowment of the Diocese would bring, and what possibilities are in it by releasing the effort confined to it, for Church extension. The moment $25,000 to $30-000 can be secured for an endowment of a Diocese in the north or south, we can apply to the General Convention for division with the certainty that the application will be favorably considered. There are Churchmen in either of these Convocations who are able to do this. I do not believe they could consecrate their substance to better forward the work of Christ's kingdom than in creating these endowments. The acomplishment of it cannot be too soon commenced."

To the convention of 1867 Bishop sion is the law of the Church's life" and Talbott, after reference to "many points that the Episcopate is the Order that in the Diocese not yet occupied," said: should lead and direct that life in an "I find my time so entirely taken up by Apostolic Church. CHILDREN'S LETTER.

My DEAR CHILDREN: -This is vacation time with you all. School is over and you are once more free for a time to enjoy recreation or to engage in work or play as best suits you. Your Bishop hopes you may all have a very pleasant Summer. Your Bishop is going to take a rest at beautiful Bishopthorpe, where he can study or fish as best pleases him. He will think of his dear boys and girls, and wish he had some of them with him to keep him company in his expeditions around the country and visits to different lakes for fish. He goes well provided with a new supply of hooks to catch a good lot.

Last month three dear little girls gave such a pleasant surprise. Natalie Dalton, Cordelia Hughes and Lydia Walters determined to make some money for the Orphanage. So they got up a little fair and invited their friends to come and buy their candies and things, and as a result they brought the Bishop five silver dollars for the Home. I wonder if some of you same. Your Bishop will be glad to receive all you can send him. Several previous year. boys and girls sent their quarter of a Roll of Honor last year.

With love. YOUR BISHOP.

LAYING A CORNER STONE.

More than one hundred and fifty people gathered at the site of the new St. Paul's Church to be erected at Gas City, on Thursday afternoon, Sep. 20, at 4 o'clock, to assist in laying the corner stone. The Bishop, assisted by Rev. Mr. Purcell, of Marion, in whose care the mission is, and Rev. F. C. Woodard. conducted the services. The choir of the 25,00 mission was present and sang three hymns. A tin box containing the usual contents was placed in the stone. Bishop blessed the stone and then laid it with the usual formula. Mr. Woodard, Mr. Purcell and the Bishop made addresses. Quite a large delegation was present from Marion. An offering of $22 was made. The church, which is to be frame, will consist of a tower, nave, chancel and vestry room. It is to cost $2,000 and will seat 150 persons. Three lots have been donated in an eligible corner by the Land Company. The tin plate works have shown great interest in behalf of their workmen, and have subscribed $500. The Diocesan Church On October 8th, 1892, the day last Building Fund gave $250. . THE Bishop would again call the attention of the clergy and congregation to the importance of the collections for the Diocesan Church Building Fund on the second Sunday in October. It is desirable that every congregation shall make a liberal contribution. Every Church woman should give something. Miss Upfold will be glad to supply mite boxes for savings for this object to be placed in. She will be glad to give any information desired on this or any branch of Auxiliary work,

THE Bishop is very desirous that the revised Prayer Book should be in use in every parish and mission. Through the generosity of the New York Prayer Book Society and the Bishop White Prayer Book Society, of Philadelphia, in making liberal donations to him, he hopes to be able to accomplish this at an early day. Any missions still without a sufficient supply are requested to make application to the Bishop. He advises that the best of the old prayer-books be given away to homes where there are none, as a useful missionary.

PAROCHIAL AND DIOCESAN ENDOW MENTS

It has been a matter of wonder and surprise that the Churchmen of Indiana have shown so little interest in making their wills to provide for the Lord's household and work. When we think what the parish Church is to our souls, how much of blessing it brings to our lives, when we see how hard is the struggle often to maintain its blessed services, it would seem reasonable to expect that all Churchmen to whom God has given the means would realize their obligations to aid in permanently promoting its welfare by ages to the church at Brightwood and to leaving a legacy in their wills for sustainaid in meeting pressing obligations in ing its ministrations. How rarely this is Miss Upfold. and are counting upon it. The fund in leaving large estates, with no provision previous years has been strengthened by for the Lord's work in any respect, taking reverent and hearty part in evencollections made at the Bishop's visita- Again we call the attention of Church- ing prayer. James H. Eames, of the Diocese of New Hampshire. Her fortune was left mainly to religious and charitable purposes. Among her bequests was $10,000 to the trustees of the Holderness School for boys, $10,000 to St. Mary's School for girls, $10,000 for aged and infirm clergy, their widows and orphans of the Diocese of New Hampshire; St. Paul's church, Concord, $10,000; Bishop Niles, $5,000. This is only a part of her benefactions. May God raise up such a benefactor to the Diocese of Indiana.

CENTRAL CONVOCATION

THE autumn convocation of the Central Deanery of the Diocese of Indiana was delightfully entertained by the rector and people of St. Stephen's Church, Terre Haute, Ind., Tuesday and Wednesday, September 25 and 26. The work of the Deanery was preceded on Tuesday afternoon by an interesting meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary in the Parish House, presided over by the efficient Diocesan Secretary, Miss Upfold. Addresses were made by the Bishop, the Secretary, the Rev. Mr. Hunter, Dean of the Convocation, and the Rev. Mr. Granniss. The principal event of the meeting, however, was an admirable paper by Mrs. Nichols on "The Woman's Auxiliary," an essay of great beauty, full of enthusiasm for the noble work of women in the cause of missions. There was a remarkably good attendance. The session of the Auxiliary was followed by a meeting of the teachers and scholars of St. Stephen's and St. Luke's Sunday-schools, who were present in large numbers to listen to addresses by the Rev. Mr. Collins, the Bishop and of each meeting of the Convocation.

The next meeting of Convocation was appointed to be held in Frankfort in January 1895.

The chief events of the day were the celebration of the Holy Communion by the Bishop, at which a considerable number communicated; an admirable sermon on the "Parable of the Leaven" was preached by the Rev. Mr. Swan, of St. Mary's Hall, Indianapolis; the Quiet Hour conducted by the Rev. Mr. Ranger; the review of Dr. Mattheson's book, "The Spiritual Development of St. Paul" by the Rev. Mr. Carstensen, with the discussion of the subject by the Rev. Messrs. Brann, Hodge and Ranger; and the discussion of the topic "The Claims of General Missionary Work upon the Parish Priest," opened by the Secretary of Convocation and participated in by the Archdeacon, the Dean and the Rev. Mr. Engle.

Missionary reports were also presented in informal talks by all of the clergy present, who without exception are either missionaries sustained by the Missionary Committee, or have missions in connection with their parochial duties.

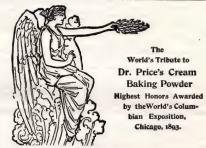

The last meeting of the Convocation was the customary missionary service at 7:30 P.M. There was a large attendance, but not so large as the interest of the occasion justified. Shortened evensong was said by the Secretary and Mr. Hodge, after which rousing speeches were made by the Dean, the Archdeacon and the Bishop.

It is to be regretted that these Convocations seldom excite sufficient enthusiasm in the parishes to call out the full working strength of the people. It is hard to tell why Churchmen and Christians are not more interested and willing to help in making the meetings of larger value to a

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award was given on every claim, comprising superiority in leavening power, keeping properties, purity and excellence. This verdict has been given by the best jury ever assembled for such a purpose, backed by the recommendation of the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. who made an elaborate examination and test of all the baking powders. This is pre-eminently the highest authority on such matters in America.

This verdict conclusively settles the question and proves that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is superior in every way to any other brand.

Norg.-The Chief Chemist rejected the Alum baking powders, stating to the World's Fair jury that he considered them unwholesome.

AT THE last Diocesan Convention, on motion of the Dean of the Southern Convocation, Rev. A. A. Abbott offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Convention hereby expresses its thanks and gratitude to the Bishop for his maintenance of the Church Worker as the Diocesan organ.

Resolved, That we will, in so far as it is possible, extend its circulation, and solicit among our people annual subscriptions or other donations for the support of the CHURCH WORKER.

We were glad to have the endorsement and approval of the Convention for the WORKER. We shall be grateful to our brethren if they will urge their people to send the small sum asked per annum to enable us to publish the WORKER. We are in great need of these subscriptions now to meet the cost of publication.

On Monday, Sept. 24, the monthly meetings of the Indianapolis Clericus were resumed at the Diocesan library. Dean Hunter read an excellent paper which was freely discussed and commented on by the brethren present. Hereafter it was resolved to hold the meetings in the Church Club rooms on the last Monday of each month,

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Oct. 27, 1894. To the Church Worker:

Perhaps a word from this parish may be of interest to your readers.

Under the guidance of our faithful and energetic rector, Rev. Douglas I. Hobbs, the people have gone to work this fall with renewed interest, increased hope, and stronger determination. New impetus has been given to our work by the gift of a new altar and reredos, placed in Trinity Church "In Memoriam" of our distinguished statesman, successful physician and estimable citizen, Dr. Graham N. Fitch, and his wife Harriet V. Fitch, whose life was consecrated to the Master in the service of His Church militant till called to swell the ranks of the Church triumphant. The altar is of carved oak with brass mountings, and is a work of great beauty and attractiveness. It is the gift of the two surviving daughters, Mrs. Martha Denby, wife of our present Minister to China, and Mrs. Emma Coleman a prominent physician of

AT THE special session of the House of Bishops, October 17 and 18, Bishop Barker of Western Colorado, was selected for the vacant Missionary jurisdiction of Olympia. Bishop Barker has been doing duty in the jurisdiction and shown great fitness for it, and will be most acceptable to the clergymen of that jurisdiction.

THE General Church Building Fund Commission asks an offering on the 2d Sunday in November for their work. The Bishop is desirous that every parish in the diocese should remember this work by an annual collection. This Sunday will be an appropriate time to make it. The offering will be sent to the Church Mission House, N. Y.

THE Indiana Church Club will have its semi-annual banquet and social gathering on the evening of Nov. 20. It is hoped to have present some neighboring Bishop to address the Club. It is hoped ever member will be present. Applications for membership may be made to Albert Michie, Secretary.

DIOCESE OF INDIANA, OFFICE OF TREAS. October 26, 1804 To the Clergy and Parochial Officers of the GENTLEMEN:-The operations of my office are greatly embarrassed by the neglect to make prompt remittances on the part of the parishes. Although five months of the Convention year are past I have only received remittances from a small part of the parishes which are assessed. Out of thirty-four assessed for the Episcopal assessment, only nine have made any payment; for the Convention assessment, only sixteen in sixty have paid anything; and for the apportionment for Diocesan Missions only sixteen in fifty-five have paid anything, and the greater part of these only a small part of the amount due

I have been able to meet all demands upon me, so far, but I shall not be able to do so during the coming quarter unless you can come to my aid with prompt and liberal payments.

Yours respectfully.

CHARLES E. BROOKS. Treasurer.

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

So far as heard from the Parish branches of this important organization of the Diocese have entered zealously upon their winter's work. More and more its members are coming to understand this work, that it is exclusively for Missions, diocesan and general. They come together to learn about missions, to offer united prayers for the spread of Christ's Kingdom in the world, to give money for its extension, and clothing and other necessaries for the use of those laboring in the

The Diocesan Secretary will be glad to give any information desired in regard to the work of the Woman's or Junior Auxiliary. Address, Miss Upfold, 546 North Meridian-st., Indianapolis.

ENTERED INTO REST.

On Friday evening, September 28th, 1894, the sufferings of little James Dudley, the sweet and only child of Rev. and Mrs. Douglas I. Hobbs, ended, and his soul was wafted gently and peacefully to that land where there is no pain. During his short life of only twenty months, the little fellow had gained a warm place in the hearts of all who knew him, and the affection which the people had for him, and their sympathy for the bereaved parents, was deeply and touchingly manifested in many ways, but especially by generous gifts of flowers, of which he was so fond.

The funeral service was read in Trinity Harvard College. How long before it church by the Rt. Rev. D. B. Knickerwill be looked upon as a disgrace for a backer, D. D., the music being rendered by the vested choir, and the little body was born to its temporary resting place in Mt. Hope cemetery on Monday morning, October 1st-four of the choir boys acting as pall bearers. Final interment will be made at Oakwood cemetery, Warren, Ohio.

tober 21st, Dean Hunter presiding. At the afternoon session the first subject presented was Infant Class Teaching, by Mrs. Nettie Ransford, and discussed by Rev. Messrs. Ranger, Swan and Hunter. Mrs. Swan and Mrs. Hale were appointed a committee to visit different infant schools, and report concerning methods used therein. Rev. Ranger read a practical and thoughtful paper on the Preparation of the Teacher, the special points of which we present.

PREPARATION OF SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS FOR THEIR WORK.

Two things should go before the preparation of Sunday school teachers for their work :

- I. The teacher should see clearly and appreciate the end in view, which is to assist in the duty of bringing up children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.
- II. In the next place, there should be an appreciation and an equally clear perception of the means to be used to the end in view, which is none other than-the bringing to bear upon the children the teaching and influence of the Church as such.
- III. The end and the means being properly apprehended, we shall come very readily to right ideas as to the preparations necessary in order to a right use of the given means to the proposed end.
- 1. There is the general preparation, which consists in being thoroughly imbued in mind and heart with the teaching and spirit of the Church; that is, it consists in intelligent and devout Churchmanship.
- 2. Then follows naturally the special preparation, which might be embraced under the following heads, viz.:
- i. To have and to study dilligently a few authoritative books, at least, say: (a) A thoroughly good manual on the Catechism. (b) Some equally good manual on the Prayer-Book. (c) A brief treatise on the Bible as a whole. (d) A concise account of the position and the great principles of the Church.
- ii. To be, if possible, a member of a good Bible class.
- iii. To be able from actual experience to speak simply, reasonably, reverently, plainly, and affectionately to the children of moral du- arated feeling it had been good to be ties and spiritual living.

- iv. To thoroughly seek for the point of view of the class as a whole, and of each of its members, and to be in sympathy, in touch with each member and all collectively.
- v. To have the work of Sunday in mind all the week in thought, in reading, and in prayer. vi. If there be within reach a good class
- for teachers, join it, and help to keep it up. (This and the Bible class might be united). vii. In any case, talk over your work with your rector.

With such preparation, is it not reasonable The Indianapolis Church Sunday- to believe that Sunday-school teachers would school Institute held its autumn session in be able to do work that would be simple, fun-Holy Innocent's church, on Monday, Oc- damental, permanent, and forever fruitful, and Holy Communion together in Epiphany such that it would meet with the reward of Him who said, "Feed my lambs,"

> J. H. RANGER, Christ Church, Indianapolis.

At the evening session the Rev. C. S. Sargent, of Grace cathedral read an interesting paper on "The Leaflet as an aid to the Catechism in Sunday-school institutions," dicussed by Mr. Ranger, Mr. Hunter, Mr. F. H. Lorenz and others. A bountiful supper was spread at the rectory for those from a distance. Those

CONVENTION OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW AT WASHINGTON.

It was a glorious gathering. The best young life of the Church was there. Three hundred observed the Quiet Day led by Bishop Hall, holding up Christ in His private life, in His public life, in His life of labor, as the model life for all men. Bishop Paret's charge at the opening was admirable and calculated to hold the Brotherhood down to the objects for which it was foundedthe spread of Christ's kingdom among young men. Nine hundred received the church on Friday morning. There was a splendid program of subjects for presentation and discussion, and every moment of time was occupied. It was a splendid sight to see so large a body of men for days conferring about the work of Christ's Kingdom. About 1,300 Brothers registered, representing over a thousand Chapters and 13,000 membership. Delegates were present from Canada and Scotland. Indiana was represented by the Bishop, Bros. Carstensen and Haines. We were sorry there was so small a representation. We trust those in attendance, all too few considering the who were present will carry back home importance of the topics considered, sep- something of the spirit prevailing.

Three Leading Scientists

Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

Scientists are devoting closer attention to food products. Recent examinations of baking powders by Prof. Long, Dr. Haines, and Prof. Prescott, were made to determine which powder was the purest, highest in leavening strength, most efficient in service, and most economical in cost. They decide that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder excels in all the essentials of an ideal preparation for household use. They write:-

"Chicago, March 28th, 1804.

We have purchased in the open market cans of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder and also of the other leading brands of baking powders, and have submitted them to chemical analysis. We find that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is a pure cream of tartar powder, that is has a considerably greater leavening strength than any of the other baking powders we have ever tested.

On Monday, August 6th, it being the Feast of the Transfiguration, there was a Communion service in St. John's, Bristol, at which the Bishop celebrated and thirty-three received the Holy Communion, among them the class confirmed the evening before. Mr. Scott is comfortably located in the rectory, and enjoys his new field of labors, and his services are highly appreciated.

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

On Friday evening, October 5, occurred the third anniversary of St. Faith's chapter of the Daughters of the King, of Grace Cathedral. It was observed by choral Evening Prayer in the Cathedral, followed by reports of President and Treasurer, and addresses by the Bishop, the rector and Rev. Mr. Hodge. There was a full attendance. The report of the President showed there had been 32 meetings during the year, there are 23 active members, 16 inactive and o associates, making a total of 48 members. Four active and nine associate members have been received this year. Each month, special work committees are appointed by the rector to visit the sick and strangers. Three entertainments have been held. At meetings, work is done for the poor under the direction of Sister Helen, and they also have a Bible Class and read Church history. The Treasurer reports receipts from all sources $200. Expenditures, $182. Balance in treasury, $27.53. Emmanuel Church, Garrett, observed their annual Harvest Home Festival Sept. 23d. The church was beautifully decorated and congregations large. Music, all that could be desired. The rector preached able and instructive sermons. The Parish House is used by all the Guilds: The rector's wife has been ill for some time.

Trinity, Peru .- An effort is being made to erect a brick Guild Hall on part of the church lot. A new cement walk has been placed in front of the church and is to be extended around the church property. Solid stone steps and platform have also been placed at the entrance to the church. The church is to be painted.

Trinity, Kendalville.—On the first Sun-day of October, Rev. C. T. Stout, of Goshen, took charge of this mission, giving them an evening service every Sunday. The ladies guild has begun its autumn work, and the Sunday-school reopened. The many friends of Rev. Wm. Mitchell in the Diocese will be pleased to learn of the recovery of his health.

Trinity, Connersville.-Mr. Collins has succeeded in increasing the number of Sunday-school children, often having as many as forty present. The congrega-tions are steadily increasing. The young ladies propose having a series of entertainments during the fall and winter months. The Woman's Guild, the main stay of the parish, has been re-organized for this year's work. The Missionary has baptized two infants recently,

St. Mark's, Aurora. - The Missionary writes encouragingly. Sept. 30, there were 13 communicants receiving at Lawrenceburgh, and the offering at Aurora for Diocesan Missions amounted to $8. Congregations pretty good in each place. We are expecting one or two new families of church people. A Harvest Home Festival was held the first Tuesday in October with offerings for General Missions.

Mr. Spalding is a graduate of Hobart College and General Theological Seminary, and was last year an assistant in St. Thomas' Church, New York. We welcome him to the Diocese.

The many friends of Rev. J. H. Ranger. of Christ Church, Indianapolis, will be pleased to learn that he has been unanimously requested by the vestry of the church to withdraw his resignation and remain their rector. The vestry had been requested to take this action by a large majority of the congregation. Mr. Ranger announced to his congregation on the first Sunday in October that he had assented to this request, and would remain. We feel sure this will be for the best good of the parish, and that rector and people will work together for the glory of God and the good of this parish. We are heartily pleased with this outcome, and congratuate rector and parishioners.

On Sunday, October 7, Christ Church, Indianapolis, was presented with a very elegant processional cross, the gift of Mrs. A. B. Mansur, for the use of the choir. The Bishop on that day blessed it and set it apart for its sacred uses.

Rev. Mr. Swan gave three Sundays in September to St. James', New Castle. The first of October he took charge of the Missions of St. John's, Greencastle, and Trinity, Bloomington. He will give the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Sunday in each month to Greencastle, and the first Sunday to Bloomington.

The Convocations at Terre Haute. Logansport and Dephi, were the best ever held in the Diocese and some of the best sermons and papers we have ever heard were preached and read. The missionary meetings were full of life and interest. They produced an excellent impression in the parishes, and the brethren returned to their fields of labor full of he was ordained Deacon, at Paducah;

There are not wanting indications that the present year is to be one of the best years for work in the history of the Diocese. From the spirit manifested by the clergy in Convocations, the way the Guilds and Auxiliaries are taking hold of their work, all promise to be abundant in labors for Christ and His Church, and Jackson took charge in July of Christ when all work and all pray, the church church, St. Louis, while Dr. Schuyler must grow.

The Church Temperance Society ask Jackson took Cannelton. for the setting apart of Sunday, Nov. 18, (being the 26th Sunday after Trinity,) as the day when the great subject of temperance may be presented to our people. It is scarcely needful that we should urge the necessity of plainly dealing with so destructive an evil as intemperance. Such a necessity must be obvious to all Christian men. We, therefore, cordially second their desire, affectionately requesting the clergy of our Diocese to set forth in sermons on the day indicated the duty of all Christian people in helping to restrain the monstrous evil which is working such harm to the bodies and souls of D. SKETCH OF THE REV. J. E. JACKSON. BY HIS WIDOW.

Mr. Jackson was born in Baltimore, Md.; educated at Rugby; came back to this country and was a railroad manauditor of accounts for the Ohio & Pennsyivania; then he became superintendent of the Ohio & Columbus railroad, residing in Memphis, Tenn. He resigned that position and went to Kentucky. Studied for the ministry under Rev. D. H. Devern. Bishop Smith licensed him lay reader, and put him in charge of the church in Owensboro, in 1860. In October Mr. Jackson received a call to Mexico, Mo., and moved there, doing missionary work all along the line of railroad to St. Louis, sent to Rev. J. Everist Cathell, Super-intendant. The Hospital has done good St. Charles, Montgomery, Florence, Danville, and Columbia. In 1872 he accepted a call to Battle Creek, Mich. In 1874 he left Battle Creek for Bay City, continuing there two years doing missionary work-four services, usually, on Sunday. He received a call to Louisiana, Mo. (they wrote that they were hungering for the Gospel) so Mr. Jackson felt constrained to go. In December, 1877, he accepted a call to Charleston, S. THE ANGLICAN COMMUNION.

The Anglican Communion, embraces all Christians in full communion with the Church of England, viz: The Church of England, with its 38 Bishops and 24,000 other clergymen; the Church of Ireland, with its 13 Bishops, and 1,807 clergymen; the Episcopal Church of Scotland, with its 7 Bishops and 265 clergymen; the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, with its 61 Bishops and 3.800 clergymen.

The Church of England in Canada, Newfoundland, West Indies, etc., with 24 Bishops and 1.300 clergymen; the Church of England in Asia, with its 13 Bishops and 713 clergymen; the Church of England in Africa, with its 13 Bishops and 350 clergymen; the Church of England in Australia, with 21 Bishops and 269 clergymen; scattered, 9 Bishops and 120 clergymen; Bishops resigned,

In round numbers, 225 Bishops and 30,000 other clergymen. These different preachers of the Anglican Communion, are entirely agreed in the three essential points: The Faith, the Administration of the Sacraments, and the three Orders of the Ministry. The Church of England has authority over the Church of England than he could do. I saw it was wearing proper in Canada and in the colonies, and in the missions of that Church in 1891. But his health failed, and we came and Scotland, and also the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, are independent of her and of each other. -Church Messenger.

A Marvellous Showing.

The U.S. Government, through the Agricultural Department, has been investigating the baking powders for the purpose of informing the public which was the purest, most economical and wholesome.

The published report shows the Royal Baking Powder to be a pure, healthful preparation, absolutely free from alum or any adulterant, and that it is greatly stronger in leavening power than any other brand.

Consumers should not let this valuable information, official and unprejudiced, go unheeded.

cross customary in the Episcopal Church?" No. They are not customary, but they are practiced by a few of our people-among whom are some of the most devout and earnest and lovinghearted and unselfish in our parishes. The Church is so broad that she does not condemn or expel any persons for doing what any Christians may do without breach of the law of Divine love. The sign of the Cross is the briefest summing up of the faith and love and duty and prayers of Christianity. Bow-ing to the altar corresponds to the Grand Army salute to the Flag. The altar is the symbol of the Presence and Power of God, and to salute it is taken by many as an act of confessing the promise of Christ to be present when two or three are gathered in His name. Most of us do not care for these extra ceremonies; but we have no unkind feelings for those who find them helpful to their devotions port. and their life .- Muncie Churchman.

THE NORTHERN DEANERY.

Quite a successful meeting of the Northern Deanery was held in Trinity Church, Logansport, Oct. 2nd and 3rd, 1894. A large attendance of the clergy, fourteen in all, were present. After Evening Prayer, on Tuesday evening, a splendid address on "Women and Mis-Nichols, of Indianapolis. Rev. W. W. Raymond read an original poem, exceedingly interesting, entitled "Deputyville." The Archdeacon closed with a stirring address on "Missions in the Diocese."

A business meeting of the Convocation was held on Wednesday morning. At 10:30 Holy Communion and sermon by the Rev. C. T. Stout, of Goshen, After this service a Quiet Hour was observed by the members of the Deanery, the Bishop conducting the service. 12:30, recess and lunch.

At two o'clock, the Rev. Wm. Galpin read an instructive and scholarly paper ad clerum entitled "Speculum Sacerdotum." "The importance of Sunday School in Church work" Was then discussed by the Rev. George Moore. This was followed by a practical paper on "Woman and Parish Work" by the Rev. N. W. Heermans, who received the commendations of the Bishop and clergy and those who heard it. A copy was asked for publication. Pleasing addresses to the children by the Revs. De Lou Burke and T. C. Woodard closed the afternoon session

At 7:30 P. M. a shortened form of Evening Prayer was said, after which Mr.

It has been asked: "Are bowing to S. A. Haines, of Indianapolis, gave us a the altar and making the sign of the rousing speech, answering the question: "Why do not men go to church?" This was followed by another good and stirring speech by the Rev. J. J. Purcell, on the "Brotherhood in the Parish." The closing address was one of the best the Bishop ever made. In strong, forcible and eloquent language he spoke of "The Missionary Charter of the Church" and the progress made in the Diocese and the encouragement for the Church's future in

> All the meetings of these Convocations were interesting, instructive and well attended. We wish to express our pleasure and congratulations, to both Rector and the members of the parish for the marked improvement and growth of the parish since our last Deanery meeting in Logans-

ARCHDEACON'S IOURNAL.

Monday, Nov. 26 .- Came to Marion and made address before Lenox Camp. Sons of Veterans.

Wednesday, Nov. 28 .- Attended Clericus at Church Club room, Indianapolis. Thursday, Nov. 29 .- Thanksgiving, attended services in Grace Cathedral, and received Holy Communion.

Sunday, Dec. 2 .- In St. Paul's church, New Albany. In morning services, Baptized two young ladies, and celebrated Holy Communion with twenty-seven communicants. Held service and preached in the evening.

Monday, Dec. 3 .- At Corydon, held service at residence of Mrs. Wheat. Wheat. There are now four communiposed toward the Church. It can be served from New Albany when they can get a clergyman.

Tuesday, Dec. 4. Celebrated Holy Communion in residence of Mr. Wheat. Three communicants. Came to Henryville, the guest of Mrs. McCormick. Held service in M. E. church, in evening; large congregation. My second visit to this place.

Wednesday, Dec. 5 .- In morning came to Scottsburg, the county seat of Scott Jan. 25-Warsaw. county. Did some visiting, and found one man who was baptized in the Church, and has been loyal to the idea that he is a Churchman, though not very actively engaged in religious work. He will arrange for services here sometime in the near future. So Scott county will be open to the Church. In the afternoon came to Seymour, and learned of the sad death of the daughter of Mrs. Shepard, which made it inconvenient to arrange for services at present.

Thursday, Dec. 6 .- In consultation with the Bishop.

Sunday, Dec. 9.-In Holy Innocents' church, Evansville. Held service, preached and celebrated Holy Communion, fifty-seven communicants. In evening held service and preached. Was entertained by Mrs. and Mrs. Fitchner. It

Monday, Dec. 10,-Came to New with forty-two communicants. Rev. Mr. Morgan assisting. I doubt if there be many, if indeed any, parish or mission in the Diocese where so many communicants will show themselves on a Monday morning, in a driving rainstorm.

Dec. 11 to 14 .- Attended lectures in Grace Church, Indianapolis, by the clergy of the city.

Sunday, Dec. 16.-At New Castle. Service in St. Service in St. James's church, and celebration of Holy Communion. Ten communicants. In evening, service and sermon.

Monday, Dec. 17 .- On my return this morning, found my youngest boy down with measles, so withdrew my appointments for this week. OFFERINGS RECEIVED.

REV. J. EVERIST CATHELL has an article in the Churchman for Dec. 22 on the great subject of Church Unity.

THE children's festivals were, as usual, well attended in all our churches, and a happy time for all the dear children.

CHRISTMAS was a lovely day, and we hear of good attendance in all our churches, and a large number of communicants at the altar.

THE venerable mother of J. H. Barker of Michigan City, died when on a visit to her son, the day before Christmas. Though her residence was Chicago she had always been a generous friend to Trinity parish.

THE venerable Dr. Newland, at the good old age of 87 years, passed to his rest in New Albany recently. He was a benefactor of that parish.

THE committee on the Century Club are receiving generous response to their appeal. Let all who have received it send something.

THE Howe Grammar School has room for ten more boys. We wish they might be sent at the beginning of the new year. No better school for boys can be found, and churchmen should patronize their own Diocesan schools.

THE Bishop had a delightful visit on St. Thomas' Day in Battle Creek, Michi- Passion Play." gan, to aid his old friend, Rev. Lewis Brown in keeping the parish anniversary. The Bishop made an address and celebrated, Holy Communion at 10 o'clock. Bishop preached on "A Working Parish" and afterward attended a delightful rein St. Thomas', Battle Creek.

WE GIVE in this number reports from devoted band of workers, and their diocese is proud of them. The reports as made to the Bishop speak for themand show the importance of attending carefully to Church extension, and that out the stipends, so that they reached the ized, if all will do their best. missionaries by Christmas. Most of the parishes, we feel assured, are doing their best to send in the quotas expected of them. If any have not been able to do so as yet, we trust it may not be long before the Treasurer shall hear from them.

paration for the Holidays, the attendance was not large. The second lecture is on the evening of January 7, at 8 P. M., in the Club room. The lecturer, Archdeacon Cole; subject: "Faith in the Stars." All, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited. Time, before and after the lecture, is given for social intercourse. It is intended to bring together Church people and their friends from all our parishes. On Monday evening, January 21, a committee of ladies have the entertainment in charge. It will be of a social nature. Refreshments will be for sale, and music and recitations will be given. We hope for a large attendance on both of these occasions. The first Monday in February the lecture will be by Mr. Carstensen on The

Dr. Mott's wide experience as Government Chemist for the Indian Department, gave him exceptional opportunities to acquaint himself with the qualities and constituent parts of baking powders. He understands thoroughly the comparative value of every brand in the market, and has from time to time expressed his opinion thereof. On a recent careful re-examination and analysis he finds superior to all others in strength, purity, and efficiency. Dr. Mott writes :--

" New York, March 20th, 1894. I find Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be superior to all others, for the following reasons :-

ist. It liberates the greatest amount of leavening gas and is consequently more efficient.

2nd. The ingredients used in its preparation are of the purest character.

3rd. Its keeping qualities are excellent.

4th. On account of the purity of the materials and their relative proportions, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder must be considered the acme of perfection as regards wholesomeness and efficiency, and I say this having in mind certificates I have given several years ago respecting two other baking powders.

The reasons for the change in my opinion are based on the above facts and the new method adopted to prevent your baking powder from caking and deteriorating in strength.

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

St. Paul's, Indianapolis.-The Christmas number of the Record is a beautiful specimen of the printer's art, and is chuck full of good things for St. Paul's people. The rector is pushing on the collection of funds for the new parish house, having already one-half the amount in sight. A vigorous building committee has been appointed by the vestry, and at no distant day the corner-stone is to be laid with fitting ceremonies. The rector is preparing for a Mission at the beginning of Lent, by Dr. Barrett as missioner, and asks for the cooperation and hearty interest of all his people. It can be made a great blessing to the parish if this is given. Mr. Hunter, of Holy Innocents'. is preparing for a mission at the same time, to be conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilson, rector of St. Mark's church, Chicago, We trust both of these missions may be fruitful in the gathering of precious souls into the Master's kingdom.

The Muncie Churchman enters on its third year with December. It is one of our best parish papers. Interest in the missionary teas under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary, continues. attendance December 5 was large. The paper was on St. Patrick, the apostle to Ireland. The damage done by the fire has been repaired. There was a Christ-mas play, "The Courting of Mother Goose," given during Christmas week. The young ladies of the Altar Guild held year. The chapter of the Dans a bazaar the third week in December. A supper was given by the Ladies' Afternoon Social. During Advent the rector preached on the four last things: Death, Judgment, Heaven and Hell. Brotherhood meetings are languishing. A vested choir is in preparation.

St. James', South Bend .- The new church is so far completed that it was 5 P. M. used first for the midnight celebration on Christmas Eve. It is very beautiful, and cember, two of the monthly meetings of all parishoners are delighted with it, and the Woman's Auxiliary, those of Grace are looking forward with pleasure to its benediction on the 13th of January, the polis. I feel sometimes disheartened at the slow pace we are treading. Still, I am sure it is an improvement.

Lawrenceburg congregation is growing. Last winter we thought ten or fifteen a very good congregation indeed, and four or five on Friday evening. Now we often have twenty on Friday, and from thirty to thirty-seven on Sunday. One week we had thirty-seven, and eight men. I suppose that they have not had eight men at Communion at one time for the last six or seven years, for they were all talking about the matter at Holy Communion. We have from fourteen to eighteen every month. We have one new couple from Louisville, who are spending the winter second Sunday in Advent he baptized here, and are really good English Churchpeople. The Guild numbers seventeer members. They are working how, meet-

Then they hoped to go to some outsiders and raise some money towards building a church. The Guild meets every week; seems to be doing very well indeed.

> REPORTS FROM OUR MISSIONARIES.
> THE Missionary at Worthington and Washington, Rev. John Brann, entered upon his work the beginning of December. He was cordially received by the people of both places, and an interest is being awakened that must bring forth good results. The Missionary is planing for a course of lectures at Worthington. At Washington the ladies held a sale that will aid them in meeting some pressing indebtedness. The Missionary is greatly encouraged with the outlook.

The Missionary at Anderson reports visiting Pendleton and holding a cottage service attended by fifteen communicants. He heard of several others. He intends to visit them regularly, and to do what he can for their spiritual care. At Anderson for lack of a good choir the attendance is not as good as it should be.

Rev. Mr. Swan reports the work at The ladies at Greencastle have thoroughpaired the organ, at a cost of $15.00. Sunday-school at Aurora is growing He finds twenty communicants at Greenfirst Church service there. Mr. Bamford, slightly. Offerings, $8.00; paper, $5.00; castle, some of whom have allowed their love for the Church to wane, and seldom come to the House of God. At Bloomington Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Edmunds, a student from Richmond, keep up a lay service on the Sundays when Mr. Swan does not visit them.

The Missionary at Columbus, Rev. J. Russell Hirst, reports: I have been in charge of St. Paul's, Columbus, since the middle of October, it being now onehalf of quarter ending December, 1894. The work seems to be prospering right along. The Sunday-school has increased from 5 or 6 in average attendance to 51 last Sunday. The congregation is also steadily increasing. I have a Bible class of young men on Tuesday evenings, and I am about to organize a class of young folks to meet at 6:30 Sunday evenings to study the principles and practice of the Church. The people seem very much encouraged. I hope another quarter to make a better report.

The Rev. F. C. Woodard reports as follows: At Kokomo since last report I have held two services and Sunday-school each Sunday till Oct. 28, when I met the Archdeacon at Alexandria. It has been my practice to do quite an amount of family visiting among our people. In Kokomo I have done a great deal of it, urging our people to attend services. During the early part of the past summer the attendance was fair. When the weather grew warm they would not come successful Church school for boys. Cadets to services with any degree of regularity.

LAWRENCE RUST LL. D better, but by no means what it should be. The offerings to the Church have been very small, I think not more than half the $25 per month which you asked them to raise. Friday Evening Prayer has been kept up. The attendance has been almost entirely young people, which is increasing slowly. Since last report have had two funerals, four baptisms, one adult and three infants. At your last visitation I presented four for confirmation, which was only a small part of those whom I had a right to expect would be confirmed. The Guild which I or-ganized when I first came to St. Andrew's Mission, did good work last year, for which I was very thankful. So far this year they have accomplished but little. I have now asked the Guild to get ready for special work at as early a date as possible. Quite a number who subscribed toward the salary have paid very little, and several have paid nothing, and among those are people who have plenty of money for other things. However, I shall allow none of these things to diminish my efforts in doing all I can for the success of our mission. I pray I may be more and more consecrated to the work of our Master, and the building up of His Church. We are making preparations to give our Sunday-school a profitable and merry Christmas.

If we had some one to care for it, I believe we might have a good Sunday-school in Elwood. So far I have not been able to get any one to undertake it. I think, however, that our people there are more desirous of having services and Sundayschool than they have been. The pros-pect for getting a lot I hope is good, and if we can only get a start, I believe we can make progress.

I have been holding regular services each Sunday morning at Alexandria since you put me in charge. The attendance has been good and the interest growing. At morning service last Sunday I baptized two young people. They remarked what a beautiful service. It made a good impression upon all present. I tried to impress upon them that the real interest which would build up the Church, and which they would most enjoy, is that of a spiritual life, and that this Christian interest and life is what the Church teaches, and will do most for their own good, and that of the Church. I find the people of Alexandria kindly disposed toward the Church. I hope and pray we may do a good work there, and believe we shall. The attendance at services ranges from

CHILDREN'S LETTER.

My DEAR CHILDREN:-I am sure you in the person present. I hope to be in a line all your Sunday-schools there has been solved in all your Sunday-schools there has been solved in the person of the person o There are four loyal children of the learning to bring gifts at this blessed June 1st: I have conducted one-hundred schools. The Children have taken pleas-ports: Services have been maintained throughout the quarter with encouraging throughout the quarter with encouraging the Archdeacon and Mr. Ranger, four at season for the children. It always is, the hem and the song of the angels and the shepherds and the coming of the wise men is always new. The blessed Saviour loved little children. He took them up in His arms and blessed them. He told his Apostles to feed His lambs. In all this He manifested His love for children, and His Church has a place for them, in receiving them by the Holy Baptism, and making them members of Christ. Oh. dear children, how you should love this dear Saviour, and delight to do His will. I have received quite a number of remembrances from boys and girls for the Orphanage. Not as many as we could wish, but I am hoping for a great many at Christmas and New Year. How nice if every child in our Sunday-schools in Indiana should make a Christmas present of a quarter. Why, it would amount to a thousand dollars if all should do this. Two brothers in Terre Haute have for three or four years given a dollar in memory of their Sunday-school teacher, whom they loved very much. Dear children, may you all have a very happy New Year, is your Bishop's loving wish for you.

EDITORIAL.

IT was sad news that the last issue of the Worker carried to its readers. Our dear Bishop has passed to his rest. But a few hours before his illness he visited the office of the Worker, and though, apparently, suffering somewhat from a cold, yet gave no indication of the fatal attack that soon followed. As the paper was going to press there was great hopes of recovery, as he was reported better; but before ready for the mail the sad news came of his death.

On Thursday after Christmas the Bishop, having just returned from visitations out of town, attended in succession the Sunday-school Christmas festivals of St. Paul's and Christ Church and Grace Cathedral, addressing with especial tenderness the children in each place. The following Friday morning he attended to certain business matters down town, Returning to the house he was taken with a severe chill, and Saturday his sickness assumed a serious character. On Sunday he seemed much more comfortable, but denly alarming, and a little before 4 passed away.

THE BISHOPS' TRIBUTE.

The Bishops, thirteen in number, present at the burial of the Right Reverend Dr. Knickerbacker, are sure that they express not only their own feelings and convictions, but those of all their Brethren of the Episcopate in this minute, reported by the Bishops of West Michigan and Quincy, and the Assistant Bishop of Minnesota, and unanimously adopted:

"We praise our Lord for the life and work of our Brother of Indiana, whose body we sorrowfully bear to the grave. His labors in the sacred ministry cover thirty-eight years. Twenty-seven years he was pastor of one flock, which he gathered, and eleven years pastor of pastors over the Church in the diocese now sorely afflicted.

His record in Gethsemane Church and the city of Minneapolis is not only of skillful and wise administration, but of loving devotion and never-tiring labor. He reached eminent success in winning souls, in building up a strong parish, in the erection of St. Barnabas Hospital,

The subscription to this paper is 50 cents per annum, and should be sent to the Rev. E. G. Hunter, 175 Cedar St., who will acknowledge receipt in the next issue.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., FEB., 1895.

OFFERINGS and subscriptions for January will appear in the March number.

Owing to the number of delegates required in order to secure them, no special railroad rates can be obtained for the Special Convention.

THE Northern Convocation held a very interesting session at South Bend Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 14 and 15. We have not yet received a report of this meeting. It will be given in the March number.

THE winter meeting of the Central Convention was held at Frankfort Jan. 22 and 23. The attendance was good and meeting interesting and profitable. The Secretary's report will appear in the March number of the Worker.

SUNDAY, Jan. 13, was a great Festival day for the Church at South Bend. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Seymour, of the Diocese of Springfield, Illinois, held a service of benediction of the new St. James church. We hope to give a full account in the next issue of the WORKER.

ON THE morning of January 1, the Feast of the Circumcision, the Rev. F. T. Collins and the Rev. Austin F. Morgan were advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Vincent, of Southern Ohio. This ordination had been arranged by Bishop Knickerbacker for the Sunday after Christmas, and when the Bishop was taken ill, Bis-Bishop.

THERE is urgent need of offerings and subscriptions, this month, to meet WORK-ER expenses. Send at once.

St. Paul's Church, Indianapolis, has about completed arrangements for a mission, beginning with Lent, with the Rev. Dr. Barrett, of the Church Missions Society, as mission preacher.

WE SEND out, as an insert, in this number, a very good picture of our late Bishop. We feel sure that many will appreciate our desire that every reader of the Worker may have a copy. We will print a limited number of extra copies of this memorial number, together with the Bishop's picture, and will be glad to send them to any making application, but will be obliged to ask 5 cents per copy to aid in meeting the increased cost of publication. THE BISHOP'S WILL.

the various needs and calls of the Diocese during his Episcopate. Possibly the full amount of his salary every year, if not more some years, was freely given as an the Church, and the strengthening of weak aid for any purpose to which he was not himself ever ready to give to the extent of his ability, and in the exercise of wisdom.

And now, in the opening of his will we find that the welfare of his diocese, and the building up of institutions founded during his Episcopate, were his chief thought, and the expression of the fullness of his heart. Some of the diocesan objects of the Bishop's bounty are: The Cathedral, the Church Home, and St. Mary's School, Indianapolis; Howe Grammar School, Lima; the Episcopate Fund, Diocesan Missions, and the Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund. There are wise and judicious conditions connected with these various gifts, and other conditions of the will requires to be fulfilled before the bequests are available.

But because the Bishop has remembered these various objects in his will, Churchmen may not think that there is no further need of remembering the Bishop's urgent calls of the past for help. There is still great need of generous offering from those whom God hath blessed with this world's goods, remembering that they are but stewarts of Divine bounty. Remember what the Bishop has done. Hear his voice as it were, still pleading for help, and in the spirit of true love, and in filial obedience to the Lord's will, freely, and early respond to the need of generous gifts to place these institutions on a firm foundation. Make them enduring memorials of as noble and unselfish a spiritual Father and Bishop as God ever gave to any diocese.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award was given on every claim, comprising superiority in leavening power, keeping properties, purity and excellence. This verdict has been given by the best jury ever assembled for such a purpose, backed by the recommendation of the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who made an elaborate examination and test of all the baking powders. This is pre-eminently the highest authority on such matters in America.

This verdict conclusively settles the question and proves that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is superior in every way to any other brand.

IN MEMORIAM.

Florence Nichols Mann, eldest daughter of Edwin and Josephine R. Nichols, born December 19, 1858, died November

This is the brief announcement of the close of a true Christian life. A life of true faith and of unfaltering trust. A loving daughter, a faithful wife has passed to her rest. Her early life was a happy one, and full of bright prospects. Educated at the western female college, at Oxford, graduating, in 1877, with first honors in a large class. Married in 1878 to Calvin Alexander Mann, of New York, who died after a brief illness in 1890. The mother of a bright boy, born in 1881, but, who only lived for two years. Though burdened with grief, and suffering from disease, no word of repining, complaint or fear ever escaped her lips. More thoughtful of others than of herself, she waited patiently the time of her release. This time soon came; on the morning of the day of her death, she greeted her relatives with a cheerful word, saying that she was better. But in less than an hour her soul entered the "rest that remaineth for the people of God,"

Mrs. Nichols, mother of the deceased, well known as deeply interested in the building of the Church Home, and in Auxiliary work, wishes to express her very grateful appreciation of expressions of loving sympathy, especially from the Woman's Auxiliaries of Grace Cathedral, cents', Indianapolis.

A few days before her death she expressed a deep interest in the meeting of the Central Convocation, appointed for the 22nd, in St. Luke's church. But it was the Lord's will that her soul should rest in Paradise on the day that the Convocation opened.

WHITE, M. A.,

BISHOP-ELECT OF INDIANA.

Wednesday, February 6, and elected, in a short session, the Rev. John Haven White, of Seabury Hall, Faribault, Diocese of Minnesota, to succeed in the Episcopate in the Diocese of Indiana.

The result of the meeting of the Convention seems to have given universal satisfaction. The report of the meeting, given in another column, shows that several ballots were taken by each order-the clergy and laity-before an election was reached, but that when the secretary announced the result in full session, a hearty rising vote made the election unanimous.

The Bishop-elect was born in Cincinnati, March 10, 1849, of New England parents. He was educated in the public schools of his native city, graduating from Woodard High School in 1866. After graduation he spent three years in mercantile life in Cincinnati, but finally decided to take a collegiate course. He entered Kenyon College in the fall of 1869, and

But all calls were de-

Says the Faribault Democrat of the election: "It was with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that the announcement was received in Faribault, Wednesday evening, that Rev. John Hazen White, Warden of Seabury Divinity School, and Dean of the Southern Convocation of the Diocese of Minnesota, had been elected Bishop of Indiana, to succeed the late Rt. Rev. D. B. Knickerbacker. The pleasure came from the knowledge that the promotion was merited, and the regrets were because of the retirement of of Mr. White from the position he now holds, and the separation from his work and friends here which the KNICKERBACKER HALL.

We have received notice of the change of name of St. Mary's Hall, Central Ave., to Knickerbacker Hall. This is right. and a fitting change. The Bishop's heart was in the work of developing diocesan institutions. And now that he has entered into his rest, it is well that the school which was his special delight and love. should bear his name, in continued memory, and we trust with honor, as it goes on with its work. Space will not admit of our giving any record of the work of this institution, at this time, but we will hope to do so in a subsequent issue. The Rev. George E. Swan, B. D., and Mrs. Swan are the Principals.

PREPARATION FOR THE CONVENTION.

At the request of the Standing Committee of the diocese, Bishop Tuttle of Missouri conducted devotional exercises at Grace Cathedral, the day before the assembling of the Special Convention. called to elect a successor to our late beloved Bishop Knickerbacker. There was quite a full attendance of the clergy, and a fair attendance of the laity. The Holy Eucharist was celebrated by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. C. S. Sargent, Priest in charge of the Cathedral, at 10:30 A. M. This service was followed by an instruction specially fitting, and eminently practical. In the afternoon the devotions and instructions were continued until be- 50. In the list of contributing dioceses, yond the hour appointed by the Bishop for their close, at the special request of the brethren present. Throughout, the devotions and instructions were inspiring and exceedingly profitable.

In the evening a memorial service was held in the Cathedral, attended by the and should have been done, for the supclergy in vestments, a large body of lay port of the general mission work of the delegates to the Convention, and a congre- Church. AFTER THOUGHTS ON THE ELECTION, "The number of names together were about one handred and twenty .- Acts i, 15.

The clergy at Convention were thirtyseven and the laity eighty-three.

Out of the present cold, and out of intense excitement suppressed, there came one of the clearest elections ever known, and it was a grand body of men, fully equal to the work under the guidance of the Holy Ghost.

Bishop Huntington pays to Indiana a high compliment, as follows: "In the promptness, dignity; delicacy and harmony of its action, your diocese seemed to me to have been most exemplary, and I trust its example will be reverently followed."

With youth, health, and vigor, may our next Bishop, with God's help, carry the diocese well along into the twentieth century, A. D .- REV. W. W. RAYMOND.

GENERAL MISSIONS.

The Secretary of the General Board of Missions has sent out the report of offerings for the year ending September 1. 1894. According to this report, the diocese of Indiana contributed $907.75. This amount includes the Easter Sundayschool offerings. The number of parishes and missions represented in this offering was fifty-six, out of a total number of sixty-nine. St. Paul's Church, Richmond, leads with $111.77 to its credit. This Parish is followed closely by Christ Church, Indianapolis, which gave $102 .-Indiana stands thirty-fifth.

While the report for the diocese, for the year, might be regarded as reasonably good, yet when we carefully look over the record of contributing parishes, it would seem as though much more could

THE NORTHERN DEANERY.

The winter meeting of the Northern Convocation was held in the new St. James' church, South Bend, Feb. 14, 15, with an attendance of ten of the clergy. On the evening of Monday, after prayer, and an opening address by Dean Seabrease a sermon in memoriam of our late Bishop, was delivered by the Rev. A. A. Abbott. Tuesday morning the Rev. Walter Scott read a very interesting paper on "How best to prepare candidates for confirmation." The Rev. C. T. Stout, the Rev. Dr. Spalding, the Rev. W. W. Raymond, and the Dean participated in the discussion of the paper. At 2 P. M. reports were made of missionary work in the Convocational District. The Rev. Dr. Spalding spoke forcibly of the duty and responsibility of the diocese in the matter of upholding the diocesan schools, sacred gifts of money and lands, viz. : the Howe Grammar school at Lima, one of the best equipped boys' schools in the middle west, and St. Mary's Hall in Indianapolis, for girls. The Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, head master of Culver Military Academy, Lake Maxinkuckee, related many interesting facts of the missionary work being done by the teachers and pupils of the Academy in the region man's Auxiliary in his parish. tion to the state of the fund for Diocesan Missions, and asks the clergy to bring it before their congregations. The apportionment for this purpose for the current year, as made at the last annual Convention, was $4,788. At this rate, although three-quarters' of the year are gone, the Treasurer has only received $1,241,82.

The apportionment is divided among fifty-five parishes and missions. Of these only three have paid in full. These are, St. John's, Bristol, Trinity Church, Lawrenceburgh, and St. Stephen's, New Harmony. Two have paid seventy-five per cent of their apportionment; ten have paid between fifty and seventy-five per cent; five have paid between twenty-five and fifty per cent; sixteen have paid less than twenty-five per cent, and nineteen have paid nothing.

This showing does not appear to be creditable to the diocese, or to the congregations which make it up. It is impossible that the faithful missionaries who labor throughout the diocese for very small stipends, can continue their labors unless these stipends, small as they are, are paid promptly and regularly. It is oo equally impossible for the Treasurer to make these payments to the missionaries unless remittances are made to him by 75 the parishes.

Within the next ten days he will send to each of the parishes that are in arrears statements showing the exact condition of the accounts, and it is to be hoped that during the month of March he will receive liberal remittances, in order that " St. Agnes' Guild 10 10 the stipends, which are due March 31st, $50 00 can be paid promptly.

EDITORIAL.

This number closes the eleventh volume of the WORKER. The purpose that its publication was desired to serve was to give information respecting the work that was being done in the Diocese, and the general interests of the Church in Indiana. It was not intended to fill the place of a general Church paper, containing all departments of such a publication. It was established and has been continued in the belief that all truly loyal and devoted children of the Church would be glad to know what was being done in the parishes and missions, and to keep in touch with the life and work of the spiritual household in this Diocese, and that to this end they would be willing to give as they could, the sum of 50 cents per year toward meeting the cost of publication. This is what is meant by the "subscription." No one is asked to subscribe, nor to pay any subscription, as though a with any one, except the number before the name in the mailing list. No one's name is taken off because they have not paid their subscription. A name is only taken off when there is clear evidence that they have no desire for the paper, or King, $1; R. L. Talbot; Miss Farrell, Mrs. in response to a request that it be discontinued. If a collector goes out in any parish in the interest of the paper, it is not so much to collect a subscription as it is to solicit aid from those who receive LAFAYETTE-Mrs. G. Ball, Mrs. C. Ball, the paper and are able to pay, but who have neglected the duty.

During the past month offerings and subscriptions have been somewhat beyond the average. This is, possibly, due to the earnest appeal of the Bishop, in the January number, written just before his death. But THE WORKER yet needs increased offerings from its friends and readers, if it goes on doing its missionary work without the embarrassment of debt.

THE time of the consecration of the Rev. Mr. White, Bishop elect of Indiana, has not yet been appointed. This will depend upon the action of the Standing Committee and the Bishops of the dioceses of the country, as the consent of a majority of each is necessary to a consecration. The hope is that the time may probability is that the consecration will be Kansas.

THE Ecclesiastical authority requested. in the last number of the Worker, that those desiring an Episcopal visitation before the consecration of the Bishop elect, send notice, so that arrangements might be made with some Bishop to spend a week or two in the diocese. But there seems to be so general a desire to wait for the new Bishop that it has not been thought necessary to arrange for present visitations. If any parish has a special desire to have a Bishop for confirmation during March or April, an effort will be made to get one to come for the service. All applications for confirmation will be filed in the order in which they come in, and will be given to the Bishop when con-

IT HAS been proposed that there be a memorial pamphlet of Bishop Knickerbusiness contract. No account is kept backer, D. Notice has been sent to all the parishes and missions asking for offerings from each, to defray the expense of publication, receiving in return a proportionate number of copies of the memorial. If the proposition meets with approval, and a sufficient amount is given to meet the expense, it will be published. As the number will be limited, any desiring copies will please send notice of how many they wish, at once. The price will be, post paid, 10 cents for single copy, and six copies for 60 cents to one address, if order is received before publication. Send order to the editor of the WORKER.

THE CENTRAL DEANERY.

The winter meeting of the Central Deanery was held at St. Luke's church, Frankfort, the Rev. Willis D. Engle missionary in charge, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 22 and 23, 1895. The Convocation began with evensong, and an excellent sermon on the relation between faith and knowledge, by the Rev. J. D. Stanley of Terre Haute. This opening service was pleasantly varied in an unusual manner by a wedding, solemnized before the sermon, by the Rev. J. J. Purcell of Marion.

On Wednesday, Morning Prayer was said by the Rev. George Moore of Attica, and the Rev. W. D. Engle, after which the first business meeting was held. Grace Church, Muncie, was chosen for the spring Convocation, and a committee was appointed to draw up a minute to express the feelings of the clergy of the Convocation upon the death of Bishop Knickerbacker. Holy Communion was celebrated at ten o'clock, by the Dean, the Rev. E. G. Hunter, assisted by the Archdeacon, the Rev. L. F. Cole, and the Rev. F. O. Granniss. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. E. Cathell of Richmond, upon "the Gospel of the week, "whatsoever He saith unto you do it." A quiet hour followed, conducted by the Rev. F. O. Granniss. At noon a very nice lunch was served by the ladies of the mission in the vestryroom of the church. After the Litany at 1:45 a business meeting was held at which the committee appointed at the morning session reported the following minute which, on motion of Rev. G. A. Carstensen of St. ful tribute to the memory of Bishop Paul's, Indianapolis, was adopted by those present rising and repeating the col-

> At this first meeting of the Central Convocation, after the entering into eternal rest of our beloved Bishop, David Buel Knickerbacker, a sense of the great loss which we have sustained comes upon us with renewed force.

These gatherings he loved well. Their success has depended, in large measure, upon his presence, his words of wise counsel, and his Godly exhortations. Here, as in all the other work of the diocese, he was a loving, yet vigorous leader. His clergy gathered about him not as a leader, but as sons about a father. He had their absolute confidence, and their affectionate esteem.

We would now bear loving testimony to his great worth as a man and Bishop, to his consecration to the great Shepherd of souls, and express a high appreciation of his noble gifts of head and heart, and his unwearing devotion to the interests of the diocese.

Ours it is to take up loyally and carry forward those well-matured plans for which he labored so ceaselessly and so hopefully, and which he remembered so abundantly in his be-

Missionary reports were then given by nearly all of the clergy present, the Archdeacon speaking with great feeling of the condition of the miners in the coal region of Brazil, Carbon, and Knightsville.

The first appointed discussion was opened by the Rev. Mr. Carstensen on "the responsibility of the stronger parishes to support missions." The hour having arrived for the Woman's meeting, the subject was laid over for further consideration at the next Convention in Muncie.

The evening service was made the occasion of short addresses from all the clergy present, in memory of the late Bishop. After evensong said by the Rev. Messrs. In spite of the severe cold weather, there was a good attendance of the people of Frankfort, who were lavish in their hospitality to their visitors, and showed great interest in the services and meetings. A good deal of discussion took place among the clergy in regard to possible candidates for the vacant episcopate, and a beautiful spirit animated all. The Convocation was very pleasant, and showed an entire absence of anything approaching party spirit to mar the harmony of the Special Convention called to elect a Bishop. THE SPECIAL CONVENTION.

The Special Convention called by the ecclesiastical authority, as required by the eleventh article of the constitution, met in Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis, February 6, for the purpose of electing a Bishop to fill the vacancy in the diocese. The occasion being of such great importance, deeply interesting the whole diocese, there was a very large attendance of both clergy and laity. Nearly every parish and organized mission was represented, and many by a full delegation. There was a celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 7:30, and Morning Prayer at 9 o'clock. At 10:30 was the opening service of the convention. The Holy Communion was celebrated by the Rev. E. G. Hunter, B. D., President of the

FROM different parts of the diocese good reports come of attendance upon Lenten services.

A VERY prominent Bishop in the east writes of the Bishop-elect of Indiana; "Your late election in its character and results gives satisfaction in all quarters."

THE extra copies of the February number of the WORKER containing the portrait of our late Bishop, are all out. A few copies of the portrait remain, which we can send for a two cent stamp, and one cent for postage.

THE cancelled postage stamps received have been packed up for sending away. Do not send any more to the Episcopal residence. into sheets, each large enough for a hundred stamps. The stamps on each sheet are counted twenty-six times, to make sure they are correct. The printer counts and passes the sheets to the gummer; the gummer gums the back, and, having counted, gives to the perforator, who divides the stamps by rows of little holes, not forgetting to count. It is surprising how quickly and accurately the hands can work. Seven hundred million postage stamps are made every year in the United States. New York City uses eight millions a month.

A MISSIONARY in Indiana expresses, we fear, one of the chief difficulties in the way of Church work, especially in some of the older missions. Speaking of one of his mission fields, he says: "We have a faithful people who are willing to do all that they can, but some do not care at all for the service. The greatest hindrance to our missionary work is the utter indifference of those who profess to be Churchmen. Their only mission seems to be 'to lie in cold obstruction' across the pathway of the Church, and to discourage those who are working for her prosperity." There are many, so called, Church people, who are only "form and ceremony." Such would do well to learn the lesson of the vision of dry bones. (Ezekiel xxxvii.) There are too many who are but like animated fossils of the silurian age interesting as specimens, but of no value "to the heavens above," and

The duty of the wardens is in general to take care of the church building and other property; to superintend the duties of the sexton; to attend to repairs and improvements, and to take the offerings of the people at the services.

The duty of the vestrymen is, in connection with the rector and wardens, to provide for the financial support of the parish, to secure subscriptions from its members, to take care of the funds, to pay the debts, and also to elect each year delegates to the Diocesan Convention, has made rapid strides in the last year and a half. The earnest and united effort of both priest and people have been trust of a brighter day.

Through the summer of 1893 they were without a rector, and without ministrations, except as the Bishop could send a priest for an occasional Sunday service. In August of that year the Rev. DeLou Burke returned to the diocese from Milwaukee, to engage in missionary work. At the Bishop's request he visited South Bend and held a service, and upon invicall to remain as rector.

With the approval of the Bishop he accepted the call, and the work which God has so greatly blessed began. The Church people came to the support of the new rector and seconded his every move. Old members came back, new Church people were found, friends came in, and with the increased attendance and interest new hope sprung up, and all worked together for the glory of God and His Church, So encouraging were the results that early in the spring

DIOCESAN SPECIALS.

The Rev. George Moore reports a service at Monon, March 25th.

The Rev. J. D. Hobbs, of Logansport, has been suffering from a severe attack of La Grippe.

The Rev. J. E. Cathell, of Richmond, improves slowly, and hopes soon (D. V.) to be able to take up his parish duties. He writes, "This is my most dangerous experience with sickness."

The Rev. M. A. Baker, of Rochester, has been threatened with lung fever, but is now better. Mr. Baker will take charge of New Castle and Connersville.

The Rev. A. A. Abbott, B.D., of Laporte, has received and accepted a call to Warren, Ohio. This will be a great loss to Indiana.

The Rev. J. D. Stanley, of Terre Haute, has received, but declined a call 7:00 P.M. Evening Prayer, followed by Misto Dayton, Ohio. Not only Terre Haute. but the whole Diocese, will rejoice that Mr. Stanly did not accept this call.

SOME GENERAL NOTES.

The Rev. Dr. Locke of Chicago, for thirty-six years rector of Grace Church, has been obliged to resign in consequence of continued throat trouble.

Bishop Worthington of Nebraska, celebrated the tenth anniversary of his consecration in Trinity Cathedral, Omaha, February 24.

A member of All Angels' Deaf Mute Mission, Chicago, walked ten miles, when the thermometer was below zero, to attend a service by the Rev. A. W. Mann.

Bishop Uganda, Central Africa, recently ordained seven men to the ministry, two of whom are among the greatest chiefs of the country, and govern large provinces.

Bishop Leonard has concluded five years' work in the diocese of Ohio. During this time nine new churches have been established in Cleveland, the missionary force has been increased from twelve to thirty-three, and services have been held in the sixteen counties where the voice of the Church had not before been heard.

Bishop Pierce of Arkansas lately celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his consecration. During this time church buildings have increased from five to twenty-six; rectors from one to sixteen; communicants from one hundred and five to nearly three thousand; one hospital has been built; $225,000 worth of property accumulated, and an endowment fund of $13,000 raised. IT HAS been thought best to postpone the meeting of the Central Convocation until fall, when it will meet in Muncie.

THE mailing lists of the WORKER for the parishes and missions have been sent out for revision. We trust that great care will be exercised in the corrections and additions. the American Church Missionary Society, which will probably result in the loss of several thousand dollars. But the work of the society will not be crippled to any great extent. It hopes to meet all stipends of its missionaries, and all other obligations without delay. Indiana is indebted to this society for the support of one of its missionaries.

It is the desire to publish in the WORKER, each month, news of interest and of value from all parts of the diocese. This was one of the objects for which the paper was originally established. But to this end it will be necessary for the friends and brethren to send in such news. The editor may "dream dreams, and see visions," but it might not always do to chronicle such as legitimate and current diocesan news.

THE Presiding Bishop sends word that he hopes to be able to arrange for the consecration of the Bishop-elect of Indiana, in April. There has been quite a general wish expressed that it be on St. Mark's Day, the 25th. It is possible that it may be so arranged. Due notice will be given, throughout the diocese, as soon as definite information is received. As it will probably be necessary to issue tickets of admission to the church, it would be well for any, outside of Indianapolis, intending to be present, to send in requests for tickets to be reserved, and which can be obtained, before the service, at the THE REVISED CONSTITUTION AND guild room of Christ church.

> How soon after the death of our dear Bishop are we called upon to record the death of one who was with us at the funeral, and who performed the last sad duty of committing the body to the ground. Bishop Thomas, of Kansas, has passed to his rest, at the age of sixty-one years. The greater part of his ministerial life was spent in the west, and was closely interwoven with that of our late Bishop, in work in Minnesota. In a letter received from him, in reply to an invitation to preach the memorial sermon at the convention in Feb., to select a successor for Indiana, he says: "The invitation you sent me recalls so many years of intimate association with my departed friend that I would gladly give him a personal tribute." But he was unable to come on account of a severe cold. He was professor and warden of Seabury Divinity school from 1864 to 1869; from 1870 to 1876 Rector of St. Mark's church, Minneapolis, when he accepted a call to St. Paul's Church, St. Paul. He was elected assistant Bishop of Kansas in 1887, and consecrated in May of that year. He became the Diocesan upon the death of Bishop Vail, in 1889. Bishop Thomas was deeply loved by his diocese, and his death will be felt as a sad bereavement.

CANONS.

The General Convention of 1892 appointed a committee to revise the Constitution and Canons of the Church and report to the Convention to be held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, in October, 1895. meeting of the General Convention, in consideration which their importance re- porting parishes, but with many important quires.

The committee preface the Constitution with the declaration that "This Church is an integral portion of the one Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, holds the faith maintained by the undivided Church, defined in the Creeds commonly called the Apostles' and Nicene ing its need of greater Episcopal oversight, Creeds, and divinely set forth in Holy and making a reasonable provision for Writ; receives the Canonical Scriptures the support of a Bishop, should be perof the Old and New Testaments as the mitted to organize into a diocese, providword of God, and as containing all things ed consent be obtained of the Diocesan necessary to salvation: ministering the two Sacraments ordained by Christ Himself, with unfailing use of Christ's words of institution and of the elements ordained by Him: and continues steadfast in the Apostles' ministry of Bishops, Priests, and Deacons."

This declaration expresses no new claims of the Church. She has always claimed to be the true representative in this land of the fullness of Catholic and Apostlic truth, and having historic and organic continuity with the Church of Pentecost, exercising lawful and canonical jurisdiction. It is well that this fact find expression in some clear and authoritative way, and where more fitting than the place given it in this report.

Throughout the report the ancient and more correct title of "Synod" is given the triennial meeting, instead of "General Convention. The long delayed and much needed authority for the organization of Provinces is given in Article IV of the Constitution. The provisions for the organization for new diocese increases the number of parishes required in the proposed new diocese, from six to ten, and requires that they be self-supporting.

This article will require most careful consideration, especially by the larger dioceses and missionary jurisdictions. If adopted it would, probably, seriously affect Church extension and growth in the present large-Bishop-sacrificing-dioceses; and would be clearly out of harmony with the true principle of diocesan to betray Jesus. Episcopacy. The important thought governing action in such questions should be, "What need exists?" and then, "how can we best meet it," and not "how many self-supporting parishes exist?" Attention should be directed to extent of territory, population, opportunities for Church nus. Peter and John in court of the Palace. work, and the ability of the Church in Peter's denials. stood, and receive that full and careful and square miles, with but a few self-supcentres of Church activity, may be just the place where a Bishop is most needed. and where a diocesan organization would most fully supply the needed bond of union of all the parts, by being brought into closer touch with its spiritual head.

> Any reasonable extent of territory, feel-Convention, if such territory be a part of an existing diocese. The Episcopate, representing the fullness of the divine commission and the fountain on earth of the Divine authority, as embassadorial of the Lord Jesus, can hardly be increased to too great proportions. The need today exists, not for fewer dioceses and Bishops, but rather for a very great increase-for the division of many of the present dioceses of from thirty to fifty thousand square miles each; into from two to four dioceses each, and the only question to be raised should be, the financial one.

CHAPTER IV.

Bishop Kemper summoned a Convocation of the clergy, at Evansville, on the 9th of June, 1838, to consider the question of the formation of a diocese. Convocation recommended that a convention, composed of the Bishops, clergy and lay delegates, should meet at Madison on the 24th day of August; 1838; and an address prepared by a committee of the Convocation was forwarded to each

Evansville, therefore, may claim the honor of the first diocesan Convocation and Madison that of the first diocesan

When the Convention met, the following parishes were represented: St. Paul's, New Albany; Christ Church, Madison; Christ Church, Indianapolis; St. John's Church, Lafayette; St. Paul's Church. Evansville; St. John's Church Crawfordsville; St. Paul's Church, Jeffersonville; St. Paul's Church, Richmond; and Trinity Church, Michigan City.

The Rev. Samuel R. Johnson, the eldest presbyter, acted as temporary chairman, and on his motion the Rev. Ashbel Steele was elected as permament president, and Mr. Johnson was made secretary of the Convention.

The clergymen who participated in the proceedings of the Convention were: the Rev. Ashbel Steele, Missionary at New Albany; Rev. Samuel R, Johnson, of Lafayette; Rev. George Fiske, of Richmond; Rev. Melancthon Hoyt, of Crawfordsville; Rev. James B. Britton, of Indianapolis; Rev. Archibald H. Lamon, of Evansville; and the Rev. Francis B. Nash, of Madison.

THE HISTORY OF THE DIOCESE. tion of parishes in the state through the medium of a legislative enactment, the Convention, on motion of the Rev. Mr. Hoyt, unanimously agreed upon the following plan of diocesan organization:

"Whereas, the clergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, living in Indiana, are desirous of uniting themselves into a diocese, to be in union with the General Convention of said Church; and

Whereas, the present meeting of clergy and of delegates of the laity of said Church, was called to form and organize said diocese; therefore be it

Resolved, by the clergy and laity of said Church, living in Indiana, that the clergy and laity aforesaid, are hereby united and formed into a diocese to be styled and known as the Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of Indiana, and to be in union the General Convention of said Church, provided the next General Convention will receive us into union with the same on the condition of our retaining the services of a Missionary Bishop as now enjoyed until the diocese in the opinion of the General Convention is able to support a diocesan, or during the pleasure of that Convention."

The records of the Convention do not show the place of meeting in Madison. Presumably the sessions were in the Court House. If this presumption is incorrect, I should be glad to learn in what building, in Madison, the Convention held its sessions, and if it is vet standing.

After the expression of thanks to Bishop Kemper by way of resolution and letter the primary Convention of the Church, assembled at Madison on the 24th and 25th days of August, 1838, adjourned.

Doctor Judas-A Portrayal of the Opium Habit, is an important and valuable work by William Rosser Cobbe, a well known Chicago journalist. Mr. Cobb was for many years a victim of this terrible habit, and thus writes from personal experience. It is published by S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago, at $1.50 per volume, postpaid.

THE HOLY EUCHARIST.

It seems to be coming to be better understood amongst us that the true purpose of church-going is not to hear sermons, but to worship God, and, by His grace, flowing into our hearts and wills, through all the channels of the divinely appointed environment, to be conformed in character more and more to the likeness of the Ideal Man-Jesus Christ. And, as the ideal spreads, the highest and most important act of worship will be increasingly used and honored. There is but one service peculiarly and distinctively Christian, and that is the Holy Eucharist. The other services and offices-Matins, Evensong, the Litany, the Penitential office, Baptism, and Confirmation-are not final, but prepare the way to the perpetual offering of the Memorial of the Sacrifice of the death of Christ, and of the benefits God in His infinite love has given us thereby. No one can be a loyal and consistent of New Albany; Isaac C. Lea, John wars," on "Washington's Birthday," and on Christian and neglect the Holy Communion. The understanding of this will, we feel sure, bring many more to see that they are not doing their duty, nor exercising their full privilege, in attending only the every day services. These should be Gethsemane Church, Minneapolis, Minnesota, has completed its new parish house, erected as a memorial of its first rector, the late Bishop Knickerbacker of Indiana, Bishop Gilbert conducted a service of dedication Feb. 17, and made an address, in which he spoke of Bishop Knickerbacker's cherished plans being realized in this building.

APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION.

Bishop Thompson of Mississippi, has an original way of "putting things," which, at times, is quite refreshing. In his sermon at the consecration of Bishop Sessums, of Lousiana, on the Historic Episcopate, he says: "It is merely trifling with words, if a man knows, and evidence of incompetency to express an opinion if he does not know, to say, 'You cannot prove that from any modern Bishop up to the Apostles there is a continued succession of ordainers.' You might as well tell me I cannot prove that the oak tree on the lawn has an unbroken descent from some oak of two thousand years ago! I do not need to prove a self-evident fact in nature, or a self-evident fact in organic society. The oak of to-day proves the oak of twenty centuries ago. They knew oaks then from bramble bushes as well as we do. They knew Bishops just as well as we do, perhaps better, and they knew, too, that Bishops come from Bishops, as well as oaks come from oaks. There is no other way known to man to get either oaks or Bishops."

GAMBIER, O.

This school was established, not with the lew of making the charges as small as possible, and the advantages therefore both mea-ger and mediocre; but, in the belief that many intelligent parents west of the Alleghenies desired for their daughters the most ample advantages of the highest sort, it was thought safe to organize a school unexcelled in beauty, comfort and instructors. In seven years an enrollment of 454 from twenty-one states has been the result.

Before the next issue of the WORKER, the parishes and missions will have elected wardens and vestrymen for the succeeding year. This is one of the most important and serious duties of the parish life, and yet it is too often regarded as but a canonical or legal requirement that must be met, and with little thought of its true relation to the welfare of the Church.

We commend to all Church people the the following from the Gospel Messenger as worthy of their attention:

A parish is strong, not because of its numbers, or because its people rank high in wealth, in brains or in social position. It may have all these and have a rector who is both able and godly, and still, comparatively, be a very weak and inefficient parish. What good it accomplishes is no doubt chiefly owing to the fidelity and earnest devotion of a few of its members, Devotion is strength. Love is stronger than money, than numbers, than intellect, than high social standing, than anything else that can be named. A parish that is devoted to our Lord's service, a parish that loves this service, loves Him for whose worship the service is given of his parish church, unless prevented by cirand honors His name, that parish is a strong cumstances beyond his control. This matter parish. How may any parish not strong exem- of habitual and regular attendance at all the plify this devotion and so become strong. A services of God's house is what the Church parish may have but a score of communicants, expects and has the right to expect of all her but if as a rule its leading men, wardens, and children, be they vestrymen or not; but vestry-appointed services, it may be set down as a of setting an example that, apart from every fact that this is a prosperous, growing parish. It cannot help but prosper. The habit set by the officers of the Church is infectious and will be quickly communicated to the rest of the congregation, and scores will be added to that Church at every visitation of the Bishop. It cannot be otherwise; for the habitual attendance of all vestrymen, not only at morning prayer, but at evening prayer as well, and at early Communion when appointed, means not only their own spiritual growth, but the spiritual growth of the entire parish, and its material growth as well, for the latter is invariably a result of the former. It means also parish harmony and unity-a oneness of plan and purpose, rector and vestry in hearty accord. To the rector it means the right sort of encouragement and support; that his hands are being upheld, and that the petition in the Collect for the Seventh Sunday after Trinity is being constantly answered in this parish of his: "Graft in our hearts the love of Thy name, increase in us true religion, nourish us with all goodness, and of Thy great mercy keep us in the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord." No example could be more inspiring and helpfull to a parish and its rector than that of the presence of every vestryman at every service vestrymen, are habitually present at all the men have here an opportunity afforded them other consideration, would certainly prove of incalculable benefit to their parish church,

BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE. RT. REV. JOHN HAZEN WHITE, D. D., 242 North Pennsylvania-st.

SECRETARY OF THE CONVENTION, REV. WILLIS D. ENGLE, INDIANAPOLIS.

TREASURER OF THE DIOCESE, .. MR. C. E. BROOKS, INDIANAPOLIS.

CONSECRATION OF THE BISHOP-ELECT. Wednesday, the first day of May, the Festival of SS. Philip and James, was a glorious day for the Diocese of Indiana. The Rev. John Hazen White, D. D., was consecrated to succeed in the Episcopate the late beloved Bishop, who was so suddenly called to his rest. Churchmen fully realize that no more solemn, nor important event can occur in the course of the life and work of the Church. The Divine commission of the Lord Jesus was vested in the apostolic body as the fountain, on earth, of the ministry of reconciliation, when the risen Christ declared to His chosen ones: "as my Father hath sent Me, even so send I you," and then "He breathed upon them," and gave to them their credentials as His Ambassadors. This commission was not personal but ministerial. The fullness and completeness of the commission was recognized in the covenant number twelve. But it was an authority that was to continue in its representative character so long as there was work for Christ to do on earth. "Lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world," saith He, as He gave them the associate consecrators were the Rt. examination of the Bishop-elect was very their final "marching orders" and ascended unto the presence of the Eternal and the Rt. A reception was given the Bishop and Mrs. White at the Propyleum in the evening from eight to eleven o'clock. The Governor of Indiana and Mrs. Matthews, the Mayor of the city and Mrs. Denny, with the Indianapolis clergy and others, assisted in receiving the very large assembly gathered to welcome the Bishop to his future home and work. After the formal reception, the Rev. J. H. Ranger, as master of ceremonies, called the audience to order and introduced Governor Matthews, who welcomed the Bishop in behalf of the State, Mayor Denny followed with a hearty welcome to the city; Mr. Thayer, of Plymouth, extended greetings on behalf of the laity of the Diocese; Mrs. Josephine Nichols on behalf of the women; Rev. EASTER IN THE DIOCESE.

We have had very few reports of Easter service sent in from the parishes and missions of the diocese; but from those received, and from various sources we have gathered a few items which indicate glorious service, good attendance, and fair offerings.

Michigan City-The rector writes that they have had the best Lent, and the largest attendance throughout the whole season, that they have ever had, and consequently a glorious Easter. The spacious church was crowded both morning and night, and a splendid congregation at the early communion.

Madison-The Rev. Mr. Bamford re-

Fort Wayne-Dean Seabrease says: "We have had a most satisfactory Lent, and on Good Friday large congregations, with a large attendance at the three hours service. Our Easter has been a glorious one. At no time since my coming to the parish have so many been present at the Holy Communion at both early and late celebrations. At the late service the seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost, and requiring the bringing in of chairs. Maidens vested in cottas and Oxford caps were added to our large vested choir of men and boys with most satisfactory results."

Indianapolis-Holy Innocents' Church had a good attendance upon services of Holy Week, especially on Good Friday, and the three hours service. The addresses by Archdeacon Cole were instructive and practical. The church decorations for Easter Day were not elaborate, but fitting and appropriate, consisting in part of handsome memorials. The services were all well attended. The childrens' service was held in the afternoon, and was a joyful occasion. The Easter music was unusually well rendered by the vested and auxiliary choirs, which had been for several weeks under the instruction of the Rev. G. E. Swan, of Knickerbacker

Kokomo-Easter services well attended. Special music, and the church beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. The rector was kindly remembered by several parishoners. The Sunday-school offering was nearly twice as large as last year.

Alexandria—Celebrated their Easter at St. Paul's mission. The hall in which services are held was nicely decorated by the ladies, with palms and Easter lillies. Good music, a good congregation, a season of rejoicing, and bright prospects for the work, Anderson-We had a glorious Easter, a large number of communicants, splendid decorations, and a congregation overflowing the capacity of the church. The Knight Templars attended in a body.

Marmont-St. Paul's mission had a profitable Lent. Daily services were held, and on Good Friday the three hours service of the Passion. Easter Even five matison—The Kev. Adams, of Indianapolis. The offering was quite large, and will be applied to the new chapel building fund. The Sunday-school celebration was held in the afternoon with a large attendance, and a good offering for the chapel fund.

Mt. Vernon-The children have organized into a junior auxiliary. They presented a handsome brass altar cover to the Church on Easter Day.

SOME GENERAL NOTES.

The clerical members of the Standing Committee, joined by many brethren, met the Bishop-elect and the party at Broad Ripple, and accompanied them to the

The Convention electing Dr. White was composed of one hundred and twenty brethren. This number represents the complete organism of the Church. It is the forty of the period of preparations for a higher life, or a higher work, multiplied by the Divine number three.

Dr. White was consecrated Bishop of Indiana, by seven Bishops. Seven is the covenant number of the Holy Spirit, and is the union of the four of earth and the three of Heaven.

It is stated that six hundred persons, formerly Presbyterians, have joined the Scottish Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Edinburgh, during the last twelve months.

A religious organization meeting lately in convention in Indianapolis, discussed the question of the Pope of Rome as the Anti-Christ of scripture. All minor particulars of the question are not yet settled There will be need of further discussion.

Bishop McLaren, who preached at the Consecration of the Bishop of Indiana, was formally a prominent Presbyterian minister. It was jokingly remarked by a Presbyterian minister that we had to get a Presbyterian to preach. "Yes," was the apt reply of a clergyman of the Episcopal Church, "but he is a Presbyterian with his eyes open."

THE SOUTHERN CONVOCATION.

The spring session of the Southern Convocation was held at Worthington, April 16 and 17, seven clergymen being present. After evening prayer on Tuesday, an excellent sermon was delivered by Dean Adams, and an address by Archdeacon Cole. The following day commenced with an early celebration of the Holy Communion, and after morning prayer the Rev. John Brann, Rector of the parish, led a meditation for the clergy. After the Litany at 10.30 the sermon was preached by the Rev. W. H. Bamford, and in the afternoon several very interesting papers were read-by the Rev. W. Lund, on "The needs of the Parish;" by the Rev. Edwin Johnson, on "Some reasons why the young people are not interested in Church work;" by the Rev. J. R. Holt, on "Guilds and So-

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The Diocesan Secretary expects(D.V.) to sail for England with Mrs. Knickerbacker, May 4. Miss C. H. Howland, diocesan correspondent of the Church 12. Periodical Club, has kindly consented to take her place, and will send out the usual 13. blanks, and prepare the annual report. 14-Will parish secretaries please report promptly to her. We are very anxious about the united offering at the General Convention. Do not let Indiana fall behind other branches in the amount sent. We append the General Secretary's last appeal.

The united offering is the offering made by the Woman's Auxiliary at the great Thanksgiving service, which precedes its triennial meeting, at the time and place of meeting of General Convention. It is part in this gift.

In 1889, when the meeting was held in 2. tween the building of Christ Church,

In 1892, in Baltimore, it amounted to $20,911.77, of which $20,226.04 was given to the enrollment fund. This fund 5 originated with a layman of Philadelphia, in 1883 '84, and was devised in the hope of raising $1,000,000 to be added to the missionary treasury, for aggressive missionary work. Of this amount, only $167,586.03, however, has as yet been raised; the interest upon which sum is being used in the Mission field.

In October, 1895, the United Offering to be made in Minneapolis is to be devoted to the endowment of the Episcopate in a Missionary jurisdiction, supporting a Missionary Bishop for all time to come. is hoped that at least $50,000 will be given for this purpose. To do this, over and above all missionary work for the year, will require effort. All are asked to work diligently to this end.

All contributions from Indiana should be sent to Miss Caroline II. Howland, 627 cieties in the Parish," and by the Rev. North Pennsylvania St., Indianapolis.

EASTER LIGHT.

O, wonderful glory of Easter-tide! Through heaven's portals flung open wide ms the radiant flood of thy marvellous light; And the soft cloud masses of dazziing white, Faintly bordered with roseate hue. Float in a waveless sea of blue, Lize sails that we follow with shaded eyes And watch as they drift into sunny skies.

O, sacred light of the Easter tide I Divinely clear thou shin'st to guide Our feet to the feet of Him who died. Our heart to the Christ once crucified Longing, we turn our eyes to Thee Meekly adoring, we bow the knee, Comforted, blest by the rays benign Of the sacred light from the cross divine Mary R. Willard,

The joy of Easter is peculiarly its own. The central thought-the great principle-is not so much Christ, the living Lord and King, as it is the new man Christ Jesus victorious over death and the grave. We realize that in this great fact of history, this wonderful transaction in the economy of divine redemption, there is the victory of humanity over all the enemies of its true welfare., We go forth to welcome Easter Day because in Christ have we the first fruits of redeemed humanity, "for as in Adam all die, as saith the apostle, yet "in Christ shall all be made alive." It is "Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ's at His coming."

"He binds in chains the ancient foe; A countless host He frees from wor And heaven's high portal open flies, For Chritt has risen, and man shall rise."

The resurrection of Christ is not only a doctrine to be accepted, but it is a great fact to be realized. It is the foundation upon which the Christian faith rests. Christianity is the religion of the risen Christ. The Church seeks not the living among the dead; her faith rests not in Christ crucified, but rather in Christ crucified and risen again. In Him is the fountain open for sin and uncleanness. It is this fountain of new life-the beginning of the new generation, the source of the new humanityto which belong the promises.

EASTER AT TRINITY CHURCH, LO-GANSPORT.

On Easter Sunday the rector was able to resume work, and was greeted, both morning and evening, by large and appreciative congregations. The services were as solemn and beautiful as in the past. The music was of a high order, much loving care having been given to its preparation. The service was rendered by a vested choir of forty voices in a manner which would do credit to any choir in the State. The Easter chant and the Canticles were in Gregorian tone, the Te Deum by Hopkins: the anthem in the morning, "Now is Christ Risen," by Allen, and the evening anthem "The Radiant Morn," by Woodard.

In spite of the "hard times" the Easter offering was a liberal one and the parish gives good prospect of continued advanced work. There are four organizations among the ladies and all thoroughly united and hard at work. During the last year they raised the money to pay for frescoeing the church and adding a very handsome pair of new oak doors; contributed $200 to the organist's salary, $100 more for charitable objects, and $20 for Diocesan missions, besides sending a box worth $125 to one of our Indian missions in the West.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew continues to do effective work, which is seen by the increased number of men who attend the services of the Church.

It is encouraging to note that all of the nine vestrymen are faithful in their attendance at divine service, and that no important business of the parish has been Asia kept it on the third day, after the 14th of delayed during the last four years for the month Nisan, as the actual day of the cial obligations and careful in transacting the business of the parish. DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

CHURCH Mission House, New York, March 26, 1895. TO THE CLERGY AND LAITY:-

The Board of Managers, by resolution, has requested me, as President of the Board of Missions, to set forth a statement of the present condition of the missionary treasury, and ask for contributions to relieve its embarrassment and to provide for the demand of the work. I am not surprised, but, am nevertheless grieved. to learn that the financial depression throughout the country during the past two years has made itself felt in the serious reduction of contributions for missionary objects. The payments to the missionaries have been continued; but it has been necsssary to borrow money for that purpose. The treasury of the Board is indebted to the amount of more than $100,-000. The obligations incurred for this year must be met; but unless adequate means are provided it will become neces. sary to make a serious reduction in the appropriations which must be made at the May meeting of the Board for the new year. Such curtailment would be at great loss and sacrifice to the missionary work, which should not be permitted except in case of extremest necessity. The expansion of the work of the Church in the United States is a constant appeal to us. not only to hold the ground that has been gained, but to continue to advance as rapidly as we are able. The opening of the great nations of the East is a call to us to follow the leadings of Divine Providence by strengthening the hands of those whom we have sent with the Gospel to China and Japan.

These demands grow imperative at a time when the ordinary sources of income are checked. A debt of $35,000 brought forward from last year has been increased by the falling off of contributions since. During the six months from September 1st to March 1st the contributions were $136,-371, while for the corresponding period last year they were $168,915. From the ist of March to the first of September next there will be required to meet the appropriations of the year $375,000. During the corresponding months of last year (including the unusual amount of $70,000 from legacies,) the receipts were $270,000. It is our duty to place these facts before all our Church people, trusting that in this season of spiritual earnestness a special disposition will be shown to replenish the missionary treasury and provide against a hurtful curtailment of the work.

May I ask that this letter be read in the churches, and opportunity given for offerings in behalf of our missionary work? J. WILLIAMS,

President of the Board of Missions.

HE ROYAL BAKING POWDER is more economical than other brands because of its greater leavening strength, as shown by both the U.S. and Canadian Government Reports.

The other baking powders contain from 20 to 80 per cent, less leavening gas than the ROYAL. So the ROYAL, even should it cost more than the others, would be much the cheaper.

In addition to this the superior flavor, sweetness, wholesomeness and delicacy of the food raised by ROYAL BAKING POWDER would make any difference in cost insignificant.

CHURCH WORKER

This number of the WORKER will be for July and August. The next issue will be for September. There is much matter of interest crowded out at this time, but receipts from offerings and subscriptions for the past two months have been so small as to make it impossible to enlarge the present number or issue one for next month. With the September number changes will be made which it is hoped will meet present difficulties. There are large numbers who have received the paper for years but who have not given a "thank you" in the way of support. Many of these will be dropped. Numbers of them call themselves Churchmen. In name they may be, and so are there to one of which every Church family many forms taken from the rocks of the should be a subscriber. Only brief space Devonian age which we call fish. They can be given to any of these departments, are fish, but they are fossils. Indiana but the desire is to keep in touch with all has many of this kind of Church fossils. Church activities in the diocese. They are fair to look upon, very interesting in many ways, but they have no church life, and take no interest in the work of the Church in the Diocese. But no name will be dropped from the mailing list of the Worker who manifests any interest in its monthly visit, even though they do not feel able to send the 50 cents for subscription. The WORKER price will be continued at 50 cents. But for any parish or mission station receiving ten or more copies to one address, and paying promptly in advance for the total number sent (either for the year or the monthly proportion) the subscription price will be 25 cents per copy.

In the make up of the paper there will be changes which will, doubtless, make it more interesting and instructive. The Rev. F. O. Granniss of Muncie, the Rev. Dr. Adams of Jeffersonville, and others, have kindly promised to provide articles upon Church history, Liturgies, and other subjects of value and interest. Miss Howland of Indianapolis will gather items each month from the auxiliaries, and a competent person will look after the interests of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

These changes do not imply any increase in the size of the paper, nor will there be any thought of supplying the place of the large weekly Church papers,

GENERAL BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The General Board of Missions has deemed it unwise to make any appropriations for the full new year, as there is still a deficiency of $15,000, and $50,-000 of that which has been pledged is conditional upon the whole $100,000 being raised. Appropriations were therefore made only for the first three months of the new fiscal year, at the annual rate of $451,551.

The following offerings from parishes and missions in Indiana for general and special purposes are acknowledged in sions:

At Huntington had a good congregation and baptized two children. They need the ministrations of a resident priest in order to see the best results. It would doubtless pay to cultivate this field more thoroughly than we have in the past. It is not difficult to open the way for our services, but it is a real difficulty to find or plant a devotion and loyalty to the Church that will persistently and consistently do a reasonable work in sustaining these services when once started. The poorest material prospects will grow bright with a spiritual harvest of souls for Christ if there can be found true Churchly devotion. Such power for good rests in the grand old Church that nothing can hinder its extension, even here in indiana.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held in Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis, Tuesday, June 4th. There was a reasonably good representation from the parochial branches of the city, but a small attendance from other parishes of the diocese. The Bishop celebrated the Holy Communion at 10:30 A. M., and delivered an earnest, practical address upon the text, "First the blade, then the ear," (St. Mark IV, 28,) which was listened to with deep interest and attention. He spoke particularly of moting the growth of the Church; and expressed the belief that if all Church work could be animated by the same spirit that characterized the Woman's work, the Church would make much important element in woman's work was that it drew out the activities of all classes. Those in high social stations, from beautiful homes and with great wealth, were found working with deep interest, and in harmony and unity with those in all other stations and human social distinctions in life. Women worked on, unheeding many petty theological disputes that sometimes seriously affects Church interests, caring only for Christ's Church, and doing Christ's work in trying to lift the world out of its darkness and sin. In conclusion he urged the members of the Auxiliary in Indiana to renewed efforts to strengthen the work of the Church, and to the increase of its membership and good works.

After the service, the report of the Diocesan Secretary was read by Miss Howland, acting in the absence of Miss Upfold, who is in Europe with Mrs. Knickerbacker. This is the first time in eleven years that Miss Upfold has been absent from the annual meeting. Her presence was missed, though she had left behind words of cheer and suggestions which were acted upon later in the day.

The report showed: total cash receipts for the year, by the Auxiliary, of $1373. 91, and value of boxes prepared $701.85, making a total of $2,075.76. The renine hundred and seventy-five workers in twenty-eight parishes and total receipts $6,594.91.

Upon the close of the reading of the report, the question of the revision of the constitution, and the more permanent organization of the Auxiliary, was taken up and discussed until the hour for lunch, when an adjournment was had until 2 P. M. The consideration of this question at the afternoon sesssion resulted in the Puru 7 00 appointment of a committee to draft a 2 00 constitution. This committee, after a brief conference, reported that it would be impossible to prepare such draft at this time, and suggested the appointment The Rev. J. L. Prevost and wife have started of a provisional board to direct the affairs pare and submit a draft of a new constitution, to the next annual meeting. The suggestion was accepted, and the following board appointed: Mrs. J. R. Nichols, Mrs. A. W. Seabrease, Mrs. Worthey Jones, Mrs. J. L. Ketchem, Mrs. C. S. Sargent, Mrs. Elliott Perkins, and Miss Upfold-Miss Howland to act for Miss Upfold until her return.

The regular program followed the conclusion of business. Mrs. Seabrease read a paper on "The old church in a new land;" Mrs. Ketcham on "The Heroic in Missions," and Mrs. Perkins introduced the subject of "Practical hints on Auxiliary work." A paper was prepared by Mrs. Blake, of Lafayette, upon "Our missions to the colored race," but not being able to be present, it was read by the Rev. Mr. Blake. Mrs. Nichols closed this feature of the meeting with a few words upon the united offering to be made at the general meeting in Min-neapolis in October. The General Secretary having requested an expression from the diocesan branch as to the disposition of this offering, it was Resolved, "That the Indiana branch of the Woman's Auxiliary desire that the united offering be placed in the hands of the Board of Missions, the income to relieve the Board, annually, of the support of a Missionary Bishop—the jurisdiction to be undesignated."

After a few pledges had been received for this offering, the meeting adjourned.

ASSESSMENTS.

It is earnestly hoped that the Parishes and missions will arouse themselves to the necessity of promptly meeting the apportionment for diocesan missions, and the assessment for diocesan purposes. The amount for the first quarter is now called for. There should be an effort at New York, at 30 cts. per copy. improvement in meeting these obligations. Why should not the vestry of every parish arrange to raise the quarterly assessments upon their parish, without delay? And why should not every parish and mission loyally and cheerfully recognize the justice and equity of the amounts called for for the various diocesan purposes? This year there is a special assessment made necessary to meet the expenses incurred in the death of our late dear Bishop, and the election and consecration of his most worthy suc- New York, will be published at an unusually cessor in the Episcopate, our present Bishop. This assessment will, doubtlessly, be cheerfully paid. But let all be promptly met, that there be no friction in the continued work of the diocese, and the Treasurer not have to worry the Bishop, and his own soul, with the question, "what shall we do, the apportionments have not been paid, and the missionary stipends are due?"

The Church Periodical Club will suspend active labors during July and August.

THE Spirit of Missions reports the receipt of a check with the following

"The endorsed check is for the deficiency from an anonymous contributor. It is the amount which I should have paid as income tax if the law had not been declared unconstitutional; but I am glad to give it to missions instead."

There are Churchmen in Indiana who could do likewise. The special tax collectors have gone, but the missions and missionaries are still here. Or, why not consider the claims of the Church Home. This should be completed. It is one of the burdens that the Bishop has to bear. It is a noble enterprise. It appeals to every instinct of true manhood, and claims the personal interest of every true Christian. What a grand thing it would be-how it would rejoice the Bishop's dially welcomed. heart-how fully would then be realized the Divine Master's approval in the "well than five hundred pupils from twenty-one done thou good and faithful servant" etc., if the example of the act of love indicated above, should be followed, for we feel that the receipts would be sufficient to complete the Home, and open it for the aged and orphans.

Trinity Sunday as a festival is of late institution, and is of Western origin. The day was originally kept as the octave of Pentacost or Whitsunday, and is now observed by the Eastern Church as the Feast of all the Martyrs. The keeping of this day as a separate festival, and in honor of the blessed Trinity, is first mentioned in England in 1162, and was first enjoined by the Synod of Arles in 1260, and became generally observed about the fourteenth century.

The Festival of St. James, the brother of St. John, is celebrated on July 25, in the Western Church, but in the Eastern it is observed on April 30. St. James was the first of the Apostles to suffer martyrdom, and the only one whose death is recorded in the New Testament.

THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

The Rev. A. W. Mann, missionary to deaf mutes, gave a very interesting address on Venice to the pupils of the Indiana State institution at Indianapolis, on the evening of Saturday, May 25. On Sunday four services were held, two at Christ church and two at the school. At the last services held in the evening, one of the pupils was received into the Church, and the Holy Communion was celebrated. Monday evening, the 27th, a combined service was held in St. Paul's church, Evansville, the rector, the Rev. Mr. Jones, reading, and Mr. Mann interpreting.

Offerings for this work are asked at any time, but the TWELFTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY (Sept. 1,) is specially a fitting time to make such offerings. The missioner makes the following appeal:

Twelfth Sunday after Trinity shows the appropriateness of the growing custom of devoting its offerings to the work among our widely scattered deaf mute brethren.

Many deaf mutes have responded to the Church's Ернрнатна since the day fifty years ago when the Word was first preached to them in the silent language of signs, which even our blessed Saviour used in addressing deaf men. The work has borne fruit in Baptisms and Confirmations and good Christian living. Attendance at services continue to increase. The "silent people" gladly bear a share of the expenses of the mission, but their offerings are small, as they are of the working classes. It is necessary, therefore, to ask Church people o help. The expenses include postage, sta-ionery, printing, telegrams, hotel bills, fares, etc. The financial depression of the past two years has been embarrassing. If more parishes would contribute on "Ephphatha Sunday" than formerly the General Missioner would have the means of pursuing the work with greater freedom and effectiveness.

Although unorganized, it has always, heretofore, paid all of its diocesan obligations, and, by a gift, of James B. LITERARY NOTES,

The Church Eclectic, for many years so ably edited by its proprietor and founder, the Rev. Dr. Gibson, of Utica, N. Y., is now being published by the Young Churchman Co,, of Milwaukee, Wis. This is one of the most valuable publications in the Church, and should make its monthly visit to the home of every loval Churchman specially interested in the defense of the great principles of the Incarnation, and of the order, discipline and worship of the Church. We feel sure that under its new management its high character and moral tone will be continued. Among the many valuable articles in the May number we mention as of special interest at the present time: "The Proposed Provincial System," by the Ven. F. W. Taylor, D. D.; "The Proposed Amendments to the Constitution," by the Rev. W. J. Gold, S. T. D., and "The Restoration of the Bishop's Power of Mission," by the Rev, W. C. Hopkins, D. D. The leading article in the June number is the sermon of Bishop McLaren, of Chicago, preached at the consecration of the Rev. J. H. White, D. D., as Bishop of Indiana. Other valuable articles appear in this number. Subscription, $3.00 per year, 25 cents per number.

The American Church Sunday-school Magazine makes its monthly visits promptly, full of choice practical thought upon Sunday-school work, and its full and complete notes upon the Sunday-school lessons. The reports of meetings of Sunday-school Institutes, in the June number, and the articles by Dr. Shinn and Dr. Stone, make it peculiarly valuable to Sundayschool workers. Published at Philadelphia. THE CHURCH OF GOD.

No greater mistake can be made than this, that Christian people should overlook the Church of God in former ages. It is vital in every respect. Those who do so are almost sure to become narrow in their religious views. It is certainly true that all divine forms of religion emanated from God, and looked toward that great dispensation of grace which began with the advent of the Son of God. But are we to ignore the past, and thus remain ignorant of the great unfolding of the Spirit of God through the ages, and only consider this latter dispensation as worthy of our thought and study? Many very good people, and some godly people, by pursuing this course, have wandered into forbidden paths, have been carried away into grievous error, and have ended in attempting to set up systems of religion totally subversive of almost every divine truth in relation to the Church of God.

Such perverse intentions have not only been indulged in in our very modern times, but we see in past ages glimpses of the same arrogant spirit attempting to subvert the spirit of religion, and certain persons puffed up with their own conceits attempting to assume to themselves prerogatives which had been entrusted to others by Divine appointment.

The Christian Church cannot overlook the great lewish and Patriarchal Dispensations, for all dispensations of religion to the race are only various phases of the worship of the one living and true God. The Church in all ages had been established for one grand purpose, to recover the world to holiness and God. As God is perfect, so He desires His offspring to be as nearly perfect as possible. All the powers of the mind, all the faculties of the soul lie requires to be ter which He wishes each one of us to cultivate.

In God's plan to reclaim mankind to his original estate and to provide a sure means of salvation for him, there appears no defection. Nothing is wanting, no point of duty left out, no emergency amid all the infinite vicisitudes of life unprovided for. Ever since the first promise of a Messiah who should come to redeem in the wilderness. His people, has this plan stood forth in dignity and power. "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her lish Church calls for four more Bishops, and seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel," Gen. iii, 15. Christ in due time should come to destroy the works of the devil, and until that time the great advent should be prefigured by rites and ceremonies, conducted by specially appointed ministers generally throughout the world before the deluge, proclaimed what Adam's sentence had failed to teach, how deeply man had fallen into sin, and how much he needed a Redeemer to restore him to a better state. All through the darkness of this scene promises and predictions man's recovery. The promise made to Adam, as given above, and its moral effects on Abel, Seth, Enoch and Noah, plainly pointed out something coming in the future, in God's own good time, which should take hold of men's hearts and consciences and lead them into one fold of happiness under one great Shepherd. These men walked with God. That is, they served God, and through the merits of the Lamb whose death was prefigured by sacrifices, they found grace in His sight.

Such was the origin or beginning of the Church of God. In the first book of Moses we see her commencing her pilgrimage; in the last book of the New Testament we contemplate her as entering into glory. The great intention of God's love all through the ages, has been to gather together in one all things in Christ. The animal Sacrifices and their concomitant rites and ceremonies hold forth, as in a mirror, to the human heart that the Messiah should come in due time and reclaim mankind into one family of God.

It is absurd to say that, though the religion of Moses abounds in rites and ceremonies, the religion of Christ has none; since it was one and the same religion, given truly in different dispensations but under one and the same Mediator and Redcemer. How wonderful, indeed, the two systems agree with each other! The same views of God are presented to us, and the same views of man. The Sacraments and rites and ceremonies of the Apostles, of the New Testament, are but stronger representations of the Divine nature of God and of the true Messiahship of Jesus Christ. The sacrifice of the animal, the bruised flesh and flowing blood, only typified faintly the great sacrifice of the sacred body and blood of our Divine Master, which we solemnly memorialize every time we partake of the Holy Eucharist, which is a living feast upon the Great Sacrifice once offered for all.

NEW PHASE OF THE UNITY QUESTION.

That those naughty 'Piscopalians sometimes preach doctrines uncomfortable to some is undoubtedly true. But this cannot be avoided, as they preach, or are expected to preach, "the Faith once delivered to the saints," and in harmony with apostolic truth. In fulfilment of this obligation to witness for the truth they may come into conflict with modern issues, and disturb the souls of some. This seems to have been the case at Raleigh, North Carolina, as, according to the following, from the Young Churchman, the missionary of the church would seem to

The sheriff informed the commissioners that the Baptists and Methodists had complained to him of the use of the ours nad complained to him of the use of the court house by the Episcopalians for divine worship, and they made an order for the sheriff to lock the court house doors, and allow no more preaching there. Several Episcopalians called upon the commissioners to learn if that was true, when they were informed that com-plaint had been made that the Episcopallans had been preaching 'uncomfortable doctrine,' and demanded that it be stopped, and they had made the order accordingly." made the order accordingly.

THE BISHOP'S COLUMN.

SILENT INFLUENCES.

A layman of culture and information, for years connected with another religious communion, on allying himself with the American Church stated that he took the step in consequence of the fact that in his historical study of the period dating from the coming of Christ in the flesh, he fear. But the Church does not mean was constantly confronted on every page with notices of the existence of the Episcopate and reference to those who filled and the Clergy; it does not mean the her mission of mercy and duty, to receive this position as leaders and chief officebearers, not alone in the Church of God, but in the world itself. We are often disposed to ask, Was he the only man who in small missions, where growth is eshas read history and made this discovery. or was he the only man who was honest enough to admit what he discovered? Church unity might be more possible if men would thus earnestly read the history of the Church of Christ and confess what they read.

Miss Mary B. Perin, an accomplished lady, will have immediate charge of Knickerbacker Hall. Her most earnest effort will be given to render it in every sense a Christian Home and a Church School of High grade.

Howe School has passed into the care of Rev. J. H. McKenzie, who with the strong est instructors in the two faculties previously represented, will aim to bring this institution into the first rank of schools for the training of our voung men.

I am sure we may speak with confidence of the secure provision made for those who may be entrusted to our care in things intellectual, moral and spiritual. I therefore bespeak your help in making them a success.

Faithfully and affectionately yours, JOHN HAZEN WHITE, Bishop of Indiana.

A Welsh parson preaching from the text, "Love one another," told his congregation that in kind and respectable treatment of our fellow creatures, we were inferior. As an illustration of the truth of this remark he quoted an instance of two goats in his own parish, that once met upon a bridge so very narrow that they could not pass by without one thrusting the other off into the river. "And, continued he, "how do you think they acted? Why, one goat laid himself down and let the other over him. Ah! beloved, let us live like the goats.11

ENGLAND AND ROME.

Much has been said of late respecting the ecclesiastical relation of the Church of England and the Church of Rome, and the possibilities of a union. The judgment of the Archbishop of Canterbury is expressed in these words: "Any corporate union with Rome, so long as she retains her distinctive and erroneous doctrines, and advances her present unprimitive and unscriptural claims, is absolutely visionary and impossible.

Says Bishop Coxe: "The Anglican succession is as strong as Catholic laws and canons can make succession; for nobody has ever yet been able to point out any case in which the Nicene constitutions have not been carefully observed 11

In reply to the question it may be stated that: 1. The Roman Catholic Church in this country and in England is a Protestant body. 2. There never was a Roman Church in England before the year 1570.

Do not deem it puerile or unimportant to be minutely loyal to the Prayer Book and its directions. In the long run the Church wins more substantial benefit from our unswerving obedience to her than from immediate gains seemingly secured by our wilful practicing of unauthorized experiments. The Prayer Book is the anchor of great value in the winds that blow and the storms that drive, in the domain of theological differences.

> An English Roman Catholic layman, in an article which recently appeared in an English magazine, admits that the number of Romanists in the United Kingdom has fallen off a million and a half during the last fifty years. In 1841 Roman Catholics constituted twenty-six per cent of the population, while in 1801 there were but sixteen per cent of that faith. The vast increasing influence of the Church of England during that same time would lead one to believe that a bold assertion of a true Catholicity is the most that is needed for souls longing after the whole truth. The following additions have been lately made to the "Christian family" of brotherly love in the State of Indiana: The Rose Buds, The Dew Drops, The White Wings, The Heavenly Crew. Unless some organizations have either ascended or descended during the past five years, these additions make a total of about 148 in the State.

Over 5,000 copies of the Book of Common Prayer have been placed in the rooms of hotels in the city of New York by the American Prayer Book fund. The Chicago Prayer Book Society is interested in this character of Missionary work, and will place Prayer Books in the rooms of the leading hotels in Chicago.

"The Young People's Society of Spiritual Growth" is an organization of young people of the church, first established at Rochester, Minnesota. It has lately held its first annual convention at St. Peter. Minn. Branches have been organized in several dioceses.

A remarkable report was presented to the late convention of the Diocese of Missouri, showing that for the diocesan assessment of $6,000 only one parish was delinquent, and that to the amount of only $6.45, and only two parishes were delinquent in pledges for diocesan missions, Every Sunday School in the Diocese without exception made Lenten offerings for missions.

Those persons who say that the Church of England originated with Henry VIII, are so ignorant of the commonest facts of English history that their opinions are not even worthy of contempt. The "Magna Charta" is the one document above all others in English history with which any scholar might be supposed to be acquainted. Among the opening words are these: "THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND shall be free, and her liberties unimpaired" (in Latin.) THE TAPESTRY WEAVERS.

Let us take to our hearts a lesson -- no lesson can braver be.

From the ways of the tapestry weavers on the other side of the sea. Above their heads the pattern hangs, they study it with care-The while their fingers deftly move, their eyes are fastened there.

They tell us curious things, besides, of the patient, plodding weaver;

He works on the wrong side evermore, but works for the right side ever. It is only when the weaving stops, and the web is loosed and turned, That he sees his real handiwork-that his marvelous skill is learned. Ah, the right side of its delicate beauty, how it pays him for all his cost ! No rarer, dantier work than his was ever done by the frost. Then the master bringeth him golden hire, and giveth him praise as well,

And how happy the heart of the weaver is, no tongue but his own can tell.

The years of man are the looms of God, let down from the place of the sun. Wherein we are weaving ever, till the mystic web is done. Weaving blindly, but weaving surely, each for himself his fate;

We may not see how the right side looks, we can only weave and wait.

But, looking above for the pattern, no weaver hath need to fear, Only let him look clear into Heaven-the Perfect Pattern is there. If he keeps the face of the Saviour, forever and always in sight, His toil shall be sweeter than honey, his weaving is sure to be right. And when the work is ended, and the web is turned and shown,

He shall hear the voice of the Master, it shall say, "Well done !"

And the white-winged angels of Heaven, to bear him thence shall come down; And God shall give him gold for hire-not coin, but a golden crown! -Anson G. Chester.

The Treasurer would most earnestly urge upon the rectors and parishioners that they take steps to remit to him at an early day at least a part of their apportionments for Diocesan Missions. Although there was a canonical offering for this purpose appointed for June, only ten parishes in the Diocese remembered it and made an offering for the purpose, There is a second offering for this same purpose appointed for the second Sunday in September, and it is earnestly hoped that liberal offerings may be made at this time and promptly remitted to the Treasurer, in order that he may be able to meet the stipends of Missionaries falling due September 30th.

I beg respectfully to ask my reverend brethren of the clergy why it is that so large a part of those who sit before me allow the continual desecration of Fridays, as the chosen time for their social entertainments in their parochial festivities, when the strong and clear voice of the Prayer Book, to which they have sworn themselves unto obedience, unquestionably runs the other way! God's ultimate blessing, surely, cannot largely rest on indevout and unchurchlike methods such as these!-Bishop of Indianapolis, St. Paul's Ch., D. Turpy.. 10 00 Milvaukee's Convention Address.

ARCHDEACON'S REPORT.

Sept. 29 .- Feast of St. Michael and All Angels .- Visited Greencastle for morning service and Holy Communion; nine communicants and a good, attentive congregation.

Oct. 6 .- In Trinity church, Bloomington, held two services and celebrated Holy Communion, with 19 communicants. This, with Greencastle, is a very important field. It is hoped that an able man may be secured ere long to take charge.

Oct. 8 .- In the morning came to St. Paul for a brief consultation with Mr. of $100. Next! J. E. Carpenter. In the afternoon addressed the Woman's Auxiliary of Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis. In the evening attended a reception given to Rev. Mr. Johnson, by the Daughters of the King, of Grace Church, Oct. 10 .- In Marion, called on Rev. Mr. Purcell, and also on several of my old friends in Gethsemane parish.

Oct. 13 .- In St. Paul's church, Evansville, at early celebration there were three communicants; service at 10:30 A. M., with large congregation. In the afternoon went to Mt. Vernon, Rev. Mr. Griffith meeting me from New Harmony and preaching at evening service. With care and patience this field ought to show a good increase and developement, under the WORKER's rightful due. Mr. Griffith's devoted ministrations. The only road to success in our mission work here in Indiana, is through co-operative tact and hard work on the part of both clergy and people.

Oct. 16-In St. John's church, Mt. Vernon, received Holy Communion, Rev. Mr. Griffith celebrant. Came to Evansville, thence to Indianapolis.

Oct. 16-In consultation with Dean Hunter, concerning work in the Deanery. Oct. 20-Nineteenth Sunday after Trinity, in St. Mary's church, Delphi. Two services and Holy Communion, with fourteen communicants. In Sundayschool and made short address. This is a remarkable Sunday-school in many ways. There are only fifteen scholars, but there are five teachers, and a superintendent, and all devoted to their work, Their Lenten offering came near reaching sixty dollars.

Oct. 24-In company with Dean Hunter, visited Kennard for evening service. Arranged to supply services at least twice a mouth, the Dean or myself looking after the supply till some definite arrangement can be made.

Oct. 27-Twentieth Sunday after Trinity. In the morning, attended service in Grace Cathedral and preached. In afternoon, at Sunday-school of Holy Innocents' church, made short address. In the evening, attended service in Holy Innocents' church, and preached.

WITH the December number of the WORKER there will be quite a number of names dropped from the mailing list unless subscriptions are received. If the paper is not regarded as of any value, or, if very many take no interest in the work of the diocese, their does not seem to be any reason why the diocesan paper should be sent them year after year, at an expense to those who do aid in its publication by their offerings and subscriptions. AUXILIARY ITEMS.

By Miss Howland, 627 N. Penn. St., Indianapolis.

The triennial meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at Minneapolis is over, and the united offering which was there made, at last amounts to the great sum of $54,500. Sixty thousand was the mark set, and it is quite possible that the belated contributions, which will yet come in, may bring the total to that figure. As it stands, however, the offering is a noble one of which the women of the Church may well be proud. What part had we in it? Less than three hundred dollars. Here is the list of parishes which contributed: St. Paul's, Columbus; St. Thomas, Plymouth; Trinity, Fort Wayne; St. Stephen's, Terra Haute; Holy Innocents' and St. Paul's, Evansville; Trinity, Michigan City; St. James', Goshen; Holy Innocents', St. Paul's, Grace Cathedral and Christ Church, Indianapolis. There were besides some individual subscriptions. It would be interesting to know how many of the thousands of women communicants are represented in this three hundred dollars. Very few indeed, judging from the parish which gave most. There, three women gave all but seven dollars of the whole contribution; which seven dollars, divided among at least two hundred communicants, looks rather small as the result of three years work. Now is the time to begin laying by for the next offering, which will be made in The Archdeacon has lost a personal 1898, and will be devoted to the training and sending out of women missionaries.

> Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols represented the Auxiliary of Indiana at the triennial meeting, the diocesan Secretary, Miss Upfold, being unable to go. Mrs. Nichols will doubtless have many interesting and inspiring things to report. It was thought but right that the Auxiliary should bear the expense of its delegate. It would be a graceful thing, and one doubtless which they will be glad to do, if those parishes which sent us contributions to the united offering, would help in this matter. Money should be sent to the diocesan Secretary,

The Auxiliary of St. Paul's, Indianapolis, held a very successful tea, September 8, for the purpose of gathering funds to place in the parish house a memorial window to Mrs. Lockridge, who was their President at the time of her death.

The usual Thanksgiving market will be held by the ladies of St. Paul's Guild, this time in the new parish house.

The regular meeting of the Christ Church Auxiliary will be postponed from Nov. 4 to November 11, that Mrs. Nichols, who will not reach home before that date, may make her report of the convention. The women of all the Auxiliaries in the ctty, and any others interested, are invited to attend this meeting, the place of which will be announced later.

The Christ Church Chapter of the Daughters of the King have, during the summer, sent two boxes to the City Hospital. They are now preparing a particularly nice box to be sent at Thanksgiving, and are considering the advisability of undertaking some work among the newsboys.

DIOCESAN NEWS.

WORTHINGTON .- The old parish at this place, which has been so often without a rector, has been doing good service during the past year. Some desirable additions have been made to the inside of the Church (St. Matthews) making it more churchly and more convenient than before, and much needed outside improvements have been made. The new fence on one side of the church property has been painted, very much improving its general appearance. The vestry have had the altar raised, the chancel enlarged, the choir extended, and choir seats, book rests and Credence put in.

Two gentlemen, not members of the congregation, presented the rector with a prayer The Sunday school purchased two walnut hymn boards and seven numbers. One of the ladies gave an altar book rest; another presented a re-table for altar; and two others provided suitable hangings for Trinity season, for altar, Credence, and Prayer desk. The Rev. W. H. Bamford, B. D., kindly presented two altar vases.

The Woman's Guild have provided a very nice, bright carpet for chancel and choir, and twenty copies of Huchins' new hymnal. The only need, now, to complete the chancel furnishing, is a brass altar cross. This should be regarded as the first and greatest need in altar furnishings. Will not some one send us one as a memorial?

Services at St. Matthew's are held every Sunday and Holy Day, and on Wednesday evenings. If the rectorship of St. Matthew's had been as continuous as the organist, the parish would be now much stronger than it is. The parish was organized in 1852, and has still its first organist. But with Church and rectory free from debt, there is no reason why the parish should not soon become self-sus-

GOSHEN .- The fall work in St. James' parish is opening very encouragingly, the services being well attended, and the various societies resuming their meetings that were suspended during the summer. The Daughters of the King have in preparation the Can tata of "Jephthah's Vow" to be given in the Opera House the first week in November, with about fifty voices. The members of the fine vested choir form the nucleus of the choruses, and their excellent training by the choir-master, Mr. J. V. making earnest effort to raise sufficient funds to make the repairs so badly needed on the old church building. That which is absolutely necessary will cost over one hundred dollars. Without these repairs services cannot be held in the church in cold weather. The Missionary will give them a weekly service during the year, as he has been doing lately, if the hurch can be made safe and comfortable.

CRAWFORDSVILLE .- St. John's church has been very much improved by having the interior walls papered, the wood-work painted, and re-carpeted throughout.

KENNARD .- St. Philip's Church has been newly painted and presents a very much improved appearance. Rev. W. D. Engle conducted a Sunday Service in this Mission in September, and the Archdeacon a Week-day Service in October. It is hoped to arrange for more frequent services by the Dean and the Archdeacon until it can be given into the care of a Missionary.

TERRE HAUTE .- St. Luke's mission, which has been under the fostering care of the rector of St. Stephen's Church, has now its own pastor. The Rev. William Mitchell took charge October 1st. He reports the work hopeful and encouraging. The attendance is about fifty, and the Sunday-school has an average attend ance of about sixty scholars and six teachers. A beautiful communion service has been presented by the Rev. James D. Stanley, of St. Stephen's Church, as a thank offering for recoverying from severe illness.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

BY WM. FREDERICK STILZ,

In the interests of our work in the diocese, the Brotherhood has been accorded the use of a column in the official paper, announcement of which appeared in the October number. The column will be at the disposal of all who have anything to communicate pertaining to the work of the Brotherhood, its methods or purposes, and Brotherhood men are asked to send in anything of interest that may come within the purview of Brotherhood work.

The tenth annual convention of the Brotherhood was held at Louisville, Kentucky, September 25-29. In number of delegates present, the convention did not compare favorably with those of recent years, but it was marked by the great spirituality which prevaded its entire business session. To attempt a description of even a part of what was said or done, in the brief space here allotted, would be not only impossible but presumptuous. It would not admit of such boiling down. St. Andrew's Cross, however, will have a comparatively full account of the proceedings, and a verbatim report of the principal addresses delivered by both clerical and lay delegates. Every Brotherhood man should read these reports, which will appear in serial form, covering a period of several months. It will not be burdensome to read in this manner all of the convention news. as there will not be more in each number than can readily be retained and digested by even the casual reader. TRIBITES

The death of the Rev. John Hilliard Ranger comes as a shock to a host of friends and acquaintances in this city. He was one of the best-known clergymen in the Church, and he always occupied a prominent place in its annals. His character was a singularly beautiful one. He fulfilled in many ways the ideal of the pastor. He was markedly faithful in parochial work. Sympathy and tenderness were so wrought in him that he was able to appreciate keenly the sorrows of those to whom he ministered, and he possessed withal a brave spirit, which inspired hope and confidence in others. To those who knew him well, there was something impressive in his unfailing hopefulness. When, in his own work, success seemed remote, he never gave up until the last resource had been exhausted. The demands on him were many. Few, outside of his own congregation, knew that he was deeply interested in mission work, or that a congregation in another town called him its pastor. His church being in the heart of the city, he became latterly a public character, to the extent that calls were made on him frequently, by persons not members of his congregation, who sought Christian sympathy and aid. Thus, his life was a busy one. His quiet hours were few, and he was shut out from many of the pleasures of life by his many employments. As a preacher, Mr. Ranger was earnest, and he spoke directly and pertinently to his congregation. It was characteristic of one who never in any way sought physician as alarming. Indeed, up to member until his death. In the convento draw attention to himself, that he refused to take advantage of opportunities to preach what might be called popular sermons. And yet, at times, he would so apply his texts to public questions as to indicate a large range of was done, and well done. Not many thought and wise judgment. He was a interests. He excelled in short extempore years was he permitted to work for the member, with Senator Turpie, of the talks, and these were often singularly graceful upbuilding of Christian manhood, and to committee on revision of the constitution and beautiful. There was about him that which appealed for love and sympathy, and they who reposed trust and confidence in him were never disappointed. What he preached, he lived. A gentler, kindlier or better man has never been part of this community .- InChrist Church, Indianapolis, died in St. Bar- mously adopted: nabas Hospital, Minneapolis, Thursday, October 24, 1895. He was buried from Christ church, Monday, October 28. Mr. Ranger came to Indianapolis seven years ago last June, beginning his ministry in that city on the first Sunday in June, 1888. Almost from the beginning he took conspicuous rank among the clergy of the diocese. For years he has been a member of the Standing Committee, and twice has he been elected as delegate to the General Convention. His interest in the work of the Church extended far beyond the limits of his own parish. He believed that the Church was primarily a missionary society, charged by her Divine Master with the duty of carrying the Gospel to the remotest quarters of the earth. So believing, he had no sympathy with the narrow parochial or congregational theory, which at one time threatened to stifle the growth of the Church. Mr. Ranger did not, however, neglect the people who were especially under his spiritual care. He was a devoted and faithful parish priest, doing his full duty to his flock in a quiet, patient and cheerful way. As a preacher he was most helpful. Scorning sensationalism, so far as his gentle nature could scorn anything; he spoke directly, simply and eloquently of the beauty and power of a true Christian life, which, he insisted, it was not so much the duty as the blessed privilege of every child of the Church to live. He never sought popularity or craved the praise of men. It was enough for him to do his duty, and to walk humbly before his God. He was an indefatigable worker. He did not look upon a vacation as a right. His theory was that a Christian clergyman should never spare himself any further than was necessary to increase his efficiency. So long as he was well, he was glad to keep at work, and neither heat nor cold ever stood between him and his duty. Not only his parish, but St. George's mission, and Trinity mission, which he founded, were objects of his deepest solicitude and most faithful ministrations. Besides these he had charge of the Courch's work at Shelbyville, and in addition to all this he was always ready to do anything which the Bishop asked, or to help a brother clergyman whenever he could do so without neglecting his own people. In a word, he was a true servant of God and his fellow men. The more the service cost him the better did he seem to be pleased. He never shirked or dodged. Mr. Ranger lived his religion as few men live it. He never harbored malice, and never spoke harshly of any one. His kindness and charity were seemingly inexhaustible. It was impossible for any right-teeling person not to love him. Kind, loving, hopeful and humble, cheerful under difficulties, always believing the best of men, profoundly reverencing God and man, shunning notoriety, anxious not so much to please as to help, true to God and his own ideals, courageous in the discharge of duty, and absolutely fearless and sincere; he represented the highest and strongest type of Christian character. His untimely death will be lamented, not only by his bereaved parish, but by the whole diocese of

"With unspeakable sorrow, the Standing Committee of the diocese of Indiana, records, this day, the bereavement occasioned by the departure from earth of one of its members. The Rev. John Hilliard Ranger entered into rest at Minneapolis, Minn., on Thursday, Oct. The holy society of Paradise gained richly on the sanctified fellowships of earth, when our great High Priest bade this devoted champion of the cross to 'come up higher.' In the brightness of the 'light perpetual,' which shines upon his spirit now, there is no place for gloom as we think of him; but we sorrow for ourselves most of all, because we shall see his face no more. Faithful unto death, he has won the crown of glory which is given to all who love our Lord's appearing. A life well lived, a fight well fought, a work well done, a rest well earned-this tells the story of our brother's career. God rest his noble soul."

The clergy of the diocese, present at the funeral of Mr. Ranger, held a meeting upon the return from the cemetery, and adopted the following resolutions, presented by a committee appointed by the Bishop, in the name of the clergy of the diocese:

"We, the clergy of the diocese of Indiana, present at the burial of our beloved brother and fellow-laborer in Christ, John Hilliard Ranger, would express our sense of deep bereavement at the great loss which has befallen

"In our association with him in the work of the Church, we were ever conscious of his faithfulness to the high office to which he was called, and of his ever present humility of declared that he came to minister rather than to be ministered unto.

"Gentleness of character, loyalty of purpose and spiritual consecration were marked characteristics of this useful life.

"The Church has lost a true son, and we a valued co-worker.

"Our tenderest sympathy is with the widowed and the fatherless. THE FUNERAL OF THE REV. I. H. RANGER.

The funeral of the Rev. J. H. Ranger was held in Christ church, on the afternoon of Monday, the 28th of Oct., at 2 o'clock. Upon the arrival of the body from Minneapolis, in charge of the Rev. Mr. Faude, it was placed in the Guild room, where it remained until the celebration of the holy Eucharist, Monday morning, when it was removed to the chancel of the church. The floral offerings from friends, city parishes and societies, were numerous and choice. The Bishop celebrated the Eucharist at o A. M. Monday, with quite a large congregation in attendance. At 2 o'clock the diana.

John Hilliard Ranger, rector of mittee the following minute was unani- of the clergy were in attendance, who marched in procession into the church preceded by the vested choir, and followed by the Bishop, who officiated. The interment was at Crown Hill Cemetery, in a lot purchased by the Bishop as a diocesan lot, in which to bury deceased clergy of the diocese. The day was quite cold, yet a very large number went out to the Cemetery, to unite in the loving service of committal of the body of a loved and honored one, to await "the general resurrection in the last great day, and the life of the world to come."

> How fitting seemed the words, "I heard a voice from Heaven saving unto me. write, from henceforth, blessed are the dead who die in the Lord;' even so saith the spirit; for they rest from their labors."

THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

Our report of the meeting of the General Convention is not as full as we hoped to have given to the readers of the WORKER, this month. Our deceased brother, the Rev. J. H. Ranger, who was a delegate from this diocese, was to have prepared for us a brief account of the meeting; but instead of such report we are called to the sad duty of publishing in its place the account of his death and burial.

The General Convention is the American Church in council. It meets every three years, to consider the interests of the Church, and to take such action as spirit, so like that of his Divine Master, who may be found necessary to its welfare and its work. The time spent in its deliberations is usually about three weeks, and always closes with the reading of what is termed "the Pastoral letter," being a letter prepared by a committee of the House of Bishops and representing the whole house in its exhortations, instructions, warnings and advice to the Church.

The opening service was held at Gethsemane church, Minneapolis, Minn., Wednesday, Oct. 2, and is reported to have been "the most elaborate, and rich in its settings, that has ever been witnessed in Minneapolis, but full of dignity and apposite meaning. The service from first to last, was pitched to an exalted scale, well befitting the occasion. and the grand men who graced it by their presence." The sermon was by Bishop Cox, of Western New York, and was a scholarly and complete presentation of the character and work of the Church. Speaking more directly to the delegates present, the Bishop said: "Brethren, beloved in the Lord, you are here to endow your country with the Nicene faith and with Catholic Christianity. Well nigh nineteen ages have passed, burial service was held. The church was twentieth, here we are, the same people

The sessions of the House of Bishops were held in Knickerbacker Memorial House, a parish house built by Kethsemane parish, as a memorial of our late beloved Bishop of Indiaha. In the absence of Bishop Williams of Connecticut, Bishop Whipple of Minnesota, (the senior Bishop present) presided.

In the house of Deputies, the Rev. Dr. Dix of New York, was elected chairman, and the Rev. Dr. Hutchins Secretary, All of the clerical delegates, and one lay delegate from Indiana, were in their places.

The work of the Convention was soon under way, and went on briskly from day to day. The subject most prominent was the revision of the constitution and canons. But it was not expected that very much progress would be made at this convention. This proved to be true. though good progress was made, and the spirit and judgment of the Church, represented in its delegates, respecting revision, was fully elicited, and the committees, to which the subject has been committed for the next three years, will be able to meet more fully the views of the members of the next convention.

The meeting of the Convention as the Board of Missions is always a very interesting feature of the sessions, and this year was especially so. The Bishops from China, Japan and Liberia, Africa. were present and gave reports of their work. Alaska was erected into a missionary jurisdiction, and a Bishop elected. Northern Minnesota was set off from the diocese, and made a missionary jurisdiction. The northern peninsular of Michigan was given permission to organize as a diocese. Permission was given Kentucky to divide, as also the diocese of California and Maryland. Other readjustments and changes were made, but we have no space to give a full report.

Throughout, the meeting of the Convention was a grand and harmonious one. though if does seem as though much time was spent in long speeches which might have been much better spent in pushing the work. This is probably impossible to avoid; some delegates are talkers, others workers. The assembled brethren, Bishops, Priests and Laymen, are spoken of by the press as a grand and intellectual, deeply interested, and a representative body of men. Speaking of the House of Bishops one account says: "A finer or more venerable body of men was never before seen in this city.

noon of Tuesday, Oct. 21, with the reading of the pastoral letter. This letter will be published and sent to the clergy, of God. and is expected to be read in every parish in the country.

Notes of the Convention and a summary of its work will be given in our next issue. Any desiring full reports can obtain such of the Living Church, Chicago, The Churchman, New York or The Standard, of Philadelphia.

THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH. BY WILLIAM R. CHRISHOT M.

One Lord, one faith, one firm baptismal bond; One hope, one mercy seat;

Thus in sweet unison our hearts respond, Our mutual anthems meet,

From plain to mount, from mount to ocean's strand, From shore to farther shore Wide as the world, the Master's faithful band, Yet one forevermore!

Far to the frowning north where Nature sleeps, Locked in its icy thrall,

The joyous throb of holy greeting leaps, O'er barriers all. From the far lands where summer's rusy throne

Gleams in the deathless sun, Earth's every tongue, earth's every varying zone, In that dear band is one!

All Saints Day in the Eastern Church is of very early observance, as the festival of all martyrs. But in the Western Church it dates from the year 610, A. D., when the Emperor of the Roman Empire took the Pantheon, or temple dedicated to all the gods, from the heathens, and dedicated it to the honor of all martyrs. This was first celebrated on May 1st, but in A. D., 834, the time was changed to November 1st. At the time of the Reformation in England, many days observed in honor of the martyrs were dropped from the ecclesiastical calendar, as being too numerous, but retained this day as one upon which there could be a general commemoration of the Saints at Rest. This is a Festival dear to the hearts of very many Christians. It brings before us, as no other time does, the doctrine and truth of the communion of the Saints. It is a time when the faithful will remember, as at no other time, their loved ones in Paradise, and will seek the The Convention closed on the after- Lord's altar, where they may commune with them in the Bread of Life, as members in the one body of Christ, children of the one family

> One family we dwell in Him One Church above, beneath; Though now divided by the stream, The narrow stream of death

It is an old custom, in some places, and a very beautiful and significant custom, for brethren to bring flowers to the church on All Saints' Day, for decoration in honor of God, sanctifying them to His service, and then taking them and placing them in loving memory upon the graves of their loved ones at rest.

The Festival of St. Andrew is of very ancient date. This Apostle was one of the first called by our Lord. He is sometimes called "the first Christian missionary." He first recognized in Jesus the Messiah, and then went to find his brother, to whom he said, "we have found the Messiah which is being interpreted the Christ." St. Andrew is reported to have preached extensively in what is known as Turkey in Asia, and to have been the founder of the Russian Church. He was martyred upon a cross formed like the letter X, and is said to have hung upon the cross for two days, during which time he exhorted the people, closing with the prayer that he might now depart in peace.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew is a large and growing organization of the American Church, and reaching into Canada, and other parts of the British Empire. It is so named because of the purpose for which it was organized, and which is the principle of its life, to go out and tell their brother of the Messiah, as did St. Andrew, and to seek to bring them into His presence, and to follow Him.

THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

On Sunday, October 6th, the Rev. A. W. Mann officiated three times in Indianapolis. The first service, at 9 A. M., was held at the State school for deaf children. The services at II A. M., and at 4 P. M., were held in the chapel of Christ church with large attendance. On the evening of Saturday, Mr. Mann gave a talk to the pupils of the school, on Venice, which he visited a year ago.

Mr. Mann has moved from Cleveland to Gambier, Ohio, where he has a son in Kenyon College, and a daughter in Harcourt school.

Owing to the absence of clergy and laity on vacation, on last Twelfth Sunday after Trinity, the offerings towards the expenses of their active and useful work are smaller than those of former times. Making necessary another appeal for means.

THE NEW YEAR.

A new Christian year and a new civil year. A year following the way of spiritual life, and a year following the way of natural life. Are these different years to be lived separately, or are we to live them both as representing two conditions of the provisions of Divine Providence? Both ordained of God, and both carrying with them distributions; not contradictory in truth, ligations; in harmony. We look carrying with them duties and obbut rather in harmony, back over the past an past and view the battle-field of human life, and sigh as we realize the loss of opportunities, and the evidences of carelessness and indifference to true interests, both spiritual and material. Our memories tell us of bright gleams of sunshine, and peace, amid much sadness and gloom. We are reminded of the many human wrecks strewing the shores of time, and we now realize the many who are tossing about, as from wave to wave, apparently unmindful of their nearness to the breakers along the shore to which they are hastening. Children, young men, young women-brethren of all ages, members of Christ, children of God, heirs of heaven, what are you doing toward the attainment of your inheritance? Bearing the sign of the cross, are you loyal in its defense, consistent in its support, and zealous in Christian warfare? Let each now, at A very interesting paper will appear this time, ask themselves the question, "What will this year be to me? What will be my experience, and where will I be at its close?" GLIMPSES OF CHURCH HISTORY. BY REV. C. GRAHAM ADAMS D. D.

IV

When our Lord called around Him the twelve apostles, He not only gave them power over unclean spirits, sickness and disease, but inaugurated that apostolic college which should be the foundation of His Church on earth. Jesus Christ Himself was the chief corner-stone of this spiritual temple. "The stone which the builders refused is become the head-stone of the corner." Ps. cxvii, 12.

The prophet Isaiah had long ago foretold the raising of this spiritual temple. "Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner-stone, a sure foundation. Is, xxviii, 16. Christ applies this prophecy to Himself, as rejected by the Jewish builders, but exalted by God to be head over all things to His Body, the Church. It is the head-stone which unites the building together. "Jesus said unto them, Did ye ever read in the Scriptures, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner: this is the Lord's doings, and it is marvellous in our eyes?" Matt. xxi, 42. See also Mark xii, 10; Luke xx, 17; Acts iv, 11; I. Pet. ii, 6, 7. "Now, therefore," saith St. Paul, "ve are no more strangers and foreigners. but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the Christ himself being the chief corner-stone; in whom all the building, fitly framed together, groweth unto a holy temple in the Lord." Eph. ii, 19, 20, 21.

Where is the room for sectarianism in this spiritual temple, the Church? "Fitly framed together groweth unto a holy temple"-not a dozen temples, not two temples, but one tem-

Nor is there the least hope for the Romanist claim that St. Peter is the foundation of the Church, and the Roman Bishop the Primate of all the world. "In whom," that is, not in Peter, or Paul, or James, but in Christ: "in whom all true Christians, members of the Holy Catholic Church, believe and grow up as a living temple made of living stones."

The names of the twelve whom Jesus chose and sent forth to announce to the world that His kingdom, the Church, was about to be set up, are these: Simon Peter; Andrew, the brother of Peter; James and John, the sons of Zebedee; Philip, Bartholomew, Thomas, Matwhose surname was Thaddeus, Simon the Canaanite, Judas Iscariot. The command was "go" and preach, saying "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.'

This commission was greatly enlarged when, after the resurrection the Lord appeared to them on the mountain in Galilee, and said, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, bapthe Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Henceforth equate, and the failure to complete the such attempts to make money out of rethe great object of the Apostles and their successors in office until the end of the world. That commission is still as forcible as it was on the day it was given. Some should labor here, and some there, and some in another place, wherever the Church should send them; but all were to work for the upbuilding of that one spiritual temple which we call the Church. And Christ, with His divine presence and power, should be with them in doing this work, even to the end of time. "I am with you," to guide, comfort, sanctify and sustain you; to render you successful in winning men and leading them from darkness to light, and from the even to the end."

THE CHURCH WORKER.

The Church Worker is published under the direction of the Bishop, and is his official organ of communication with the diocese. It is published to give information respecting the work being done, and to serve the general interests of the Church in Indiana. It is not intended to fill the place of a general Church paper, containing all departments of such a publication. It was established, and is continued in the belief that all true loyal and devoted children of the Church would be glad to have this monthly visit, and to keep in touch with the work and workers in the diocese. BISHOP'S COLUMN. A

THE CHRISTIAN YEAR.

One marked feature of the seasons of the Christian year is their natural touch and growth; and at no time is this more evident and instructive than in the days that precede and follow Christmas. Indeed, it is not alone perceptible in the progress of the Christian year, but the success of the natural year seem to bear witness to the same thing. Advent, for instance, comes to us telling of the finalities of life,-the Church's themes for the last days of the year are the last Christmas was the beginning of a life things, and the last days are the dark that manifested itself very beautifully uncertainty and fear, including the in a suggestion that the joys of Christmas Church offers her intelligent and reverent py New Year. praise to God for the gift of the Christ- WORK AMONG THE MISSIONS. child, dwells upon the whole story of the Since our last issue the Bishop has had upon it. It was our pleasure to meet for the first time the Rev. Mr. Chambers, a former rector at Laporte, who is now ministering at Connersville and New Castle. The church at New Castle is centrally situated, which is of great advantage, and should give it superior opportunities of growth.

The Rev. E. R. Earle is temporarily in charge at New Harmony. It would be a most happy event if he could be retained in charge of the important work of Posey county.

The Festival of the Epiphany is the celebration of the manifestation of the Messiah to the Gentiles. There are, in reality, three manifestations of Christ communicated this day. St. Chrysostom, an ancient writer, tells us that the three events commemorated occurred on the same day, though not in the same year. The first was his manifestation by a star to the magi coming from the far east; the second was the manifestation of the Trinity at the baptism of Jesus; the third was the manifestation of His glory and divinity by His miraculous turning of water into wine.

In the Eastern Church Christmas and Epiphany were kept on this day as one Festival until about the fourth century.

The Epiphany season is variable in length, being governed by Easter. It includes the time between the 6th of January up to Septuagesima Sunday. This year there are three Sun-

They believed that he was truly the Messiah promised of God, and in whom all "the nations of the earth should be blessed." Various significations have been given the gifts offered. Many are sentimental and visionary, and yet they have a fullness of significance which. though we may not fully understand, may be most clearly represented in the gold, as implying his royal character; in the myrrh as signifying the sorrows and bitterness of His human life, in his work on earth; and the frankingense tian hearts brings all men for once under its as signifying His Divine nature, and the honor

DAVD E. SNYDER.

The sudden death of Mr. David E. Snyder was mentioned in the last issue of the WORKER. Through the kindness of the rector of St. Paul's church we are enabled to give his picture this month. There are many in Indiana who have frequently met Mr. Snyder in convention, and have known him for many years as a member of the Standing Committee, and as Registrar of the diocese, who will be glad to have this picture of this sturdy. zealous, and consistent worker, now gone to his rest. Mr. Snyder was a strong Churchman of what is sometimes called the "Prayer Book stamp." He cared little for extra ritual, for displays of human eloquence in sermons, or for social influence as a factor in parish work. To him the controlling thought was, what is best and right.

Mr. Snyder was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1825, coming to Indianapolis in 1848. He was for many years cashier of the Bank of the State of Indiana, was at different times secretary of charitable, municipal and other corporate institutions, and at the time of his death was engaged in the insurance and real estate business. He was originally a member of Christ Church, but assisted in the organization of St. Paul's parish in 1867, of which he continued a member until his death. He served his parish faithfully in every capacity, and for ten years had been its senior warden, having succeeded Vice-President Hendricks in 1885. In 1860 he was elected Registrar of the diocese, and continued in that office until Monday, Feb. 10-Woman's Auxiliary, St. his death. In 1880 he was elected a member of the Standing Committee, and annually re-elected since that time. He was twice elected supplementary delegate to the General Convention, and was present at the meeting when Bishop Knicker-backer's election to Indiana was confirmed. He acted as chief marshal at she funeral of each of the three deceased bishops of the diocese, and officiated in the same capacity at the services of consecration of our present Bishop.

At a meeting of the Standing Committee the following resolution was passed:

With that deep feeling of sorrow that only an abiding faith in redemption and Salvation can assuage, we record the death of our brother and co-member, David E. Snyder, which occurred at his home in this city on the 25th day of November, 1895. He was elected a member of this committee at the annual Convention of the Diocese June, 1887, and his faithful and efficient service has been continuous, each annual Convention having promptly recorded his re-election. Ever zealous and earnest in service for the Church, he was diligent in acquiring information; wise in counsel; gentle in manner, yet firm in the discharge of duty, always modest in bearing and most considerate of the feelings of his colleagues. His appearance, speech and actions were a continual certificate of his pureness of heart and his devotion to good works in family, church and community, was a constant and worthy example of an exalted and unselfish spirit. His was a beautiful life-like

DIOCESAN NEWS.

CANNELTON .- The members of St. Luke's parish are interested in the question of a rectory. The Archdeacon held a very interesting and profitable mission in December.

KENNARD .- Regular services are being held the second and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month by the Dean of the Central Convocation. The attendance has been good.

LIMA .- The parish buildings have undergone repairs and improvements, and the parish work is full of life and activity. The first number of a parish paper was issued in December. Dr. McKenzie, with his zealous aid, Rev, C. R. Hodge, and three lay readers seem to be stirring up latent Church interests in Le Grange county.

LEGRANGE. - Regular services are maintained at St. John's mission by the clergy from Lima and Mr. Otis Simpson, a lay reader. There is a good prospect of a revival of work at this county seat.

FORT WAYNE. - The new mission building in the southern part of the city was formally opened for service in November. The Sunday-school continues to grow, and the outlook for the growth of the Church is most promising, missionary reports a continued deepening of interest, and a faithfulness to Christian duty not usual with American Churchmen.

The main entrance will be on Eleventh street, and will open into a spacious vestibule, which leads into the wide center aisle of the nave. In a graceful, semicircular off-set, near the main entrance, is placed the Baptisty. About three hundred and seventy people can be seated in the nave, while the choir will accommodate forty singers.

The arrangements are for a vested choir. The choir is placed three steps above the nave, and the sanctuary three steps above the choir. This declaration is not enshrouded in fog the sanctuary from the ambulatory, lending going to their places, the singers will pass through the ambulatory, behind the altar, the entire procession being visible to the congregation from beginning to end.

On the Market Street side, the structure is greatly beautified by a tower seventy feet high, of exquisite proportion, and handsomely embellished with carved work, as also is the main entrance. In the tower is located the rector's study, a large room provided with all conveniences, and in the rear of this is the choir room, with a side opening into the ambuyond expectation. The expense has been latory. The Market Street entrance is through more than met by the receipts. SUNDAY SCHOOL.

There is one Sunday-school in the diocese of Indiana (perhaps more) where a school-house, which stood upon the ground birthday-box is passed every Sunday, that where it was hoped a church would one day any one in the school having passed the stand. When the present rector, the Rev. anniversary of his or her birthday during Roger H. Peters, took charge last February, the week, may make a thank offering of he began to vigorously urge the building of one cent for each year that he or she may a church, and met with such cordial response have lived. This offering goes to the fund for the Home and Orphanage. Would it not be a nice thing for every Sunday-school in the diocese to have a birthday-box for this same purpose?

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The children, generally, take a good deal of interest in the story of the visit of the Wise men—or Magi—to Bethlehem, led by a star to the place where was the 'inew born Child,' Jesus, the Messiah, the Saviour of the world. Many of the children are familiar with the carol,

"We three Kings of Orient are Bearing gifts; we traverse afar, Field and fountain, Moor and mountain, Following yonder star."

The tradition is that the Wisemen who came to Bethlehem were three in number, and that they were royal personages. Their names are given us, as Gaspard, Melchior, and Belthazar. We are sometimes told that these three men represented the three great races of men. Others would tell us that they represented the three continents then known-Europe, Asia, and Africa. But we do not know much about these things, What we do know is of a most wonderful character. Sometimes children, as well as grown people, will think of the wonderful star, appearing to these people in the far-off land of (probably) Persia; of the great faith and trust that led them to the westward, and to Terusalem, and their enquiry, as though there could be no doubt in their minds, of the birth of a child who was to be the King of the Jews. And then the star appearing again, and guiding them to the very presence of Jesus. Then you will think of the wonderful offering that the wise men made, and you will surely feel that Christmas is truly a holy season.

We do not know much about the form or character of the star that appeared. It is represented in various forms. There is an old legend which represents it as having the form of a beautiful child bearing a sceptre or cross. It is of this, that the carol speaks in the following lines:

In a trice a star shone forth, Of so brighly shining! Nearer, nearer yet it came, Still towards earth inclining! And 'twas shaped—O! wondrous sight'.
Crown'd, though yet with sceptre bright,
Victor-cross combining!

An old eastern tradition is very beautiful. It says that in the east lived a people who had a book which bore the name of Seth, and in this was written the appearance of the star of the Messiah, and the offering of gifts to Him. This book was handed down from father to son, generation after generation. Twelve men were chosen who should watch for the star, and when one died, another was chosen in his place. These men were called magi. They went each year, after the wheat harvest, to the top of a mountain, which was called the "Mountain of Victory." At last the star appeared, and in the form of a little child, and over him the sign of the cross; and the star itself spoke to them, and told them to go to Judea. For two years, which was the time of their journey, the star moved before them, and they wanted neither food nor drink.

This season of Christmas and Epiphany is particularly a season for children. It is a season when many children, not confirmed, begin their preparations. The lessons and important events are of special interest and value, and all the children should follow them carefully. Like the wise men, offer unto Jesus, your Saviour, your gold, your frankincense, and your myrrh, which may represent your riches, you joys, and your sorrows.

Special to the Children.

At a meeting of the Board of Missions at the General Convention, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That we record our grateful appreciation of the fact that since the last General Convention the children of the Church have given to the Board of Missions more than $200,000.

Resolved, That we send our affectionate greeting to these loyal children, and that we recognize in their devotion to the Church's missionary work one of the most hopeful promises of her future growth and prosperity.

MISSIONS AND MISSIONARIES.

Rev. Lewis F. Cole, was born in Windham, Cumberland county, Maine, September 12, 1844, He was prepared for college at Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalhoro, Me, intending to enter Bowden College. He enlisted as private in Second N. Y., Mounted Rifles, was wounded before Cold Harbor, Va., and discharged from service 1865, at the close of the

He began the work of the ministry in 1866, with what is known as the Advent Christian body, and was sent from Maine to Memphis, Tenn., as missionary to the negroes, in 1868, remaining there till July, 1870. He then became engaged in missionary work in Illinois and Minnesota, having charge of a congregation in Minneapolis from 1871 to 1877, when he read himself into the Episcopal Church. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop Whipple May 28, 1878, in old Gethsemane church. Minneapolis, Minn., and ordained priest Dec. 20. 1878, in St. John's church, Janesville, Minn., the Rev. E. G. Hunter then being rector. He was in charge of St. Charles parish, Minn., having mission work at Pine Island and Zumbrota, where a church was built. He was called to All Saints' Church, Minneapolis, July 1, 1881, remaining there till Oct., 1885, when he was called to Holy Innocents' Church. Evansville, Ind. Resigning this field after three years of service, he took charge of Greencastle and Bloomington, at the request of Bishop Knickerbacker, Nov. 1, 1888. In fifteen months Trinity church, Bloomington, was completed and consecrated. In March, 1890, he was called to Marion, Ind., where he remained till Sept. 1, 1893, During this time Gethsemane church was built.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

A Paper read by Rev. Wm. Galpin of Elkhart, at the Fall meeting of the Northern Con

Ought the Christian Endeavor movement to be adopted in our parish work? To this practical question now being forced upon our attention by the organization of such societies in the Church, many of our clergy and some of our Bishops are giving an affirmative answer. Letters urging this step have been numerously published in the New York Churchman and other journals the past summer, and many parishes throughout the land are considering the advisability of establishing guilds of this kind, Perhaps it may be safe to say that in a majority of our American dioceses societies active work.

There seems to be a growing feeling, in fact, that something of this kind is necessary for the Church to hold her own with the young. The daily papers are filled with glowing accounts of what the of these organizations excite a widespread public interest-so much so that many in other religious bodies express their surprise that we do not have a similar movement in our communion, and not a few of our own people apparently feel that we of the Church are a little behind the times and somewhat lacking in Christian enterprise because we do not have societies of this nature, with their Sunday afternoon meetings and look-out committees, etc.

Is, then, the endeavor to adopt a similar organization in our parish work a wise one? We can readily see how this plan has its advocates among us, but is it really advisable or necessary to follow this advice in any parish of the Anglo-Saxon communion

To the writer of this paper it seems heartily rejoices to see these societies doing their good work among our denominational friends; there such organizations are supplying a long-felt want. But as for this communion, they are directly antagonistic to the time-honored and sacred teachings of the Historic Church. and indirectly must prove a weakening of her influence for good over her members.

I. In the first place, young people's societies of this nature are not needed in the Church, Every line of work now being done by the Epworth League and similar societies is fully provided for already in this Church. Our Book of Common Prayer more than covers every fundamental item in their membership pledge. And as for devising some new vow to arouse a more active personal interest in our congregations, every member of the Church is already pledged to do exactly the same work as is done in these various organizations.

For proof of this assertion that there is nothing essentially new in the Christian Endeavor movement, let us look at like this for young people are already in once to the membership pledge there required. This pledge, which in substance is the same as that made in the many kindred societies, is as follows:

"Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do; that I will make it the rule of my life to pray and Epworth League, the Baptist Union and read the Bible every day, and to support my similar societies are doing to draw the own Church in every way, especially by attend. young men and young women into an ac- ing all her regular and mid-week services, untive Christian service. The conventions less prevented by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Saviour; and that just so far as I know how, throughout my whole life, I will endeavor to live a Christian life. As an active member I promise to be true to all my duties, to be present at and to take some part, aside from singing, in every Christian Endeavor Prayer meeting, unless hindered by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Lord and Master. If obliged to be absent from the monthly consecration meeting of the society, I will, if possible, send at least a verse of Scripture to be read in response to my name at the roll call."

> Here in this pledge are five essential features to be seen in what may be called the Christian Endeavor movement. Let these features be compared with the Baptismal and confirmation vows taken in the Church, and we can easily see whether we need that movement among us to arouse a proper personal interest in active Christian work.

> 1. The foremost feature, according to its position in the pledge, is that of daily tures and regular attendance at the services of public worship, unless "prevented by some reason which can conscientiously be given to the Saviour." Every Christian heart will rejoice that if this duty were never duly impressed upon our friends in the denominations before, it is so done now. The spiritual mind will bid the Christian Endeavor movement God-speed, if in any way it can arouse human kind to a more careful use of these means of grace; but, commendable as be this part of their membership pledge, there is nothing in it that is new to us-nothing but what every one in this communion long ago pledged himself to do. When we were baptized, and again when we renewed these vows in confirmation, we were each asked this question: "Wilt thou obediently keep God's Holy will and commandments, and walk in the same all the days of thy life?" and the answer we made to that question was, "I will by God's help." Mark carefully, please, those solemn words, "by God's help," and then let us ask ourselves where we are to get this Divine aid if not through daily prayer and regular attendance at public worship, where Christ has promised His especial presence to the two or three who assemble in His name? And how can any one fully know of the Divine will one has vowed to follow if one does not turn day by day to the sacred page where that will has been revealed? It is easy to be seen by these reflections that each and every member of this communion is pledged now and without further vow, to the same use of the means of grace as is the member of the Christian Endeavor Society. Probably not all the members of this communion keep this vow; it is even to be feared that some of our congregations do not pretend to keep it, but the fact remains that every Sunday a member of any parish is absent from public worship without a reason which he can conscientiously give to the Saviour; every day, too, when time is not taken to learn something of God's will from the Revealed Word, or His gracious help is not sought. in prayer, such persons are simply breaking and trampling under foot the solemn vow they have taken before Him. No, we do not need any new pledge for our Church members in this respect; what we do need is that they shall be more deeply impressed with the pledges they have already taken.

The look-out committee the cessful work in this communion, nor do Church has so fully provided for simply we need to devise any new machinery needs to go to work. for it. The Church has already amply provided for this personal oversight of her members.

In the Baptismal service three sponsers or witnesses are required who bind themselves before God to see that the regenerated child be taught what a "solemn vow, promise or profession it has there made before them." Furthermore these sponsers are to look to it that the baptized person be trained to lead a Godly and Christian life-that is, to come to church, etc; and the Church's intention is that the spiritual care and oversight thus specified shall continue in due measure throughout life. As God-parent the sponser's vow is, to take a personal interest in that person's religious life forever afterward. The sponser, in fact, is called a surety; he is made a bondsman pledged to see that the covenant entered into at the Baptismal font is fully carried out. We are not in need of any new machinery, therefore, in this respect, We have look-out committees already organized. Every sponser is a member of such a committee; or, to put the truth in other words, there is not a careless, indifferent member of any congregation of ours in this land but what it is some one's duty vowed before God, to look after that member. There is no defect in the Church's organization; all the trouble is that sponsers in many cases do not do their duty.

And in a general way too, we all beliving, it is not simply the clergyman's the one Lord, the one Faith, and the on 2. The second, and to my mind the business to plead with him; every mem. Baptism."

best feature of the Christian Endeavor ber of the Church has a measure of reman's good-cannot be less important or of less interest to the Christian than a secret society of human devisement. Again I repeat, we do not want any more machinery in the Church. We have organizations enough of this kind already. What we do want, and all that we want, But there is no reason why we cannot is a better use of the machinery we al-

Since the adoption of the Revised Prayer Book in 1892, over 1,000,000 copies have been published. Grants of over 200,000 Prayer Books, and of over 100,000 Hymnals have been made by the various general and diocesan societies in response to appeals. In many of the larger cities Prayer Books have been placed in the rooms of hotels, in seven cases in response to requests of the proprietors. Numerous evidences have been received of the value of this work. Among several instances cited is that of an eminent judge in Pennsylvania who was led to apply for confirmation as the result of his study of a Prayer Book that had come into his possession. Another instance was given where the wife of a hotel keeper had shed tears at the sight of a Prayer Book brought to her by the maid, who had found it in a room, where long to a local look-out committee. THE BISHOP'S COLUMN.

EPIPHANY. m We have just passed the Epiphany season. This is the mission season; the season when the whole problem of giving and doing for others is under consideration. I hear much said of contempt for the work of trying to extend the Kingdom of Christ beyond ourselves. It pains me to Fourth Sunday in Advent.-Christ church. hear this, for it tells me the Church has been remiss in teaching her children the essential truths of Christ's holy religion. It tells me also that the prince of this world has been successfully spreading his principles in human hearts. In this connection here are some thoughts which I ran against the other day in my reading. They are worth keeping.

There are large and important questions profoundly affecting man's material well-being which have of late interested Thursday, Dec. 26 .- 10 A. M., Holy Commuthousands of people in this great city as they have never interested them before: questions as to the relation between capital and labor, between wealth and poverty, between social order and personal freedom, between the teaching of social experience and the ambitions of social hope, and there is indeed a great deal to be said about the importance of these great questions. It is indeed serious that in a great metropolis there should be so many able-bodied men out of work, so many children uneducated, or undereducated, such sharp contrasts as undeniably exist between our wealth and our poverty. No one can disdisguise the seriousness of these facts in themselves, or the consequences to which they may possibly point. But what is us thousands of human beings without any true knowledge of that which it most concerns them to know, of the testing which waits man beyond the grave; of the gracious and awful Being whom they will meet in judgment; of the Divine Saviour, who has died that they might live forever; of the Holy Spirit who sanctifies and guides the children of God; of the means of grace whereby the higher life is bestowed on and sustained in the soul of man. Whose fault is it? It would be easy to show that a vast accumulation of human beings engaged in a hard struggle for existence, and neither encouraged by the hopes nor controlled by the apprehensions which are inseperable from belief in a future life, may be a serious danger to the State. But we are Christians, and it is better to dwell on the infinitely greater danger of immortal souls "having no hope, and without God in the world." This is, alas! literally true of 1st Sunday After Epiphany .- At St. John's, thousands of our fellow citizens living within a radius of five miles of us, and it appeals to us with a moral force which no human words can possibly enhance.

The Rev. Dr. Johnson of Detroit, service; entertained Clergy at Episcopal Michigan, has been elected Bishop of the new diocese of Los Angelos, California. WOMAN'S COLUMN.

BY MISS HOWLAND, 627 N. Pennsylvania-st., Indianapolis, Ind. OUR UNITED OFFERING.

Inspired by the success of the great united offering made by the Woman's Auxiliary, and feeling sure that every church in Indiana must blush with shame when she thinks of the Church Home, so dear to Bishop Knickerbacker's heart, standing unfinished, the executive committee of the Auxiliary has determined to call on the women of the diocese to make an offering large enough to complete it. Letters making this appeal have been sent far and wide through the State, and have already received most encouraging answers from: Mrs. Strickland of New Castle, Mrs. McGlone of Anderson, Mrs. Wason of Delphi, Mrs. Pratt of Logansport, and Mrs. Morris of Michigan City. Lafayette has also taken action on the suggestion. The time for making this offering will be at the annual meeting of the Auxiliary in June, instead of at Easter, as at first announced. This will give more time for the gathering of the funds, will not interfere with local parish undertakings, and will, it is hoped, bring a great many women to the annual meeting with full hands and hearts.

The completion of the Church Home will doubtless appeal to the numerous women who hold these views, and from them great things may be expected.

The constitution of the Diocesan branch of the Woman's Auxiliary is now ready for distribution, and will shortly be in the hands of all Auxiliary officers. Any one joyous occasion to St. John's. The Sunday- dren of the Sunday-school and Industrial wishing a copy of it can obtain it from the President, Mrs. J. H. White, or from the editor of this column. That it is perfect is not claimed, but it is the best which the committee appointed to revise the old constitution could, after much We hope thought and study, evolve. that it will be received hospitably, thoroughly studied, faithfully tried and Nativity, and the choir rendering the finest mu-special demonstration. Its object is to bind us all more of "the old year out and the new year in," at enrolled in Sunday-school, was fully represented closely together, since "in union there is strength," and to interfere as little as possible with local self-government. Each parish is still free to have its own constitution regulating its local affairs; it still elects its own officers, and, most important of all, it still spends its own money, simply being required, under the new constitution, to send it to the Diocesan Treasurer of the Auxiliary, as it is hoped thus to simplify the task of report making. loud peal of melody, and the choir rose to their tively listened to. nesday afternoon, January 22. Thirtysix ladies were present in spite of the exceedingly disagreeable weather. The Bishop being confined to the house by a cold, the short service was taken by Mr. F. O. Granniss of Muncie. Mr. Granniss 1895. made an address on the value of systematic giving and systematic collecting which must have convinced all his hearers that surprising results can be accomplished by this method. A glowing tribute was paid by the speaker to the energy, and above all to the fidelity with which Miss Upfold, the former secretary of the Auxiliary in Indiana, had carried on the work, and the necessity of cultivating the sense of responsibility from which this fidelity springs was urged upon all. A somewhat informal meeting of the women alone followed Mr. Granniss' address, Mrs. White presiding, and presenting the united offering of the Church Home to the ladies. After general discussion of that matter a resolution was adopted endorsing the attempt to secure contributions from all the women in the diocese, and pledging those present to give themselves and to do all in their power to induce others to give. Mrs. Granniss was the only delegate present from out of town.

> BLOOMINGTON .- The services are continued by the faithful and efficient lay-reader, Mr. Fletcher. The Bishop visited the mission the second Sunday after Epiphany, and was very much pleased with the outlook for Trinity church. A congregation beyond the seating capacity of the church welcomed the Bishop, and were deeply interested in the services, and in the strong, forcible presentation of the truth. Three adults were confirmed. This pleasant university town urgently calls for a resident priest of strong, manly ability and earnest zeal, when it is believed a prosperous work could be > GOSHEN .- At St. James' church, the Christmas services were delightfully bright and cheerful. Those who sought in God's Temple the blessing of the Incarnation, found it. On the evening of St. Stephen's Day the Sunday-school Christmas festival was held. A short service, and an address by the rector was followed by the lighting of the tree and the distribution of its gifts. The decorations of the church were thought never before to have been so appropropriate and beautiful, and the loving hands and hearts of the few who did the work rejoice in their labors for the King.

The Epiphany is past, and we now enter the preparation season for the great fast of Lent. The Church throughout the world sounds the same note of warning, and calls upon her children everywhere to an examination of their lives, and urges the work of correction, of discipline of soul, mind and body, and effort to a greater measure of Christian health and vigor.

Now are the days of humblest prayer, When consciences to God lie bare. And mercy most delights to spare,

Now is the season wisely long, Of sader thoughts and graver song, When ailing souls grow well and strong.

The feast of penitence, Oh, so bright With true conversion's heavenly light, Like sunrise after stormy night!

We who have loved the world must learn Upon that world our backs to turn, And with the love of God to hurn Septuagesima Sunday was originally kept as the first preparation Sunday before Lent.

The collect for the day expresses this thought of preparation, and points to the season of special discipline. The value of the season to each will depend upon the way in which they keep it. It is not a season of mere form and ceremony, hallowed, possibly, by ancient custom and long observance, but it is one in which multitudes have found peace, and a strength of love that has blessed and helped them throughout the year. The season comes to us to call us away from the things of earth to a contemplation of heavenly things; to an examination of our thoughts, our words, our acts. We would try our lives by the rule of God's law, that we may know whether or not we are making progress in the way of life. We would hear the lessons of the temptations, and follow meekly in the footsteps of our blessed Lord; we would know that all temptations come through "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye and the pride of life,19 and we would seek divine grace to strengthen us, that we be not overcome by these temptations; but as members of Christ we may be living members, and in our daily lives prove ourselves "worthy of the vocation wherewith we are called."

The Rev. F. McRae of Nova Scotia has formally renounced the Roman communion, and has been received into the RECOGNITION OF DUTY.

GOOD WORDS-SOMETIMES

Once in a while we have cheering words from readers of the WORKER, and expressions of interest in our efforts to make it useful and instructive. One writes: "Enclosed please find my subscription for '96. The paper is looked for with interest each month. I am sorry to know that it has to struggle for an existence. Surely everybody will pay for it. How can they do without it?"

Another writes: "I sincerely hope the paper is proving a financial success, for it surely is one otherwise, and keeps the parishes in better touch with each other." Sometimes we have grumbles at the paper's lack of interest, and because it does not give more current news, interesting and attractive selections, short stories for children etc. These we pay no attention to, as it is evident to any reasonable mind that it is impossible to do this in our limited space, were it even place. There are few, if any, purely diocesan papers published at 50 cents per year, that come in exchange, which have Church of England at Fredericton, N. THE DEAF MUTE MISSION.

The Rev. A. W. Mann spent the first Sunday after Christmas in Indianapolis. He held service at the State Institute at 9 a. m,. and at 11 a.m. a celebration of the Eucharist at Christ church. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock about 50 deaf mutes assembled in Christ church guild room for services. Bishop White addressed the congregation, Mr. Mann interpreting. One adult was baptized.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Rev. Lewis W. Burton, rector of St. Andrew's church, Louisville, Kentucky, has been consecrated Bishop of the new diocese of Lexington, formed of the eastern portion of the state of Kentucky,

Among those lately admitted to the office and work of deaconesses by Bishop Potter of New York, was Miss Briggs, a daughter of the Presbyterian, Prof. Briggs.

The Rev. Edwin Martin, late a Ro-25 00 man priest, has taken up mission work Goshen, St. James' Church 33 00 in the Church in Texas.

LITERARY NOTICES.

The Spirit of Missions, is almost indispensable to any one especially interested in Church work. It gives full and interesting information each month, from the mission fields. Its present circulation of about 10,000 copies should be doubled, Published at Church Missions House, New York, at $1 per year.

The Preacher's Magasine, published by Wm. B. Ketchum, 2 Cooper Union, New York, at $1.50 per year, gives valuable suggestions for the preparation of sermons. It is bright and interesting, and carefully edited.

The Church Eclectic for January gives a portrait of the late Archbishop Magee, of York, England; Dr. Elmendorff continues his articles on the critics and criticisms of "The word and the Book," The leading paper is upon the Diaconate. by the Rev. F. S. Jewell, Ph. D. The "Ebb and Flow of Ritualism," by E. S. F., gives interesting historical information of the period of English history from Elizabeth to the death of Charles I.

Stephen: a Soldier of the Cross, is a new work by Florence M. Kingsley, soon to be $82 00 published by Henry Altemus of Philadelphia. The work is of the nature of an historical 6 00 novel, presenting a word picture of the life of 10 00 the Church in the days of St. Paul's ministry, Vick's Floral Guide for 1896 is the large 13 00 annual catalogue of the old reliable and farfamed seed house of James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y. CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The WORKER, dear children, is very glad to know that many of you have responded to its suggestion in December, that you surprise the Bishop with Christmas offerings for the Church Home, which he is so desirous of completing, How nice it would be to prepare during Lent to make a special offering at Easter for this purpose. Do not take away from your regular offerings for parish and mission Sunday-schools, or other work, nor from your usual special Easter offering, as the Bishop desires, for the General Mission work; but rather, an offering of love for this great object of love, in addition, that the Bishop may rejoice in the knowledge that a great army of willing workers are ready to help to lighten his anxiety in this great work. Suppose that we put the total amount to be given at Easter at $100. Now see how near you can get to this.

You will all be very glad to receive and read the following letter from our dear Bishop, who is so hard at work, and who has so many cares in this large diocese of Indiana.

THE CHILDREN'S LENTEN A

During the last month the Bishop has received many messages of love from children about the Diocese, accompanied by their little offerings for the Church Home, or the assurance that they were at work making a quilt or some other useful article for the Home when it is finished. All this gives me much joy, and I want to thank our children in the name of our dear Father for this interest and this work.

It is usual throughout the Church for the children to devote their offerings during Lent to the general Missionary work of the Church. I hope that every Sunday-school in our Diocese will unite in this offering this year, and if there are any grown children who have no parochial or Sunday-school connection, if they will collect from themselves their Lenten offerings and send them to me I will add them to those of the organizepschools. And let me give you a suggestion, dear children. In addition to taking this offering, try to find as many occasions during Lent for earning something to offer as you can. In this way your gifts to God will express your love to God and your sense of His goodness to us. Earning and saving are the two habits which enable us to have something to give to God for His Holy Church.

Let me urge the clergy and teachers in our Sunday-schools to do all they can to make Indiana's Lenten offering worthy of our blessings.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Rev. F. O. Granniss has accepted a call to the rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Richmond. He will enter upon the work in his new field the third Sunday in Lent.

THE Rev. J. E. Cathell, formerly of St. Paul's Church, Richmond, has accepted a call to the rectorship of St. Paul's d Church, DesMoines, Iowa.

THE Rev. E. R. Earle, from Brooklyn, New York, has taken charge of the work at New Harmony,

IT IS rumored that the Rev. John Brann of Worthington has received a call to a mission field in the diocese of Kansas.

THE Rev. J. J. Faude of Minneapolis, has declined the call to the rectorship of Christ Church, Indianapolis. The vestry have extended a call to the Rev. A. I. Graham, B. D., rector of St. Mark's, Washington, D. C.

Services at Frankfort have been suspended until new arrangements can be made by the Bishop for their continuance. A resident priest in this mission is much to be desired, but such will depend upon the practical interest taken by the mem-

REGULAR Sunday afternoon services are being held in Greencastle by Indianapolis clergy. The attendance is reasonably good. It is to be hoped that the brethren will develop that interest in their own welfare and in the welfare of the Church in Greencastle that will result in the establishment of regular and permanent services.

THE Rev. J. H. W. Blake of Lafayette has had a serious attack of la grippe. He is now much improved. Services the first Sunday in Lent were taken by Archdeacon Cole.

The Lord helps those who help themselves. It is not yet too late to begin the good work in many places.

IF GUILDS or parish societies of the parishes and missions in Indiana will write to the editor of the WORKER he will be able to suggest a way whereby they might add to their revenues.

THE Spring session of the Southern Convocation will be held in Columbus April 7-8. The program will appear in our next number.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

The Brotherhood throughout the country will welcome a new work of deep and practical interest in the way of Brotherhood literature. This is The Life and Example of St. Andrew, by the Rev. E. P. Chittenden, rector of St. Paul's Church, Winona, Minn., and published by the Young Churchman Co., Milwaukee, Wis. Bishop Gilbert of Minnesota, who writes the introduction, says of this work: "Its perusal has been a stimulous. It has opened out a fuller and clearer view of the disciple of the Blessed Master. It has proven to me the wisdom of choosing St. Andrew as the patron saint of a Brotherhood whose effort and aim are to pray and to serve. I hail its appearance with delight, and feel confident that it will take its place among the helpful and permanent literature of the Brotherhood." Brotherhood men will find this work inspiring, invigorating,

THE CENTRAL DEANERY.

The Winter Convocation of this Deanery was held in the beautiful Hendricks Memorial Parish House of St. Paul's Church, Indianapolis, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 21 and 22.

Although the weather was very disagreeable, Evensong, Tuesday at 7:30 P. M., was fairly well attended. Service was conducted by the Rev. Wm. Mitchell and the Rev. W. D. Engle, and the sermon, from I Tim., iii, 16. was preached by the Rev. J. H. W. Blake, of Lafavette.

Holy Communion was celebrated Wednesday morning at 7:30. Morning Prayer was read at liberations the wise counsels of their friend 9:30 by the Rev. F. C. Woodward and the Rev. J. Tailor Chambers. The sermon, from Ps. xiv, 17, was preached by the Rev. Edwin Johnson, of Grace Cathedral.

At the business session, which followed, the minutes of the last Convocation were read by the Secretary and (after a just and useful criticism by the rector of St. Paul's) were ap-

Mr. Ward, an eminent layman of St. Paul's Church, gave by request an account of his work in the neighborhood settlement plan in West Indianapolis.

On motion of the Rev. G. A. Carstensen the Secretary was directed to correspond with the Secretary of the Northern Deanery, to inquire whether arrangements can be made to supply the mission at Montpelier with services from that Deanery.

At the afternoon session the Archdeacon spoke of the needs of the miners of Brazil. Ind. The Rev. Wm. Mitchell read a paper on Some Reasons Why Young People are not Interested in Church Work," The Rev. Edwin Johnson led a brief discussion. A paper on the same subject was also read by Mr. H. N. Castle, a layman of St. Paul's Church.

The closing service of Convocation was held in the chapel of the Hendricks Memorial Par-Ash Wednesday, 19th. Christ Church, ish House, at 7:30 P.M. Evensong was said by the Rev. J. H. W. Blake and the Rev. F. O. Grannis, and addresses were made on "The Economics of Missions" by the rector of St. Paul's and the Archdeacon.

> The music on both evenings of Convocation was rendered by the fine choir of the parish under the direction of the accomplished choirmaster, Mr. Hoenig.

> The absence of the Bishop, who was confined to his house by a severe cold, was greatly regretted. All but two of the clergy were present, and while the rain and mud interfered with the attendance of many Indianapolis church people, the meetings were pleasant, interesting and valuable-fully up to the high standard generally maintained at the Convocations of this Deanery.

> Minute of respect in memory of the Rev. John Hilliard Ranger.

The clergy and laymen of the Central Deanery of the Diocese of Indiana miss from their midst the genial presence, and from their deand brother, the Rev. JOHN HILLIARD RANGER. late rector of Christ Church, Indianapolis, who died October 24, 1895. In the providence of God a faithful priest, a loving pastor and friend, a man of rare qualities of heart and head and will-one respected, trusted, honored by all who knew him, has been taken from his work in the full vigor of life, and his acquaintance, his parish and the diocese have suffered a serious loss. We feel deeply, however, that his work is not yet ended, for the power of a SHORT STUDIES ON THE PRAYER Auxiliary. We mourn with the bereaved wife and children of our brother, and extend to them our tenderest sympathy in the trouble we share together.

NORTHERN DEANERY.

The Convocation of the Northern Deanery was held in St. James' church. Goshen. Tuesday and Wednesday, January 28th and 29th. There were present: Rt. Rev. John Hazen White, D. D.; Rev. Dean Seabrease, Rev. N. W. Heermans, Rev. T. B. Barlow, Rev. J. H. McKenzie, Ph. D.: Rev. Walter Scott, Rev. De Lou Burke, Rev. W. W. Raymond, Rev. D. F. Ward, and Rev. C. T. Stout, rector of the parish.

An interesting feature of the Convocation was a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary on Tuesday afternoon. About fifty or sixty ladies were present, delegations coming from Warsaw, Kendallville, Elkhart and other places. The Bishop addressed the ladies on Church work, and Mrs. White, the President of the Auxiliary, talked to the ladies for an hour on the work women are doing in the Church. She captivated the ladies by her pleasing manner and address. An informal social reunion followed.

At night there was a good congregation. Evening song was said by the Rev. N. W. Heermans and Rev. T. B. Barlow, the full vested choir rendering the musical part of the service. Bishop White made the opening address, and introduced the Dean of the Convocation, who gave an address on "The Vestry," describing the duties and rights of the rector. wardens and vestrymen, after which the Bishop addressed the audience on "Church Finance." His scathing dissection of the means generally used to support churches by fairs, suppers, and such like, could not have failed to make a deep impression.

Wednesday morning an early Communion was held at 7.30.

At 10 o'clock Morning Prayer was said, and Rev. W. W. Raymond preached the sermon. A delightful lunch was served by the ladies of the church at the Rectory at noon, and at 3 o'clock the Sunday-school question was discussed. First, "Duty of the congregation," by the Rev. N. W. Heermans, and second, "How to hold the young people," by the Rev. J. H. McKenzie.

Another good congregation assembled at 7.30 to listen to addresses by Rev. Walter Scott on "The Parish Priest," the Rev. Mr. Galpin on remarks of the Dean.

The Church was now perfected in organization, and in 1780 was held the important convention which set forth the Prayer Book as we had it in use until 1892. The English book of 1661 was made the basis of revision, and the loyalty of Churchmen to the traditions of the Anglo-Saxon race recognized the propriety of varying from it as little as possible. The alterations were mostly in the direction of modernizing the language and adapting the old services to the needs of the United States. An office of visitation of prisoners, a service for Thanksgiving Day, and an order of Family Prayer. were added among the occasional offices, and also Selections of Psalms to be used instead of those for the day, Tate & Brady's metrical version of the Psalms, and a small collection of Hymns. The most important variations. however, were in the Liturgy proper, or Communion service, where the Lord's summary of the law was inserted after the Decalogue, and the Oblation and Invocation of the Holy Spirit were restored to their proper place in the Prayer of Consecration, as in the Scotch Prayer Book and the first book of Edward VI. Another important change was the omission of the Athanasian Creed, which was objected to, not because there was any doubt about the doctrine damnatory clauses

New lectern and prayer-desk hangings, of the season's color, were presented by one of the members of the parish. A large nicely decorated tree was prepared for the Sunday-school, and the children's carols were sung with the spirit of joy and gladness. The first Sunday after Christmas a mother and two sons were baptized, and others are being prepared. The work is apparently healthy and prosperous.

ARCHDEACON'S REPORT.

Since the last report the Archdeacon has held services in St. Paul's church, Richmond, four Sundays, pending the call of a rector. Visited Franklin in company with Rev. Wm . Holst and enjoyed a pleasant cottage service. If the church people here only thought so they might have regular services. Attended Convocation of Central Deanery in St. Paul's church, Indianapolis. Visited Kennand and preached. Attended the consecration services of Bishon Burton in Louisville, Kentucky. Visited Greencastle twice. Huntington once: took services twice in Grace church, Indanapolis, in case of illness of Rev. Wm. Johnson, priest in charge, and spent a Sunday in Lafayette, taking services on account of illness of Rev. Wm. Blake, rector, Have also preached twice in Holy Innocents' church, Indianapolis, Rev. Mr. Hunter, rector. Interest and kindliness in the work in all places visited give continued encouragement to work, even under some adverse circumstances.

MID LENT.

By the REV. LEWIS F. COLE. Archdeacon Diocese of Indiana.

Mid Lent! O Time, how swift thy wings When every hour, repentance brings, But tardy in their daily flight When heaven delays the precious sight Of full forgiveness well assured, And rest from trial long endured.

Mid Lent! Two valleys stretch away, Night mantles one; the other, day: All dark the way where we have been, For oft the rolling clouds of sin Beshrouded hope; the way from this Beams promise bright, and full of bliss.

Mid Lent! Tis here the King of Kings, Bids us be rested, while He brings The soul refeshments, oil and wine, To pilgrim hearts as they resign All worldly things, and in the breast Seek God's own pardon, peace, and rest.

In the earlier centuries of the Christian era the period of the duration of Lent differed in different countries and ages. Early writers speak of the universal observance of a fast before Easter. Origin of Alexandria first speaks of a period-of forty days, but the forty days were reckoned in different ways in different parts of the church. Some distributed the period over nine weeks, others over eight, and others over seven, by leaving out different days of each week. Our present mode of observance dates from the seventh century, and was sanctioned by Gregory I, Bishop of Rome. In the Eastern quagesima Sunday.

Thus far we have been struggling, as it were, up the rugged way of self-examination, and of repentance, and seeking to realize fully to what extent we are flesh and the devil. Now we turn to consider as our Prophet, our Priest, and our King. This Sunday is also called refeshment Sunday, berecord of the Lord's miracle of feeding the five thousand.

The fifth Sunday in Lent is called Passion Sunday because the service from this time directs our minds and our hearts toward the sufferings Mann reached the city in time to participate. of Christ, and unfolds the great principle of sacrifice which in Christ found its fullest significance and its seal, and whereby the great to Ephphata Mission, Detroit, and the Michi-Atonement was wrought.

The sixth Sunday in Lent is called Palm Flint.

Sunday because of the waving of palm-branches by the multitude who greeted Iesus with rejoicings as they would welcome a King making a royal entry, and unconsciously fulfilling the words of the prophet, "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! behold thy King cometh unto thee: he is just and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass, upon a colt, the foal of an 288.11

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

THE children will, no doubt, many of them, be interested in the picture of an Alaskan, You have all read of the election and consecration of a Bishop for Alaska, who is now on his way to his new home at Juneau City. The name of this Bishop is the Rt. Rev. P. T. Rowe, D. D. In the spring the Bishop will start on a journey to the far northern part of his jurisdiction to visit the missions at Point Hope and on the Yukon river, and to do all that he can to help the people in their hard life, and to teach them the way of life. Many of them live in snow houses with ice for windows, and find it very difficult, sometimes, to get enough food to keep them from starving. Indeed, almost every year there are many of them, boys and girls as well as fathers and mothers, who starve to death.

Now, it will be interesting for you children to take your maps and find the mission places in Alaska that we have mentioned, and then go to the Spirit of Missions and read some of the letters from the missionaries in this way off land. If you do not get the Spirit of Missions ask your parents to send for it at the Church Missions House, New York. It is only $1 per year, and is full of nice reading.

But in your interest in the Alaskans do not forget that you are going to try and raise $100 as a special gift unto God, and send to the Bishop at Easter for the Church Home. For this fund acknowledgments will be made from now on until the whole amount is raised,

Dr. Maples was consecrated Bishop of Nyassaland, Central Africa, last June. He had just arrived in his diocese when he was drowned in Lake Nyassa, with one of his missionaries, Sept. 12. About the same time another missionary of the same jurisdiction was martyred by the natives.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Archdeacon's report and "Children's Corner" have been crowded out this month.

The Rev. A. J. Graham, B. D., of the diocese of Washington, D. C., has accepted the call to the rectorship of Christ church, Indianapolis, and entered upon his duties.

The spring meeting of the Southern Convocation will be held at Columbus April 7-8. The Central meets at Rockville Tuesday evenning and Wednesday, April 21-22. No notice of the Northern has been received.

The Rev. J. M. D. Davidson, of Chicago, has been called to the rectorship of Gethsem ance church, Marion.

The Rev. George Torrance declined the call to Grace church, Muncie. A call has been extended to Rev. A. D. Stone, B. D., of Stillwater, Minn.

The Church Society for Promoting Christianity amongst the Jow has sent out its anula appeal for offerings on Good Friday, or Easter, to enable it to carry on its work. The treasurer is Mr. Wm. G. Davis, 281 Fourth Ave., New York. This is a worthy cause, and especially appeals to the faithful in Christ.

Mr. Carpenter, who has been lay reader at Kendallville, was on Sunday, March 23, ordained to the diaconate. The sermon was delivered by Archdeacon Cole. Mr. Carpenter will continue his work at Kendallville, which is prosperous, and gives promise of vigorous and healthy growth.

For the present, Mr. S. A. Haines, an enthusiastic Brotherhood man, will look after the interests of the Brotherhood in the WORKER. Mr. Haines is countil member for Indiana, Ohio and Southern Ohio.

The Treasurer's report, and the Treasurer's appeal, should receive immediate attention. The Treasurer is a business man, active, zealous, careful and exact in all his business interests. His great desire is that parishes should promptly and in a business like way, meet their obligations. There is certainly no excuse for business men who are wardens and vestrymen of the parishes, not to provide for and remit punctually each quarter to the Treasurer, the amount of its missionary apportionment, or as-

Bishop Gilbert, coadjutor Bishop of Minnesota, in his usual fall visitation to the Indian mission field, traveled over 400 miles in wagon and bark canoe, and confirmed over 60 natives. He found the Indian missions in a very flourishing condition.

Dr. Maples was consecrated Bishop of Nyassaland, Central Africa, in June last. He had just arrived in his diocese when he was drown'ed, with one of his missionaries, in Lake Nyassa, September 12. About the same time another missionary of the 'same jurisdiction was martyred by the natives.

At Patna, India, an English Baptist missionary and 500 native Baptist converts were recently received into the Church of England, and 200 more have since applied to be admitted.

Voluntary contributions in the Church of England, from Easter, 1894, to Easter, 1895, for building, restoring, and furnishing of Church edifices, and the endowment of benefices, &c., was over $5,000,000, and the voluntary offerings for elementary schools was over $6,000,000. Money raised parochially (and not including private offerings, of which the amount was large) for the various ordinary purposes of the Church, local and general, reached the sum of over $30,000,000. This does not include the support of hospitals and other similar institutions, nor does it include grants from the Ecclesiastical Commissioner, Queen Ann's Bounty, and other similar sources.

(Concluded.)

II. The second objection to be urged against the Christian Endeavor Societies for our parishes is that they directly antagonize the time-honored principles of the Church of God. Not only are such organizations positively harmful and unnecessary, but they also are inconsistent with our well recognized postion before the Christian world. And to make clear what I mean by this statement brings me to consider the great advantage the advocates of this movement urge in its behalf. They tell us we need societies of this nature, that is, Sunday afternoon meetings, etc., to allow our people to discuss the reasonableness of religion's claims upon us : our communicants will become, it is claimed. more intelligent Christians, better versed in the fundamentals of the faith, and more interested in promulgating the churchly

I can not close this paper without a word of self-criticism and a kindly suggestion to my brethren in the ministry, We need, it seems to me, to come back more often than we do to the study of the profound wisdom within the pages of our Book of Common Prayer. That book is indeed a veritable treasury of devotion, but as a manual guide in our parish work I believe there is nothing equal to it in the whole realm of pastoral theology. With this book in the one hand and the Scriptures in the other, each read in the light of the one Catholic and Apostolic Church the pillar and ground of the truth, the earnest parish priest will avoid every defect and danger of the Christian Endeavor movement, and outvie all its many merits.

GLIMPSES OF CHURCH HISTORY. BY REV. C. GRAHAM ADAMS, D. D. VI.

St. James, the brother of St. John, the Evan gelist, was called James the Greater. He lived in Bethsaida with his father Zebedee. The family followed the occupation of fishermen. The two brothers were called Boanerges, or Sons of Thunder, by our Lord, on account of their headstrong zeal in furthering the work of the Gospel. He preached the Gospel in Judea, but was slain with the sword in the Herodian persecution A. D. 44. St. James is supposed by some to have preached the Gospel in Spain; at all events he is patron saint of that nation.

St. John the Evangelist was the son of Zeb edee, and brother of James the Greater. He was the most trusted and devoted of all the apostles. He and his brother and St. Peter beheld the first confirmation service of which we have any account, in the city of Samaria.

St. John was first Bishop of Ephesus, where he wrote his gospel and three epistles. The epistles wery written A. D. 69. The first one is Catholic in its character, the others were written to individuals. In the reign of the Emperor Domitian he was banished to Patmos. an island in the Ægean sea, where he wrote his celebrated Apocalypse, or Revelation, but in the reign of Nerva he was permitted to return to Ephesus, where he died a natural death A. D. 100, being just one hundred years old.

St. Philip was a native of Bethsaida. It was he who introduced Nathaniel to Jesus. He preached the Gospel in Phrygia and Scythia, and was finally martyred in Hierapolis. He must be distinguished from Philip the Deacon, who was a faithful missionary to Samaria and Caesarea.

St. Bartholomew was one of the Twelve who was brought to Jesus by Philip, and of whom our Lord said, "Behold an Israelite indeed in whom there is no guile." He carried the Gospel to Arabia, Persia and India, and finally suffered martyrdom in Albanopolis.

St. Thomas was not present when Christ ap peared to the disciples after the Resurrection. and therefore expressed doubts upon the subject. But when he saw Jesus a few days afterwards he believed. He carried the Gospel to India. It is not known definitely that he was martyred, and not much is known of his his-

St. Lebbeus, called also Thaddeus, was brother to James the Just. He is the same person as Jude, the writer of the Epistle of that name. He wrote his Epistle A. D. 65-70. He preached the Gospel in Arabia, Syria and Persia, in which latter country he suffered martyrdom. He was also called Judas, and must be distinguished from the Judas who betrayed our Lord.

St. Simon, the Canaanite, is supposed to be brother to James the Just and Jude. Very little is known of him

Judas Iscariot was a native of Corinth. He was appointed treasurer by the other Apostles. He showed his groveling character all through his career. He betrayed Jesus for thirty pieces of silver' but afterwards repented, and went and hanged himself.

St. Matthias, who was chosen by the College of the Apostles in place of Judas, was one of the first disciples of Jesus. He was one of the 70. He carried the Gospel to Colchis, where he died a natural death.

It is a great pleasure to welcome these additions to our ranks, and we trust that others will be stimulated by their example to take like action promptly, so that at the June meeting there may be many new branches to report.

A number of missionary boxes are in preparation to be sent out at Easter. After having distributed all the applications which the General Secretary sent her, your Secretary was obliged to ask for the addresses for boxes which the Auxiliary of St. John's, Lafayette, and Trinity, Michigan City, were preparing. The LaPorte branch in reporting its organization, wrote that already it was at work collecting clothing to be sent to the Ogeechee Colored

From Holy Innocents', Evansville, comes the complaint that they had been overlooked in the distribution of the letters begging for the Church Home Offering. The Secretary is sorry to have seemed to neglect any one, and yet in this case she is glad, as it is pleasant and encouraging to find people complaining of not being begged from. The Auxiliary of Holy Innocents has conferred a favor by notifying the Secretary of this mistake. Will not others take the same pains?

From St. James', Goshen, comes the first money for the Church Home united offering. One dollar each has been received from the following persons: H. B. Latta, Dr. M. M. Latta, George Alderman, J. M. Latta, Mrs. J. M. Latta, Miss J. Romaine Latta, Mrs. E. G. Herr, Mrs. Frank Hubbel, Miss Nan Latta, Mrs. M. M. Latta. The Treasurer is glad to take charge of these funds and to acknowledge them in the WORKER, but they can be kept by the parish branches if they prefer to do so, and sent by their delegates to the June meeting, when the offering is made.

It is hoped to secure the Rt. Rev. Cleland Kinloch Nelson, Bishop of Georgia, as preacher for that occasion.

Rev. A. J. Oraham wili conduct a Quiet Day for women Holy Thursday, at Grace Cathedral. Every member of the Auxiliary especially should be present during the whole day. Indeed, every Churchwoman in town should attend this service, but those who are working for the missions of the Church cannot afford to lose the strength and refreshment to be there gained.

An inquiry comes from Logansport in regard to the Church Periodical Club in this diocese. The Diocesan Secretary of the Auxiliary is, at present, correspondent for Indiana, and will 7 35 gladly furnish addresses for papers, books and magazines which their owners may be willing to give away.

The last week of Lent is observed by the Church throughout the Christian world as the anniversary of the most affecting events in the work of redemption. It is called Great week and Holy Week, and its observance is so ancient that it is by some ascribed to the Apostles. Christians are called upon each day during the week to meditate upon our Lord's sufferings, and to increase their devotions and their humiliations by considerations of the examples of Christ.

This day is also called The Great Day, and The Feast of Feasts, and The Queen of Festivals, and The Bright Day. The original name was Pascha, in which was included Good Friday. Christ has risen! is the shout which encircles the earth as the morning sun wakens dark, the singers go about the streets singing:

"Vain the stone, the watch, the seal, Christ has burst the gates of hell."

Then as the sun guilds the Eastern sky the voices ring out in glorious carols, expressive of the great truth that

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST MISSIONS. The Rev. J. Hines, who has been twenty-one years in north-west America, and but once during that time visited England, has lately given an account of his mission field. During all this time he said that he had lived entirely among Indians, and his thoughts and speech had always run in the language of the natives. The work in this country had progressed in rapid strides. In 1847 there was only one bishop where there are now eight. At the present time the Gospel had so spread that the praises of God were sung by tens of thousands of Indians north and south, from the borders of the United States and the Dominion of Canada to the arctic zone, and east and west, from Hudson's Bay to the Rocky Mountains. A large majority of the Indians in this whole region are now Christian.

LAFAYETTE ITEMS.

St. John's .- During the first week of February Rev. Mr. Blake went to Delphi to hold "mission services," and to assist Rev. Mr. Ward in stirring up his people. St. John's chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, with the ber of rectors and missionaries to warboy choir, went up for the last service, and had a rousing meeting, in which a great deal of enthusiasm was displayed. The rendition of the service by Mr. Ward; sermon by Mr. Blake; addresses by several of the Brotherhood, and the singing of the choir-all had its effect, and it is hoped the impetus given by the "Mission Service" will last a long time.

The entertainment, "The Gathering of the Nations," by the little children under the per copy, bound in manilla. An order auspices of the second chapter of the Guild, for 100 copies is already on file. at the Opera House Tuesday before Lent, was a beautiful affair, liberally attended, and netted to the Guild $84.00.

Divine services were held on Ash Wednesday and largely attended, though the weather was cutting cold. Mr. Blake was taken sick means larger offerings and a greater interest on of the week were dispensed with.

On Sunday-the First Sunday in Lent-the Rev. Mr. Cole, Archdeacon of the Diocese, officiated (Mr. Blake still being confined to the the General Board. She should show her aphouse) and at the Evening Service gave a very preciation of this, and evince her missionary able and interesting talk on Domestic Mis- interest and zeal by liberal offerings. sions, and put the matter before us in a very plain light. It is to be hoped the result will be of the General Board, and for eight years the seen in the special offerings.

The chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood men at morning and evening services show that the work is being quietly carried on.

We are glad to say Mr. Blake is again out, and able to hold his Lenten services.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL HYMNS.

There is a growing desire throughout the Church to use the new Church Hymnal in the Sunday-school, so that the children may become familiar with its use in the worship of the Church. But, in many places, instead of using the full volume, appointed committees have selected hymns specially suited for the Sunday-school. About 75 are all that are generally regarded (not including carols) as necessary for ordinary use. It has been suggested that 'the Sunday-school Institute of Indianapolis publish such a selection, but as this body is resting in peace at the present time, the WORKER presents the matter to the brethren of the diocese.

The work will not be undertaken unless it meets with favor from a sufficient numrant incurring the expense of printing, at the least, 1,000 copies. But if the proposition meets with a reasonable favor, a committee will be appointed to select about 75 hymns, most generally favored. from lists that may be selected, or that may be sent in. Such a collection could probably be published for about 5 cents

GENERAL MISSIONARY BOARD .- The General Missionary Board have extended their appropriations for the last half of the fiscal year at the same rate as for the first half. This with a heavy cold, and the services the balance the part of the Church in the mission work, or WM. H. ARMSTRONG & CO., the Board will close its year with a financial embarrassment fully equal to that of last year. Indiana receives a liberal appropriation from

Mr. George Bliss, for many years a member treasurer of the society, died February 2.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The Treasurer of the Diocese, in submitting his report from February 22 to March 21, again desires to call the attention of rectors and parish treasurers throughout the diocese, to the fact that a large number of Churches are still delinquent in their Assessments and the Missionary apportionment. It is his intention to publish, in May, a full list of these delinquencies; and he desires treasurers who may wish to make remittances after Easter, to do so promptly, in order that the report, when made, may include all payments.

Following is the report:

ARCHDEACON'S REPORT.

Feb. 24-28-Made five addresses in Holy Innocents' church, Indianapolis,

March 1-Came to Wabash on appointment, but found no arrangement had been made for services. Came to Logansport in season to attend services in Trinity church. Rev. Mr. Coolbaugh, rector, celebrated.

March 4-Came to Knightstown and held services in the cottage of Mrs. Jane nocents' Church for three hours' service; Caseley. March 21-With Bishop White came to Kendallville. On arrival, by request, I visited and said prayers with a sick lady. Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

March 22-In Trinity courch, Kendallville; was present at the ordination of John G. Carpenter to the Diaconate, preaching the sermon. Services in the evening, Bishop White preaching.

March 27-Took services in George's church, Indianapolis; baptized George Allen Catt: preached.

March 29-Attended the funeral of W. D. Kirkpatrick in Oxford, Services in M. E. Church. The Church has lost one who loved her, and the bereaved and beloved family have our deepest sympathy. Our brother rests in hope. A very large attendance at the services bore witness to the esteem in which he was held by the community in which he had lived for more than forty years.

April 1-Received Holy Communion in Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis; at 4:30 P. M. took Meditation in St. Paul's April 2-Took services for children in St. Paul's church, and made address.

April 5-In Bloomington-Entertained Communion, with 24 communicants. A delightful Easter, with large congregations. Here is a fair specimen of what can be done if Church people are minded to do it. A faithful lay reader has persistently kept up the services, and the interest is growing now as it has grown for my humble opinion, there is not a place in this diocese where a like result would not obtain were the same loyalty to the Church observed. One of our greatest hindrances to Church extension is apathy or indifference. All honor to the "living members."

April 8-Came to Marion with Mrs. Cole. At 3 P. M. baptized my grandchild, Lewis Frank Cole.

April 12-At Soldiers' Home, in Marion, at Morning Service, preached. It was a pleasure to meet again many acquaintances to whom I ministered while acting chaplain. To the genial officers of this worthy institution many thanks are due for courtesies received. In the evening visited Gas City, and heard service in Welsh. They are prospering nicely here under Rev. Mr. Davies.

April 14-15-In attendance on Convocation of Southern Deanery, at Columbus. Gave "Quiet Hour" Wednesday morning.

April 19-Second Sunday after Easter. Attended service in Grace Cathedral, Indianapolis, and preached.

April 21-22-Attended Convocation of Central Deanery, held in Rockville; made address on history of the Church. Both this convocation and the Southern, at Columbus have been delightful and most helpful meetings.

T. J. CULLEN, Manager,

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

BY MISS HOWLAND, 627 N. Pennsylvania street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Before the next number of the WORKER reaches its readers the annual meeting of the Auxiliary will be once more past. It was hoped that by this time the name of the preacher for the day might be announced. but the Executive Board had set its heart upon a Bishop, and finds to its regret that they are all very busy men, and are prevented by their home engagements from coming to us. Some able priest will, however, be secured to speak to us words of cheer and to rouse our enthusiasm.

As usual, there will be the Holy Communion and sermon in the cathedral in the morning followed by lunch, and the afternoon session will be given up to business. Let no one fancy that statement necessarily implies a dull meeting. There will be the reports of Woman's work, each report to be read by the Secretary of the various organizations. This should interest every woman in the diocese. The auxiliary branches will also report through their local officers, the Diocesan Constitution will probably be discussed and criticised at some length. and the new diocesan officers for the coming year will be elected. We are sure that every woman who has the slightest interest in the Church will find much to increase and strengthen that interest if she will but come to this annual Woman's meeting, June 2.

The greatest feature of this meeting, we trust, may be the united offering of the women of Indiana for the completion of the Church Home, so bravely begun by our late beloved Bishop, and the unfinished state of which was a grief to him, and is a disgrace to us. When one recalls the facts that there are more than 7,000 confirmed persons in the diocese. and that more than half are women and girls, then one cannot doubt that the offering will amount to more than the $3,000 needed. If there are any parishes outside of Indianapolis where the idea that this Home is an Indianapolis institution has taken root and prevent the people from giving, let them rest assured that such will not be the case. It is to be distinctly a diocesan institution. Only the delegates can, of course, vote in the business meeting, but it will be open to all women, and it is hoped that good delegations will come from all parishes. Let every woman in the State consider herself hereby invited. Entertainment is offered to all who come.

The Constitution and by-laws may be amended at this annual meeting, due notice to amend having been given,

Two new branches of the Auxiliary have been organized since our last issue, St. Paul's, Richmond, and St. Luke's, Terre Haute.

THE CHURCH FOR AMERICANS.

"The Church for Americans" is a new and most valuable work published by the Rev. Wm. M. Brown, Archdeacon of the diocese of Ohio. The book comprises seven lectures upon the following practical and living questions: Church Membership-Our Controversy with Romanists-Our Controversy with Denominationalits-The Mother Church of England-The American Church-Objections to the Episcopal Church-Why Americans should be Episcopalians. The work is not a dry course of lectures prepared mechanically for a special purpose, but is a development of "conversations and addresses concerning the Church" in the course of missionary work, put in Anderson .- Full and interesting services Easter. The church building failed to accomodate much more than half of the people who desired to enter. The Anderson Commandery K. T. attended in a body.

VINCENNES .- Through Lent the Rector held services of a special missionary character on Sunday evenings, to crowded congregations. The sermons were stirring and direct, and upon subjects of practical Christian life, and held the close attention of the congregation.

EVANSVILLE-St. Paul's .- The Easter services were of unusual interest. There was an early and late celebration, a service for children in the afternoon, and the usual evening service. The congregations were large and evinced much inter est in the services, and were inspiring to the rector, whose rendering of the services, and whose sermons, were unusually effective. The music was very fine and the decorations abundant and beautiful. The day was truly full of life and joy-a glorious festival.

SHELBYVILLE.—Easter Tuesday a very pleasant and profitable entertainment was held at the residence of Mrs. Wilson, at which $82.58 was netted. THE REV. L. F. COLE.

It will be a surprise and a grief to many throughout the diocese to know that the Rev. L. F. Cole, who for three years has so faithfully ministered to the many scattered children of the Church in the diocese, has given up his work here, and accepted an appointment as general missionary in the diocese of Pittsburg. The zeal, good judgment and fidelity that characterized the work of Archdeacon Cole in Indiana will undoubtedly be a prominent characteristic in his new field of work. Indiana's great loss will be a gain to Pittsburg. The prayers of very many, especially in the mining districts. work in his new diocesan home.

CONVOCATION OF CENTRAL DEAN-FRV

The spring meeting was held in St. John's church, Rockville, April 21 and 22. The opening service was conducted by the Rev. J. D. Stanley, who has charge of the mission at Rockville. The lessons were read by the Rev. Edwin Johnson, and sermon preached by the Dean, Rev. E. G. Hunter, B. D., on of the diocese served by the rector of Friday, 17-St. Mark's, Lima. Attended Philip iii., 10: "The Power of Christ's Communion and address; 4:30 Evening Prayer meeting of Northern Convocation; delivered Resurrection." Besides the above clergy officiating there were also present the Rev. L. F. Cole, Archdeacon, and W. Mitchell, and a good congregation.

> Wednesday morning a business meeting was held, at which the work of the Convocation was discussed and the appointment made for the fall meeting. The Rev. J. H. W. Blake, of Lafayette, having expressed a desire that the next meeting be held in that city, the appointment was so made.

> At 10 o'clock the Dean, the Rev. E. G. Hunter, celebrated Holy Communion. assisted by the Rev. J. D. Stanley. The sermon was by the Rev. Wm. Mitchell, from St. John xx., 30, 31: "The Larger Life of Christ."

> At the business meeting in the afternoon a vote of thanks was extended to the members of the mission, and all who had so kindly contributed to the success of the meeting, and the very hospitable entertainment of the clergy present.

In the absence of the Rev. E. A. Pressey, the paper prepared by him on "General Parish Work, Guilds and Sundayschool," was read by Rev. J. D. Stanley. will be offered for health and prosperous The paper suggested many healthful thoughts, and led to a general discussion of the whole subject by the clergy and ladies in attendance.

In the evening a short service was held and addresses were given upon "The Church," the Archdeacon speaking upon "Its History," Rev. Edwin Johnson on "The Ministry," and Rev. J. D. Stanlev on "Its Worship."

THE CHURCH WORKER.

The Church Worker entered upon the thirteenth year of its publication with the April issue. Like many publications, we cannot say that it improves with age. But we trust that it has been doing a good work and fulfilling its mission. Its purpose is to make a monthly visit to all who will welcome its call, and carry the Bishop's greeting in various ways, and convey his messages, and give brief information of the general work in the Diocese. It makes no effort to fill the place of the general Church papers, giving general information, and supplying any general demand for intellectual food.

THE WORKER is sent regularly to all who will read it. Its mailing list is not limited to voluntary subscribers. It is not a business enterprise, but a missionary agency. Yet every Church family receiving it, and not asking to have it discontinued is expected to aid in its publication. Any one regarding its monthly visit as an intrusion have only to send a card asking to have it stopped.

The WORKER is thankful to those who oo during the past have realized its value in missionary work, and have done what 3 54 they could to aid in meeting its expenses. We wish we could include in this list the hundreds who profess and call themos selves Churchmen, whose names never appear in the list of acknowledgments, but which have for years appeared on the 99 mailing list label. Brethren, the WORK-73 ER needs your help to continue on its way and to do its work as an auxiliary 89 to the Diocesan Mission work. Can we not hear from you this month in a practi-69 cal way, and such as will enable us to go on with the thirteenth volume without any ∞ financial deficiency.

Luke, xxiv, 51.

These exquisitely beautiful and touching words seem to express something (may one venture to say it?) of even involuntary movement, as if extraneous power was constraining Him to reluctant departure from them. As if loving His humiliation, and held down by cords of a man, as if contented to press the glories of His Kingdom in tender love for mankind, as forcing Himself away, and full of blessing, and in blessing parted asunder; like reluctant clouds drawn up by the sun, that stop and fall in abundant dews again on the face of the night, while the parched earth looks up to heaven and longs, and opens her thirsty mouth to receive all the blessings.

Ascension Day, or Holy Thursday, is a holy day, commemorative of the ascent of the Risen Lord to the Father's pressence in heaven-the Holies, to complete the great work of redemption. In the person of Jesus was human nature offered in sacrifice, in fulfilment of the law of the divine covenant, and in recognition of the power and dominion of death. In the Resurrection was human nature delivered from its condition of bondage to death and the grave. And in the Ascension was human nature brought into the fullness of a new covenant relation with the Father, and into harmony with the Divine will.

The work of Christ, from the time of His entrance upon His ministry until the Ascension-yea, until the descent of the Holy Spirit, was a unity of work. "The life, the death, the burial, the resurrection, are but steps in a progress which has its consummation in the exaltation of man to glory and power in the Ascension."

Whitsunday is one of the most solemn Feasts of the calendar. It commemorates the descent of the Holy Ghost, in tongues of fire on the apostles and the infant Church, in Jerusalem. In the descent of the Holy Spirit have we the fulness of the revelation of the Godhead and of the Divine will. The confession

WHY IS THE SERMON DULL?

Is the sermon that is often accounted dull, really dull? Is it not too often the people that are dull and unfitted, at the time, to receive the instruction given in the sermon? There is a growing desire to hear something sensational, or interesting, or more agreeable to the sensitive (religiously) nerves of modern society people. The spirit of the age is novelty. There must be constant change in Church methods of drawing, and in selection of subjects for sermons, in order that there may be no conflict with the spirit of the age. When St. Paul expressed the wise rule of being "all things to all men," he certainly did not imply that he would

He is our life-the fountain of our redemption, and "as many as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ,' and as St. John says, "whosoever hath the Son hath life; but whosoever hath not the Son of God hath not life." Christianity is more than a mighty moral force in the world's life; and the sermon which only makes prominent this feature will ever be less dull than one that is more faithful to the true principles of the true message of the Gospel, which calls for sacrifice and the renunciation of the world's vanities and frivolities; and which unfolds the truths of "resurrection and of eternal judgment."

BV DEV. E. O. GRANNISS

Our studies have traced the book of Common Prayer back to the restoration of monarchy in the year 1661. The English book, of which an American Prayer Book is simply a revised edition, was not new at that time. On the contrary it was more than a hundred years old in the English language, and in Latin, it was many centuries older. We have seen the identity of our devotional book with that of the Anglican Communion for the past 235 years. Our purpose is to trace the work back to its source.

The last revision of the ancient Prayer Book in England was made in 1661. In order to understand the circumstances of this revision, it is necessary to review briefly the suffering of the Church under the dreadful misrule of the common-

It will be remembered that with the outbreak of the Reformation in the reign of Henry VIII, several politico-religious parties sprang up in England. Of these, the extremists on one side were the Recusants who wanted little or no change in the inherited condition of the Church, They dreaded change; they were satisfied with the Papacy and felt no strong repugnance to the Romanism of the previous century. At the other extreme was a motley crowd of protesters, or "kickers," who refused to be satisfied with anything short of the most radical changes. They differed greatly among themselves in regard to doctrines and devotional customs; but they were practically united in the determination to abolish Bishops, the Prayer Book, Altars, and Vestments. They received the general name of Puritans from the severity of their assumed mode of life. The third party consisted of the great mass of the English people from the throne down. It was the party of all loyal Churchmen. It demanded relief from the dominion of the Pope and from every distinctively Romish and therefore false and harmful doctrine and practice. It strove to preserve everything that was truly Catholic, therefore true and edifying in the inherited beliefs and customs of Christianity. This party, through the sixteenth century was in political ascendency. Like every body of men, and like every individual however wise and good, it made mistakes of judgment. disposition and methods. It committed errors. According to the spirit of the must be a great soul now .- Emerson.

posing restraining laws and enforcing them with the sternness characteristic of the period. But the protestant sects were led by fanatics, and under pretense of religious and conscientious scruples, their meetings were hot-beds of seditions. of rebellious plots and conspiracies, not only against Bishops and the Church, but against the Crown and the State. Puritan clergy who refused to submit (as by oath they were bound to do) to the lawful authorities and conform to the customs accepted at their ordination, were properly removed from their offices, and upon holding seditious meetings and preaching anarchy in the name of Christ they were justly imprisoned. They turned their merited punishments into partizan capital and posed as martyrs. As a result of their perpetual aggitation a large part of the people was won over to a violent form of democracy and ecclesiastical dissent. In 1645 the Archbishop was beheaded. In 1649 King Charles likewise suffered. Cromwell became dictator, breaking every constitutional safeguard of the people, committing every crime against the nation, for which as alleged he murdered the Archbishop and the King. Bishops were expelled from the county; glorious Cathedrals and parish churches were defaced and desercated, and in 1645, the use of the Prayer Book was proscribed, even in private, under £5 penalty for the first offense, £10 for the second and a year's imprisonment for the third. The Church of England was nearer extinction than at any other time in 1300 years. For nearly 20 years no Bishops were consecrated, and at the Restoration in 1661, only nine were left alive to resume control of their dioceses.

But the nation could not long bear the grotesque asceticism of the long-faced Puritans, and upon the death of Cromwell there was a general demand for the restoration of the King, a deep longing for the orderly beauty of the old church and her noble services. The Prayer Book was once more to guide the devotions of the hungry people, but before it could be opened again the new circumstances required a revision.

With the changes of 1661 it will be necessary to deal in another paper.

People are usually willing to do their duty, but they do not like to do too much of it .--Anonymous.

GLIMPSES OF CHURCH HISTORY.

BY REV, C. GRAHAM ADAMS, D. D.

The Kingdom of Christ was a new kingdom upon earth. It was to be a kingdom of righteousness, and truth, and equity. To this end its author lived and labored and died. This great fact He announced to His desciples and gave them full instruction concerning the establishment of this kingdom of God.

The Day of Pentecost, the Christian Whitsun-Day, is called the birthday of the Church, not that the Church of God had not existed before that day, for God's Church had existed in all ages under different dispensations and names, but Whitsun-Day was the day in which the Holy Ghost, the promised Paraclete, came down in visible form upon the disciples and overpowered them in such a remarkable manner that their hearts were filled with wisdom and power from on high to set about this great work of or-

When the Lord appeared to the dissciples after the resurrection, He told them to remain at Jerusalem, and that when the Holy Ghost is come upon them they should be witnesses unto Him in Jerusalem, and in Judea, and in Samaria. and unto the uttermost part of the earth. Thus this kingdom of Jesus Christ was to extend throughout all the earth, and to be commensurate to the religious wants of all mankind. And thus when the college of the apostles had been completed by the election of Matthias to take the place and ministry of Judas, and when the Holy Ghost had come down in rich abundance upon His chosen few, they were abundantly qualified to set about the thorough organization of this Kingdom, and they did accomplish it with vigor and with power.

We are indebted to St. Luke for a statement of these concise items regarding the early Church, for it was of the utmost importance, and will be so till the end of time, to have at hand a reliable history of these early beginnings of the Church and the earnest labors of its propagators. They exhibit to us in an incontrovertible manner, the clearest evidence of the divine mission of Jesus Christ and of the catholicity of that kingdom He came to inaugurate. St. Chrysostom calls this history "The Gospel of Our Saviour's Resurrection."

It must not be forgotten here that the erroneous idea which some hold, that the descent of the Holy Ghost was merely a Denominationalism and separation from the visible body of Christ cannot be holstered up by such a flimsy argumen- ber of communicants than before and tative piliow.

The Rev. Philip Schaff, D. D., a denominational minister of much note as a writer and preacher, says: "The Church is not only an invisible communion of saints, but at the same time a visible body, needing organs, laws and forms to regulate its activity."

Surely the Church of Christ is a visible, living organism, and must be a unit in the same sense that God, Himself, is oneone in existence, one in object-otherwise it would not be qualified to make known His will to men.

BROTHERHOOD CONVENTION.

FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The fourth annual convention of the State Council, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, was held in St. Paul's church, Indianapolis, May 15, 16 and 17, 1896. On the evening of the first day a recognition meeting was held in St. Paul's parish house.

Saturday, after Morning Prayer in St. Paul's chapel, addresses of welcome were made by the Rt. Rev. John Hazen White, Bishop of Indiana, and by Rev. G. A. Carstensen, rector of St. Paul's church. A business session followed at to o'clock, presided over by Frank G. Bingham, of Indianapolis.

S. A. Haines, Indianapolis, was elected President of the Convention, and Secretary.

The congratulations and God-speed of promptness in meeting their diocesan ship which such reduction must cause the Indiana convention were telegraphed everywhere—the arresting of promising to the State convention of New York, Last year eighteen parishes and mis- undertakings, the personal deprivation to then in session. - 1. "Spiritual work of the Brotherhood man." (a) Individual, Rev. N. W. Heermans. (b), Social, Rev. A. J. Gresham.
- 2. "Brotherhood work in the cottage," by Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh.
- 3. "The social questions, as each Brotherhood man meets them, and the answers which each Brotherhood man should give them," by the Rev. F. O. Granniss.
- 4. "Brotherhood in small parishes," by Rev. W. W. Raymond.
- 5. 4 Duties of Director and Secretary," by Mr. J. L. Houteling, of Chicago.

The question of time and place for the next Convention raised a little discussion, but it was finally left to the executive committee. After announcements for evening session, and for Sunday, the Convention adjourned.

At the Saturday evening meeting the addresses were interesting, and valuable in calling out latent energies. The attendance, at all the meetings, was reasonably good, and many expressions were for, yet those attending were a zealous

The closing service, was held at St. Paul's church at 8 P. M. The clergy from the other city parishes were present, also members of the various vested choirs, swelling the choir for the service to the full capacity of the large chancel. The founder of the Brotherhood, Mr. Houghteling, of Chicago, made the first address, and was followed by Bishop Sessums in a stirring appeal for the strength and courage of true manliness.

The farewell meeting was directed by Rev. A. J. Graham, who briefly commended the spirit and work of all who specially aided in the effort to make the Convention a success, All members of the Brotherhood present, bound together as one, as it were, by crossed arms and united hands, sang the hymn,

The first meeting of Trinity chapter, Logansport, after the State Convention, was exceedingly interesting. Steps were taken toward the organization of a boys' chapter, and the interest manifested by the Brotherhood members was gratifying in every respect.

TRAMP PARISHES.

The vacant parishes which are found in greater or less numbers in most dioceses are a curious study for those who take a practical interest in the condition of the Church, We call them tramp parishes, not, of course, because they move to and fro over the country, like roving islands. or even because they so constantly "go a begging," but because they appear to occupy the same position in a living' active Church that the tramp does in the midst of a settled and industrious people. They are often the result of fickleness. The fickle parish, like the Athenians, is always longing for something new. long as the rector is unknown, and his utterances fresh, he is popular. Incense and obsequious admiration are thrust upon him. When once he settles down to plain, humdrum work, and the novelty of his voice, gesture and deportment has passed away, the traces of the parochial car are slackened, the attendance at church falls off, the salary becomes unvention was not as large as was hoped punctually paid, and the rector is left alone to look out for another sphere of activity .- The Churchman.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

BY MISS HOWLAND, 627 N. Pennsylvania street, Indianapolis, Ind.

The annual sermon before the Woman's Auxiliary this year is to be preached by the Rev. A. J. Graham, rector of Christ church.

A special effort has been made to induce delegates from the branches of the Auxiliary and from all the organizations of Church women in the diocese to send representatives to this annual meeting. Thus far twenty-four have promised to come, and doubtless there will be many more. The hospitality of the church people of Indianapolis is equal, as the past has proved, to any demand made upon it, so there is no doubt but our guests will be well taken care of and made to feel heartily welcome.

CONVOCATION OF SOUTHERN DEAN-ERY.

The Spring meeting was held in St. Paul's church, Columbus, the Rev. J. R. Holst, rector, April 14 and 15, nine clergymen being present. The sermon at the opening service was preached by the Rev. Palin Saxby.

Wednesday morning, 6;30, the Holy Communion was celebrated by the Archdeacon, assisted by the rector. Morning Prayer followed at 9, and then a helpful "Quiet Hour" conducted by the Archdeacon. At 10:30, after the Litany, the sermon was preached by the Rev. W. N. Jones of Evansville. At the business meeting reports were heard from the several clergy present, and the question raised as to asking the Bishop to divide the present convocational territory into two portions, east and west. If you can tor of Christ church, remarks were made expressive of regret at the intended removal from the diocese of the Rev. L. give $5,000, and have neglected to make F. Cole, Archdeacon, and member of known that intention, telegraph to the the Clericus. The following minute was prepared by a committee appointed:

In view of the announced resignation of the Rev. L. F. Cole, as Archdeacon of the diocese of Indiana, and of his intended removal to the diocese of Pittsburg to enter upon the work of a general missionary, the members of the Indianapolis Clericus do hereby express to their Rev. Brother, and place on record their great regret at learning of this change, and the severing of the very pleasant relations that have existed, as brethren in the ministry of the Church in Indiana, and as members of the stood. The guilds of all kinds are to Indianapolis Clericus. Genial and pleasant present their own reports, so each one in social relations, ever zealous and devoted in must be sure to have a representative his work, loyal to apostolic truth, manly and consistent yet modest and humble in his christian life, and wise and efficient in his ministrations, as a parish priest, and as general missionary and archdeacon.

We feel that we are loosing a strong coworker, and many of the scattered children of the Church, in the diocese, a faithful friend and pastor. We wish him God speed, and pray that the divine blessing may rest upon him in his new field of labor, and we will ever rejoice to hear of his good health and prosper-

To your kind request for my "view of the best method for making visible the oneness of the Church" I can offer no other reply than that which I have repeatedly made in many published writings.

The only scheme of visible Church unity which has entered the field and still keeps the field, is known as the Quadrilateral, or Four Articles, proposed at Chicago and amended at Lambeth

- 1. The Holy Scriptures, as the rule of faith. 2. The Catholic Creeds, as the sufficient

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER.

It is possible that the children will be interested to read the following story of St. Patrick, the great apostle of Ireland. as we now enter the Trinity season. We copy it from the Young Churchman:

THE TRINITY.

Long ago, when the Irish were heathens. there came to the shores St. Patrick, to teach them the Catholic faith. He was brought to the king, and he spoke before him of the religion of Christ. The king listened attentively, but when St. Patrick began to tell him that there was but one God, and yet in that Godhead there were three persons, the king stopped him, and said: "I do not understand you. You say the Father is God?"

"Yes."

"And you say that the Son is God?"

"And you say that the Holy Ghost is God?"

"Then," said the king, "there must be three

Gods." "St. Patrick stooped down, instead of answering, and picked a clover leaf that grew at his feet. The clover leaf is made up of three WM. H. ARMSTRONG & CO., little leaves joined by a slim stalk together, so that the three leaves make only one leaf. St. Patrick held up only one of the lobes and said : "This is a leaf?"

"Yes." said the king.

He showed the third lobe, and said, "This is a leaf P11

"Yes," said the King.

Then St. Patrick held the entire leaf up by its long stalk before the king, and said, "What is this?"

"It is a leaf," answered the king.

"So learn from a plant the mystery of the Trinity," said the saint.

We are sorry that we are not able to report a larger offering from the children to try and raise a special amount of $100 by the first of June for the completion of the Church Home. We can only acknowledge one offering, Miss Gilmore, of Loganspoit, this month, who sends $1.00; acknowledge last month $14.20 which makes a total of $15.20.

Has anything been done?

I am afraid not

Indiana is not so small that three delegates are enough to represent her.

Pittsburgh is not so very far away, and can be reached by direct line from almost any place in

Now is the time to begin planning. If we put it off, the convention will find us unprepared, and we will be no better represented than heretofore.

The state convention put upon its secretary the work of securing news items for the Church WORKER and the St. Andrew's Cross. This is not an easy thing to do if there is no work being done. Thus far only one chapter has sent the secretary anything, and that was the report of a meeting, and not of work already done. All of the delegates at the convention promised to send some news. Can it be that all of the chapters in the state are doing nothing? I think not, but I fear the delegates have forgotten their promises.

I want every member of the Brotherhood who reads this to feel it his duty to at least tell the secretary of his chapter (if not all its members) what we want.

We want items of personal work.

We want items of chapter work.

Not what we expect to do, but what has already been done. If you can do nothing more, send me the name and address of your secretary, that I may be able to correspond with him. Address all communications to

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JULY. 1896.

The Rev. E. G. HUNTER, Editor of the Church Worker and president of the standing committee of the diocese, is seriously ill. For several days his condition was alarming; but the symptoms are now very favorable, and there is every reason to look for his complete recovery. It may be some weeks before he regains his wonted health in perfect measure, and in the meanwhile his brethren will do all that they can to save the interests in his competent charge from suffering through neglect.

Shall We Have an Archdeacon?

It is hard for us to realize and reconcile ourselves to the fact that Archdeacon Cole is no longer in nor of the diocese of Indiana, He was Bishop Knickerbacker's "son in the faith," having come into the Church from the Adventists, under the ministry of our late diocesan in Gethsemane parish, Minneapolis, and ever since 1885 Mr. Cole has been a leading spirit in the work and counsels of this diocese. Circumstances have made it right for him to undertake work in another diocese, and Bishop Whitehead of Pittsburgh is to be congratulated upon securing one whose natural gifts and wide experience qualify him so well for the work of general missionary.

But if Pittsburgh needs one such man Indiana should have two. There is just about twice as much need of missionary work in Indiana as in Western Pennsylvania, because we have double the territory and twice the number of souls. The Bishop realizes that this is impossible at end. We must have a good man in Archdeacon Cole's place at once. It will require twelve hundred dollars a year to secure one. Including the generous pledge of $500 by the Woman's Auxiliary, there is now subscribed something like $900. Surely the plan will not be allowed to fail for the lack of $300. Those who have subscribed before will renew their pledges, and new names will be enrolled. In the diocese of Pittsburgh the salary of the Archdeacon is raised entirely by the May 17, 7 A. M., Holy Communion, St. Paul's Lenten offerings of the Sunday-school children. This plan has not been proposed in this diocese, and there are reasons why it might be unwise; but we venture a suggestion. There is one Sundayschool which gives its offerings, whenever there is a fifth Sunday in the month, to this object. We believe that if every Sunday-school in the diocese would make a point to do this there would be at least $200 at the end of the year, and the ques- May 21. New Carlisle. 10:30, Holy Comtion of the Archdeacon's support would be practically settled. We shall publish in our next number a list of Sundayschools which adopt this plan.

As soon as the financial conditions warrant it, the Bishop is ready to call a man to this position who is a power in the whole Church, and whose name and work are well known in Indiana. His success has been along the line of such work, and he has expressed a willingness to come to us. A providential opportunity like this should not be despised.

THE CONVENTION'S WORK.

It is remarkable how much was accomplished by the late Convention, and how some very important changes were made with little or no opposition. The increase of the Bishop's salary, without a dissenting voice, was the willing recognition by a grateful constituency of the indefatigable activity of our Diocesan. It must have been gratifying to the Bishop also, to see how he had won our confidence, when we all fell in so heartily with his plans for the most effective prosecution of the Church's work. It may not be amiss to state just here, the reasons for one radical change which every one does not fully understand. For some years Bishop Knickerbacker cherished the project of establishing a Church Home and Orphanage in this city. The building was tary and to attach a salary to the position during the ensuing year. Before adjournment well under way when the Bishop's untimely death interrupted its progress. Had he lived his wonderful resources would doubtless have been sufficient to complete what was begun in good faith. It was not to be expected of the new Bishop that he could command these resources, and this proved to be the case. The diocese had not the means to enable Bishop White to finish the Home. The structure was going to decay, and there was danger of losing all that had been expended on it. Bishop White suggested a plan which the trustees of the diocese approved-the sale of the present Episcopal residence, and the use of part of the proceeds to complete the building on Central Avenue as a home for the Bishop. The remainer of the proceeds will be added to the endowment fund. This was eally an act of self-sacrifice on the part of the Bishop, and should be appreciated as such. It is not to be expected that nobody will be disappointed at this turn of affairs; indeed, we might all wish that it were possible to carry out Bishop Knickerbacker's plan. There are many who have hoped that the memorial rooms for which they subscribed might be accomplished facts; but those who have given the most liberally have acquiesced most cheerfully in the proposed change. If any think that there has been the slightest approach to unfairness, it will be only necessary for them to express themselves accordingly, and what they have given will doubtless be refunded.

It was a good move to consolidate the

The proposed change of time for the meeting of the Convention from June to September will be finally acted upon next year. It seems to be the general opinion that the change will be desirable.

Altogether, the Convention of 1896 will be remembered as one of the most harmonious and effective in the history of the diocese.

DIOCESAN ITEMS.

St. Paul's Church, LaPorte-The Rev. T. B. Barlow, Rector. The Bishop of the Diocese visited this parish and confirmed a class on Ascension Day (May 14.) This is the second class presented by the rector, making twenty-six that have been added to the Church by confirmation in the past six months. The chancel was beautifully decorated, and a large congregation greeted the Bishop, who after an earnest personal address to the candidates took for his theme the text:

"For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in Bishop made his first official visitation of St. Mary's mission, New Carlisle, which is under the pastoral oversight of the Rev. Mr. Barlow, number, widely scattered, and of the working of LaPorte.

The chapel was crowded to overflowing, many standing outside at the windows.

After the administration of the Sacrament of Baptism by the rector, the Bishop confirmed a class and preached from the text, " For we are laborers together with God.1

At the close of the service a business meeting was held and the mission organized and its officers elected. One hundred dollars was contributed toward cancelling the debt, and offices of registrar, librarian and secre- pledges received for support of the services the amount necessary to clear off the remaining debt of $300. Altogether, much has been done by the good people of St. Mary's mission, and its life is beginning to be strongly felt in the little community of New Carlisle.

TWELFTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY.

Next Twelfth Sunday after Trinity is August 23d. It is also known as Ephphatha Sunday. Since the beginning of the Deaf Mute Mission in the United States in the year 1850, it has gradually become the custom to apply the offerings toward its expenses. The part of the work known as the Mid Western Mission has been worked since July 1st, 1875, by the undersigned, who has held sign services at many places. Annual reports and leaflets relating to the work will be sent to any one on application.

The financial stringency of the past three years has increased the difficulties of the work. Only a small proportion of the parishes appealed to have responded with offerings on that day. A repetition of the appeal the same year has been made necessary.

As frequently stated in past appeals, the NEW CARLISLE .- On the 21st inst, the deaf mutes themselves contribute toward the maintenance of the work, but are not able to bear the whole burden alone. They are few in classes; hence the ever existing necessity of asking Church people to help. Offerings may be sent to the undersigned.

SHORT STORIES IN THE PRAYER

BOOK. BY REV. F. O. GRANNISS.

The purpose of this paper is to show by what changes at the Restoration, in 1661, the English Prayer Book was brought into its present shape. It is doubtful, however, whether the little space allowed us in the columns of the WORKER will not oblige us to extend the subject over to another issue.

the way to gratify the people by bringing back the King, a delegation of Presbyterian divines, anticipating the Restoration, waited upon Charles at Breda, in Holland. Their purpose was to secure his sympathy in advance and extract a promise of tolertheir own party. Their solicitations drew from him the famous "Breda Declaration," in which the King promised "liberty to tender consciences," "that no man should be disquieted . . . for differences of opinion . . . in religions which do not disturb the peace of the kingdom," and which Parliament should be ready to sanction. Encouraged by the King's manner at this interview, the Presbyterians had the impudence to urge further "that neither the old Liturgy nor the abhorred surplice should be reintroduced. even in his own chapel, for fear of giving intended by the Church party at this time offense to the brethren." To this modest request the King replied with no little Thus whatever changes resulted from the indignation, that since he gave them their controversies of the Restoration, they

The king upon his establishment on his throne was no doubt willing to content the sectaries who had helped to bring about the restoration; but he felt even more strongly bound in gratitude toward the who when in power had shown them- was leader of the Presbyterians. The one hundred dollars which was pledged by the representatives of the Auxiliary of this diocese to the Briarley Memorial fund is still incomplete. The pledge was made last October at the Triennial meeting of the Auxiliary, and it certainly seems that before the year of the General Board of Missions closes in September we should settle this little matter. There are promises enough from parishes and individuals to make up the whole amount, and we hope that being thus reminded they will send what they offered to the Treasurer as soon as posWOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

CAROLINE H. HOWLAND, Cor. Sec., ber N. Penn. St., Indianabolis. S. E. PERKINS, Treasurer, 573 N. Penn. St., Indianapolis.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary which was held in Grace Cathedral June 2, must have been considered a success by all those present. The attendance at both the morning service and the afternoon business meeting was large, and it was particularly gratifying that more than twenty women should have given the time and money to travel, some of them long distances, to lend us their cheer and inspiration and to get what we had to give. We trust that they all went home feeling amply repaid, and determined always hereafter to attend Auxiliary meetings. They may at least feel assured that the women of the Auxiliary branches of Indianapolis feel grateful to them for coming, and have been encouraged by their evident interest. We regret that space will not school might be able to furnish some funds. permit the printing here of the Rev. Mr. This matter ought to appeal strongly to us in Graham's sermon on the Personal Element in Indiana, for, if the General Missionary funds Service, and our President's address, both of fall short the Board must retrench, and that which all workers would find helpful. The annual report will contain Mrs. White's address, which will thus be accessible to all Church

After the address the reports of the various officers were read, and then the reports of the branches of the Auxiliary, read by the delegates when such were present; the reports of the unrepresented branches and the summing up being read by the corresponding secretary. These showed that the Auxiliary had given during the year $1,791.66 in money and twenty-six boxes valued at $571.44; the total for the Auxiliary in money and boxes being $2,363.10. The reports of the Guilds and Women's Societies of whatever name disclosed the fact that they had raised and expended for Church purposes the handsome sum of $10,-357.31, making the whole sum put into the treasury of the Church by the women during the last twelve months $12,720.41. To this must be added the united offering for the Church Home, which amounted to a little more than $580.

Those who had been hoping for sufficient money from this offering to finish this building could not suppress a feeling of disappointment when the amount was announced. But, after all, the result is not despicable when all the circumstances are considered and due weight is given to the fact that we are only beginning to learn to make UNITED efforts. The offering not being sufficient to finish the Home, the question at once arose, "What shall be done with what we have?" After various suggestions and some informal discussion the motion was made that "The Executive Board shall be authorized, if it sees fit, to use this fand for the payment of interest on money borrowed by the Trustees of the Diocese for the completion of the Home." That motion was carried unanimously, and thus the question virtually decided.

The election of officers was the other imimportant feature of the afternoon. Mrs. White was re-elecued President by acclamation, all others being balloted for. Mrs. Gould, of Fort Wayne, is Vice-President for the Northern Deanery; Mrs, Thompson of Lafayette, for the Central; Miss Josephine Brooks of Madison for the Southern; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Michie, Indianapolis; Treasurer, Mrs. Perkins, Indianapolis; Secretary for Junior Auxiliary, Miss Moore, Indianapolis.

A letter from the General Secretary was read in regard to the deficit in the funds of the Board of Missions. Each woman was urged to help the Board by making it her business to ask her rector if a collection for General Missions had been taken in the parish since last September, and if not to induce him to take one. If there had been such a collection it was hoped that, in view of the pressing need of the Board, another one might be taken, or the Sundaymeans that the sum allotted Indiana will be reduced. For selfish reasons, therefore, if for no other, we should exert ourselves.

With the singing of the Doxology the annual meeting of 1896 closed, leaving all grateful for what had been accomplished, and determined to make greater and more earnest efforts to do larger work in the year just beginning.

KENYON COLLEGE

Indiana availed herselt, at the last convention, of the privilege of choosing two trustees of Kenyon College. The Bishop and Mr. W. W. Lowry were elected. We hope that this means an acknowledgment of the claims of our own institutions upon Indiana Churchmen with sons to educate

Kenyon has a noble record. Very few colleges can point to as distinguished a roll of alumni, including, as it does, the names of David Davis, Rutherford B. Hayes, Edwin M. Stanton, Stanley Matthews, Henry Winter Davis and our own Bishop White and Senator Turnie

We append an extract from Bishop Vincent's late address to the Southern Ohio Convention: "What more can you ask, in the shape of facts, in order to give your confidence and support to this institution? All that could be done by those who direct its affairs, to make it a working success, has been done, and, I claim, successfully done. Three things more are needed yet, however, to make it the largest power for good it is capable of becoming. The first thing is to enlarge its constituency. It was originally established, and with good reason, as a strictly diocesan institution. It did its work well for many years in that character. But conditions have wholly changed within the past generation. The "diocesan" idea, instead of being any longer a stimulus and help, has become a limitation and hindrance. Now that travel and communication in the land have become comparatively so cheap and easy, it is no longer necessary that Church institutions should be further multiplied and each diocese have a full list of its own. This is especially true in the case of educational institutions. We do not want such Church institutions; we must have them, if we value the future of the Church, if we want our Church people, and especially our children, to be, not a lot of nondescript people, with no character, convictions and principles of their own, but, rather, intelligent, loyal, devoted Churchmen and Churchwomen. But we have enough of such institutions already. The thing for us to do is to read 'the signs of the times,' and to see that our true policy now is to concentrate our resources on those we have, to enlarge their constituency and scope, and so try to maintain only what we can support well. What I desire then, is to see the constitution of Kenyon so amended again, as expressly to admit to an interest and control in it the bishops of all neighboring dioceses. A committee will report at the next board meeting on this point. These, together with the Bishop of

Pittsburg, have consented to become clerical

Bishop of Western Michigan has expressed a special interest in the work of the Seminary. If we can succeed, thus, in making Kenyon what it may become, the one Church institution of the middle west-as Sewanee is for the entire south of our church,-we shall have accomplished what its noble history, buildings and endowments warrant us in hoping for, The second thing it needs for this end is, of course, increased endowment. It is needless for us to expect to make of it a university in any such large sense as are those of New England, or even those in our several midwestern states, supported by public money. But we can make of Kenyon-what we do so much need-a first-class Church college, able to give a finished classical education, at least, under pronounced Church influences. To our own Church people the plea for such additional endowments will come in due time. The third thing needed is perfectly possible now; and that is the loyal interest and moral support of our own church people in these two

"I ask of the clergy, therefore, to interest themselves in the new president's plans for securing students for Kenyon from every parish, to cheerfully give him an opportunity to speak of his work to your people; and I especially urge every one of you, clergymen and laymen, who can reasonably do so, to go to Gambier at Commencement, enjoy the rare beauty of the place at that time, and see the facts for your-

Thus far the Protestant Episcopal Church has been making experiments in the work of higher education. From this she has learned much. Now, more than ever before, let her cry be, "Forward."

Ever since the first plantation of Christianity in India, there has existed a body of Christians in the southern part of that country down to the present day. They are now few in number and feeble in coudition, having, like the rest of the ancient Christian Churches in the East, been abased from a marvellous pitch of exaltation, as if the divine displeasure was afflicting them for falling into the heresy of Nestorious. In addition to this error they have many corrupt practices: they, however, retain many Catholic usages, sucn as commemorations of the departed. the observance of the fasts of Advent and Lent, and of many festivals, monastic institutions, and the use of material trustees from their own dioceses, and the crosses, though they have no pictures.

These rites and customs they profess to have derived from the very time of St. Thomas. In their Offices they have many commemorations of St. Thomas, and mention in them that through his preaching the kingdom of heaven was extended even to China. In modern times the Christians of St. Thomas have very much receded before the missions of the Church of Rome,-Church Review.

DIOCESAN NEWS.

BRISTOL-The sweet-toned bell in the tower of St. John's church, the pride Rapids. of the community, has for forty-five years summoned the people to the house of prayer. But on a recent Sunday its voice was silent, caused by the break ing of the clapper. Necessary repairs have been made. The bell turned in the yoke for the first time in its history, and now peals out clearer and sweeter than ever. A gravel walk twenty rods in length has been laid in front of the church and rectory lots, by the volunteer labor of seven men with three teams.

The Ladies' Guild gave a dinner and supper on election day, netting about thirty-one dollars. The parish has paid its diocesan assessments in full for the current year.

INDIANAPOLIS-An interesting union meeting was held in Grace Cathedral on Sunday evening on the 29th of November, the evening of St. Andrew's Day, in the interest of the Brotherhood. The sermon was by the Rev. A. J. Graham, of Christ Church. A conference of the members of the city chapters was held in the Guild room after the service. On the morning of St. Andrew's Day at 6:30. there was a corporate communion at St. Paul's church.

> Mr. VERNON-Since the opening of the fall, congregations have increased. A new heater and electric lights have been put into the church. The money for the electric lights was raised by an entertainment given by the musical talent of the parish. A society of Sunday-school children, called "The Shining Lights" has been organized to meet the cost of the lights for the coming year. St. John's Guild is doing good work, and has pledged $250 toward the rector's salary. A new Guild, named, St. Agnes, has been organized and is working to meet the incidental expenses of the Church. During the year's vacancy in the pastorate the Sunday-school was discontinued, but has been reorganized and is now in a hourshing condition.

PLYMOUTH -All Saints' Day this year was made a special occasion. A circular was issued drawing particular attention to the services, resulting in an attendance of communicants equal to that of an Easter-day celebration. It was one of the greatest events of the parish in numbers and in interest.

NEW HARMONY-Parish affairs move along in a healthy condition. The convention of the Southern Deanery met here October 27 and 28, and was very helpful to the people. Five visiting clergy were present.

Formal canonization did not begin till the tenth century, and Alexander III, 1170, was the first Pope who laid exclusive claim to the right for the Roman When the Holy Bishops and martyrs died in primitive times, their names were inserted in the Canon of the Mass, and hence the name, "Canonization"; after this martyrologies were composed; and in the Greek Church, the names of good Bishops and Saints were inscribed on the diptychs, and were on special occasions read out. Then rules were drawn up for the strictest inquiry into the virtues and conduct of those whom it was wished to get the Bishop to canonize; and in the thirteenth century without miracles, or miracles without virtues would henceforth be insufficient for canonization. The last Saint Canonized without the intervention of the Pope, was St. Gaultier, by the Archbishop of Rouen, A. D., 1153. The English Church, whilst honoring the

A Cathedral Quiet Day -- Advent,

The Rev. Chas. H. Schultz, rector of Greencastle and Crawfordsville, will conduct a Quiet Day at Grace Cathedral for Church workers especially the clergy and members of the Woman's Auxiliary, Daughters of the King, and Brotherhood of St. Andrew. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the several parishes of the city and the dlocese.

A single luncheon will be served in the Guild Hall at 12:30 P.M.

The programme will be as follows:

As, then, with this faith determining our responsibilities, we pass out of one year into another, we carry with us the unfailing obligation to make known such faith to the world. Yes, so to manifest the Christ Himself that "all men everywhere may seek after Him and find Him." In this high endeavor we must be continually forgetting the things that are behind and reaching forth unto life, and points to the fountain of eternal those things that are before, and so pressing hope. It proclaims the universal brothertoward the goal.

That goal for the Church of Christ is nothing less than the subjection of all things to Him, "the gathering together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth." This is God's eternal plan, and in spite of all seeming delays and interruptions, nothing can prevent its glorious consummmation. What part shall we, whom God has called and placed in His Church, have in carrying out this plan? The very angels desire to look into those things; but we can do more than this. We can "labor on, spend and be spent" in doing Christ's work, in extending and hastening His Kingdom. Surely the command comes now even to us, "Son, go work today in my vineyard," and that with the greater force when we remember that the time is short, and that the night cometh when no man can work.

All but six of the Auxiliaries in the diocese have cheerfully accepted the work assigned them, and have dispatched the boxes a promptness which adds greatly to their ork, two were not asked to undertake it, three are making special struggles with portunity of talking with them. their own parish affairs, so there is but one branch declining to send a box whose decision was a disappointment to the executive board. The box sent by the Cathedral we feel deserves especial mention. It was filled with remarkable speed with clothing and household goods of the best quality, so that it was fully worth the estimate, $130, placed upon it. Doubtless other parishes have done as well, but of this case we have particular knowledge. Would that the others would write us

The diocesan vice-president of the Junior Auxiliary has begun the work of organizing branches of this most necessary society with earnestness and energy. We trust that her suggestions may be received by clergy and people with hearty good will. No one can fail to recognize in Indiana, of education in regard to missions and of training in missionary giving. This is the office of the Junior Auxiliary, and Miss Moore hopes to reach so many children through this society, and so to train them that in the next generation of Indiana Church people there may not be found one of those faithless and feeble folk who think that every penny spent out of their own parish is so much money thrown away. In time we may reach that high degree of grace which will forbid our singing with fervor, "Greenland's Icy Mountains" and then declaring that we "never did believe in foreign missions, anyhow." Miss Josephine Brooks, the vice-president of the Southern Deanery, was in the city last week, and gave us the of a little conference with It is always a delight to meet the workers, and we trust that when any such

ADVENT APPEAL. A

As we approach the season of Advent child was the Great Redeemer? I send a message to the children of the diocese to ask their help in the work which of their sheep on the hill-side, just out of the Church has to do. Advent tells us the intie town of Bethlehem, While Book all the beautiful and solemn lessons of they sat together a strange thing came to Christ's coming to the world to bring pass. A sudden bright light shown God's message and God's blessing to down upon them, and when they looked men for the healing of sin. It talls us, up they saw an angel. They were too, of the Church's duty to extend both frightened. But the angel said: Fear the message and the blessings to show year, for I have brought you good tidings!" who have not yet received them. There Then he told them how that very day, the are thousands of people in our diocese Savior had been born, in the town near who never receive from our Church because they are beyond whom they had heard of all their lives, the reach of the parish clergy. We need who had been promised so many, many very much a General Missionary to care years ago? And how could they tell for this work, but to have a General Mis- which was the true babe? Think of what all the children of this diocese can accomplish during the four Sundays in Advent if each will earn all he can and contribute it for this purpose. I am sure hymn of praise which is in our Prayer that by Christmas Day the Bishop will receive such a message from the children est, and on earth peace, good will to as will assure him that he can appoint an men." earnest clergyman to this work. During the season of Lent you make your offer- had gone away to heaven again, the ings for General Missions, and the work shepherds said to each other: "Let us you accomplish then is to your credit, go to Bethlehem and see this wonderful Will you not, one and all, during the thing which God has made known unto season of Advent, unite to help your us."

THE STORY.

But how did the people know that the Little Baby who was born in the stable at Bethlehem, was the Savior whom God had promised? A poor mother who had laid her babe in a manger instead of a beautiful cradle, such as kings always lie in; how could people believe that her
